Whitby Rector Relires After 24-Year Term

WHITBY, May 17.—Rev. D. B. Langford, rector of St. John's Anglican Church for the past 24 years, has announced his retirement from the ministry at the end of the month. He began his long pastorate here in 1924 after serving as vicar of Little Trinity Anglican Church, Toronto.

Rev. Mr. Langford was born in India where his father was an army chaplain. While working as a mining engineer in the Kolar goldfields of Mysore province, he became a lay preacher in his spare time and finally decided to devote his life to the church. He came to Canada 38 years ago after his marriage to the daughter of Col. I. A. Rae, a British civil servant. He entered Wycliffe College, Toronto, and became ordained an Anglican minister. His long pastorate at Whitby is believed to set a record for service in the Anglican Church.

Home And School Formed At Cobourg

COBOURG, May 17.—(ENS).—Cobourg branch of the Home and School Association was formed at a meeting here. R. N. McKenzie, principal of the collegiate institute, told the meeting that such an association was a valuable asset to a community and he expressed the hope that in time the present public school and Home and School Association would expand to include the collegiate.

Mayor Joseph Smith outlined the value of a home and school association and said that it would prove to be an asset to the town. W. J. Carleton, public school inspector, also endorsed it.

The functions of the organization were explained by Mrs. U. Jones of Oshawa, vice-president of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations. Grant Sine was chairman of the meeting and Mrs. Daisy McCullagh was temporary secretary. The following officers were chosen:

President, Albert Greaves; 1st vice-president, Mrs. George Galbraith; 2nd vice-president, Parker Niles; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. L. Blackwell; recording secretary, Mrs. R. E. Gardiner; treasurer, Oliver Johns; executive, Mrs. F. L. Searns; Claude Fowler, J. C. R. Manning, Grant Sine, Mrs. George Patterson and Mrs. Bedford Jones.

It was pointed out at the meeting that the object of the association was to promote co-operation between teachers and parents and was not a function as criticism of teachers or teaching methods.

New Town Clock Starts Ticking At Cobourg

COBOURG, May 17.—(ENS).—Work on the new electric clock, which replaced the old town clock, has now been completed, and it was placed in operation last week-end. The old clock, which was operated by a chain and weight system, has been telling the time for more than 50 years, but was wearing out and had become inaccurate. The new one, which was ordered last year by Councillor Fred Bell, runs completely by current supplied from a storage battery and charger with the master clock in the town clerk's office. However, the new clock does not give a prolonged ringing at noon, six p.m., and six a.m., and this will have to be done by hand.

Sunday Morning Car Drive Brings 3 Fines

Peter Doreen, Crawford's Grove was fined a total of $40 and $3 costs or 45 days when he pleaded guilty before Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., to charges of reckless driving and driving without an operator's permit.

Lakefield Police Chief Garnet Samis gave evidence, describing the erratic course of the car driven by the accused about 3:15 Sunday morning. The Chief had been driving behind the accused. He said the car zig-zagged from one side of the road to the other, at some times going completely off the pavement. He said the car—an old one—had no windshield wiper in the driving rain and was in poor shape mechanically.

The accused had been drinking, the Chief added.

On the reckless driving charge, Doreen was fined $25 and $2.50 costs or 30 days, and for driving with no permit, he was fined $15 off the pavement. He said the and $2.50 costs or 14 days additional.

Albert Purchase, Crawford's Grove, pleaded guilty to owning the car driven by Doreen and was fined $15 and $2.50 costs for permitting an unlicensed person to drive his car.

Cobourg Party Caught Nice Mess Of Trout

COBOURG, May 17.—(ENS).—John Ewart and his wife have returned from a week's fishing about 150 miles north of here. They were accompanied by Bob and Alex McLaren, and among the four of them they caught 26 fine speckled trout varying from two to four pounds.

Big Convocation

KINGSTON, May 17.—(CP).—Saturday was a graduation day at Queen's University and the largest class in the 107-year history of the school graduated in a two-part convocation. Size of the graduating class forced division of the convocation into morning and afternoon ceremonies. Degrees were presented to 663 students and honorary degrees to four Canadians, a Briton and an American.

TAILOR MADE—Sculpture now takes a bow in the program to fit test pilots with scientifically designed made-to-order helmets. The new look in headgear was developed at the University of Southern California department of medicine. At the left, Test Pilot Robert M. Edholm sits patiently while a plaster impression is made of his head. The new helmets are made of ghamoos leather, laminated plastic, sponge and foam rubber with a cellulose acetate filler. Such features as built-in earphones, ventilation holes, and all-around head protection are a few of the helmet's design points. At right, Edholm is shown in his tailor-made helmet which will set comfortably and efficiently on his head while his jet fighter is speeding at over 500 miles an hour.

Russia Unexpectedly Grants Dairen Visas

SHANGHAI, May 17—(AP)—Russia unexpectedly granted American consular personnel visas to enter Dairen late today.

The northeast China port was seized by the Russians at war's end and all but a few foreigners have been denied entry. Consular officials have been waiting here for months for visas.

The visas came on the eve of the departure of a special U.S. state department chartered ship for Dairen. The ship was to try to land the consular personnel and bring out the vice-consul and his family who are there. The consul-general here cancelled the ship.

St. Laurent-Gardiner Duel To Hit BC Constituencies

OTTAWA, May 17—(CP)—The St. Laurent-Gardiner duel for the Liberal Leadership is going to hit the hustings in the British Columbia constituencies of Yale and Vancouver Centre.

No less than six Cabinet ministers are going West in an effort to gain Yale in the May 31 by-election and hold Vancouver Centre on June 8.

External Affairs Minister St. Laurent is going and Agriculture Minister Gardiner has already left. Both presumably hope to accumulate support for the August Liberal national convention when Prime Minister Mackenzie King steps down as Party Leader.

Opinion on Parliament Hill still holds to bet on what will happen when the Gardiner forces go to work amid the convention hustle and confusion.

Meantime, Ontario members are working steadily for the by-election in the riding of Ontario June 8. A full contingent of big names will descend on Oshawa district soon.

Could Face Defeat

Government supporters admit privately that they could be unsuccessful in all three contests. The effect of such a series of blows within eight days could complicate the timing of the next general election.

Industrialists Meet May 26

By The Canadian Press
Industrialists across Canada are getting ready for their yearly get-together, the annual general meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in Toronto May 26-28.

About 2,000 delegates will attend the meeting, and they will need to bring along members of their staff if they wish to keep up with all that will be going on.

The greater part of the meeting will consist of separate concurrent conferences, as many as seven going on at one time, with only a few plenary sessions.

Subject matter of the various conferences includes: Employer-employee relations; tariffs and controls; industrial and scientific research; education and public relations; transportation; world trade and finance; insurance and taxation, and fire protection. There will be scores of speakers and discussion leaders from across the country.

Gen. G. H. D. Crerar will address the luncheon May 27, and Sir Frederick Bain, president of the Federation of British Industries, the annual dinner that night.

Mrs. E. Prentice New President Of Marmora WI

MARMORA, May 17—(ENS)—Mrs. E. C. Prentice assumed the presidency of Marmora Women's Institute for the ensuing year at a well attended annual meeting held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mesdames A. H. Connor and R. E. Neal. The slate of officers presented by Miss Grace Warren of the nominating committee was as follows: president, Mrs. E. C. Prentice; 1st vice president, Mrs. E. Brady; 2nd vice president, Mrs. P. Gray; secretary treasurer, Mrs. J. Gardiner; pianist, Mrs. L. R. Rundle; directors, Mesdames P. Gordon, R. E. Neal and F. Grant; district director, Mrs. L. Green; auditors, Mesdames F. Sweet and W. D. Lavender.

The officers were installed by the district president, Mrs. E. Moore of Madoc, who later, in an interesting address, referred to the fact that there were now 15 branches in North Hastings with a 16th likely to be formed. The district, she said, was one of the first ten district to be organized in Ontario.

The financial report presented by the secretary treasurer, Mrs. J. Gardiner, showed the past year to have been a good one financially. The Branch also planned to have a family whose home was recently burned.

Following the installation of officers the presentation of an end table was made by the retiring president, Mrs. W. D. Lavender, to a war bride, Mrs. Donald Bailey. Mr. W. J. Cottrell was accorded the honor of reading the address of welcome. Mrs. Bailey neatly expressed her thanks.

Prior to adjournment for refreshments the following were appointed as delegates to the annual district convention, Mesdames E. C. Prentice, L. Green, L. Rundle and J. Gardiner.

Don't you wish you'd been to a school like this?

HERE IS an ultra-modern school building - an exciting adventure in new educational aids.

Through its huge windows of special glass, sunlight, still potent with Vitamin D, pours on the pupils, aiding vision and health. Radiant heating keeps the rooms, including floors, uniformly warm. Fluorescent lighting simulates sunshine on dull days. Glare-free blackboards, posture-correcting seats, and improved desks help students to concentrate.

Thus education marches on! And in many Canadian communities these modern school buildings are built with the aid of life insurance dollars.

This is but one example of the many public and private enterprises in which the life insurance companies annually invest over 300 million dollars on behalf of policyholders.

Thus each dollar you invest in life insurance serves two purposes. It provides security for your family's future. And it helps to promote the welfare of the nation.

Canada's Davis Cup team—to be nominated early next month, will train in the United States prior to matches with Mexico set for July 8-10 in Montreal, an official of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association said Saturday at Montreal. Meanwhile, it appears certain that Henri Rochon and Brendan Bracken will be the players nominated for the singles team since the nominating committee will base its selections for the most part on 1947 form.

Manny Swartz of Oshawa is Canada's new five pin bowling champion. At the Canadian Bowling Association's 22nd annual tournament which ended in Toronto Saturday, he rolled 992 in three games—said to be the highest single score in 10 years. He also topped the mens high aggregate with 2,586 for nine games. Stew Graham and Marty Smith of London, triumphed in men's doubles with 1,718 for three games. Seven remaining championship awards went to Toronto bowlers.

St. Louis Browns sold pitcher Nelson Potter to Philadelphia Athletics Saturday in what club officials at St. Louis said was a straight cash deal. Potter joined the Browns in 1943 and won 10 and lost five that season. Last year he turned in four victories against 10 defeats.

Mel Patton, University of California sprinter, travelled the 100 yard distance in 9.3 seconds at Fresno, Calif., Saturday to clip one-tenth off the official world record. The world's record for the 100 metres later was equaled by Lloyd La Beach, of Panama, who covered the distance in 10.2 seconds.

Nick Strincevich, veteran Pittsburgh Pirate pitcher, was sold Saturday to Philadelphia Phillies for a sum slightly in excess of the $10,000 waiver price. Sale of the 32-year-old righthander reduced the club roster to 25, the limit allowed after May 15.

Italy, Sweden and Czechoslovakia advanced to the quarter-final round of the European zone Davis Cup tennis eliminations Sunday. Italy's victory over Yugoslavia was an upset but Sweden moved past Switzerland and Czechoslovakia had little trouble with Brazil.

Ralph Hepburn, one of auto racing's oldest drivers, was killed Sunday in a crash on the motor speedway in Indianapolis. The 51-year-old veteran piled into the north wall of the course on which he had tried vainly since 1925 to win the 500-mile Memorial Day classic crown.

The Liverpool soccer team opened its second United States tour Sunday with a rain-soaked 5-1 victory over the American League Metropolitan All-Stars at New York. A crowd of approximately 8,000 saw Jack Bulmer and Albert Stubbs lead scoring for the visitors with two goals each. The game was played in New York.

The Canadian Amateur Ski Association at the annual meeting at Montreal Saturday adopted a motion that they will enlarge the national executive to include the chairman of the 15 ski zones in the Dominion. Fred Urquhart of Montreal was elected president for the 1948-49 campaign and Bruce Heggveit of Ottawa was named chairman of the technical board.

Harriers' Meet Honors Go To Jack Brown

Jack Brown, middle distance won chief honors at the first annual track and field meet held in Morrow Park on Saturday, having a total of 16 points. He was first in the 880-yard run and the running broad jump and second in the 100 and 440 dashes. He edged out J. McGillis, who won the 100, 200 and 440, to get his 16 points to 15 for McGillis. J. Doherty was third with eight points.

The day was perfect for such a meeting with no wind and lots of sun, but the track was in poor condition. The times, though not official, were fast considering the track. There was a fair-sized gallery on hand.

Fastest Run

Fastest event of the day was the mile run with eight competing. They kept together for half a mile and then Ab Thistlewaite and R. Donnelly pulled ahead, with Thistlewaite beating him home in a terrific sprint in 4 min., 59.3 seconds. J. Doherty, also running a fast mile, was third. In the two-mile go, R. Donnelly out-ran six to finish 300 yards ahead of D. Reid and K. Bailey.

The junior events were popular, especially the 800, which was won by T. Payne. The runners were well together until a final sprint opened it up and Payne came home ahead of B. Hunt, who ran a fine race for a junior. The field events were good, particularly the open running high jump, taken by B. Coone, a junior member, who also won the junior 100-yard sprint.

Examiner Cup

The mile relay for The Examiner Trophy was won by the Harriers' "A" team of J. Flowers, R. Douglas, R. Barracough and J. Brown, not too fast a race as the heavy program began to tell on them.

In the junior 440, R. Palmer, a promising quarter-miler, stayed in front all the way, doing it in 62.4 secs. T. Payne was next and A. Lee third. Ed Hillier outjumped B. Coone in the junior high jump and ran second to Coone in the 100 dash. Hillier and Coone, only 16, show a lot of promise. PCVS runners won the 440 relay in 51.3 secs., the team being: A. Lee, H. Graefstein, T. Payne and B. Coone. The Sea Scouts took the scouts' relay in 56 seconds, with Sr. Andrew's second and All Saints third. In the 60-yard hurdles, J. Flowers and A. Lee went to a dead heat in 8.6 seconds. The results:

Greco Tapers Off Training For Bout

MONTREAL, May 17 (CP).—Bull-shouldered Johnny Greco, Canadian welterweight champion and at 24 already a veteran of the ring wars, tapered off training today for his title defence tomorrow night at the Forum against hard-punching Harry Hurst, his neighborhood rival from Montreal's west end.

They met once before and Greco took the 12-round decision but Hurst's admirers quickly point out that Harry went into the ring fever-filled and despite this drawback he put Greco on the deck for a nine-count.

Tomorrow's battle took on broader overtones over the weekend with the announcement from promoter Raoul Godbout that he had cabled Norm Hurst, manager of Ernie Roderick, British welter king, offering him a match with the winner.

Uphill Battle

QUEBEC, May 17 — (CP).—Montreal Canadians fought an uphill battle here Saturday night to edge Quebec Montagnards 11-9 in an interprovincial senior lacrosse league match. The triumph was somewhat of a family affair as nine of Montreal's markers being scored by the Bourdons and the Wilkinsons.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Earl McCready has agreed to take on the Masked Marvel in the main mat bout at the Brock Arena this Wednesday night, on a winner-take-all basis. The Moose got a couple of rough deals here previously with the Mask and passed up several bids to come back once more against the villainous Mask. But he finally agreed over the week-end, and this will be the choice offering for the wrestling fans as the season draws to a close. Lou Laird mixes with Mario Renaldi—definitely from Italy—in the semi-final, while Jimmy (Red) Sims clashes with Jack Dillon in the prelim. It should be another fine grapple card for the city and district customers.

Local Harriers' Club staged a good meet, their first annual one for city and district, in Morrow Park on Saturday before a fair-sized gallery. Dashes, middle-distance races and the longer runs, plus jumping, shot put, hurdles, et al, for juniors and seniors, with results listed elsewhere. Some of the times were fine but the recent rains spoiled the track, making for rather heavy going—and competitors in the longer hauls sometimes had to drop out. They need a cinder track. But the affair was run off well and the officials responsible deserve credit for reviving track and field sports in the city.

Nice Work, Fellows

Something like $200 will be realized for the rink from the exhibition men's softball game at the Bowl on Saturday, and the R-E Combines are responsible. This monicker replaces that of B-A, and stands for the Russell-Elliott Combines. They dropped a 9-0 decision to Toronto Tip Tops but a large crowd enjoyed the lively tussle. Strickland (with Poloski catching) went three heats and, while they scored five runs, four were unearned, Akers turned in a nifty three-inning effort, and Guilfoyle finished it up, each being nicked for two markers. Classy Tip Tops got nine hits to four and had the Combines baffled on their bunting. Hawkes led the local hitters. Ray Tanner donated two rooms for entertainment after, and the visitors said they'd like to return.

Men's softball goes again at the Bowl on Tuesday p.m., first one getting away sharp at seven. De Laval opens against the R-E Combines, while Knights wind up the evening against Legionnaires. Ought to be two interesting scraps as these clubs settle away for the hot summer campaign. De Laval haven't tasted defeat yet but are in against stiff opposition this time, while Legion will be trying to get a win against the K. of C.-ers, who have a tied and a loss to date. Both these latter clubs have two outstanding players sitting on the bench, their coaches, Howie Dalton and Freddy Garvey. They may get into action on the morrow.

Ballsters Get Ready

And about the baseballers. Petes keep drilling this week for their COBL opener next week-end. Intermediates have an open workout tonight at 6:15 in Morrow Park and Jack Billingsley wants all prospects out. They require more back-ing, he tells us, or may have to drop out of the Lakeshore League, but hopes are still high for these over-age chaps. They'll probably again borrow Mariner's second set of uniforms and there should be plenty of promising players out. Gord Young expects to have the schedules for the peewees, bantams, midgets and juveniles ready about the middle of the week, and arrangements for grounds for this large circuit are pretty well set. Two junior teams, in the Lakeshore Loop, await their schedule.

A soccer match on Wednesday p.m., in King Edward Park when the Petes play O'Halloran's, Asa Downer being referee. And on Thursday it's Legion vs. CGE there under Referee Tom Garland. On the southern pitch Saturday, before a fair attendance, the Petes pulled out a 2-1 verdict over the Electrics. You can't get them much closer than that. One of the Petes drew a misconduct penalty near the end of the first half but the 10-man team had enough left to tie the count in the second half and finally grab a victory. Two well-matched teams showing some swell soccer.

Puck Ace Coming

A CP dispatch tells of Don McRae, "whirling dervish of Winnipeg hockey circles", coming to Peterborough six weeks hence to take a three-month test course as a student electrical engineer. As a student at University of Manitoba, McRae is said to have resisted a three-year siege by Conny Smythe aimed at luring him into pro ranks. The red-head, one of the stars in Winnipeg Monarchs' drive for the Memorial Cup in 1946 and since then an ace with Winnipeg senior Flyers, says he won't drop hockey entirely but doubts if he'll ever go pro. But he admitted he would like to take in Leafs' fall training session and maybe line up with their farm club, Toronto Marlboros, if he can't get time off work. If he can't, maybe he could be persuaded to strut his stuff here for Petes or Legion.

GRAB-BAG: Peterborough Golf Club had a fine official opening Saturday; story is in elsewhere. Kawartha Golf Club put back its official opening till next Saturday; more on it again. Manny Swartz of Oshawa swept scoring honors at the CBA tourney in Toronto. OHA individual player trophies are being sent out now. Senior "B" lacrosse, who drill tonight, Wednesday and Thursday, may be grouped with Huntsville, Orillia and Oshawa. Goalle Bun Hill, who suffered an eye injury while with Orillia last summer, is looking for a couple of rooms up this way: his phone is 6414. Open drill for all juvenile lacrosse (16 to 19) Tuesday at seven p.m. in Miller Bowl. K. of C. crew practices at 6:15 tonight at the Orphanage. Bowl umps tomorrow are Morin and Calladine with Board and Quenby in the second game; and Thursday: Calladine and Wood, followed by Dormer and Rangers. East City peewee baseballers work out at 6:30 tonight in the Oval. Juniors and juveniles of the north and east go tonight and Tuesday at 6:15 in Riverside; northend midgets and bantams are at the Oval at 6:15 on Tuesday. Juniors open in Bowmanville and Whitby on May 24. Senior Petes have an open meeting tonight at eight in the "Y". Bye.

Palmer Takes Golf Tourney

PHILADELPHIA, May 17 (AP).—Johnny Palmer of Baden, N.C., earned a comfortable $2,500 by a sterling demonstration of skill and courage that won the $15,000 Philadelphia Inquirer invitation golf tournament Sunday.

To do it he had to beat off a determined challenge by Ben Hogan, and overcome the added hazard of pouring rain on a difficult 6,670-yard golf course. His closing round of 68 strokes, four under par, gave Palmer a 281 total, four strokes better than Hogan.

Second place was worth $1,800 to Hogan. Lloyd Mangrum picked up $1,400 for third with a 287 total for the 72 holes. Eric Monti, Santa Monica, Calif., had 288 for fourth place of $1,100. No other players in the original starting field of 107 could equal par.

Bobby Locke, the Transvaal traveller, finished in seventh place with 291 while Bill Ezinicki of Toronto, NHL hockey player making his professional debut, ended far down the list with 341.

Saturday's Stars

By The Associated Press
Batting—Andy Patko, Cubs—Slammed out five hits in five times at bat, scored four runs and drove in four, but the Reds outscored Chicago, 13-11. Among his blows were two home runs.
Pitching—Earl Johnson, Red Sox—Stopped the Senators with two hits and no runs in 5 2-3 innings of relief pitching as the Red Sox overcame a 5-1 deficit to win 14-5.

Petes Pul Out Soccer Win Over Electrics

The Petes edged out CGE 2-1 Saturday in a return soccer match at King Edward Park. Cotton and W. Wilson were best for the losers, while Hennessey in goal and E. Lane stood out for the victors. Referee Asa Downer sent one player off for misconduct and warned the others to play the game.

Whitnall threatened early on neat work and Electrics came back with combination to count through Cotton. E. Lane was dangerous with bullet-like shots and W. Wilson kept playing the ball up-field. Cotton dribbled toward goal and was awarded a penalty shot which Murdoff failed to convert. One player was chased, and Strong and Cotton did everything but score as the period ended 1-0 for CGE.

Early on resuming, the Petes tied it up on a spot kick taken by D. Downer. Still playing 10 minutes, they dominated the situation with Payne and Lane sending over dangerous centres to force the goalie to shine on his saves. CGE came back and Cotton and his forwards came close several times with Hennessey making a one-hand save from Welland. Then Strong shot the ball to McPhate who headed it home in timely fashion. The winners held their narrow edge the rest of the way.

CGE—A. Greenhorn, goal; S. McGann and S. Murdoff, full backs; A. Wilson, W. Wilson and J. Chamberlain, half backs; R. Strong, H. Steel, E. Cotton, A. Welland and T. McPhate, forwards; T. Nimmo, sub.

Petes—E. Woodcock, goal; D. Downer and K. Downer, full backs; W. Post, F. McMaster and N. Lane, half backs; H. Paynt, J. Byers, J. Hennessey, J. Whitnall and E. Lane, forwards; D. Downer, L. Payne, subs.

Referee, Asa Downer; linesmen, J. Duncan and J. Cloud.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The other day as we were walking along Charlotte St. one of the lady bowlers stopped us and said: "You're just the man I was looking for. Last night my husband and I were discussing the rules of lawn bowling and a certain matter came up that we could not agree on. My husband says, ask Mr. Martin, he knows all the rules and answers." (We admit we turned a little red, but nevertheless we thanked the lady for the compliment). She said, "what would be your ruling if during a game two bowls struck one another and one bowl should break in two?"

The question was a new one to us and we were caught off guard. However, we did a little quick thinking and we said: "That puts us in mind of what a retired American League baseball umpire told an enthusiastic fan when he wrote him regarding a play. The fan wanted to know what would be his ruling if a batter should knock the ball right out of the park, over the centre field fence and if the batter, after rounding third base, dropped dead?" The wise old arbitrator said, "when that happens write me and I'll give you the ruling."

Our lady bowler smiled a little, seemed satisfied with our explanation and said, "I see what you mean."

In a day or two we'll have a complete list of next week's lawn bowling activities.

McCready Signs To Meet Mask

Jim Laidlaw announced this morning that he has succeeded in signing up Earl McCready to meet the Masked Marvel. McCready had previously refused another match with the Mask but Laidlaw got both men to agree to make this a "Winner-Take-All" bout. With the prospect of getting the Mask's purse as well as his own if he wins, McCready gave in and the match is signed and sealed for Wednesday. It has also been agreed that McCready is to be accommodated with a different referee.

For his semi-final match Laidlaw is bringing in huge Lou Laird of Boston. Tall and heavy, Laird is reputed to be a first-class mat-man who will be introduced here again fiery Mario Renaldi of Italy. In the first bout Jimmy "Red" Sims meets tough Jack Dillon. Sims is one of the most popular wrestlers to appear here.

NOT AS BAD AS IT LOOKS—Consensus of the onlookers was that Cavalcoud had broken his neck when he fell and landed like this in the steeplechase at Pimlico, Md., recently. But neither horse nor jockey Marzani was hurt. Both got up immediately and walked away. It was Cavalcoud's first appearance in the steeplechase. He was the only horse to fall.

King's Plate Trial Track Reported Good

TORONTO, May 17 — (CP).—

With promise of a temperature as high as 67 degrees and only a "few showers" threatening, it appeared the historic Woodbine track would be in pretty fair shape today when the cream of the Canadian-bred three-year-olds go to the post in two trials for the classic King's Plate.

The Plate Trial is the only race in which King's Plate contenders may run as three-year-olds before they race for the actual guinea a week hence, on the May 24 holiday. Twenty-eight colts, fillies and geldings have been named to start in the trial, 14 in each division.

Each Plate Trial carries $2,500 added, but the trials are run at only six furlongs whereas the 89th running of the Plate itself is at a mile and an eighth. The Plate next week carries the King's 50 guineas and $10,000 added by the Ontario Jockey Club, whose spring meeting opens this afternoon.

Two Divisions

Because of the large entry, the Plate Trial has been split in two divisions since its inception in 1944. Of the eight winners since then only two have gone on to capture the King's Plate itself—the Oshawa Parkway stable's Kingarvie and Uttermost, winners of 1946 and 1945 respectively. Last year's Plate winner was Parkwood's Moldy.

Two of the leading Plate contenders, by chance were drawn in separate divisions this afternoon. That would establish Carr Hatch's Sweepstake, a Sweepstake colt, as favorite in his race while the Winnipeg Whittier Park stock farm's Lord Fairmond should carry bulk of the wagering in the other trial.

Chief threats to Lord Fairmond are Parkwood's Anudora, R. W. Grant's Imagine Me, W. J. Fester's Joy Bomber and H. R. Bain's Graydon Trace.

Sweepstake's main opposition is expected to come from Parkwood's War Wreck, J. H. Black's Meal Time, Charles Turner's All British and Frowde Seagram's Face Off.

Bob Porterfield Swamps Toronto 10-3

By The Associated Press

Rain or shine, Bob Porterfield, sensational rookie right-hander of Newark Bears, is hard to beat. Pitching in pouring rain, Porterfield gained his fifth straight victory Sunday although his consecutive scoreless inning streak was stopped at 36 innings.

The lanky, 23-year-old hurler pitched the Bears to a 10-3 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs in the first game of a scheduled double-header that was called off. Porterfield, who shut out the opposition in his previous three starts, blanked the Leafs until the sixth inning when Van Harrington followed a walk with a home run.

The victory enabled the Bears to pick up a half game on the fourth place Baltimore Orioles who divided a double header with Buffalo Bisons. The Orioles won the opener 10-7 in 11 innings and lost the second game 7-6 in 11 innings.

A home run paved the way for Rochester Red Wings win over Jersey City Giants in a first game of a twin bill.

Trailing 10-7 going into the eighth, the Wings tallied five times with Vern Benson's grand slam pinch-hit homer featuring the rally.

The Wings, however, bowed in the finale, 2-0, as rookie Sam Webb stifled Rochester with five hits. Webb helped his own cause by rapping out a single and a double and scoring both runs.

Redbirds In First Place As Pollet Edges Pirates

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sport Writer

The comeback of Howie Pollet, the consistent brilliance of Harry (The Cat) Brecheen, and the remarkable hurling of Alpha Brazie, all of which adds up to the best left-handed trio in the majors, are responsible for St. Louis Cardinals' lofty perch in the National League pennant race.

The Redbirds were in first place today, one full game in front of New York Giants. They have won 13 and lost seven. Of this total, Pollet, Brecheen and Brazie have won nine and lost one.

Pollet's pitching has given Manager Eddie Dyer the most satisfaction. Bothered by an ailing arm last year which reduced his effectiveness to a minimum, the league's No. 1 pitcher of 1946 underwent an operation in the winter.

After a slow start, Pollet has rebounded with three straight victories. He has not yet lost. Terry Moore followed with a high pop with Sunday's 10-inning victory over the Pirates for his second win in three days. He halted a ninth-inning rally after the Bucs had tied the game with two runs, then became the winning pitcher when the Cards tallied once in the bottom half of the 10th.

Pirates Break Through
Brecheen's consecutive scoreless inning streak was snapped at 32 when the Pirates broke through for two runs in the sixth inning of Saturday night's game won by the Cards 8-3.

The Sunday game started out as a pitchers battle with Kirby Higbe of the Pirates holding a two-run edge over Murry Dickson when the latter gave way for a pinch hitter in the seventh. Four hits, an error and a walk gave St. Louis four runs in the eighth and a two-run lead. The Pirates quickly tied the score against Ted Wilks in the top of the ninth.

Two were out when Ralph Lapointe singled off Hal Gregg in the 10th for the Cards. Terry Moore followed with a high pop

Wright Horses Take All Purses

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP). — It's getting so that "breakup Calumet" gag isn't funny any more. Last Saturday Warren Wright's stable picked up $167,170 in two races, with Citation winning the Preakness and Faultless and Fervent running one-two in the Gallant.

That's approximately the same as the total of all the other purses offered at all the eastern and mid-western tracks the same day. Wright apparently has the best horses in every division, (though nothing much has been heard of his two-year-olds this year) the best two trainers and if this keeps up he'll have all the money in racing.

Should Citation become weary, Coaltown may take his place (Kentuckians say that Bull Lea colts don't really develop as stayers until they're a bit older) and if not it may be any one of a half-dozen three-year-olds Ben and Jimmy Jones have in the Calumet barns. It's almost enough to drive the other owners right out of the sport.

fly which dropped into left-center field, and Lapointe raced in all the way from first with the winning run.

In the only other National League game Sunday, Cincinnati Reds came up with two runs in the top of the 10th to outscore the Cubs in Chicago, 13-11. The Reds provided veteran Bucky Walters with a 10-1 lead, but the Cubs roared back with four in the third, two in the fifth, three in the eighth and another in the ninth to force he game into overtime.

Andy Pafko of the Cubs slammed over five hits in five times at bat, scored four times and drove in four runs in a losing cause. He also hammered two home runs, Harry Gumbert gained his fourth victory in relief for the Reds. Russ Meyer was the loser.

Although they pounded out five home runs, Cleveland Indians could do no better than gain a split in their double header with Chicago. The White Sox won the opener 6-4 in 10 innings and the Indians captured the nightcap 9-2, Early Lead

Pat Seeray and Allie Clark connected for the circuit to give the Indians an early 4-0 lead, but the Sox tied the score against Bob Lemon and got two more in the 10th off Russ Christopher. Home runs by Joe Gordon, Ed Robinson and Ken Keltner made it easy for rookie Bill Kennedy in the second game.

The split left the second place Indians still a game and a half behind the American League leading Philadelphia Athletics. Rain washed out the scheduled game between the A's and New York Yankees at the Yankee Stadium.

The fast-moving Boston Red Sox won their fifth straight by coming from behind to outslug Washington Senators 14-5. A fine relief job by Earl Johnson after the Senators had scored all their runs off Jack Kramer in the first four innings, and timely hitting by Johnny Pesky and Junior Stephens were the highlights. The second game of the scheduled twin bill was postponed by rain.

Young Art Houtteman went down to his fifth straight defeat as St. Louis Browns nipped the Tigers in Detroit 3-2 in the final of their three-game series. A single by Roy Pardee in the ninth inning drove in Whitey Platt with the winning run. Bryan Stephens, third St. Louis hurler, was credited with the victory.

TOP MAN IN CBA—Manny Swartz of Oshawa grins from between the trophies he won in the annual Canadian Bowling Association tournament which concluded Saturday night. Swartz captured the singles championship for the second time in eight years with a 992 score and won the grand aggregate award with 2,586.

Citation Wins 8th Victory

BALTIMORE, May 17 — (CP). — Calumet Farm, Warren Wright's fabulous horse flesh factory, today faced a bit of calculating on a mildly pressing problem—how to extract the maximum of racing's rich three-year-old purses with Citation and Coaltown.

Trainer Jimmy Jones, who saddled Citation Saturday for his smashing Preakness triumph, was talking it over.

"It's too bad a fellow couldn't have had these two in separate years, for they're both such outstanding horses. One in 1948, and the other in 1949," he mused. "That would have been nice."

Coaltown, Citation's flashy stablemate, arrived at Belmont Park in New York Saturday just about the time Citation was making monkeys of three other colts in the $100,000-added Preakness.

Jones said he thought Citation would be shipped to Belmont tomorrow.

"But, here's the problem. There are a lot of good races coming up, and we've got to spot them for these two fine horses. We will try and split them as much as possible, because it's just like, battling each other's brains."

out to run them together." Jimmy and his father, "plain Ben" Jones, Calumet general manager who saddled Faultless and Fervent for their one-two punch in the $75,000 Gallant Fox handicap at Jamaica on the same afternoon Citation scored in the Preakness.

"I don't think Coaltown will run in the Belmont June 12, for it's a little too far," Jimmy said. The Belmont, the $100,000 - added classic which completes racing's triple crown, is 1½ miles.

The Preakness was Citation's eighth victory in nine 1948 starts, and made his total earnings to date this year $268,020, with plenty more to come, apparently.

Check These Points

CHECK THESE POINTS — Check your car — check accidents. Last year in Ontario, 12 per cent of the convictions for violations of the Highway Traffic Act were for mechanical defects in vehicles. The chart illustrates the danger points of your car, where a safety check may save your neck.

Motor Mechanics To Be Trained Professionally In New School

Indebted motor mechanics apprentices, nearly 2,000 of them throughout Ontario, will soon start real professional training at the Vehicle Repair School in Toronto, states John Robbins, general manager of the Ontario Garage Operators' Association and a former director of the Detroit Traffic Safety Council.

Recognizing the need for trained mechanics to service the increasing number of vehicles on the road, and for new, up-to-date knowledge on postwar innovations in cars, the Garage Operators' Association persuaded the provincial departments of labour and education to take over the rehab school's facilities when veteran training programs come to a close. Now a committee of experts from the motor business, thoroughly experienced in mechanics' training, is drawing up a complete course which apprentices will have to pass before they can be certified as motor mechanics. It is expected that, starting in September, garagemen with apprentices in their employ will be advised when their apprentices are due for a course at the trade school, and will ask the employers to cooperate by granting leave of absence.

A warrant for railway transportation will be provided the apprentice by the Department of Labour who will also settle him in a government inspected boarding house and give him a medical examination. While he is at school his employer will keep him on his payroll.

The majority of the motor repair trade is wholeheartedly behind this project, says Mr. Robbins, and both the industry and the public stand to benefit by the scheme.

Peterboro Plan Taken As Model

Amazement at the activities planned during the summer by the Peterborough Outdoor Swimming Committee was expressed by W. R. McAdam, director of swimming and water safety, Ontario Red Cross, in a recent letter to the organization. Not only was he unstinted in his praise but he also said he was planning to use the local program as a yard stick for several other communities.

The committee decided to launch an extensive publicity campaign to promote interest in swimming and water safety in Peterborough and district. The drive will be publicized by means of posters, newspaper and radio advertising, and by films. It is believed that three films will be obtainable from the Red Cross: "Learn to Swim"; "Heads Up"; "Oars and Paddles".

If permission can be obtained from the YMCA Board it is planned to hold a demonstration of water safety, swimming, diving and ornamental swimming. It is also hoped that the services of H. W. Cardwell, Wallace Point, can be obtained to give a demonstration of canoe handling in the pool.

A plan for the improvement of the deep water swimming at the Lions Park was explained by Jack Dane, and his recommendations will be passed along to the Lions Club.

Mr. Bruce Gould left on Monday for Harcourt where he will be employed by the Standard Chemical Company.

Despite unpleasant weather every child in the Community turned out to Sunday School for the Mother's Day service conducted by Mrs. Colquhoun. All knew their memory verse, and all remembered to wear a pretty flower in honour of "Mother".

Messrs. Thos. Dodson and George Colquhoun of Toronto spent the week-end at the latter's cottage. No fish, but a fine new chimney was the result of their stay.

Mr. Art Tompsett of White Pine Lodge was host at a card party on Monday night.

Mr. John Mooney is recuperating nicely at his home following a severe illness. His sister, Mrs. Chas. Bedford of Bancroft, is nursing him.

ANTI-"IRON CURTAIN" DEMONSTRATOR — This incident occurred when Catholic war veterans and Henry Wallace supporters expressed pros and cons respectively while picketing in front of the Roxy Theatre in New York where "The Iron Curtain" was showing. This woman was taken in tow by police after she had hit a member of the opposition with her handbag. She was one of the anti-"iron curtain" demonstrators.

Lindsay Cadet Corps Marks 50th Year In Fine Display

LINDSAY, May 17—(ENS)—Cold, drizzling rain prevailed but failed to dampen the 44th annual inspection of the Lindsay Collegiate Royal Canadian Army Cadet Corps, Friday afternoon. Friday also marked the 50th anniversary of the founding of the corps.

Despite the weather, many citizens lined Kent St. at Victoria Park to watch the drill, band display and march past. Ordinarily the inspection takes place at Kawartha Park, but rain prevented this, and a large portion of the proceedings had to be held at the Armories.

Artillery exercises were a feature of the proceedings, when an independent troop went into action with gun tractors and 25-pounder field guns, engaging an imaginary target at the crossroads in Cameron, several miles north. In the Armories, knots and lashing, first aid, gymnastic and tumbling displays held the interest of spectators.

Mrs. C. M. Laidley presented the Strathcona medal to Cadet Major Mervyn Pass, awarded annually for the best marksman in the school.

On completing his inspection, Capt. R. C. Graves, cadet training officer of the Eastern Ontario area, commended the corps on its performance.

"Your march past was as good as any I have ever seen," Capt. Graves said, "and I doubt if there is a corps in Canada today that could improve upon it. When the best corps in the province are chosen, Lindsay's will rank very high, if not in first place," he added.

Presentations of awards followed.

Non-competitive awards went to the commanding officer, Lt. Col. John Elliott; second in command, Major Douglas Preston; adjutant, Capt. Robert Watson; regimental Sgt. Major, W. O. Murray Harrington; Quartermaster Sgt. Donald MacMillan. These were presented respectively by D. McQuarrie, R. W. Groves, T. H. Quinn, R. Cozens and Mrs. C. M. Laidley.

W. S. Breese, a member of the LCI staff, presented the Newman Cup, emblematic of the best company in the corps, to Capt. Robert Bruce, officer commanding "A" Company. William Hamilton presented a trophy to "A" Company.

Announces Highway In Prince Edward

PICTON, May 15—(CP)—Announcement of a new highway in Prince Edward County was made yesterday by Hon. James Hepburn, the Speaker of the House in the last Ontario Legislature. The highway will be built from Concession village to the Hucyke's Point waterfront drive, west of Wellington.

The new road will be a part of Highway 33 which is known as the "scenic highway," stretching from Trenton to Kingston and following the shorelines of lakes and bays the greater part of its route. The section of the road between Wellington and Bloomfield will be rebuilt and straightened. This work was scheduled to be done two years ago, but shortage of materials held up its construction, Mr. Hepburn stated.

"YOUR AID TO BETTER TRAVEL"

City Jaycees Lead Panel On Tourism

OTTAWA, May 17 (Special).—Within the framework of the member units of Region VI are included many courses to develop Jaycees: Leadership Training, Public Speaking and Salesmanship. Today we can apply all three to an important phase of Canada's development. We have within the Junior Chamber of Commerce the leadership, the ability and the men who are charged with doing an important job—selling. It's a two-fold assignment. Selling Canadians the importance of a $238,000,000 industry, and selling tourists the benefits and services of what has been termed "an industry without smokestacks." So said A. (Doug) Vaisey, Regional Tourist Chairman, addressing a tourist clinic at the Region VI Convention held at Ottawa May 14 to 16.

During the clinic four other speakers from Peterborough, Doug Delaney, Claude Hewitt, David House and Don Craig spoke on phases of the industry. More than 30 delegates attended the clinic which was the strongest discussion group at the convention. Attractively laid out, the session walls exhibited posters provided by the Department of Travel and Publicity. Each delegate received copies of The Examiner Canadian Vacation Guide and eight brochures related to the tourist industry. Mounted lists provided by citizens of Peterborough, and the Chamber of Commerce were hung in the salon, and a banner Peterborough City and Kawartha Lakes was strung along the rear of the speaker's table.

Resulting from the clinic, four resolutions were passed to the region annual meeting held Sunday morning. (1) resolved that National promote a campaign to instill into the organization of the tourist industry the importance of giving value to American tourists for United States dollars; (2) resolved that the member units of Region VI and the National units of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada launch a campaign to educate the Canadian peoples on the importance which the tourist industry plays in the economic role of this Dominion. The two remaining motions were rejected by the annual meeting. A motion was passed to send the National in the form of suggestions and possible action by the national resolutions committee.

Win Praise

Members of the Peterborough Chamber who took part in the four-speaker panel discussion and the chairman were congratulated for the excellent preparation and presentation of the Clinic.

During the convention the delegates heard two distinguished speakers: Austin F. Cross, Ottawa Citizen feature writer, "The Man You Shave"; and John Fisher, CBC, "Open the Wide World." Doug Vaisey of the Peterborough delegation replied to Mr. Fisher.

A feature of the convention was a 22-mile Capital City tour provided by the Ottawa Junior Board of Trade.

ODD WEEK-END SIGHTS

Fishermen will stop at no lengths, apparently, in their assortment of lures, hours of patience and additional charms to tempt the Goddess of Luck. One enthusiast, who fished the Otonabee from Nassau to Young's Point over the weekend, drives a light sedan that displays the greatest assortment of decorations on the inside of his windshield that will be seen for many a day. There are 16 various-sized delcomania transfers of pin-up girls on the glass, two St. Christopher medals, a rabbit's foot, snapshots of girl friends, costume jewelry, et cetera. They must have helped for he ducked his head out the window in the driving rain to see that his string of pickered did not bounce off the running board. "My luck was just fair," said he.—NN.

B'nai B'rith Asks Support Of Jewish State

Recognition of the new Jewish state of Israel by the Canadian Government was urged in a resolution passed at a mass meeting on Sunday night at the Beth Israel Synagogue, held in conjunction with a regular meeting of B'nai B'rith. The Canadian Government was also urged to use its best endeavours to have the United Nations admit Israel into membership. The meeting looked forward to the establishment of close economic relations between Canada and Israel and collaboration on world peace and security, and expressed its gratitude to all nations who have already granted recognition to Israel.

Other meetings were held at the synagogue over the week-end. Special prayers were offered on Friday evening and Saturday morning for the security of the state and for an early peace in Palestine. Mr. H. H. Bush, president at the mass meeting on Sunday night.

Anglers Report Good Catches; 9-Pounder Taken

Pickered fishermen in the hundreds thronged the dams and bridges from Campbellford on the south to Bobcaygeon in the heart of the Upper Kawartha over the week-end and catches were good.

Young's Point, 14 miles north of the city, was jammed with fishermen, and although most of the walleyes had moved down into slower water of Lake Katchewanooka, there was still enough up in the fast water to make it interesting. Top catch at this point was made by Jackie Orde, 712 Stormont St., who caught one weighing six pounds, five ounces. Burleigh Falls produced several fine strings with Toronto and Ottawa fishermen on deck for the opening.

At every dam on the river between Peterborough and Lakefield there were crowds of anglers who fished far into the night not only on Saturday but last night as well. At lock 22, Jack Jobbin, 710 George St., hooked a pickered weighing seven pounds 10 ounces. Lloyd Gilders had a nice catch at this spot too.

At Hastings the crowd was smaller than in previous years and catches were spotty. Most fishermen got enough for a meal, but only two reported their limits. Les Mountney and Frank Whitehouse, both of Peterborough, caught 12 pickered in an hour and a half shortly after midnight Friday when the season opened. They were costing with small ones.

Frank Biddle, 431 Rogers St., apparently topped everyone with a 9 1/2 pound fish caught on a plug near the old dam at the west end of Douro St. in the Otonabee river. It was 30 1/2 inches long.

A series of rain storms during the week-end drenched many anglers but most were dressed for the weather and kept right on casting while the rain teamed down. Eight Americans from Canton, Brewster and Canal Fulton, Ohio, had excellent luck at Hastings, and intend to stay for the balance of the week. Twelve other Americans staying at the Grand Hotel in Peterborough, fished in the Otonabee and were quite satisfied with the results. They are from Niagara Falls, New York.

Five pickered were caught within an hour by Dick Jones, 113 Simcoe St., at Stony Lake, Sunday evening. Using a plug and casting off a dock he caught his first three fish in ten minutes.

Peterboro Cub Opens Season On Saturday

The Peterborough Golf and Country Club had its official opening for the 1948 season on Saturday with the president, Hugh Waddell, raising the flag at 1.30 p.m. before a large turnout of golfers. Sweepstake competition was held in the afternoon, with supper at 6.30, brief addresses by Hugh Waddell and directors Stan Payne, Bert Cutmore and Don McIntyre.

Voice offerings by Claude Elliott, J. H. Verner and Hector Thompson were greeted with various degrees of enthusiasm, while J. A. Jebson supplied quips of interesting nature. The new members were welcomed by Hugh Waddell.

Results of the afternoon play in the first flight were: Gross—G. Whatman 81; net—H. Bradburn 74; second flight, gross—F. Hollowell 87; net—W. Brady 68; third flight, gross—J. Sheedy 99; net—J. Murray 74; nine-hole sweep, gross—G. Munro 45; net—H. Benson 33. In the team match, President Hugh Waddell's team managed to hold Vice-President M. G. Hardill's team to a draw on points.

The official opening of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club which was to have taken place Saturday was postponed because the greens were not quite ready.

2 Cars Wrecked In Crash Sunday Morning

One man was injured by loss of blood and two cars were badly smashed in a collision at Lansdowne St. and Monaghan Road early Sunday morning. Benedict LaJoie, 132 Sophia St., is in hospital receiving treatment for cuts on his forehead, face and hand.

The accident, about 2.15 a.m., took place at the intersection of two streets. The cars were those of LaJoie and H. M. Anderson, RR 3, Peterborough. The impact spun the LaJoie car around, across a ditch and to rest at the cemetery fence. Anderson's vehicle was also turned around by the collision.

The extensive damage to the LaJoie car is believed to make the car unreparable. Damage to the other car is estimated at $275. The side of LaJoie's car was damaged, a rear wheel broken and the windshield damaged. The Anderson car had a damaged grill, radiator, bumper, headlight, fender and possibly transmission.

Patrick J. Rody, 376 Harvey St., a passenger with LaJoie received a scratch on the nose and head bump.

PC William Scott investigated.

Service Station Robbed Sunday

Cigarettes, tobacco and other smoking supplies totalling $125 in value and a radio were stolen from the service station of Jack Gilders sometime Sunday night. Located on the outskirts of the city on the Chemung road, entrance was gained by pushing in the front door. The loss was noticed 'this morning by a passerby, who saw the door open. Provincial Police are investigating.

Blattella Germanica

These pests have flattened horny bodies and large spiny legs which enable them to move quickly and take refuge in cracks and small crevices in walls, floors, furniture, etc. Cockroaches are frequently abundant in any building where there are warm moist conditions and a plentiful supply of food.

There are five species of cockroaches or waterbugs. The young or nymphs which hatch from the egg capsule are similar in appearance to the adult roach but are smaller and lack wings. In growing they shed thin skins several times. Infestations may be detected by the presence of their skins and empty capsules on shelves and in cupboards, even when the living roaches have escaped notice. Cockroaches also emit a peculiar odor which is imparted to the food over which they have walked and even to dishes, pots and pans and other utensils. Their presence is a constant hazard to food cleanliness and to health.

They're villains, really. Here's the recipe for their extermination: Call Burton your local pest expert.

Ford Proposes Wage Cut To Ease Prices

DETROIT, May 17. (AP)—The United Auto Workers (C.I.O.) Sunday offered to withdraw wage demands against the Ford Motor Co. if the firm will "successfully exert its influence" to effect "a roll-back in the cost of living."

The offer came in answer to a wage cut proposed by Ford in the interest of "public security."

At the same time, the U.A.W. challenged Ford to make public "a complete and accurate financial report" to prove that increased wages would boost prices as claimed.

Ford contended Saturday in a letter to the union that announced demands for a 30-cent hourly raise would result in "decreased buying power for the consumer's dollar."

Instead, the company suggested that wage differentials between Ford and the other two major auto firms be eliminated. This was one of five proposals submitted in anticipation of bargaining sessions due to begin before July 15.

Meanwhile the U.A.W. turned its guns on General Motors with a vote of strike action in four locals.

Workers at Chrysler Corp., where the U.A.W. called a strike last Wednesday, Sunday were voted $125,000 by Ford Local 600, the U.A.W.'s largest local.

Tanker Towed In For Repairs

PORT HAWKESBURY, N.S., May 17. (CP)—The tanker Imperial Welland, which smashed aground when she lost her rudder Saturday, was towed into port here for repairs Sunday night.

Earlier in the day, the Welland, owned by Imperial Oil, had been beached by tugs in soft mud at nearby Inhabitants Cove when she began taking water through her fractured hull.

The 2,000-ton vessel ran aground early Saturday on Welsh Island, some 40 miles from here. Later she was able to work free and anchored near shore. Decision to beach her was taken when water flooded her engine room.

Her eighteen crew members, who had been removed by the RCMP cutter Ervine when the Welland began to settle, went back aboard and with the help of salvage experts made temporary repairs.

The tanker was en route from Lewisport, Nfld., to Halifax when she lost her rudder and ran aground in dense fog and heavy seas.

Try To Remedy Bad Oil Gusher

EDMONTON, May 17. (CP).

An attempt will be made today to remedy the condition which has caused Atlantic No. 3, Rouge Well of the Edmonton oil field's Leduc-Calmor sector, to run wild.

Equipment designed to knock out a "bridge" of shale which is responsible for the trouble now is in place on top of the well hole. Engineers hope that if they are successful in clearing the hole of shale, oil and natural gas will flow up through it.

Atlantic No. 3 now is gushing uncontrolled through fissures in the ground of the field about 16 air miles southwest of here. The "cratering" is extensive. It covers a 40-acre area adjacent to the well.

The Alberta Petroleum Conservation Board is supervising control measures. Its chairman, I. N. McKinnon of Edmonton, said Sunday night:

"We hope to stop the cratering in a week if everything goes well."

Barbara Ann Ignores Rain Trudges Around Course

WASHINGTON, May 17. (AP).—Barbara Ann Scott, the winsome Ottawa lass whose nimble grace has carried her to every major figure-skating championship, captivated another gallery Sunday, although under circumstances a little out of her element.

As one of the honored guests in the annual national celebrities golf tournament at the Columbia Country Club, Barbara Ann refused to let a minor cold keep her from trudging over eight holes in a steady, drenching rain in her role of honorary scorer at large.

The tournament, sponsored jointly by the Washington Post and Attorney-General Tom Clark in the interests of the campaign against juvenile delinquency, had as participants scores of "names" from the political, military, theatrical and sports fields.

Miss Scott started out to follow the first foursome, made up of Bing Crosby, Byron Nelson, Gene Sarazen and Del Webb, the last named a co-owner of the New York Yankee Baseball Club.

Just as the foursome left the first tee, trailed by a goodly number of the gallery estimated at more than 5,000, rain started to fall in increasing volume.

Century of Masonry Marked With Attendance At Church

Marking the centennial of Ancient Free and Accepted Masonry in Peterborough and district in conjunction with the 100th anniversary of the founding of Corinthian Lodge No. 101 a divine service was held Sunday evening in Trinity United Church. Representatives of the 11 lodges in the district filled the body of the church to capacity. The service was conducted by Bro. Dr. Bruce Gordon, minister of the church, and the sermon was preached by W. Bro. Rev. A. M. Partridge, the chaplain of the lodge.

The music was provided by the Trinity Choir and an octette from Scottish Rite Masonry. The octette sang "I Heard the Voice of Jesus" by Albert Ham, and "Shepherd of Souls" from The Sign of the Cross by James, and arranged by Bro. F. G. Mann, the director of the octette. The choir sang "Gloria Excelsis" from 12th mass by Mozart.

R.W. Bro. George H. Free of Campbellford, District Deputy Grand Master, brought greetings from the Grand Master and extended the goodwill of the district lodges, Peterborough, and Royal Arthur of Peterborough; Norwood Lodge; J. B. Hall Lodge, Millbrook; Hastings Lodge; Golden Rule Lodge, Campbellford; Clement Lodge, Lakefield; Keene Lodge; Percy Lodge; Warkworth and Havelock Lodge to Corinthian Lodge on achieving its 100th anniversary. The District Deputy also added his own personal congratulations.

Bro. Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon welcomed the masonic brethren and also offered his congratulations. Building the Temple
Wd. Bro. Partridge took as his text "Building the Temple" from 1 Kings 7:22 "And upon the top of the pillars was lily work," a description of the temple built by King Solomon and for which King David had spent years in gathering the material. However the building of the great edifice was denied him and left to his son Solomon. While the text told of the building of a material temple the speaker endeavored to show

CCF Plans Bold Policy On Conservation—Morton

APSLEY, May 15.—(ENS). — If elected, the CCF will inaugurate a bold and courageous policy of conservation of forest resources, said Jack Morton, CCF candidate for Peterborough County, in a speech at Apsley on Saturday night.

"Selfish interests have laid waste our forests without thought for future needs. This must be stopped and the small operator must have a better than equal opportunity to obtain timber limits."

He continued his attack on the present method of obtaining timber limits, saying: "Harold Scott should tell the electors who had obtained the better limits in Peterborough County instead of dragging red herrings across his trail."

Morton pointed out that the CCF was actively engaged in fighting the Communists in the Trade Union movement, and that he himself was under "violent attack" from this element. And he contended that this was the best proof of where the CCF stood with reference to the Communists.

"If they want more, I can supply," he challenged.

A CCF government will expand the Hydro-Electric system throughout the province, he said. If this had been done in the 1930's the demand for generators alone would have provided full employment in Peterborough and Hamilton. Instead, he said, generators were being imported at that time.

Morton stated that the CCF government in Saskatchewan had provided complete hospital care for $5 a person with a maximum of $30 a family. "We should be able to do it in Ontario for even less money," he said.

W. C. Grant who will be Federal candidate at the next election spoke briefly. W. J. Whibbs was chairman. A lively question period followed the address.

Driver To Face Charge Under HTA

James E. Hollingsworth, 475 George St., driver of a truck that crashed into a platform outside a general store in Dunsford last week, will face a charge of dangerous driving. The charge has been laid by Provincial Constable Milton at Lindsay.

In the first account of the accident, it was reported that William Johnson, Peterborough, was the driver. This was an error and was due to the fact that natives at Dunsford had known Johnson worked for the same firm and on occasion had driven the truck.

City Of Boys Mourns Priest

BOYS TOWN, Neb., May 17.—(AP).—This city of boys today mourned the death of the man who had given them a home.

Wide-eyed and grave, their daily work and play all but forgotten, they turned to prayers in the chapel Friday night as word came that Msgr. Edward J. Flanagan, world-famed founder of this haven for homeless and neglected boys, had died of a heart attack in Berlin.

Earlier reports had warned that Father Flanagan was ill in Germany. Rev. Edmond C. Walsh, 33, acting director of Boys Town, walked into the chapel Friday night after receiving reports of his death and found boys already quietly gathering.

A few minutes later, Rev. John Farrell, himself a graduate of Boys Town high school, lead them in rosary.

Msgr. Nicholas H. Wegner, acting president of the board of trustees of Boys Town, announced Father Walsh would remain as acting director until a meeting of the board.

Say Huge Wave Damages Island

WATERTOWN, N.Y., May 17.—(AP).—A huge wave, whipped by a strong wind during a brief storm last Wednesday, pounded Galloo Island in Lake Ontario, causing extensive damage, the coast guard reported.

Coast guards stationed at Sackett's Harbor discovered the damage Sunday on a visit to the Galloo Island which is now in no service.

Chief boatswain's mate Charles W. Fitzpatrick of the coast guard said the wave struck about 2.55 a.m., tearing out the lighthouse dock at the head of the island.

Heavy timbers were carried 200 feet inshore, he added, and one road was so badly blocked with debris that it took coast guards two hours to cover a few miles in a truck.

People Demand Buckhorn Road To Haliburton

Congratulations to Mrs. C. M. Scott, president, and to the other members of the new Women's Liberal Association elected at an overflow meeting on Friday, were the first order at the Liberal rally held Saturday evening in Charlie Elliott's committee rooms.

Major Howard Doolittle acted as chairman and outlined the program of organization.

Mrs. C. M. Scott reported that already established committees and were organized to help elect Mr. Elliott. "We feel very fortunate in having as our candidate a man of such high ideals and fine character," she said. "We feel thankful too that we can support the Hon. Farquhar Oliver for the same reasons. He is a man eminently qualified to administer the affairs of the province."

Having had the pleasure of meeting him and hearing him speak, she said she knew him as a sound, reliable type who inspires confidence. "It is fortunate that a man his age with his long experience in Parliament and wide knowledge of provincial affairs is available to take over Ontario's affairs today."

The candidate, Charles Elliott, gave a resume of his itinerary in going about the constituency, and expressed himself definitely encouraged by the reception he had received. "Mr. Scott," he said, "had been responsible for slowing up his personal canvass because wherever he went he was directed to people who wanted to see him because they had complaints."

"It appears from reports I have received that Mr. Scott had avoided issues and became increasingly elusive as his five years of office progressed."

"The failure of Mr. Scott to take an interest in the development of the highway from Lakefield to Haliburton through Buckhorn and Gooderham to open up this important artery of traffic to the north and to bring Haliburton about 58 miles from Peterborough instead of 95 is the subject of complaint in the city and county. People interested in promoting this community as a tourist centre, and this is a matter of vital concern to our merchants, feel that Mr. Scott has not by act or word assisted, and that they have no voice in Mr. Scott at Queen's Park.

"I quite appreciate that certain people are too pressing in their demands, but cases have been brought to my attention where the feeling is that it is too much bother for Mr. Scott to concern himself."

Other speakers expressed views and included in the issues discussed were the 22-point program of Mr. Drew in 1943, the present Liberal platform and matters of organization.

Because of favorable reports as to the trend of the election in the province, and particularly in this riding, the supporters were cautioned not to let over-confidence deter their best efforts.

The year was 1835 ...

... over 32 miles of primitive roads and tangled woodland trails walked six Canadian pioneers ... arguing fiercely as they went. Their purpose: to kill each other's vote!

Yes, these six early settlers knew they were evenly divided in opinion ... that three would vote for one candidate Dr. William Dunlop, The Canada Company's man ... and three would vote for the other candidate, Col. Anthony Van Egmond. Yet they made the gruelling march to Goderich, Ontario, there to cast their ballots in the 1835 election of The Upper Canada Legislative Assembly. Not one of the six said "There's no use my going—my vote will be killed."

As the couple entered to the music of "Here Comes the Bride" showers of confetti and streamers welcomed them. After receiving good wishes from more than 80 guests, the bride and groom complied with a request for a solo dance to "I'll Dance At Your Wedding." Lunch was served in the green room where a lace-covered tea table was centred with the bridal bouquets. During the evening, Mr. Don Landry sang "Because" with Dave Graham accompanying at the piano. A halo of orange blossoms held her long veil of embroidered net and she carried a cascade of Lester Hibbards roses with sweet peas. The groom wore a floor-length French blue crepe gown with a navy hat and her corsage was of Briarcliff roses and sweet peas. The bride's going away ensemble was a grey gabardine suit, off-the-face hat of navy and white straw, navy accessories and topcoat, and her corsage was of white gardenias. Pittsburgh is Future Home Of June Wallis Withrow Withrow, Jr. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Kathleen Wallis, of Peterborough, and the late Thomas Wallis, and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Withrow of Pittsburgh, Penn. Mrs. Withrow, mother of the groom, also received, and wore a light blue suit with matching accessories and a corsage of red roses. The bride and groom left later for a wedding trip through northern Ontario, the bride wearing a printed silk dress with blue accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Withrow Jr. will make their home in Pittsburgh, Penn.

DOROTHY DIX:

Efficient Wives Often Get Husbands Without Ambition

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been separated for over four years and divorced for two. He was always good and kind to me, but he never had any ambition or sense of responsibility and I had to support the family. I have a daughter 12 years old and she dearly loves her Daddy and is very unhappy without him.

Dorothy Dix is the bread winner, than without him. I know he loves me deeply and is miserable away from me. What do you think is best for me to do? I am very lonely.

MRS. W.

ANSWER: No problem is more difficult to solve than what an efficient woman should do with a sweet and amiable husband who is a nice household pet, but no provider. And there are so many of these men, affectionate, lovable, but with no faculty for making a living. They would have made lovely wives and mothers if only Nature hadn't gotten things balled up.

These men, fortunately, seem to have a talent for marrying good business women, with varying results. Sometimes the husband's inability to make money irritates his efficient wife so that she divorces him. Other times the smart business woman realizes that her husband's love and companionship compensate for his lack of the money-making instinct, and they live happily together.

Could Be Worse I think that is your cure. You are miserable separated from the man you love, so why not take him back and forget about the price tag? Believe me, a man can have a lot worse faults as a husband than being shiftless.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: There is not one man in a million who can stand having his wife quote to him what Mama says and does. Well, a wife can't stand having her husband quote what HIS Mother does and throw her cooking in wife's teeth. I know, because I have experienced it.

A MRS.

ANSWER: Right you are, daughter. For some inexplicable reason both husbands and wives appear to be almost morbidly sensitive to what their respective mothers say. They don't object to having Mrs. Jones' opinion on any topic, or even to have her voice a suggestion as to how the house should be furnished, or the baby reared, but just let anybody tack Mama's name on to even a casual remark and they simply explode.

"Mama says that we should buy a new car," or "Mama says we shouldn't keep a dog," or whatever Mama says are the fighting words in every family. And one of the first lessons every bride learns is to keep mum about Mama if she wants to keep her husband.

And no man, unless he is too dumb to live, asks his wife to get Mother to show her how she cooks baked beans or makes biscuits.

DEAR MISS DIX: My Boy Friend dresses so badly that it is getting to the place where I am ashamed to be seen out with him. He could afford to buy at least one decent suit, anyway, but I think he would rather put the money in the bank. Do you think I am putting too much stress on appearance?

I feel if he doesn't do something about it, I will have to break with him.

ANSWER: And you would be doing exactly right if you did, because clothes make the man, as the old proverb goes, and there is no other way by which you can so surely judge a man as by what he wears. If your Boy Friend hasn't enough respect for you to, at least, present a decent appearance in public, after you are married he will not only go about looking like a bum, as he does now, but he will begrudge you even a new dress and a hat will cost you a fight.

Probably your Boy Friend thinks he is being a fine manager when he puts his money in the bank instead of on his back, but he is making a great mistake, for the shabby man doesn't rate a top notch job. Even a casual observer thinks that the reason he looks so seedy and down-at-the-heel is because he can't hold down a worth while position. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

While there are excellent auguries for the accomplishment of cherished ambitions, or the attainment of major objectives, both near and far, yet it will require some very serious thinking, sustained by adroit manipulation and clever strategies, in order to meet certain irregularities, problems or want of cooperation from promised and needed sources. The mentality may be found keyed to such astute insight, sufficient to win over attention and practical aid from desired quarters. Plan and organize for this on a long-term basis for solid foundations.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is, are encouraged to make close observation of current irregular, dis-integrating, uncertain and unpredictable situations, which threaten to upset promising conditions or nullify sound techniques already set in motion. Strange developments may alienate those in high places already interested and committed to long-range pledges. The mind is keyed to shrewd, clever and brilliant insight on such perplexities, to be prudently and tactfully put in operation.

A child born on this day may run into antagonistic and confining situations, but its keen and astute mentality may bridge such difficulties and gain attention from influential sources.

30 Dietitians tried this BLINDFOLD Taste-Test

21 voted Heinz first for flavour—first for nourishment

More than 70 percent of a group of dietitians declared their preference for Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup after comparing it with another popular brand.

Instead of an actual "blindfold" test they were served with two bowls of hot soup and asked to vote without knowing the brands they were tasting. The preference of these professional food experts for Heinz Condensed Cream of Tomato Soup came close to coinciding with the 65 percent choice of 131 average housewives in a similar taste-test at about the same time.

"Heinz flavour is richer and smoother," said one. "Better blended—fuller-bodied," said another. "No other competes with it," said a third.

Try the taste-test suggested below and see if your family agrees with the experts.

Try this Taste-Test!

Heat a tin of Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup and a tin of any other brand. Serve half-helpings of each and get your family's verdict, when they have tasted the wonderful difference. Chances are it will be two to one for Heinz. If you have been buying some other brand for any reason, try Heinz Cream of Tomato Soup just ONCE. It will be the beginning of a long friendship. To Extend Rural Hydro This Fall, Scott Reports Present Drew government plans for Ontario are so extensive that they require a mandate from the people before they are put into operation. That was the principal reason given by the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests, for the provincial election on June 7. He was speaking on Saturday night to a large attendance of Progressive-Conservative supporters who gathered to hear their standard-bearer give his "Report to the People," and ask for re-election.

Of special interest to his constituents was his announcement that by this Fall those in Peterborough county who had applied for electricity by last October were assured of receiving it. This program of rural electrification would help to stem the exodus of youth from the farms by bringing modern amenities to outlying districts, he said.

The Drew government has upped the annual hospital grant at Civic from $2,083 in 1947 to $10,599 in 1948, at St. Joseph's from $3,234 to $8,758. And he said that if the Federal government fulfills its declared intention of dropping the 20 per cent amusement tax, the provincial government will retain it but put the money in a special hospital pool. This he claimed would boost the Civic Hospital grant to $24,909, and the St. Joseph grant to $20,534.

Revenue amounting to $12,600,000 derived from the three-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax was given to the municipalities this year, said the minister. "It was not just returning the municipalities their own money. There are 790,000 registered motor vehicles in this province, but approximately 4,000,000 foreign vehicles entered Ontario and contributed to the revenue."

"The Drew government believes recreation facilities must be provided if youth is to stay on the farms and away from street corners," Amplifying this statement he explained that previously community halls in small rural centres were financed up to 25 per cent of the cost, with $2,000 maximum; later the present government increased this maximum to $5,000 and enlarged the scope of the grant to include tennis and recreational fields. This grant is to be extended to include towns and cities, he said, and pointed out that it would apply to the Civic Centre.

On the subject of veterans he gave statistics showing that the vast majority of employees hired since the war were veterans. In his own department, he said he had increased the veteran's grant on the clay belt of Northern Ontario from 80 to 160 acres.

Offer House Loans
Critics have complained of the government's refusal to go in for housebuilding, said the speaker but "the government has given it a lot of consideration and decided that was not the answer." In the first place, he contended, there was still a scarcity of men and materials; and also the government's observation was that there was a financial gap between what the would-be housebuilder was prepared to pay and what the builder wanted. To fill this gap the Drew government has offered loans at three-and-a-half per cent.

This measure will not only help the homeowner to surmount his problem, but will help the small employer to compete with the larger businesses, he said.

Approximately 20,000,000 trees are necessary to control the head waters of the Ganaraska River and thus prevent spring floods in Port Hope. Continuing on the subject of reforestation he said the Department of Lands and Forests soon hopes to produce almost 40,000,000 trees yearly.

Mr. Scott said he would like to see northern farms lands, that had been abandoned by their owners once the leaf-mould top soil was gone bought up as crown land. Because of the high cost he suggested that the project be financed

Latest Tarzan Lex Barker Fills The Bill

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 17 (AP)—"Gad, what muscles!" That's the reaction to the screen's 10th and latest Tarzan, a former Princeton tackle named Lex Barker.

Alexander Circhlow Barker is the lad's full name, and, as John-ly Weissmuller's successor, he faces a life of keeping trim. After all, as the screen's loincloth actor, he has to keep a shape that will pass the closest scrutiny in film fans.

When former swim champion Weissmuller gave up the strenuous role (he will play a more clothed "Jungle Jim" in future films), a call went up for a rugged successor. Lex was an occupation disease sometimes known as "actor's paunch." He quickly enrolled at the Health Emporium of Terry Hunt here.

A few weeks of exercise dropped three inches from his waist and added as much to his chest. He erased 10 pounds from his 6-foot-4 frame and now scales 197. Tests proved that the 29-year-old actor was what the screen ape-man should be—rugged enough to be King of the Jungle, but not too muscular to give male film customers inferiority complexes.

Tarzan Type.
I visited Lex during his workout at Hunt's and asked if he did not fear Tarzan would type him as an actor.

"I realize there is that danger," he said, as he revolved his legs in the air. "But I know this role will put me in the limelight. Later (groan) I hope to do other roles. My contract with Sol Lesser permits one outside picture a year (sigh)."

Lex hasn't yet met Cheetah, the scene-stealing monkey, but he has been seeing lots of old Tarzan films and should be able to cope with the beast. His only other hazard is the vast amount of kipping he receives from his pals, many of whom telephoned him from New York and greeted him with the familiar "Oh-Hee-Toh-Hee-Oh," or however you spell that Tarzan yell.

"How about the yell?" I asked. "I don't have to," he sighed as he headed for the shower. "It's already recorded and just dubbed in on the sound track."

Has Perfect Game

SEATTLE, May 17—(AP)—Tracy Barrett, plump and frankly forthright, pitched himself into baseball's fraternity of fame Sunday with a seven-inning perfect no-hit no-run game. Pumping the same right arm that has carried him through 23 years of professional play, Barrett led Seattle to a 3-0 Pacific Coast League victory over Sacramento. Not a man reached first base.

personality who is almost bound to lead in any group."

"If the people of Italy had not gone out to vote when they did, there would be a Communist government in Italy today," said Mr. Fraser who was the first speaker on the platform. He urged the electorate to turn out in force and support the local Conservative candidate, Mr. Scott, and help put the Drew government back into power.

He quoted a Liberal spokesman who had said that Oliver will take the subject of hydro out of politics. "Think back to when Mitchell Hepburn was in; he took out $30,000,000 and I still don't know what he did with it. George Drew has given back all profits from the hydro, and operated at reduced rates. More than $600,000 is being returned to Toronto alone."

On the flag-draped platform at the Conservative headquarters on George St., were Mr. and Mrs. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Fraser, James Juby, chairman, Col. F. E. Bird-sall, who introduced the speaker, and Mrs. Hand.

Major-General Kulwant Singh led the Kammu and Kashmir forces during difficult times, and won high praise for his amazing successes. This is a recent picture taken of Major-General Kulwant Singh when he was commander of the Kammu and Kashmir forces stationed in Kashmir. He is seen talking to one of the men fighting under him on the Kashmir front, shortly before being appointed chief of the general staff, Indian army headquarters.

SALLY'S SALLIES

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

ASKS THEM FOR GIFTS

WHEN you make a double jump in your partner's originally-bid major suit to force your side into a game contract in that declaration, you give the opponents much less information than if you had forced with a jump in some other suit. Even a jump in No Trumps risks giving them additional specific information, as your partner may respond to it with a bid of another suit. Possession of side-suit facts frequently tells the opponents what to lead against you, whereas lack of them compels a guess on their part which in effect invites them to give you gifts by a wrong lead.

At Table 2, such a jump was considered an absolute guarantee of enough strength for the pair to get into a game, and also guaranteed at least four trumps. The bidding at Table 1, practically obliged West to lead the only unbid suit, clubs. As a consequence, the defenders got the first two tricks and the declarer only one extra.

The defenders at Table 2 knew nothing about what were their opponents' side suits. West therefore had to lead in complete darkness. Hearts not having been bid, he reckoned that major suit was a little more likely to be his partner's than the minor clubs. So he opened the heart 8. After winning that, South scored three tricks in spades, two more in hearts, ruffed a heart and on the diamonds discarded a club, so that he took all but one trick, beating the other North-South pair because of better bidding, not better play.

At Table 1, the North-South pair did not consider anything an absolute force to game except a jump in a new suit, so 3-Spades by North would not have been strong enough to show positively that a game contract should be reached, if South had a minimum.

Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.

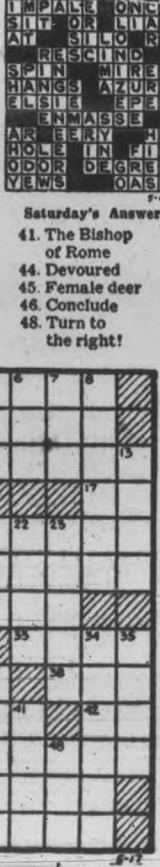

1. 1♣	Pass	3♣	Pass
2. 1♠	Pass	3♠	Pass
3. 2♠	Pass	3♠	Pass

At Table 1, the North-South pair did not consider anything an absolute force to game except a jump in a new suit, so 3-Spades by North would not have been strong enough to show positively that a game contract should be reached, if South had a minimum.

BLACK WATCH RECEIVES PORTRAIT
The close ties which bind His Excellency the Governor-General, Viscount Alexander, to The Black Watch (RHR) of Canada, were drawn closer recently in Montreal when ex-Pipe Major D. Sutherland, left, presented to the Sergeants' Mess a portrait of the Governor-General which he had painted. RSM A. F. Turnbull, DCM, right, accepted the work of art on behalf of the members, and assured the donor it would find an honored place on the walls of the Mess.

McNaughton Wins Way Back Becomes Canada's Atomic Expert

By DOUGLAS HOW.

OTTAWA, May 17 — (CP) — A shaggy, magnetic man stood on an Ottawa platform this week, every inch a big leaguer.

He was General A. G. L. McNaughton, Canadian delegate to the United Nations, talking about international control of atomic energy. He was blunt, vigorous, majestic in his command of the topic, young with a timeless spring of spirit.

At 61, the soldiers' Andy had been a long way up, a long way down, and now he had come a long way back. Perspective had smoothed away the bitter days when he left his Army command in Britain and came home to the conscription crisis and two defeats at the polls.

They were days that could have broken many a career, but perspective has shown that Grey North and Qu'Appelle voted better than they knew. They denied Andy McNaughton a seat in Parliament—and he felt it deeply—but they opened the way for even greater service to his country.

Becomes Expert

Instead of retreating into melancholy and retirement, he plunged into atomic energy and made himself an expert, became chairman of the Joint United States-Canada Defence Board, chairman of the Atomic Energy Control Board, the delegate and chairman of the United Nations

Atomic Commission, and finally delegate to the whole United Nations — Canada's ambassador to the Court of Nations.

In the offices and corridors of Ottawa, you hear only good things about him. The Canadians who have been at UN say he "ranks ace-high" down there. Even foreigners will tell you the man has a personal prestige, a sincerity that often dominates a room. In the Assembly, he is demonstrating a political know-how some did not think he had. Early in the atomic discussions he locked horns with the tough and lofty Bernard Baruch and won concessions on United States proposals for world control. A reporter later asked him what he thought of Baruch. "I like him," McNaughton said. "He is a pirate—but I like to deal with pirates."

Admired in Canada

Even Canada's top atomic experts speak with admiration of his grasp of their field. A high official of the Defence Research Board—now the fourth scientific service — once said few people knew how much Andy McNaughton had helped them through the tough early days.

The fire and authority, the incorrigible optimism of the man was all there on the platform this week. He attacked pessimism on the deadlock over the atomic control. He said the majority of the UN Commission had hammered out proposals that were "unmatched in generosity." "And we are so genuine in our belief," he added, "that we feel that something of our sincerity must find its way through to the people of Russia."

That's the way Andy McNaughton thinks, and is.

Refuse To Discard Mail Tender System

OTTAWA, May 17 — (CP) — Postmaster-General Bertrand Friday night in the Commons rejected Opposition suggestions that the tender system of awarding rural mail contracts be discarded. During a repeat performance of a debate which occupied the chamber for a full sitting last year, he warned that any other system of awarding the contracts might lead to political patronage, a practice the government wanted to avoid.

Contract prices had to vary because of different conditions on rural routes across the country.

Is A Tame Duck Just A Duck Or A Migrant Green-Headed Mallard Puzzles Magistrate

CHATHAM, May 17 — (CP) — Justice paused Thursday to get a ruling on whether a tame duck is a migratory bird.

The question arose in Magistrate Ivan B. Craig's court as Oswald H. Taylor of Jeanettes Creek, Ont., and Harry L. Martinson of Tilbury were charged with keeping migratory game birds in cold storage after the March 31 deadline. Both pleaded innocent.

Taylor testified the six green-headed Mallards seized by RCMP at his creamery at Tilbury last April 14 were raised on his farm. He had killed them to save the cost of feed. The magistrate adjourned the case to May 20 to get expert help in deciding just what a green-headed Mallard is.

The law under which both men are charged is designed to protect game birds. About March 31, they migrate north to Canada. Persons who killed them after that date could claim they had been shot during the previous season.

Acre Arabs Surrender To Hagana

Jews Open Big Dam
500 Arabs Drown
South Of Galilee

TEL AVIV, May 18 (AP).—Jewish army sources said the ancient all-Arab town of Acre surrendered unconditionally early today after a 72-hour battle in the streets.

Hagana said earlier it had some 4,000 Arabs trapped in the old walled city, eight miles north of the Jewish port of Haifa. Hagana fighters claimed control of the highway through the city, a link to Jewish settlements in the north.

Acre is just outside the area of Palestine designated as Jewish under the United Nations partition plan.

To the east, Jewish sources in Haifa declared 500 Arabs were drowned when Jews opened a dam and flooded plain lands south of the Sea of Galilee.

Tel Aviv was raided by light bombers just after dawn, for the fourth straight day. The 45-minute attack was the longest yet upon the city. The Jews said they shot down one attacking plane and damaged another. There were no immediate reports of casualties or damage.

Plane Crashes
Hagana said one of the attacking pilots crash-landed near Rehovot, 15 miles southeast of Tel Aviv, and was taken into custody by two girl soldiers. They said he identified himself as an Egyptian air force pilot officer. In the first day's air raids Saturday, the Jews also had claimed capture of an Egyptian pilot.

The Haifa informant said Arab columns were trapped by the rushing dam waters near Deganya on the southern tip of the Sea of Galilee. The plain lies below sea level in the Jordan Valley.

Before the surrender of Acre was claimed, Hagana said Jewish Commandos had swarmed down upon the ancient city from the historic hill from which Napoleon once tried unsuccessfully to storm it.

The Jewish commander had said his force was "not interested" in immediate capture of Acre. Control of the highway was more important because it was "necessary."

Shattering Tank Explosion Kills 10 Men As Chemical Plant Swept By Roaring Flames

KEARNY, N.J., May 18 (AP).—A shattering tank explosion and fire shortly before midnight Monday night killed at least 10 persons at the sprawling Koppers Company tar and chemical division plant.

Nine bodies were taken from the ruins of the building along the Hackensack river and another victim died in a hospital. Firemen searched the wreckage for additional victims of the blast that set off a fire in an adjoining building of the plant.

The company's office in Pittsburgh said the explosion occurred when a strong wind blew part of the contents of a 50,000-gallon tank of a distillate against a hot pipe. The distillate, used in making other chemicals, "flashed," and then set the tank afire. A service building, laboratory and machine shop were burned.

First reports said the blast was caused by blazing naphthalene.

Leaflet, Loud-Speaker Duel Staged At Factory Gate; Union Split Into 2 Camps

The main gate of the CGE plant at one o'clock today was the scene of a leaflet-and-speeches eruption of opposing union forces. Two letters were distributed to workers as they returned to work—one signed by seven CGE workers, all executive members of Local 524, UE-CIO, the other by the local, composed partially of non-resident organizers.

Beside the gate, parked on Park St., C. S. Jackson, president of District 5, United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America, Toronto, central figure of the schism in the union ranks, broadcast from a sound truck. This was in apparent defiance of the recent refusal of the City Council to allow loud speaker trucks outside the plant.

He denounced "those members of the executive who are agents of the company and content to let half-measures do."

Both letters urged attendance at a full membership meeting to be held tonight at 7:30.

This is the first public flare-up of the two dissenting sides in the union. Opening June was a letter sent to the membership of the union by Mr. Jackson, which the members of the local executive termed a "most vicious, unwarranted and wholly unsubstantiated attack against the leadership of this Local."

The letter in opposition to the seven-signature message from the union executive, referring to tonight's meeting said in part: "Tonight the workers of GE will discuss and decide on ways and means to get the best union contract and a substantial wage increase."

A report will be given on the District Council decisions on the policy of the Union in matters of uniting our forces for the battles that lie ahead. For a general wage increase, greater seniority, protection, full production and jobs for all through a constructive program for prosperity and peace.

With this kind of policy fully supported by the membership, our union will continue to grow and continue to be the outstanding fighting union for the members."

"GE workers are urgently in need of a wage increase now. You can help yourself by coming to the meeting and helping to build the UE bigger and stronger for the present negotiations with the GE Company."

"GE workers are entitled to more money. Let us build our union."

"The time comes, as we know in war, when a headlong advance must be followed by detailed consolidation... that is the stage which we are now reaching. If we go on always stretching out our hands for more and not making good the gains we have claimed, only disaster can follow."

Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison turned the red light on nationalization in a speech to the conference.

"There is no virtue in passing acts of parliament and in setting up new organizations except to enable people to create more wealth," he said.

Find Child In York Field Crouched Under Bushes 17 Hours After Vanishing

Believe Attacker Used Stone As Weapon, Fear Youngster Suffers
Severe Head Injuries From Assault

TORONTO, May 18 (CP).—Criminally assaulted and apparently left for dead, eight-year-old Teresa Dowling was found today cowering in a suburban York township field after being missing for 17 hours. Her clothing torn to shreds and her face covered with blood, Teresa could only say: "I'm scared," when discovered by a constable crouched in a clump of bushes in a field just five blocks from her home.

The district is less than two miles from where 11-year-old Arlene Anderson, a paralytic, was found ravished and murdered last autumn. Scores of searchers had combed the area since Teresa was last seen going to a store to buy a school spelling book at 4 p.m. Monday.

A telephone call sent police back to the district after they had just about given up hope that Teresa would be found.

Police checked a report that an old man had been seen with the girl in the vicinity, north of the old belt line railroad, a mile or so north of the northwest city limits. One of her eyes was closed, apparently from a blow. Dried blood covered most of her body.

Find Bloody Stone
A bloody stone which police believed was used to subdue the child, was found.

Hospital authorities reported her condition is "not too bad." It is feared the girl may have serious head injuries. Her shoes were found beside the two-pound rock 50 feet from where she was discovered. A trail of blood led from them to the thicket where she lay. Branches were stained with blood and pieces of her clothing were scattered around.

"There isn't the slightest doubt she was left for dead by a cold-blooded killer," said Chief Robert FIND CHILD

Dutch Royal Palace Damaged By Fire

THE HAGUE, May 18 (AP).—A fire severely damaged Queen Wilhelmina's Noordeinde palace today, raging for an hour before it was brought under control.

Witnesses said the flames, fanned by a strong wind, probably were started by a torch used by painters, who were burning off old paint on the roof.

The 67-year-old queen and other members of the royal family were not at the palace, built in 1553 and the residence of the Orange Dynasty for centuries. It has been used for official receptions only in recent years. Wilhelmina is staying at Het Loo, her summer residence in the country.

$1,000 Stolen From Safe At Warkworth

WARKWORTH, May 18 (ENS).—Provincial Constable Don Nichol of Cobourg has been called in to investigate the safe cracking job at Warkworth, Sunday night. Using crow bars believed stolen the same night from a railway section house at Hastings, the robbers hauled the safe to the back of the co-op building, where it was located, and broke it open. A thousand in cash and about the same amount in cheques were stolen. The theft was discovered when an employee came down on Monday morning.

Play 8 Days Win $39,000

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 18. (AP).—Three non-stop gamblers rode a phenomenal winning streak today and reported they were $39,000 ahead on Las Vegas roulette wheels in the last eight days.

The trio, relieving each other in continuous play since May 10, are Jack Cortez, 32, of New York; Roy Walford, 32, San Diego, California; and Albert Hibbs, 23, of Chillicothe, Ohio.

Their play attracted large crowds. Some bystanders cashed in on the trio's "system" of consistently playing number one.

One spectator who began with $3 in nickel chips cashed in $3,800 Monday.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 18. (AP).—Mrs. Bill Tucker walked into the neighborhood bootlegger's house and said she found her Bill with his arms around blonde Winnie Barnhill, the bootlegger's telephone girl.

This upset Mrs. Tucker. She drew her little 22 and took a pot-shot at Winnie.

Maybe emotion spoiled her aim, or maybe somebody jumped. Anyway, she missed Winnie a mile and plugged poor Bill in the side—not too seriously. She swore she aimed at Winnie.

They carted Bill off the hospital and the sheriff came around for a look-see.

They had the trial Monday. The judge handed out a $50 fine and 30 days in jail.

Elizabeth And Philip Return To England

LONDON, May 18 (AP).—Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip returned by air today after a four-day holiday in Paris.

The royal couple flew from Le Courget Field in Paris in a Viking airplane of the King's flight after cheering crowds had lined their route from the British Embassy to Le Bourget.

The Princess wore a light fawn silk dress with shoes to match Prince Philip was in naval uniform.

A guard of honor was at Le Bourget and a band of the French Air Force played the British and French National Anthems.

While most papers in Paris gave the royal pair a great send-off today with front-page photographs of the visit, the Communist party paper L'Humanite said:

"The Princess has seen Paris, but Paris has not seen the Princess. Their stay lasted only four days during which the royal couple hardly saw the people of France except through triple rows of soldiers, policemen and personalities."

Civil Contempt Conviction Against Lewis Dismissed

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP).—The civil contempt conviction against John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers (Ind.) was dismissed today at the Government's request. Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, however, took under consideration a Government request to end the anti-strike injunction against Lewis and the union.

Judge Goldsborough said the plea for dropping the injunction came as a surprise and he was not prepared to rule on it immediately. He added he is not convinced that there is no danger of a new coal strike.

The injunction was issued by Judge Goldsborough April 21. It placed a temporary restraining order of April 3.

It was obtained under the Federal Taft-Hartley Act to end a six-week coal strike, touched off by a dispute over pensions for elderly miners.

Public Secure
In seeking the dismissals, Attorney General Tom Clark informed the court the Government felt the pension dispute is being handled appropriately, that the miners are at work and the "public interest is secure."

Lewis and the union were convicted of both civil and criminal contempt for failing to obey a restraining order against a work stoppage.

In seeking dismissal of the anti-strike order Clark told Judge T. Alan Goldsborough the purposes of the Government's actions against the miners—resumption of normal production in the mines—has been achieved.

Wallace Plan Appeals To Russians

Washington Silent About Offer; -Smith Talk Inadequate

MOSCOW, May 18 — (AP)—Prime Minister Stalin says Russia is willing, if the United States is, to accept Henry A. Wallace's recent "open letter" to him as the foundation for peaceful settlement of Soviet-American quarrels.

In a statement dated Monday and released by the Soviet press department Monday night, Stalin replied to proposals made by Wallace at a political rally in New York a week ago today.

"I do not know," Stalin said, "whether the United States government approves of Mr. Wallace's program should serve as a good and fruitful basis for such an agreement and for the development of international co-operation."

(In Washington, the White House and the state department withheld official comment.)

Lists Proposals

Stalin gave a concise summary of Wallace's proposals, which he said "are known to everybody," listing them as follows:

1. A general reduction of armaments and prohibition of atomic weapons.
2. "Conclusion of peace treaties with Germany and Japan and the question of evacuation of troops from these countries."
3. Evacuation of troops from China and Korea.
4. "Respect for the sovereignty of individual countries and non-interference in their domestic affairs."
5. The inadmissibility of military bases in member countries of the United Nations.
6. "World development of international trade excluding any sort of discrimination."
7. "In the framework of the United Nations, assistance to and economic restoration of countries which suffered from the war."
8. Defence of democracy and insuring of civil rights in all countries; and so on."

Can't Ignore It

"It is possible to agree or to disagree with the program of Mr. Wallace," Stalin said. "But one thing is, nevertheless, beyond doubt: There is no statesman caring for peace and co-operation among the peoples who can ignore this program, since it reflects the hopes and strivings of the peoples towards consolidation of peace, and it doubtless will have the support of millions of ordinary people."

"Despite the difference in the economic system and the ideologies, the co-existence of these systems and a peaceful settlement of differences between the USSR and the United States are not only possible, but also necessary in the interests of general peace," Stalin referred to the recent diplomatic exchange between Foreign Minister Molotov and the United States ambassador, Walter B. Smith, only to mention its "inadequacy." That exchange did nothing more than declare "the desirability of settling the Soviet-American differences."

These are the six objectives toward which Wallace, in his "open letter" said the United States and Russia must take "definite decisions":

1. "General reduction of armaments—outlining all methods of mass production."
2. "Stopping the export of weapons by any nation to any other nation."
3. "The resumption of unrestricted trade (except for goods related to war) between the two countries."
4. "The free movement of citizens, students and newspapermen between and within the two countries."
5. "The resumption of free exchange of scientific information and scientific material between the two nations."
6. "The re-establishment of a re-invigorated UNRRA or the constitution of some other United Nations agency for the distribution of international relief."

Among other things, Wallace also urged: That neither the United States nor Russia should interfere in the internal affairs of other countries; that both give maximum economic help to Europe; that a peace treaty be concluded as soon as possible with Germany and Japan; that both the United States and Russia withdraw troops from China and Korea and not send arms into China; that bases should be established in U.N. member states not troops nor naval forces massed to terrorize citizens of member states.

Wallace also expressed criticism of "excessive use of the veto" and the atomic impasse, both of which, he said, are "symptoms, not causes."

Defends Child Welfare Work Done In Alberta

EDMONTON, May 18 — (CP)—Thirty-three years' service to Alberta's children were described to a Royal Commission Monday by Charles B. Hill, superintendent of child welfare.

Answering allegations leveled almost a year ago in the Whittaker report, Mr. Hill said child welfare was his vocation and avocation. In 33 years he had not had a day off.

Testifying before a provincial-appointed Royal Commission on child welfare, with Chief Justice W. R. Howson as chairman, Mr. Hill was Alberta's first witness in defence of his child welfare administration.

The system was brought under fire by the Whittaker report, published by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire last July after a year-long survey by welfare authority Dr. Charlotte Whittaker of Ottawa. It alleged maladministration and recommended sweeping changes.

Mr. Hill stood by the system but said "child placement is like marriage. If we were blessed with foresight we might do some things differently."

He had placed 10,000 babies since 1913 and he might have made mistakes, "but never will."

In families the main principle was to try to keep children with their parents. Dozens of wards had been cancelled when home conditions were righted. Often taking children from parents brought older persons to their senses.

Find No Excuse

The executives' message called Jackson's attack "this attempt of a District President to smash the leadership of Local 524 and kick it into line." Saying that "we can find no excuse for Brother Jackson's vicious and untimely attack," the conclusions printed in the handed-out sheet charged: "That Brother Jackson is trying to smash the leadership of Local 524... trying to stifle the freedom of expression of this Local and make it conform solely to his own ideas... ready to sacrifice the unity of this Local in his efforts to control it... Using a phoney issue (the UEW-CCF committee) to mislead the workers and shake their confidence in local leadership... The attack is not confined to Brothers Morton and Grierson but that it is aimed at the other Executive and Negotiating Committee members who are closely associated with them..."

The letter was over the names of W. Whittaker, Vice President, and Temporary Delegate; P. Doherty, Recording Sec'y, Temporary Delegate and Negotiating Committee Member; K. Chiles, Financial Sec'y, Permanent Delegate and Negotiating Committee Member; J. Murphy, Treasurer, Temporary Delegate and Negotiating Committee Member; L. Grills, Executive Member; J. Find Child

Branches torn from the underbrush were too thick for a child to have broken off, police said. Tire marks of a car were found entering and leaving the field 100 yards from the spot.

Alexander of York township police, who believed the child was criminally attacked where her shoes were found, then covered.

"She is in pretty fair shape and was talking to us on the way to hospital," Inspector Alfred Gray of York township said. "She said she didn't know how she got to the spot where she was found and she kept on asking where her mother was."

At Hospital for Sick Children a doctor said the girl has a serious head injury. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Dowling, arrived at the hospital a quarter hour after her admittance.

Ralph Allen, a district resident, had noticed a little girl walking west along his street about 8:30 p.m. last night. As he hadn't heard of Teresa's disappearance, he thought nothing of it. This morning his wife learned of the search and recalled her husband seeing the girl. She called police.

The child's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Dowling, notified authorities yesterday after she failed to return from the store.

Tonight will be the annual meeting of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce. Guest speaker for the evening will be Major James Baxter, M.C. Toronto. President Wilson Gemmell estimates there will be a record turnout.

Tax Reductions Expected In New Budget

OTTAWA, May 18 — (CP)—Tonight the taxpayer gets his annual jolt—pleasant or otherwise, as the case may be—from the Finance Department.

For on Parliament Hill it's budget night, when Finance Minister Abbott discloses the extent of the government's tax dip into the citizens' pockets for the current year.

A state secret, the contents of the budget will be given to the nation by Mr. Abbott in the Commons, starting about 8 p.m. EDT.

In a speech expected to run close to two hours, Mr. Abbott will tell first of the government's expenditures for the fiscal year ended March 31—announcing a surplus expected to be of record size—and then outline the taxation proposals for this year.

Well Guarded Secret

It is the latter subject that interests the taxpaying section of the country, but Mr. Abbott's intentions along that line were still a closely-guarded secret today among officials.

The guessing is all to the effect that there will be tax reductions. But there is no valid information as to where the cuts will come.

The size of the surplus leads to the belief that the taxpayer's burden is to be eased. Last year, Mr. Abbott presented parliament with a $352,000,000 surplus an all-time high. Tonight he was expected to announce a figure of twice that or possibly better.

Ship 500 Head Cattle Out Of Flooded Area

WINNIPEG, May 18 — (CP)—Residents of The Pas, 450 miles northwest of here, were scheduled to meet farmers from the flooded Carrot River Valley today to complete plans to ship 500 head of beef cattle by boat 100 miles south to pasture.

Swirling waters mark the site of the Broken dam, in the middle of the Carrot River farmland area. It is so far under water that it is not known whether it has been burst, inundated or overrun by record spring floods.

To help feed dairy herds, moved from nearby farms into The Pas, a Saskatchewan government barge is salvaging haystacks from the few remaining dry ridges in the Ralls Island farmland east of the town.

Barge and canoe crews who visited farms on the south side of the Carrot river—lowest-lying and hardest-hit area—reported nearly all families have been moved into The Pas before the floods reached their peak Sunday.

3 Youths Reported Missing Just Enjoying Rice Lake

Two young Frenchmen and a Belgian, Pierre and Louis Falquet and Luc Delacroix, arrived in Bewdley late Saturday evening for a quiet week-end on Rice Lake. They hired a canoe and started down the lake Sunday noon to visit an Indian reservation about which they had heard. The wind blew stiff from the west and the ice scudded along ahead of it for many a merry mile. People who knew the lake would have hesitated to travel on it in a 15-foot canoe at any time. But these boys were new to the ways of Canada, especially the lakes, although they had been attending University in Toronto for the past 3 years.

Their canoe course took them southeast and by the time they had gone 20 miles they were opposite Alderville. They beached their boat and tramped six miles to the Rosebush Indian Reserve, took several pictures and went back to the shore about supper time. Delacroix was not the enthusiast the Falquet brothers were and managed to avail himself of a free ride to Cobourg, where he caught a bus to Toronto. The other two, knowing they would not make Bewdley again by an evening paddle, tramped back to Rosebush.

Exchange Yarns

They managed to arrange for night's lodging with the Bigwin family where they thoroughly enjoyed themselves swapping yarns with the natives and soaking up local color.

Delacroix, who worked at the Belgian Consulate, Toronto, went to work Monday morning. He phoned his friends apartment at 11 Roxborough Rd., but was advised that they had not arrived back in Toronto on Sunday evening. He spread the alarm to the Belgian Consul, and in no time a Toronto daily had dispatched three newsmen by chartered aircraft from the island seaplane base and two more by car to cover a big news break that looked, at first, that treacherous Rice lake had again claimed two boating victims.

Provincial Policemen Don Nicholl and Lyle Erskine of the Co-jour detachment were alerted and they sped to Gore's Landing picking up Game Warden Victor Harris on the way. They commanded a boat and headed east along the shoreline.

Meet Brothers

They met the brothers paddling effortlessly but strongly off shore at Harwood and took them in tow. Meanwhile Don Sidey, Bewdley general merchant, went east from his village. The two boats met a shore landing, and Mr. Sidey took the two Frenchmen aboard his boat with their canoe.

They arrived back at Bewdley at 8:15 p.m. grinning good-naturedly at the panel of newsmen and townspeople waiting on the docks. Nobody worries.

"I am surprised at all the stir," said Louis. "In France they would have waited 10 days and then sent 100 men to search, probably too late. In Canada, we did not even know we were lost and they sent boats and planes because we were unreported overnight—tres bonne service."

They had never done much canoeing, except on French rivers around Paris, and admitted that Rice lake was something else again.

"It is so big," observed Pierre.

Once they were in Mr. Sidey's general store munching chocolate while newsmen quizzed them into utter confusion and had the two rural phones-buzzed incessantly. They wondered if it would have been less exciting had they come back to Bewdley on Sunday evening, no matter how late. The excitement was beginning to get them down and they were glad to pile into the Toronto press car and whisk away from it all. Their Indian-hunting expedition had lost all its glamor, somehow, but they would certainly have a great yarn to tell their parents when they arrived back in Paris for summer vacation.

Egyptian Government Serves Warning On Munitions Ship

CAIRO, May 18 — (AP)—The Egyptian government warned today that it "cannot tolerate" deliveries of munitions and war supplies to Zionists in Palestine. It continued attempts to do so prove dangerous, it said.

A statement of the defence ministry, copies of which it said were sent to all powers, reported that ships carrying war equipment and munitions for "Zionist terrorist gangs" still are arriving at the Palestine ports and warned "all concerned" of the dangers involved.

The Arab higher executive office here said it monitored a broadcast from Beyrouth, Lebanon, announcing a junction of Egyptian and Transjordan troops at Lydda, 20 miles southeast of Tel Aviv.

There was no confirmation. Previous reports, Sunday night, had Egyptian columns moving up the coast from the south within 30 miles of Tel Aviv.

Reliable sources here reported that a small force of Saudi Arabian troops had arrived in Egypt by air to join the Egyptian army in Palestine. Previously, there has been scant word as to the part Saudi Arabia, one of the biggest of Arab League states, intended to play in the fight.

Arab forces claimed new victories over the Jews today both in the north and south of Palestine. While ground commanders said they had blasted their way into the heart of Israel, Egypt, Syria and Iraq all claimed air successes Monday in the mounting war.

A Damascus dispatch said the Egyptian Air Force had bombed Tel Aviv for the third straight day, starting numerous fires with high explosive and incendiary bombs. (Tel Aviv was bombed this morning again in the longest raid to date.)

Lindsay Firm Cuts Rates, Union Protests

LINDSAY, May 18.—There is trouble brewing on the Lindsay labor front. Members of the Textile Workers' Union of America employed at Knitters Ltd. say they have been notified by the company of a six to eight-cent wage cut. They say the wage cut is to become effective Monday and that they were notified of this on Friday.

A spokesman for the union said that the union would take the matter before a conciliation board on May 27. He contended that the sudden wage cut is not in line with their contract and that any change in the wage schedule must be subject to two months advance notice.

The spokesman said that the union does not want to strike and that they do not want any unpleasantness but that their future action would be determined by the result of the conciliation board meeting.

The union held a mass meeting at the Knitters plant on Saturday morning to discuss the matter.

Damage was light to both track and cars. No one was hurt in the mishap which caused slight delays to passenger trains Nos. 1 and 2.

Parks Board Seeks To Beautify Strip

LINDSAY, May 18.—(ENS)—The local parks board is going to ask the Federal government to help clean up McDonnell park, situated along the Seagor river bank. T. R. Price, H. Debois and Mrs. J. Reynolds were appointed a committee at the board's regular meeting Monday night, to interview Clayton Hodgson, MP for this riding regarding the possibilities of the government fixing up the river bank, since this is a part of the government canal system.

A strip of land between the river and the park, located a short distance downstream from the locks, is government property. The board wants to work in conjunction with town council, the Canadian Legion and other property owners in the area to clean up the park and its surroundings. Mr. Price pointed out that since there is no great amount of navigation on the river, the Government might not be in a hurry to clean things up.

The resolution continued: "We urge our Canadian government to permit shipment of arms to Israel so that it may defend itself against Arab aggression."

Anti-Soviet Policy Drives GI To Russia

MOSCOW, May 18.—(AP)—The Russian radio broadcast today a letter in which Sgt. James M. McMillin of the United States Army is quoted as saying he intends to stay here "as a protest against the anti-Soviet policies of the capitalists who at present rule America."

The letter was said to have been addressed by McMillin, formerly of the military attaché's office of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, to the mayor of Moscow and to the U.S. ambassador, Walter B. Smith, now on a holiday in France.

The letter was quoted as saying: "Living in the United States, I did not think there existed a system of government such as exists here in the Soviet Union, in which the common man is looked after and which is directed towards constant improvement of the mode of life and the culture of the people."

"The future belongs to this country. Obviously it was long ago clear to the capitalists that such a political system, where everything belongs to the people, presented a great peril to them. Only this can explain the ferocious attacks on this country by American capitalists."

Canada's Five-Year Health Plan

The Prime Minister's momentous announcement of the Federal five-year 150 million dollar social health plan last Friday was received with surprise and gratification by the House of Commons. We have summarized the main points elsewhere on this page and wish to make here some general comment on its significance.

The ten-point health plan is vast in scope and will mean an annual expenditure by the Dominion Government of at least $30,000,000 for the next five years. On this point the Prime Minister said, "what these expenditures may mean in the preservation of health, in the saving of human life, to say nothing of the lessening of human suffering and misery and not infrequently despair, is beyond calculation."

There is a saying that "a nation's health is a nation's wealth." For years the health of the people has been left to charity, to individual and local effort and to piecemeal Provincial and Federal assistance. Despite a growing realization that the health of its people is fundamental to a nation's welfare and the prevention, treatment and cure of disease a prime humanitarian concern, there has been insufficient co-ordination of effort and an increasing inability of charitable and local enterprise to cope with the "nation's health." The work and fund-raising activities of volunteer organizations and private benefactions are no longer able to meet the needs.

There is an estimated present hospital shortage of 60,000 beds. Mental illness is increasing—more than one-third of all hospital beds in Canada today are occupied by patients suffering from this. Research facilities and training, hospital accommodation and treatment, must be greatly extended to meet the challenge of mental diseases, cancer and tuberculosis. The public health services have been expanded, but are still inadequate for our growing population and the increasing urbanization. At the same time as the needs are increasing, the costs are rising. Both money and co-ordinated effort are required, and the new Federal plan provides for both.

An important feature of the Government's health program prepared for the Dominion-Provincial Conference of 1945 was the proposal of planning and organizational grants to the Provinces as well as grants for existing provincial health services and the construction of hospitals. When Ontario and Quebec walked out of the Conference, the program was stalemated. Now, however, the Government has come forward with this even more comprehensive Health Plan and has not made it conditional on general Provincial agreement. Every province, including Ontario and Quebec, can take advantage of it; the only condition is that the provinces will be required to maintain at least their present level of expenditure in the various fields for which the Federal grants will be available. This is to ensure that the Dominion scheme will be supplemental to (and not supplant) Provincial expenditures, as well as to ensure co-ordinated organization and research.

The Federal scheme augments the Ontario Government's extensive health plans and provisions for generous grants. It does, however, more than that. The measures represent, in the words of the Prime Minister, "first stages in the development of a comprehensive health insurance plan for all Canada." The nation's health has been placed, at a politic moment, above provincial feuding.

The Large Ontario Cabinet

The large size of the Drew Cabinet is in part an indication of the wide extent and importance of the enterprises and affairs in which the Provincial Government has a hand. There are nineteen Ministers in the Federal Cabinet, apart from the Prime Minister, who now does not hold a portfolio. In comparison with this, there are sixteen Ministers in the Drew Cabinet. The last Legislative Assembly contained a large majority of Conservative members—65 of them. However, the large Cabinet provided ministerial appointments for one in every four Conservatives. That is, any Conservative who secured victory at the polls during the last election had one chance in four of being an "Honourable", with the privileges that go with it and a total emolument of $11,000.

The Cost Of The New Civic Hospital

No one knows what the new hospital is going to cost, no responsible person is even hazarding an informed guess; but everybody knows that it will cost more than was planned for, more than the money presently set aside, more than is on the horizon.

It may be informative to review the general financial situation as now known. A total of $1,530,000 is definitely assured. This is made up of $600,000 from debentures authorized by the citizens, $300,000 from the City Trust, $50,000 from the Utilities Commission, $150,000 from the County, $250,000 from the Nichols Hospital Trust. In addition to these, it is expected that $180,000 will be granted by the Provincial Government, because of its recent promise to aid hospital construction up to a total cost of $1,000 a bed. Notwithstanding the probability of having $1,710,000 available, the size of the hospital has been cut from an original plan of 265 beds to 180. That is, two arms instead of the three of the 'Y' shaped plan will be constructed—if the money can be found.

Construction is being proceeded with as rapidly as possible, on a "cost plus" basis—in other words, architect, contractors and the like are not tied to definite estimates. That was the only way in which work could be undertaken because of the rising costs of material and labour.

Hope that the hospital may be completed without saddling the citizens of the city and county with a shattering debt comes from the recently announced Federal Health Plan. The Dominion Government will submit legislation to empower it to grant $1,000 a bed for new hospital construction, provided that the Provincial Government gives a like sum and that the Federal grant shall not exceed one-third of the total cost of construction. The Ontario Government has already promised $1,000 a bed (and we have good hope of getting it); the total cost will be far greater than three times $180,000, which we might expect from Ottawa. Therefore, there is a reasonable chance that the extra and desperately needed money will be forthcoming. The only flaw might be that since our new hospital is already under construction the Federal authorities might quibble about the interpretation of the word "new". From the tone and general content of Mr. Mackenzie King's statement, we feel sure that Ottawa will not allow Peterborough's hospital to be built without a roof for lack of $180,000.

Despite Federal and Provincial aid, there is no assurance that before the building is completed the municipal and county authorities will not have to find more money and lots of it.

Margarine Probe

The Federal Government is planning to do next session what it should have done this session, or two years ago—if at all. Through its Leader in the Senate and after the defeat of the Euler bill it has announced that a full Senate probe will be made into all questions arising from the margarine issue. It will particularly inquire into the oils and fats situation. That is really the only debatable point in the whole business—whether or not the world supply of the fats and oils on which margarine production depends permits of their import into Canada, and whether or not Canada can herself produce them.

We have a suspicion that the announcement in the Senate is an attempt to butter up the disappointed minority of Senators and the thousands of citizens who have been clamouring for repeal of the ban against margarine. It is also a way of jumping the post, for the Sinclair bill (identical with the defeated Euler bill) is still before the Commons. But it is destined to be shelved or defeated and when this happens there is likely to be a country-wide fuss.

Despite the shameful sidetracking of the slippery margarine issue (practised by the three major political parties), the public outcry should not be stilled. Margarine tastes as good as ordinary butter, looks the same, is as nutritive, has the same uses, and is half as dear. If enough people who know this stay on the war-path and recruit others to their ranks, the politicians will have to give heed.

The Examiner's London Letter

By J. D. CAMBRIDGE

LONDON is closely following the case of Briar Patch which has been proceeding with all the breathless drama of the Saturday matinee serial at the local movie house. The facts, briefly, are these. Mr. Kirby, a carpenter, without getting permission or authority, built himself a small house in Bracknell, Berks, a house called "Briar Patch" and valued at $2,400. In doing so he broke numerous laws, from the one on the national level that a permit be secured for any building costing more than $40, to the local District ruling that the house was not of suitable construction for the district in which it was built and violated their zoning laws. Six months ago he was given official notice to evacuate Briar Patch by the 1st of May, and warned the house must be torn down. From the 1st of May the case has become a regular circus, and has crowded even Palestine off the front page of the papers. Mr. Kirby, a married man with family, refused to leave, and only police action got him out of his home on the appointed day. Next, a demolition gang appeared, and took down a corrugated iron garage he had built. Indignant neighbours then formed a picket line and prevented further damage. A petition that the Kirby home be spared was the next step. By this time, every newspaper in the country had a reporter on the scene, and questions were being asked in Parliament. Finally, on Tuesday, the government minister concerned ordered a stay in proceedings, and a full inquiry instituted, and that is where the matter stands today.

OPPOSITION newspapers have gleefully seized upon the incident to denounce government building controls, and in particular to ridicule the stupidity of the local authorities in tearing down a house at the present time of housing shortages. And on the face of it, it does seem a silly thing to do. On the other hand, government supporters contend firstly that it had nothing to do with the national government until the final stage of appeal, and secondly, it would be a very poor precedent indeed to permit such a flagrant flouting of the law, which if carried to its logical conclusion, would completely destroy the authority of District Councils.

To put the problem on a more familiar footing, suppose someone in Peterborough decided to build a tar-paper shack within the city limits, in spite of his being warned by the City Council that it was illegal to do so. What then should the Council do? Should the builder be praised as a rugged individualist who was merely providing a home for himself and family, or damned as a law-breaker? And that is exactly what the problem facing the Bracknell Council is what to do.

THE summer exhibition of the Royal Academy opened last Saturday in a blaze of publicity. This is an exhibition of painting, sculpture, and architectural design given annually in London, and to have work accepted for exhibition is considered a high honour in most artistic circles. But not all. The Academicians are traditionally a conservative lot, and Art grouped under the term "modernistic" has a hard time securing a place in the show. Hence, amongst the more radical artists, it is almost a term of reproach to say that someone's work has been exhibited at the Royal Academy. More than 1,400 items are displayed, of which about 1,100 are paintings, both oils and water colours, and etchings. The latter cover a tremendous hodgepodge of styles, sizes, and subjects. There are two items in the show that have created special interest. The first is three oils by Winston Churchill, and the second an unusual portrait of a well-known London society woman, a Mrs. Daphne Wall, by John Merton.

I MUST admit I was pleasantly surprised by the three oils of Winston Churchill. Being so pre-eminent in other fields, I was prepared to tolerate his paintings as an interesting example of the hobby of a famous statesman, and nothing more. But they are more than that. Two of them are of first-class artistic merit, and the third is by no means the worst to be found in the exhibition. One can only marvel at the amazing versatility of this man. Naturally, they are of great interest to visitors, and can quickly be identified by the crowds about them.

The oil portrait of Mrs. Wall is an interesting work in great detail. She is presented in three separate poses in the same picture, full face and two semi-profiles. A fourth view, or rather, symbolism of Mrs. Wall is shown in a little medallion in the same painting. She is an enthusiastic horsewoman, and this hobby is symbolized by the medallion showing a centaur with Mrs. Wall's face and upper body replacing the traditional man-horse. Altogether, a most unique portrait, and one destined to be famous. Already both David Low and Vicky have used a parody of it in their political cartoons.

MANY of the pictures are for sale (but not Winnie's or the portrait of Mrs. Wall) at prices ranging from $20 to $2,500, and a brisk business is reported in last night's "Evening Standard". They give total sales to date as better than $60,000. The exhibition is quite an event in London's social calendar, and the costumes of visitors on opening day received as much attention in the newspapers as the art works themselves.

Speaking of costumes, the British government has capitulated before Almighty Style. After previously denouncing the new longer styles in women's clothing (the "New Look"), the Board of Trade this week meekly bowed to the inevitable. They announced a British Fashion Fortnight will be held in July, and the latest vogues properly launched. This is a considerable retreat from the position of last fall, when both Cripps and Harold Wilson (President of the Board of Trade) tried their hardest to discourage any fundamental change in British fashions. When it comes to a struggle between women's styles and government policy, it is a foregone conclusion who will be the victor.

ELECTION STATUTES

Sir: In Friday's Examiner you complain editorially that we have not kicked-up enough "fuss" about the June election. You filled a page on May 13 to give us the "Voters' Lists Act" and it reminded me that there are laws governing election action, available for anyone to read, so I went to the Public Library and read chapter 8 (Election Act) in Vol. 1, "Revised Statutes of Ontario".

I am not organized in any political faith, but would probably prefer to call myself a liberal, the term sounds pleasant, and somewhat elevating. The question, what is a Liberal, a C.C.F., a Prog. Cons., a Communist or a Socialist is nonsensical; the possible abstractions are too numerous; a more scientific query would be what does a Liberal do, and leaving for the continent, for the first time since last fall when the ban went into effect. The total currency allowed Britons for pleasure travel abroad is $140 a year to all countries, and at present day prices on the continent, this is not a great deal. All travellers are carefully screened to make sure the currency limit is not exceeded, and people are not taking valuables out of the country for sale abroad. Even personal rings and fur coats must be left at home. The British tourist, hungering for the fleshpots of Europe, will not be stopped by any such petty restrictions, and one of the heaviest tourist seasons on record is expected.

The early part of this week saw sharp drops in temperature—drops to the lowest point in two months. Frost was widespread across all of the isles, and there was some fear of serious damage to the fruit crop, especially apples, which are now in a critical stage of development. Fortunately nothing very disastrous has been reported, and warmer weather has already set in. The only inconvenience caused Londoners was a power cut. Everyone is hoping that it was winter's last little fling.

how does he do it? Or what does a Conservative not do? and how!

By reading R.S.O. I learn that when an election writ is issued any promises made thereafter, goods or services promised or provided by a candidate, or anyone on his behalf for the purpose of influencing a person to vote, or not to vote is illegal. Although "election cigars" are not mentioned it is quite evident that anyone furnishing them would be guilty of bribery, and I infer that kissing babies (infants) in order to influence mothers to vote, or not to vote, would be corrupt practice, according to law. The Act specifically states that you can't promise, provide or furnish meat, drink, refreshments or provisions for voters, except in your usual residence, and, here is a tough one "Sec. 166—(1) . . . where such residence is a private house." That would prevent me treating a prospective voter, even if I had the Scotch and the desire to do so: apartment treating is strictly "out".

I will quote one paragraph from the nine pages on "Corrupt Practices and other Illegal Acts" of the Statutes. "Sec.—(1) Every person who— . . . (c) directly or indirectly, himself or by any other person on his behalf, makes any such gift, loan, offer, promise, procurement or agreement, to or for any person in order to induce such person to procure or endeavour to procure the return of any person to serve in the Assembly, or the vote of any voter at an election." Penalties: up to $400 plus, up to one-year imprisonment. According to the law it is quite plain that the members of a Government as a whole and the individual candidates seeking re-election should be prepared to stand on their records, or such as they had previous to the issuance of the election writ; and the people in judging Mr. Scott and Mr. Drew should wash-out any promises they have made since the election notice. . . .

We are proud to have a member who is a

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty. (Ps. 91: 1.)

How amiable are thy tabernacles, O Lord of hosts!

My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord; my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God. . . .

Blessed are they that dwell in thy house: they will be still praising thee. Selah. . . .

For a day in thy courts is better than a thousand. I had rather be a doorkeeper in the house of my God, than to dwell in the tents of wickedness. For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly. (Ps. 84: 1, 2, 4, 10, 11.)

And I heard a great voice of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. (Rev. 21: 3.)

Cabinet Minister, however, during the last election campaign I had Mr. Drew sized-up as one type of person who would make the honour or being a Cabinet Member seem much less distinctive than it should be; he hasn't disappointed me on that score.

I have recently read that one Government member out of four is a Cabinet Member, and we have four Cabinet Ministers, within a range of twenty-five miles of this city: our own Member; one from Lindsay; a Doctor from Fort Hope and a farmer from Brighton (ownership in Northumberland County. I do not attempt to discredit these men, but simply to remind you that the mental potential of the ordinary man is not more likely to increase because he is made a Cabinet Member, than his physical ability, or any more than a lawyer when he is appointed a K.C. . . .

Mr. Editor, is that enough "fuss" for one citizen to raise? Respectfully,
W. H. ROSEBUSH.

Health Plan in Brief

Here is what the new Federal scheme for health services announced Friday by Prime Minister Mackenzie King will provide:

1. A grant of 35 cents per capita to strengthen existing general public health services. This will increase five cents yearly to a peak of 50 cents per capita. The initial commitment will total approximately $4,404,000 for a full year.

2. An annual grant beginning at $3 million, and rising over a period of years to $4 million annually to assist provinces in a drive to eradicate and control tuberculosis and to extend free treatment.

3. A similar annual grant beginning at $4 million annually and rising over a period of years to $7 million for similar purposes for mental health care.

4. A grant of $500,000 annually for venereal disease control. Since present grants to the provinces now total $220,000 the net increase will be $275,000 annually.

5. A grant of $500,000 annually to promote an adequate program for the control and treatment of crippling conditions in children and the development of a rehabilitation and training program for crippled children. The grant will be divided among the provinces on a per capita basis.

6. A grant of $500,000 annually to assist in making available the public health personnel necessary in the enlarged public health program.

7. A grant of $100,000 for the stimulation and development of public health research. This will be increased $100,000 annually until a peak of $500,000 is reached.

8. An annual grant to the provinces amounting to a maximum of $3,500,000 to assist in the development and provision of the most active possible diagnostic and treatment services for the control of cancer. The government will share costs of any approved program the provinces undertake on a 50-50 basis.

9. Grants totalling up to $13,000,000 annually over the next five years to promote construction of new hospitals on the basis of $1,000 per bed for active treatment beds, and $1,500 per bed for chronic or convalescent beds.

10. A non-recurring health survey grant of $625,000. This will give each province a flat $5,000, the balance to be divided between the provinces on the basis of population, to assist the provinces in setting up necessary machinery to make effective use of the other health grants.

Canadian Government Appeals To U.S. For Natural Gas Supplies

WASHINGTON, May 18. — (AP).—The Canadian government appealed to the United States Power Commission Monday to help overcome the natural gas shortage in southwestern Ontario by permitting exports from the United States.

Thomas A. Stone, Canadian minister, took the unusual step of appearing personally at a Commission hearing to present his government's views.

In April, 1946, the Power Commission authorized Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Company, to sell a maximum of 5,500,000 cubic feet of natural gas annually to Union Gas Company of Canada Ltd., but only if the needs of the United States customers were met first.

Stone said that as a result of this restriction "only negligible amounts" of gas have been delivered to Union Gas under the contract. He said his government supports the company's request for modification of the Commission's order.

Testimony at the hearing, now in its seventh week, has shown competing demands far in excess of the capacity of Panhandle's middle western pipeline system. The Commission is investigating how to put the available supply to best use.

Stone referred to Windsor and other cities served by Union Gas as an important industrial region and said that because of this the Canadian government had done all it could to assist the company in building necessary facilities to take Panhandle gas.

Grave Concern

"In the circumstances," he added, "it is a matter of considerable concern to the Canadian authorities that . . . the prospects now are that the Canadian company may not for an indefinite period begin to receive even the comparatively small amounts of gas which it contracted for four years ago."

Stone said that Canada does not expect the United States to deprive itself "to any serious extent" of a scarce commodity to supply large quantities for Canada but it worried about the possibility of exports being drastically reduced or completely cut off.

"Should the supply of adequate natural gas to the Union Gas Co. be drastically reduced," he said, "the whole very important area served by the Union Gas Co. would undergo an economic dislocation."

Edward Burlington, lawyer for Union Gas, said the company's situation has become "desperate" because of its inability to get the gas it expected under its contract with Panhandle.

Running Out

He told the Commission that the company is "running out of gas entirely" and that if something is not done soon, customers will be unable to obtain gas at any price.

Union Gas, he said, had been forced to draw gas out of its Canadian wells in a "wasteful manner." He added this over-draw of wells will mean an ultimate loss in total production.

Burling said that besides tight restrictions on use of gas for home-heating, the company has cut its industrial load by one-third.

Under the Commission's order, Panhandle is barred from making deliveries in January, February,

Commons Spends A Day On Transport Estimates

By GEORGE KITCHEN

OTTAWA, May 18.—(CP).—The Commons spent a day on transport estimates Monday and pretty well kept to local matters. With a general debate opening on the first item in this many-sided department, Transport Minister Chevrier was kept busy replying to requests from private members for improved transportation services in their constituencies.

Before going into committee on the estimates, the Chamber gave third and final reading to a bill providing for extension to next March 31 of supplementary payments to rural mail carriers.

Debate was opened, and then adjourned, on second reading of a bill making extensive changes in the Canada Shipping Act. It was to be resumed today.

At the House opening, Defence Minister Claxton promised to check what was being done to remove Japanese mines reported floating off the Pacific coast.

R. R. Knight (CCF—Saskatoon City) urged that the facilities at the Manitoba port of Churchill be expanded but Mr. Chevrier said they are sufficient to deal with any business offered.

Study Smoke Problem

The minister also reported that the Transport Board is forming a committee to study the smoke problem in congested areas. The complete answer to the smoke nuisance was electrification of the railways, but this would be a matter of "extreme cost."

From J. L. Gibson (Ind.—Comox-Alberni) and A. W. Stuart (L.—Charlotte) came a suggestion that the government establish a Canadian coast guard service.

Mr. Chevrier said the department is purchasing a $65,000 lifeboat but added that the larger question of a coast guard would straddle much more than this one department.

Two Maritimers and a Central Canadian—Percy Black (PC—Cumberland), A. J. Brooks (PC—Royal) and John R. MacNicol (PC—Toronto Davenport)—said the long-projected Chignecto canal in the Maritime Provinces is a commercial and defensive Ask 8-Hour Day.

The shipping debate produced a request by H. G. Archibald (CCF) sought railway from the Peace River country of northern Alberta and British Columbia to the Pacific Coast.

The canal, which would be located near the New Brunswick-Nova Scotia border, would provide ocean-going ships with a short-cut waterway from the Gulf of St. Lawrence to the Atlantic. Solon Low, Social Credit leader, and William Irvine (CCF—Cariboo) urged the government to undertake the building of a long—Skeena that the eight-hour day be established for seamen on Canadian ships. There also should be compensation for seamen for the loss of efforts at sea. The permanent discharge book which shows the life record of a seaman should be abolished.

Mr. Chevrier, moving the legislation, said it would give dependents of seamen fatally injured aboard a Canadian ship the right to sue the shipowners. At present, there is no provision by which the dependents can obtain compensation in the courts.

The imprisonment penalty now automatically imposed on men who go absent without leave or desert their ship in Canada will be abolished. Seamen on strike will not be charged with desertion.

Canadian Dollar Up

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 18 (AP).—The value of the Canadian dollar in United States currency gained a cent here Monday. Buffalo banks reduced the discount on the Canadian dollar one per cent. The banks now give 92 cents in American currency for the Canadian dollar. They sell the Dominion dollar for 94 cents.

March, November and December. The company planned to take the gas in the summer months and store most of it to meet peak winter-time demands.

Thomas Weir, general manager of the Canadian company, testified that Panhandle gave no indication that it would be unable to deliver the 5,500,000 cubic feet called for in its contract.

"Chemistry?"

IT DOESN'T MEAN A THING TO ME!

If YOU WERE a farmer it might seem that way at first glance. But take another look!

Those fine crops, which mean so much to Canada's health and economy, often depend upon chemical fertilizers. Weed and pest destroyers, orchard sprays too, are but a few of the services that chemical research extends to agriculture.

Through good times and bad, the chemical industry plows a straight furrow, ever moving forward to create better things for farm, industry and home. Look to chemistry with confidence for a finer future... and to the C-I-L oval symbol of an organization devoted to serving Canadians through chemistry.

3 New Players Boost Montreal

By The Associated Press

The pennant chances of the Montreal Royals are brighter today, thanks to the parents Brooklyn Dodgers.

Currently in second place, a game behind the first place Syracuse Chiefs, the Royals received three players on option from the Dodgers yesterday that should help them a great deal.

The Dodgers sent pitchers Paul Minner, Johnny Van Cuyk and International League affiliate.

Both Minner and Van Cuyk are left-handers. Minner spent most of the 1947 season with Mobile of the Southern Association where he won 11 games and lost 11. Van Cuyk worked for the Royals last year, winning 12 and losing 2.

Snider, a left-handed power hitter, divided his time with the Dodgers and St. Paul of the American Association in 1947. He batted .316 in 66 games and batted at a .241 pace for the Dodgers in 40 contests.

Toronto's last place Maple Leafs also obtained aid from their major league affiliate, Philadelphia Phillies, yesterday.

The Phils sold Oscar Judd, veteran left-hander to the Leafs. Judd, 38, is no newcomer to the loop. Judd worked for Rochester Red Wings in 1937 and 1938, winning a total of 17 games while losing 16.

All four scheduled games were rained out Monday.

Predict Blowoff Of Pro Golfers

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP). — Another big blowoff in the pro golf business may take place during the Professional Golfers Association tournament which starts tomorrow at St. Louis.

Seems a lot of the boys now are peeved at George Snelcher because he continues tournament play while he is serving as chairman of the PGA tournament committee.

One objection is that the money winners have to kick in a percentage of their purses to pay committee expenses, but Snelcher, travelling for free, won $950 at Philadelphia last week-end.

The solution to this series of squawks, of course, would be pay a good man to take charge of the tournaments and publicity and then co-operate with him, but that won't happen until the golf pros learn to act like professionals.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Couple of men's softball contests listed for the Bowl d'Ashburnham this evening, weather permitting. De La... and the R-E Combines start at seven sharp, and are followed by Knights and the Legionnaires. Umps in the first fray are Morin at the plate and Calladine on bases, with Board handling the second struggle with Quemby on the paths. Thursday it's Combines vs. Legion and Knights vs. De LaVal, umpires being Calladine and Wood in the opener and Dormer and Ranger in the nightcap. Probably next week, the loop executive will announce which four umpires have been chosen for the rest of the campaign.

Senior "B" lacrosse officially open their season here Friday with an exhibition against the Brampton senior "A" bunch. Pates will wear something of a new look this semester with a number of newcomers aboard. Several fine veterans of the 1947 champs, like Ira Dundas, Pete Cassidy and Bill Rogers, have hung up their gear. While Mitchell has moved to Oshawa, Fred Marchant to Toronto, and Ossie Toit is staying in Fort Erie. Several presently on the prospect list will be chopped off, too, as Red Creighton has a surplus of material to start the '48 campaign. Some talk of the Pates being grouped with Huntsville, Orillia and Oshawa. They go on a two-game tour into Quebec this week-end, after their Friday night opener in Miller Bowl.

Plenty Of Material

The team has Bun Hill (ex-Orillia netminder) and Bill Edgar for goal, and these defencemen: Jerry Creighton, Pup Curtin, Ron Horton, Mick Magee, Jack Breakspear and Curly Warren, who hails from Scarborough. Prospective forwards are: Bob Breakspear, Lou and Dootch Vitarelli, Arn Dugan, Emmett Creighton, Farmer Connelly, Barney Dundas, Tony Caravaggio, Terry Gordon and J. J. Hill (both of Orillia), Bush of Midland, Roy Renwick from Westwood, Jack Foote, who was with Hamilton Tigers last summer—and will be director of the minors here this year—and Don Smith of Fergus. Shouldn't be too tough a job to pick a potent pack out of that talent to defend the championship.

Now that the ground has been broken for work on the civic arena project on Park St., we hope the financial returns really start rolling in. A start has been made but a lot of money is still required for this rink, so badly needed in Peterborough. If you want to see good hockey here next winter, send in your donations now. After those rinkless years in this borough, it's great to see this project taking form and it'll be swell to see Peterborough teams playing home games here next OHA season. Minors as well as the senior "B" variety. We'll be back on the puck map soon now.

Petes Lining Up Oke

Senior Petes' ballsters drill tonight, tomorrow and Thursday at six in Riverside, several spots still being open. If Port Hope waives on Larry Edvardson, this smart first-sacker will be with the club. Kind of looks now like Freddy Garvey at second and Howie Dalton on short. Several after third base with no one picked yet. Joe Stewart, Tommy Foley and Jack Mackness in the garden, and Jimmy Hollingsworth also available. Ed Starr and Al Menzies for catching, with Gunner Whitehill, Bill Edgar and Doug Loucks pitching. Club will carry several more, also, and should shape up well before long. A lot of youth and hustle there, plus some experienced players. Meeting last p.m. dealt mainly with financial angles.

City Baseball League meeting of the executive at seven Wednesday evening in the "Y" to finish up things ere the official opening Saturday. A twin bill here that aft, juveniles for seven heats and juniors in nine. Our two junior teams open their Lakeshore Loop games away on Monday (the holiday) in Bowmanville and in Whitby. Intermediates are slated to open in Colborne on May 24. The juniors and juveniles of the northend and East City practice tonight at 6:15 in Riverside, while the northend midgets and bantams work out at the Oval at 6:15 this evening. All the minor teams are training regularly and getting set for their start next week. Schedules out in a few days. The senior Petes open their COBL schedule in Belleville on Saturday.

Church Loop Ready

Church Softball League schedule commences this p.m. on several fronts, weather permitting. In pee-wee play, St. Andrew's go against George St. at the Oval, while Salvation Army tackles Murray St. at Central; in midget competition, George St. plays All Saints at King Edward Park, and St. George's play Knox at King Edward School. All evening games begin at 6:30 sharp, and teams are responsible for the umpires. There may be the odd change from time to time in the schedule owing to the question of grounds. Anyway, this loop goes tonight and plenty of action is expected before the playoffs roll around.

UP AND DOWN SPORTS' RIALTO: Petes play O'Halloran's a soccer tilt Wednesday p.m. at King Edward, while Legion meets CGE there Thursday. Three pro grapple bouts billed for the Brock on the morrow... Juvenile lacrosse (18 to 19) drill tonight at seven in Miller Bowl; open to all... Coach Kelly DeGray is happy over Oshawa's senior "B" lacrosse prospects with half a dozen good newcomers on hand... Petes' gutted-stick artists go under the arc at 8:30 tonight; the Bowl is in good shape and they sport swell new uniforms this season... Lefty Judd comes to Toronto to help the faltering Leafs in the twirling department... Cobourg scribe speaks of a men's exhibition between a Peterborough team and a Cobourg crew down there tomorrow night... Kawartha golf and tennis comments in elsewhere this p.m. Do you recall when miniature golf swept the country—also this city?... Rough weather, what?

Kawartha Golf News

By JERRY SEABROOK

The official opening day for the Kawartha Golf and Country Club has been set for Saturday, May 22. A field day has been arranged for the golfers with some swell prizes at stake for the three handicapped divisions. Here is a good chance to pick up a prize or two before the committee boys do a little carving on your handicap.

Starting time 1:00 o'clock p.m. The tennis section has planned a round robin tournament for that day. However, due to the wet weather we have been enjoying of late, it might be a good idea to phone the pro shop and inquire re the conditions of the courts before you plan on going out to play tennis.

Our annual guest day is combined with the opening day activities again this year. This means the club will be thrown open for the members to introduce its various activities to their friends or any prospective members.

The entertainment committee has arranged a supper dance for the evening. Starting time 9:00 o'clock, music by Frankie Hammon and his band. Plan to attend this gala social event.

The ladies' section of the club have planned their opening day for Thursday, May 20. This includes the three groups: 18 hole section, 9-hole section and business girls' section. All the ladies who play in these sections, particularly the new members, are urged to attend the opening day functions and get into the swing of things right from the start.

The business girls' section seems to be going ahead by leaps and bounds with approximately 50 potential members in this group this year. Nice going, gals.

Americans Take 6 Out Of 8 Toronto Bouts

TORONTO, May 18.—(CP). — Fight fans here usually don't make a mistake when they attend the annual Toronto Lions Club boxing show. The club is noted for putting on a show that pleases the customers and its action-packed card last night in their latest effort was no exception.

There was a little bit of everything for the crowd of 5,000 in the 10 bouts, eight of which had international flavor with American boxers meeting Canadian opponents. The Americans emerged on top in their friendly duel, winning six of the eight bouts, but the Canadians nevertheless made a creditable showing.

In the best bout of the night, Johnny (Spider) Thompson, U.S. national amateur champion from Buffalo, scored a decision over Mickey Kavanaugh, Maritime featherweight title-holder from New Waterford, N.S., in a four-round thriller. The red-headed Kavanaugh put the cagey Buffalo negro fighter down for a count of six and was down for three knockdowns himself during the lively four-round tussle.

Originally slated for three rounds, officials sent the bout into an extra round which had the fans yelling for more as the two fighters mixed it free. Kavanaugh's showing won him the award as the gamest loser among the 20 participating boxers.

Clean-Cut Decision

Gus Rubincin, Central Ontario welterweight king, won a clean-cut three-round decision over Martin Gilday of Detroit in the main event. Rubincin was the aggressor all the way and had his opponent groggy when the bell sounded.

Three of the bouts ended via the knockout route, the Americans capturing two by this method and the Canadians one. Mike Zaduk of Guelph chalked up the most decisive win of the night when he knocked out Jim Hall of Buffalo at two minutes and 45 seconds of the first round. The Ontario welterweight, had his U.S. opponent to the canvas on four different occasions previously.

Roy Mizzi, classy Detroit fighter, posted a t.k.o. victory over Remo Odorico, Central Ontario featherweight champion from Toronto, at two minutes and 30 seconds of the second round. The other knockout was scored by Barby Barnes of Buffalo, when he pounded John Shields, 130-pounder from Toronto, to the canvas at two minutes and 45 seconds of the second round.

In a hard-fought scrap between Joe Garza of Detroit and Ernie Majury of Toronto, two freewheeling 135-pounders, the Detroit battler emerged victorious via the decision route.

Bill Goulding of Oshawa, dropped a three-round decision to crafty Tony Dipolito of Buffalo in a 147-pound bout. The American lad floored Goulding in the second round and the Oshawa boxer was bleeding above his right eye when the bell sounded.

Jockey's Widow Has Lucky Day

MIAMI, Fla., May 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Albert Snider, wife of the missing former Calgary jockey, believes Monday was her lucky day.

First, she received a cheque for $4,170 from Calumet Farms and Jockey Eddie Arcaro as her late husband's "share" of Citation's victory in the Kentucky Derby.

Snider was scheduled to ride Citation in the Derby but disappeared during a fishing trip in the Florida Keys March 5 with two companions and was never found.

Last night Mrs. Snider's maid, Rose Donn, was packing the late jockey's clothing and found $4,000 cash in an old envelope in one of his shirt pockets. The maid also found a cheque made out to Snider for $295.

"Al was always hiding money around the house," Mrs. Snider said, "but I certainly never expected anything like this. It was my lucky day."

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Tommy Collins, a 19-year-old Boston featherweight, told a legislative committee in Boston Monday that he didn't plan to knock out Jack (Spider) Armstrong of Toronto, last month because he was "kind of an elderly fellow." Pre-fight rumors were the bout was "fixed" for Collins. But Armstrong kayoed Collins and that's why the Massachusetts House of Representatives voted to investigate the state boxing commission. At the hearing Monday, Collins said he had trained "extra hard" for the fight, but had no intentions of knocking out Armstrong. But the day of the fight, a member of the boxing commission told Collins and Armstrong that "if the fight was not right they would be suspended." This put me in the dumps," Collins declared, "and after that all I had on my mind was to flatten Armstrong."

Manager - shortstop Lou Boudreau of Cleveland Indians Monday had vaulted into the American League batting leadership with a week's 11-point climb to .440. In other statistics released in Chicago Monday, Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox was second with .397 and Al Zarilla of St. Louis Browns third with .394. Ken Keltner of Cleveland is the home-run leader with 12.

Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves still leads the National League hitters with a .419 mark.

Plate Trial Results Shuffle Odds

By BRIAN SWARBRICK

TORONTO, May 18 — (CP) — With only six days left before the 89th running of the classic King's Plate at Woodbine Park here Monday, odds seem bound today to undergo a radical shuffle after yesterday's Plate Trials.

Run as usual in two divisions, the Trials were triumphs for Winnipeg-owned Lord Fairmont and Toronto-owned All British, both of which gained their honors over six furlongs of clinging mud and steady rain.

They formed two parts of a three-horse favorite pool the third speculation being Jim Fair's Last Mark, which held off from both Trials but did a between-race workout before the 7,000 gallery immediately after the second division of the trials was run.

Lord Fairmont, covering a 3/4-mile in 1:20, lost a fair piece of its pre-race glory to All British which won its division handily, covering the same distance in 1:19 3/5. Moreover, where Lord Fairmont was pushed by Coleraine and Red Bottle, second and third respectively, and won by only a half-length, Charlie Turner's All British took its time and breezed home to a remarkably easy 10-length victory over Kid Rumble, second, and Meal Time, third.

The heavily-favored Sweepbill from the Carr Hatch Stable could do nothing better than fourth. But much of the excitement concerned Las Mark in its 1:21 4/5 running of the six-furlong distance. Easily the horse could have dropped considerable time from that clocking, had it been under any pressure.

But this was all done on the muddy track that has plagued Woodbine Park since its opening. It is plausible that weather clear-track fast will be the order of the day next Monday, then it's anybody's guess.

The Dodgers finally snapped the Braves' runless streak at 29 consecutive innings last night when they wangled a run off Sain in the first inning.

The Braves pummeled five Brooklyn pitchers for 18 hits. Bob Elliott, the league's most valuable player last year, got three. So did Sain, a good hitting pitcher. Tommy Holmes, the No. 2 batter in the league, zoomed his average to .433 with two hits in three times at bat.

Another hot club, Philadelphia Phils, defeated New York Giants 7-1. The victory moved the Phils up to fourth place, only three percentage points behind the Braves.

Blix Donnelly hurled four-hit ball to register his third victory against two losses. In both of his defeats, his mates failed to score a run for him.

Johnny Blatnik paced the Phils' 10-hit attack against Bobo Newsum and three successors. The rookie outfielder, picked up in the draft last fall, cracked three hits in four times up to wrest the league's batting leadership from Boston's Tommy Holmes with .438 and 4.35. He has hit safely in nine consecutive games.

Those were the only games scheduled in the majors.

Mrs. Roy Rogers To Close New Film Deal

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 18 (AP)—The film fortunes of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rogers evidently are split. She may soon close a long-planned deal to star in a Western series of her own.

Roy has frowned on a separate series for his wife, Dale Evans, fearing each would be working during the other's vacation, as happens with many film couples. A new deal is being whipped up for her which will make certain film schedules will coincide. She'll play an Annie Oakley type of character. Meanwhile, she'll still make rodeo appearances with Roy and next fall they start a radio show.

Studio Stuff

Joseph Cotten is supervising some television films of the soap opera type. Unlike other pioneers, Joe is against stockpiling programs for the future television boom.

"Movie studios have been caught with outdated films by holding them too long before release," he says. "The same can happen in television."

Betty Grable was telling about how she got an autograph from Babe Ruth when he visited the "burlesque" set. "I know now what those kids go through; it takes a lot of nerve to ask for an autograph," she says. Betty has sought only two others — John Steinbeck's and James Thurber's.

"Rogues' Regiment" had a big day at Universal Studios. In the morning, the company filmed the hanging of the sole remaining Nazi bigwig at large, Martin Bormann (Hollywood can catch him, anyway). In the afternoon, the cremation of Hitler and Eva Braun was re-enacted, with flames leaping almost to the ceiling of the film stage.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds.

Judy Garland, who'll play the screen "Annie Get Your Gun," showing MGM to Mary Martin, and Roadshow Annie, Valli, roaming the "Weep No More" set with a movie camera and shooting crew members off guard. Bob Hope learning some Chinese for a "Sorrowful Jones" scene.

PLANS CHANNEL SWIM

Tom Blower, who plans a non-stop round trip swim of the English Channel this summer, finished a 30-hour warmup swim in an indoor pool in Nottingham Monday and found he had lost 17 pounds. Blower thinks it will take him 36 hours to paddle across the channel and back again.

23 Canadian Bishops Plan To Be At Parley

By NORMAN CRIBBENS.

LONDON, May 13 — (CP) — Anglican bishops from various parts of the world will attend the Lambeth Conference at Lambeth Palace, headquarters of the Archbishop of Canterbury, July 1 to August 8.

Twenty-three bishops are coming from Canada, 73 from the United States, 15 from South Africa, 22 from Australia, 6 from New Zealand, 10 from India, Ceylon, and Burma, 9 from the West Indies, and 11 from China.

Three Japanese bishops — Yashiro, Yanagihara, and Makita — have been invited by the Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, with the sanction of the British Government.

"The Archbishop has agreed to act as sponsor for our Japanese guests while they are away from Japan," an official at Lambeth Palace said.

"All we know of them is that in spite of the war, they still function as dignitaries of the Anglican Church in Japan. But as yet we do not know the extent to which the Anglican faith is recognized in Japan to-day."

Jungle Visitor

A distant visitor to the Conference will be the Rt. Rev. Francis Septimus Hollis, for 10 years the Bishop of Labuan and Sarawak—an equatorial diocese extending over hundreds of miles of the jungle.

Bishop Hollis, interned by the Japanese for nearly four years, recently informed the Archbishop of Canterbury he would resign his post after the Conference due to a disease of the eyes. Medical advisers have warned him that if he returned to a tropical climate he might lose his sight altogether. Subjects for discussion at the Conference—first since 1930—include:

International order and human rights, the relation between baptism and confirmation, the decline in marriage standards, and Anglican relations with other churches.

Unseasonable Rains Delay Seeding In Most Of Dominions

By The Canadian Press.

Weather, the farmers' oldest enemy, has caused new worry this spring—unseasonable rains have kept them off the land, delaying seeding in most sections of the Dominion.

A Canadian Press survey shows Western farmers may suffer heavy losses unless there is an immediate change in the dull, rainy weather of the last few weeks. But, despite the late start, Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick agricultural officials are hopeful of a good year.

A decrease of more than 500,000 acres in Canadian wheat acreage is indicated. On the basis of reports at last April 30, the acreage will be 28,700,000, compared with 24,300,000 in 1947. But if wet, cold weather continues on the Prairies, the cut will be even greater.

The gloomiest picture is in Nova Scotia seeding already where officials express "grave concern." Seeding in some sections is three to four weeks overdue.

Turn to Barley

In some areas, Western farmers have turned from wheat, which requires a long maturing season, to barley, oats, rye and flax. Manitoba, hardest hit by recent floods, will have a greater area than last year devoted to summer fallow. Saskatchewan expects a slight labor shortage when seeding becomes general.

In Nova Scotia, seeding already is two weeks behind schedule, with potatoes almost the only crop planted to date. Potato acreage will be about 99 per cent of the 21,500 acres planted last year. A 10-per-cent increase is expected in Prince Edward Island for potatoes, the province's most important agricultural product.

In New Brunswick seeding has been under way for about a week and a yield of "well up to normal" is expected.

Things are bright in Quebec, too. The season is further advanced than usual because of an early thaw and the recent warm rains. Increased acreage is indicated in oats, barley and potatoes but wheat and rye acreage likely will be down slightly.

Despite low temperatures and cool winds which retarded the growth, the outlook for Ontario field crops is almost com-

Quebec Premier Hedges About Election

MONTREAL, May 13.—(CP). —Premier Duplessis said here Monday night that Quebec's forthcoming general election will be a "fight for the future of Quebec" but he left the date of the polling a matter of speculation.

For the second time in a month the Union Nationale premier talked to a gathering of his party supporters about the election without naming the date.

"We're going to have an election in this province," he said in English to a dinner meeting of the Montreal Association of the Union Nationale Youth. "When? It has not been decided as yet. But we're going to have an election because we are in favor of democracy and democracy exists only through the holding of elections."

Mr. Duplessis earlier said in French that it was not part of the duties and prerogatives of the Union Nationale party to contest a Federal election.

"I have not, never had and shall never have any Federal ambitions. We shall remain in the Provincial field, fight a Provincial campaign, and call upon Provincial electors exclusively for Provincial matters. It will be a fight for the future of Quebec, the future of the future, the life and survival of a race, of a Canadian province."

Mr. Duplessis said his government was ready to co-operate and collaborate with the Federal government in the health insurance program announced by Prime Minister King in the Commons last week. Quebec, however, would not accept Federal-sponsored health insurance if it meant state medicine and nationalization of secondary and university education.

Lt.-Governor Hon. R. Lawson To Visit City On May 31

Presentation of MBE medals to G. A. Gillespie and A. L. Killaly will be made by the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. Ray Lawson, during his visit Monday, May 31. The award of Member of the British Empire to the two citizens of Peterborough was announced last year, but fulfillment was delayed until this official occasion.

Mayor William Owens and Ald. Adam Sands, chairman of the reception committee of the council, have outlined the events of the Governor's reception. Hon. Mr. Lawson and Mrs. Lawson arrive here by automobile at 11 a.m. and will proceed to the Peterborough Golf Club for lunch as guests of the municipal chapter of the IOOE.

At 1:20 p.m. they will call at the Collegiate and Vocational School, where the MBE presentations will be a feature of the program. The itinerary continues to St. Peter's High School, Peterborough Civic Hospital, St. Joseph's Hospital, garden party of the Women's Art Association at the home of Mrs. Chas. Pilon, 580 Gilmour St., which is to be opened by Mrs. Lawson; civic reception at the Empress Hotel at 5:30 p.m., and Lions Club dinner at 6:30 p.m.

Proposed Road Hits Buildings

If George St. is ever laid in a straight line through Exhibition Park it will slash through the poultry and horse barns. Lines drawn by John W. Pierce, O.L.S. plainly indicate that prospective damage, requiring the removal of both buildings. An alternative is a graceful bend in the proposed road to avoid the barns on its way to the city's lot fronting on the north side of McGill St. and south of Exhibition Park.

The straight road would have to be in a slightly diagonal direction from the Lansdowne St. main gate because the McGill St. outlet is not directly opposite the north side entrance. Council's next step in the George St. extension matter is to sound out Morrow Trust as to their willingness to support an application for judicial ruling on the authority of the Trust to grant permission for the city to carry the street through the park.

The special committee, Mayor Owens, Aldermen Swanson and Douglas Miller, was appointed to ask for an interview. Cut New Street At Grandview Ave. The council is buying for $1,450 from James Bolton a strip of land up the hill back of jagged walls of the DVA hospital for a street allowance. Move To Charge Permit Fee Killed In Council

City council changed its mind Monday night on a proposal to collect some extra revenue from the issuing of building permits and for plumbing inspection. Both arms reaching towards the pockets of builders were withdrawn in the second reading of an authorizing bylaw by the expedient of reference back to the legal committee.

Since the committee stage of discussion Mayor William Owens said he had learned that plumbers have a charge of $25 at the stage of setting up a job for test by Plumbing Inspector A. G. Metheral.

"I feel that the council does not wish to add any further levy on construction work, and I'd move that the committee rise, report progress and ask leave to sit again," his Worship suggested.

"I heartily agree," said Ald. Adam Sands, seconding the motion, embodying a handy formula of dismissal Ald. Grant Miller was chairman of the committee of the whole on the second reading of the proposed amendment of the plumbing bylaw.

It was estimated in previous discussion a month ago that the additional fee for plumbing inspections would amount to around $9 on the average house.

The other amendment of the building bylaw to apply a schedule of fees to be levied on building permits also went into the discard on a motion by Ald. Sands, seconded by Ald. Max Swanson. Ald. Sands said he had been making personal enquiry recently and had learned that the man building an average house paid from $40 to $60 on certain charges, including financing, for which he did not receive any substantial benefit "other than having inspections made according to requirements." Ald. Sands said he thought that was plenty, and moved that the committee of the whole again rise and report progress. The scale of fees was reported several weeks ago.

Just Additional Cost

It may be said for the council that on both these means of gathering extra revenue the members were dubious and reluctant, particularly in the prospect of charge upon construction at a time when building costs have reached a high level.

Monday night's hoist signifies that no more will be heard of this method of clipping the builder at least this year, even if it is applied in most of the other cities in Ontario of Peterborough's size, a fact that was ascertained preliminary to committee consideration.

Show, Ball Game Produce $710

Receipts from the Fashion Show in aid of the Civic Arena campaign totalled $510. Another $200 or the secondary rink was realized at the exhibition softball game on Saturday between Toronto Tip Tops and R-E Combines. Receipts from a few tickets for the game have still to be received.

W. A. Richardson of the Peterborough Case Company has allowed payroll deductions to be made and employers may work overtime to contribute to the campaign.

COUNCIL VISITORS
Key Club boys of St. Peter's High School, a junior service club of Kiwanis sponsorship, attended the meeting of the city council last night. They were accompanied by Mr. J. D. Fitzgerald and were cordially welcomed by Mayor Owens. Just before the adjournment Bill Duignan expressed the young visitors' appreciation of the greeting extended to them and also of the opportunity of observing the council's procedure.

Price Domestic Tomatoes Soars To A Dollar Lowly Cucumbers Cost 40 Cents Each

The price of domestic tomatoes in Peterborough has now hit the record high figure of one dollar a pound. The price is the highest ever reached here, according to the memories of veteran fruit and vegetable dealers whose experiences cover the half century. Cucumbers are also selling at high prices—as high as 35 and 40 cents each.

The reason given for the jumps, which are nearly double the rates for these commodities at this season in normal years, is the recent "austerity program" step in closing off imports of these foodstuffs from the United States.

The government announcement, in November last year, did not give green-house operators time to provide for a larger crop, as work on tomatoes must be started about October. Because of this "lag," there is only the home-grown normal crop available to the stores, meeting the demand which always increases during the spring.

HO-HIM — IT'S EASY.

Meyer Cherney is not a man to knock himself out with unnecessary effort whether it be work or play. Together with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Zimel Levine he drove to Burleigh Falls on Sunday to try his hand at fishing. Unlike Peterborough, Burleigh Falls was bathed in warm sunshine. Meyer peered at the water and decided the time was not yet ripe to test his skill. "Ho-hum," he said, and settled down on a warm rock for a two-hour snooze. At the end of this time the remaining trio were ready to go home; they were disgusted at their luck; not even a bite. While they were lying up preparing to go home, Meyer woke up and strolled to the water's edge, picked up his wife's rod and made one cast. Immediately he landed a good-sized fish. He unhooked the lone trophy of the outing and climbed into the car. "Ho-hum," he said.

12-Year-Old Horse Killed By Car

A 12-year-old horse was killed about 4 o'clock this morning when it was struck by the car of Wilbert Ireland, RR 1, Lakefield, as he was travelling to Burkhorn on the Burkhorn - Burleigh Falls highway. The big black was owned by Joseph Johnston and was on the highway, where it was not seen until too late to avoid striking it. The impact threw the heavy animal on top of the hood, damaging the windshield, grill and radiator. A hoof which struck the car top dented it badly.

Ireland, who was driving, was unhurt. Police said it was a fortunate incident, as glass had been thrown back into the car.

The horse had a broken leg and internal injuries. It died a half hour later.

Provincial Constable Lloyd McClure investigated.

Resort Owners Seeking Help

Even though building materials are scarce in some lines and all-over high priced, there is a great deal of repair and building work going on at Stony Lake, according to Arthur Little and Walter Hamilton of Gilchrist Bay. This is the season when cottage owners find out the result of ice damage to floating docks that have been parked in quiet bays for the winter; there always seem to be some things missing, diving towers or ladders, shore ramps or logs that are getting more waterlogged each season.

The Peterborough office of the National Employment Service has quite a long list of requests from resort operators for help. There are several seasonal openings for cooks from $100 to $150 per month; waitresses and upstairs help up to $60, all including board and laundry.

Reports from hotel operators seem to indicate that 1948 will be a bumper tourist season and reservations are filling up nicely. Edgar Cherry of Lakefield said that he is quite satisfied with future business offering at the present time.

$935 FIRE LOSS
Fire Chief George Smith has reported to the council 116 fire alarms in April of which 113 were by telephone, two by alarm boxes and one sprinkler. Month's loss was $700 on buildings and $235 on contents.

John McMillen President Of Jr. Chamber

John McMillen became president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce on Monday night when former president Kenneth Jones announced his resignation because of the press of personal business. According to the organization's constitution the vice-president automatically becomes president if that office is vacated in mid-term.

"I will do my utmost to continue the work begun by preceding presidents, and will do anything within my power to make the Jaycees grow and prosper."

During the dinner meeting which was held at Lakeview House, Young's Point, the members heard by radio Mayor Owens officially open the Clean-up, Paint-up campaign initiated by the club. It was announced that the campaign would continue until May 29, and that posters and other advertising arrangements had been made to publicize it.

Members were told of the recent trip to Ottawa made by 19 delegates at which Douglas Vaisey led the discussion on tourism. Mr. Vaisey singled out the work of Douglas Delaney, Claude Hewitt, David House and Donald Craig for their work at that conference. William Swiss, Donald Craig and Joseph Cook also reported on the Ottawa visit.

"We have more leadership in this Jaycee branch than they have in Ottawa—and I do not mean the Junior Board of Trade, but Parliament Hill," he said.

Wilson Gemmell, president of the Chamber of Commerce brought greetings from that body and said "If you back the men putting these ideas before you then you will go places."

He asked for the "closest possible co-operation between the Jaycees and the Chamber of Commerce," and said this was particularly important during the coming tourist season. And he suggested that the Tourist Information Centre being erected by the Jaycees might need two men to serve the crowd of inquiring visitors.

Final plans were drafted for the Jaycee Jamboree to be held on May 24 and it was agreed that the club should accept a Kinsmen offer to run a refreshment booth at the Kinsmen Horse Show on June 11 and 12. It was also decided to try to obtain a midway show if possible.

Douglas Delaney said work on the Tourist Bureau would begin this week probably on Wednesday and asked for help.

Guests of the evening were Ronald Calder, Toronto, Muir Meighan, Toronto, and Paul Emery of the United States. Later three new members were called to the platform to be presented with the Jaycee badge and lapel pin—Bruce Campbell, Arthur Morley and Arthur Lucking.

At the head table were Thomas McMillen, William Swiss, John McMillen, Wilson Gemmell, Kenneth Jones, Leslie Reid, Bruce Payne, Douglas Vaisey and Joseph Cook.

Sewage Plant Contract Delayed Until Autumn

Gore and Storie, specialist engineers on sanitary installations, are not going to hurry the city into the work of enlarging the sewage disposal plant.

In a letter to the council Monday night they wrote that the contract might not be let until late in the fall, if then, with the beginning of construction probable in 1949. They first asked for the council's assent to re-arranging terms in the form of tender for the purpose of omitting certain equipment which could preferably be obtained by separate tender.

Present negotiations for new wage scales have also an unfavorable effect on contractors' bidding. For these reasons Gore and Storie recommend no letting of contract at least until late in the summer.

$1,000 Per Bed Big Aid To Civic Hospital

Clarifying details were necessary for an opinion on the conditions and extent to which federal grants for hospital construction would apply to the finance of the new Civic Hospital, Mr. R. Marshall, chairman of its Board of Governors, commented today to The Examiner.

Prime Minister King has affirmed that the Dominion would contribute $1,000 each for active treatment beds and $1,500 for beds for chronic and convalescent patients. The following condition was cited: "To get these grants the provinces must put up an equal amount or more, and the balance will come from municipal or local funds."

Is Agreement Required?

"We shall have to know whether an agreement with the provinces of Ontario and Quebec is a primary requirement," Mr. Marshall said. "We already have the promised aid of the Ontario government to grant $1,000 a bed, and of course we have the financial help from the city and county."

Mr. Marshall said he was not certain, also, whether the Dominion's program was $1,000 a bed providing the province gave $2,000; that is in the ratio of one to two, or whether it was an amount equal to the provincial assistance, or the ratio of one to one. "I'd hesitate to make any comment until I had the facts quite clearly before me," Mr. Marshall said.

Planned for 265 Beds

Civic Hospital's original plan is for 265 beds, but the present construction contemplates 180 beds with the remaining 85 beds to be provided in a wing to be built later. The announcement by Prime Minister King emphasized the shortage of 60,000 hospital beds in Canada. By the contribution of $13,000,000 a year the Dominion government expects to add 40,000 beds in the next five years.

The extent to which Dominion-Provincial tax agreement may be essential to the broad health program that has been announced for the benefit of Canada as a whole is considered a development to come out of subsequent statements and expected negotiations. This agreement has been accepted by seven of the nine provinces. The exceptions are Quebec and Ontario.

PATCH UP HIGHWAY

Many motorists have been complaining recently about the state of the Port Hope Highway. They will probably be pleased to learn that an improvement has been made—five large holes have been filled in on the stretch between Peterborough and Bewdley.

Toole was runner-up in the Dominion championships last year. Two other Sault boys, Morley

CBC Will Limit Licenses For Television

MONTREAL, May 18.—(CP)—The CBC Board of Governors indicated today that it intends to extend its control of Canadian radio broadcasting to the field of television.

In a prepared statement after a closed meeting here Monday, the board said that as the number of available television frequencies will probably be limited, it will "exercise great care in recommendations regarding applications from individuals or private companies for licenses."

Today the board will deal with applications for television licenses from Al Leary, Toronto broadcaster, and from radio stations KEY in Toronto and CHML in Hamilton.

The board said it believes that Canada should not lag behind in television, but that television channels should be used in the public interest. Therefore, "it will follow a policy of not granting permission for individual private Canadian television stations to become outlets for non-Canadian programs."

A CBC spokesman explained that CBC alone will be allowed to carry network television programs although licenses may be granted to private stations. A city the size of Montreal would have about six channels, with perhaps four allotted to private stations and the remaining two reserved for CBC.

In a small centre, the spokesman added, the CBC likely would grant a licence to a private operator who would have full use of CBC network facilities as well as producing his own programs.

The statement said a licence fee should be instituted for television sets and this fee "must be considerably higher than the present fee for sound receiving sets because of the higher costs of television and television programming."

KING ABDULLAH DECLARES WAR — After the momentous Arab meeting at Amman, in which leaders of all the Arab countries decided to declare war on Zionism with King Abdullah, of Transjordan, as commander-in-chief of all the Arab armies, King Abdullah (centre) is shown as he gave instructions to delegates of Palestine Arabs. In preparation for the British withdrawal from Palestine, the Arabs mustered tanks, armored cars, artillery and modern radio equipment for invasion of the Holy Land.

Nail Wire Short Howe Tells MP's

OTTAWA, May 18 — (CP) — Trade Minister Howe said Monday in the Commons that a shortage of nail wire is responsible for the current shortage of nails across Canada.

He said steel companies are going to stop making barbed wire for a couple of months in an effort to catch up with the demand for nails.

The minister spoke after two CCF members urged the government to investigate combines in nails and steel. M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said the Federated Co-Operatives of Saskatchewan cannot obtain any nails. There were about 75,000 Co-Operative members. There were indications that steel companies did not want to furnish new customers such as the co-operatives.

F. S. Zapitny (CCF-Dauphin) said the government should investigate charges that a few people have cornered the nail market and are asking "excessive" prices.

Mr. Howe said nail production is going up monthly. Distribution was being closely watched. It was a credit to the industry that the price was being kept stable in view of the demand.

There was no monopoly in nails or nail wire.

Many Issues Finish On Fractional Losses

By The Canadian Press
The current stock market advance got a testing Monday when it ended the day with further gains after profit-taking had temporarily stopped it in its tracks. This supports the view of chartists that a bull market is under way. However, despite an average gain, many issues finished with fractional losses, and at this stage the advance is not regarded as a run-away nature. The steady rise of the last few weeks has been moderate and, while the sessions of Friday and Saturday were hectic, they did not provide great overall price changes.

Traders now have to decide whether they should buy in at this point or hope for technical corrections to offer lower prices. In New York The Associated Press 60-stock composite advanced .1 to 71.3 compared with Friday's gain of 1.7 and Saturday's 4. The market generally is at a peak since August, 1946. One feature was the wide range of stocks appearing, with trading taking place on 1,161 issues of the 1,396 listed.

Russia Sends Mystery Man To Delegation

LAKE SUCCESS, May 18 (AP) — Another mystery man soon is taking the helm of the Russian delegation to the United Nations. He is Jakob A. Malik, deputy ministry for foreign affairs of the USSR.

There are some sketchy facts on record about Malik but like virtually all of Russia's assistant leaders he is little known outside the ruling class of the Kremlin. Even members of the Soviet delegation here say they know nothing about him beyond what has appeared in the American press.

Malik is aboard the liner Queen Mary en route to New York to take over from Andrei Gromyko, Soviet deputy foreign minister. Gromyko has become known to American in his two years at the UN, but he still remains aloof and cool and guards his private life carefully from public notice. Malik and Gromyko both achieved high rank in the foreign ministry of the Soviet Union in their 30s. Malik so far has been one step ahead.

Malik first became well known outside of Russia when he went to Japan as ambassador in 1942. He held that post until 1945.

Malik presented Russia's declaration of war on Japan to the Tokyo government on Aug. 9, 1945. The next day he received Foreign Minister Togo's surrender offer. He was on hand in Tokyo when Gen. MacArthur arrived. For a while he was Russian representative on the staff of the Allied Control Commission in Tokyo.

Malik was advanced to deputy foreign minister on Aug. 23, 1946, four months before Gromyko was promoted to that level.

Just how long Malik will be here is a mystery too.

Urges Ottawa Enforce Its Own Labor Laws

FORT WILLIAM, May 18 — (CP) — There will be no enduring peace on the Great Lakes until the Federal government enforces its own labor laws, J. W. Buckley of Toronto, secretary-treasurer of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said here Monday.

Mr. Buckley is in Fort William in connection with strike involving the Canadian Seamen's Union, the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union, and certain steamship companies.

He said in an interview that refusal of three of the firms to abide by labor regulations and to recognize the C.S.U. as rightful bargaining agency for seamen placed the entire Canadian labor movement in jeopardy.

For this reason the Congress, about 370,000 strong in Canada, had taken over the seamen's fight with the steamship companies. Land-Clearing Machinery Pools For Northern Ontario Drew Plan

TORONTO, May 18 — (CP) — Land-clearing machinery pools in Northern Ontario's clay belt are to be established by the Ontario government to open up new farming areas in what has hitherto been considered mainly a mining section of the province, Premier Drew announced Monday night.

The premier addressed Ontario election campaign meetings at Kapuskasing and Schumacher. At the same time CCF Leader Jolliffe spoke in Fort William and Liberal Leader Oliver addressed a Port Arthur meeting and made a 10-minute broadcast in Fort William.

Premier Drew revealed also that his government has been negotiating with the Manitoba government for joint construction of power plants near Ontario's western boundary. Mr. Drew said this development was separate from the main Hydro expansion program.

"Unless population catches up to the great supplies of Hydro this Ontario is going to have in the next few years, the province will dispose of surplus power by selling it to New York, Michigan, Minnesota and Northern Quebec."

Outline Equipment

Heavy machinery including ditchers and bulldozers would be used to clear clay belt farmland. Experts had informed the government that 12,000,000 acres of land in that area was as rich as any in the southern part of the province.

"I foresee the day when this land will support a population of 1,000,000 or 2,000,000," the premier added.

Mr. Jolliffe challenged Premier Drew to tell why he had neither carried out his 1943 promise to appoint a forest resources commission nor adopted the recommendation of his own Royal Commission that all cutting operations

Drop 13 Ships To Get Big Carrier

WASHINGTON, May 18. (AP) — A Congressional Committee which previously approved an air force it hopes will be the world's most powerful today cleared the way for the United States Navy to build the largest ship ever launched.

The Air Force Bill eventually was passed by both House of Representatives and Senate and waits only President Truman's signature.

The measure approved unanimously by the House armed services subcommittee today would enable the navy to get started on a 65,000 ton aircraft carrier almost half as big again as the present ships of that type.

Navy authorities said the super-carrier would be the largest ship of any type ever built. Its cost would be about $124 million. Construction will take four years, although this could be shortened in an emergency.

The carrier will be about 10 feet longer than the Normandie. It will have a waterline length of 1,030 feet, but counting its flight deck, overhanging it would be 1,090 feet.

In order to get started on the huge ship, the subcommittee approved a navy plan to stop work on 13 unfinished ships, diverting about $229 million for the carrier

PREDICTED HIS RE-ELECTION — President Truman for the first time predicted his own re-election next November and described Republican presidential candidates as "calamity howlers" and "obstructionists," in an extemporaneous address to the young Democratic club in Washington. many housewives into being their own cook and baby-tenders and laundresses. Many of these women are bitterly resentful over being chambermaids instead of parlor ornaments. Many are frail and not really strong enough to do work they are forced to do. But the thing that adds the final touch of wrath to their grievances is when their husbands refuse to even wipe the dishes.

The husband's alibi is that cooking and baby-tending is woman's work, not man's. But in this he is wrong. Making a home is God's work. And men would find that lending a helping hand to their wives in the kitchen would do more than any other thing to promote happiness.

For the Little woman wouldn't mind half so much doing the household chores if it was a case of give and take, and husband was helping with the work.

QUESTION: You printed a recipe for uncooked Hollandaise sauce once and I thought I might be able to make it—I had tried the cooked Hollandaise but am not confident enough to try it with the egg yolks and butter it calls for—when I might let it curdle. Would you mind printing the uncooked Hollandaise again—your other readers might like to use it like I want to—on asparagus. "Just-Learning."

ANSWER:
Uncooked Hollandaise

Two egg yolks, ½ teaspoon salt, speck, cayenne, ½ cup butter melted, 1 tablespoon lemon juice. With rotary or electric beater beat the yolks until very thick and light-colored. Add salt and pepper. Then slowly add 3 tablespoons melted butter, alternately with the lemon juice. Add remaining butter slowly while beating. Serve at once over hot green vegetable; OR store in refrigerator until needed—then heat slowly over warm but not boiling water while stirring until soft enough to serve. Any that is left-over may be stored, covered, in refrigerator, and reheated carefully.

The planetary aspects in certain particulars sound warning to move cautiously and prudently in those affairs in which all sorts of assets, possessions and funds as well as personal desires, hopes and wishes, are in flagrant jeopardy. Snafes, connivance and trickery are aimed at deep-noted strata for success and happiness. Alert, adroit grasp of this, with shrewd and determined attack upon subtlety and malice, dragging them into the open, could beget rich rewards, albeit with change of plans, perhaps fresh environs and associates. Those whose birthday it is are admonished to safeguard all possessions, assets, plans, hopes and objectives, from a sinister, pernicious and tricky onslaught, especially in false promises, plans and deals, in which hidden undercurrents should be dragged to the front and summarily dealt with. The mind is alert and clever, equipped for determined attack, and the character grounded on principle and right purpose for ultimate success and happiness.

A child born on this day may have hidden and treacherous situations to deal with, being subject to fraud and imposition. Its mental and moral makeup, however, is able to uncover and cleverly circumvent sinister and intriguing plots against its happiness.

Selfish people think that they can acquire happiness by grabbing everything they can get their hands on for themselves, but never was there a greater mistake. Nature Club Members Enjoy Field Trip

The first field trip of the year was enjoyed by approximately 40 members of the Peterborough Nature Club on Saturday last. The beginning of the year's activities was auspicious in that last year almost every projected excursion was rained out, while Saturday was one of the few fine days in a rather wet month. Members met at the Collegiate and drove by private cars out through Warsaw village as far as the cheese factory a few miles beyond. From this point some visited the well-known caves, pot-holes and other interesting geological formations. Spring wild

Identify Body

NIAGARA FALLS, May 18. — (CP).—The battered, almost nude body recovered Monday from the Niagara river after a plunge over Niagara Falls was identified as that of Mildred Cornell, 46-year-old art teacher from Kenmore, N.Y. Miss Cornell, on the staff of a technical school at Buffalo, N.Y., had been missing since the forenoon.

Flowers were much in evidence, while many species of resident and transient migratory birds were seen and heard. The club president provided members with evidence of his virility by climbing a tall tree to investigate a crow's nest containing two young birds. One of the more unusual birds seen was a yellow palm warbler.

From the cheese factory members proceeded to Patterson's Woods along the Indian River back of Warsaw Village, where through the kindness of Mr. Patterson, himself an enthusiastic bird-watcher, a picnic supper was enjoyed amidst an interesting assortment of spring wild flowers. After supper a discussion period summed up the day's interesting finds, and the president, Mr. Powell, outlined some of the conservation work being carried on by the club.

Workers Honor CGE Machinist

An employee in the Machine Shop Division of the CGE for 28 continuous years, Hosannah 'Doc' Gordon was honored earlier this month at an informal dinner and party, tendered by fellow-workers. He retired on pension in February because of ill-health.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of a complete fishing outfit to him by Ian F. McRae, works manager. He expressed regret at "losing the services of a capable employee."

Mr. Gordon began his continuous service with the company in 1920 and had served as assistant foreman of the machine shop since 1943.

Other company pensioners at the dinner who joined with him in reminiscing of the early days were William Swanger, Walter Hodgson, and William Cartner.

An avid angler, friends of the well-known "Doc" prophesied that retirement for him would mean heavy use of the fishing equipment.

Rotary Raises $200,000 In Drive So Far

"Total receipt of the Easter Seals campaign to date are $200,000," said R. W. Hopper, executive director of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, speaking on the work of the society at the Rotary lunch on Monday. He said that crippled children's work naturally created a very great interest as it was often possible to see the results of it. "So often it happens," he said, "that a child will be carried into a hospital and walk out of it."

"Where there is a crippled child, there is a crippled home," Mr. Hopper continued, explaining that crippled children are a burden to the family. Often the parents will turn to Rotary clubs in the end, which can in many cases give considerable help and sympathy by merely listening to their troubles. "It is expensive," he said, "for some of these children, who get into hospitals and stay there, owing to the length of treatment."

The need for a vocational training school for cripples was stressed by Mr. Hopper, who said that a new service club in Toronto, "The Variety Club" had already raised more than $95,000 for this purpose and was starting to build within a few weeks.

He then went on to speak of the general broadening of interest in crippled children's work, which was originally the particular concern of Rotary clubs and is now assisted by many service clubs, including Kiwanis and Lions. "But," he said, "there are some things individual societies can't do and that's where the Ontario Society for Crippled Children steps in." One example he gave was the organization of summer camps which are in fact convalescent hospitals outdoors. Two camps are already being run by the society, and it is hoped to have children at a new camp near Smith's Falls before the summer is over.

He ended by giving a brief description of the society's nursing service. Nurses have to be given special training in orthopaedics when they join the staff, which at present consists of eight nurses, each with four or five counties to cover. The society hopes to have 14 nurses in time, when it will have a nurse in every part of Ontario.

Mr. Hopper was introduced by J. L. Thompson and thanked by Roy Girven. Charles Cummer presided.

Possible Mangled Body Found On Tracks Is Woodstock Man Missing Three Years

LONDON, Ont., May 18. — (CP).—A man whose mangled body was found strewn along the Canadian National Railway tracks between Mount Brydges and Longwood on Sunday may be a Woodstock woman's husband who has been missing three years, provincial police said Monday night.

Identify of the man, parts of whom were spread for a quarter of a mile along the track, is not the only mystery connected with the accident. Police and railway officials have so far been unable to establish which train, if any, struck the man.

Railroad officials said every piece of equipment that had passed over the track since Saturday afternoon had been examined without success for signs that might help trace the train involved.

Police said a Woodstock woman was taken to Glencoe Monday to view the body, and although it was too badly mangled for positive identification, the woman said the man could be her husband, who had been missing for three years.

The husband had twice been in the army, and police believe a check of finger prints at Ottawa will show if he was the victim.

Need Student Help To Assist Farmers

TORONTO, May 18. — (CP).—Two weeks of grey skies and intermittent rain have left Ontario Farm Service force officials in "desperate" need of student workers in view of the backlog of farm work piled up during the spell of inclement weather.

A detachment of 18 girls from Timmins, Sudbury, North Bay and Quebec points left Toronto today, the first such detachment of the year. But this "handful" did little to alleviate the need, officials said.

Service director A. MacLaren said Monday the force would require "about 75 girls by May 21, and from 250 to 300 more by the end of the month."

Favor Efforts To Control Well

EDMONTON, May 18. — (CP).—Efforts to control oil and natural gas flow at Atlantic No. 3 well sped toward a climax today as dry weather continued giving emergency crews favorable working conditions.

Officials in charge of relief efforts by the Alberta government reported satisfactory progress in the battle to check the oil and natural gas eruptions at the well, 18 air miles southwest of Edmonton. Myron Kinley, a "wild well" expert from Houston, Tex., took personal charge of preparations at the well-head while V. J. Moroney of Calgary supervised general operations.

At the hole itself, a gang of oil-spattered workers put giant control machines over the head. It is hoped to blow out a wedge of shale chippings locking drill pipe in the hole and then remove the pipe.

With the hole clear, the oil and gas may take the course of least resistance and come to the surface through the drilled channel. The two slanting holes will go down some 5,000 feet, meet No. 3 in the producing zone, and block off all production to allow preparations for a normal flow.

Engine sluggish? Maybe it can't breathe!

Fact to remember: Through its intake valves, your engine "inhales" 15 pounds of air with every pound of gas. Then it depends on tight-seated valves to "hold its breath" while compression is built up. Finally, it must "exhale" exhaust gases. Deposits of carbon can keep the valves from doing this job properly.

THE ORDER DECIDES IT
WITH many a No Trump game, the deciding factor is the order in which the declarer tackles the various suits in which he aims to establish tricks. If he knows one particular defender has the dangerous long suit against him, and retains a single stopper in it, he must try to keep that enemy out of the lead after the stopper gets removed. Letting him have the lead earlier can't harm. Therefore, if one of South's side suits contains a positive loser, and the other only a possible loser to the partner of the long-suit man, he should work on the first of those suits before the second.

Eire Is Badly Worried Over Dwindling Population

By STUART UNDERHILL

DUBLIN, May 18 (CP).—Eire is getting so worried about her dwindling population that a commission on emigration and population has been set up to study the matter.

Vice-Premier William Norton, Minister of Social Welfare, told the commission that Eire is the only white country in the world in which the resident population has declined in the last 100 years. The same picture was drawn by Rev. Chancellor G. J. Prendergast of Ballyhaunis, who said in an address that "90 per cent of our young boys and girls are at present in England, and the country is becoming more thinly populated every day."

The commission will inquire into the causes and consequences of the present population trends. It will investigate not only emigration, but social and economic conditions.

Since 1940, an estimated 250,000 young men and women have left Eire for jobs in England. Official figures set the exodus at 32,000 for last year alone, but the movement was even heavier, since hundreds went first to Northern Ireland, leaving no record of their departure.

Prices Down, Please.

Irish manufacturers have been told by the government that they must try to bring their prices down.

"Unless manufacturers co-operate with the government in this offensive against the cost-of-living, no real solution to the difficulty can be found," said Commerce Minister Morrissey.

"I want to see these results achieved with a minimum of interference by the state in private business, and I want to see the development of a healthy and vigorous industrial system displaying a minimum of dependence on the state."

Morrissey suggested savings to the consumer could be made by reducing transportation and advertising charges.

$300 Damage As Cars Hit

LINDSAY, May 17 — (ENS). — Provincial Police report a head-on collision on the Rosedale Bridge on Highway 35 about 6 o'clock Sunday evening. A car driven by Horace Barnhardt, Barrie, was proceeding north over the bridge when it came in collision with a southbound car driven by Ann Sikila, Toronto. No one was injured, but damage to both cars was estimated at from $250 to $300. Police say there is ample room on this bridge for two cars to pass, but point out that the surface was slippery at the time owing to previous rains. Provincial Constable L. G. Lyle of Fennell Falls is investigating. No charges have been laid as yet.

Criticizes Steel Plan Labor MP Expelled

SCARBOROUGH, England, May 18 — (AP) — The Labor party Sunday night expelled Alfred Edwards, House of Commons member who has criticized government plans to nationalize the steel industry.

The expulsion, second such action against a Labor MP in less than a month, came as Britain's ruling party prepared to open its annual congress here today.

The Labor party executive recently demanded that Edwards write a letter promising to toe the party line. He wrote the letter, but apparently it was unsatisfactory.

The move to oust Edwards followed action against the left wing of the Labor party last April 28 when John Platts-Mills was tossed out and 21 others were required to pledge loyalty.

That storm developed after the left-wing group sent a telegram to Communist-allied Italian Socialists wishing them luck in the April elections.

Other pupils from here in the inspection were Margi Earnshaw, Marg Dafoe, Fred Daniels, Cora Lee Johnston, Evelyn Lean, Elizabeth Nichol, Marilyn Windsor.

Bethesda YPU Present Play

HARWOOD, May 18 — (ENS) — Bethesda Young People's Union presented the play, "Where's Grandma," to a large audience in Bethesda United Church Friday.

Rev. A. E. Larke gave a summary of the play and players before the program, and Mr. Glenn E. Hogg sang two numbers. Miss Lettice Drope accompanied on the organ.

The play presented is a three-act comedy. The leading part, "Gretchen Blake," was ably taken by Phyllis Parker. Her husband, "Bob Blake," was humorously portrayed by Rae Brownell.

"Jack Worley," Gretchen's brother, played by Stuart Shearer, was well done. "Lucy King," his sweetheart, by Neil Kelly.

"Grandma" was played by Mrs. Arthur Lawton.

"Carol Worley" was played by Betty Wright. "Arlene Truesdale" was played by Shirley Drope.

The two most humorous and amusing characters were "Midnight" and "Dahlia," played by Kenneth Symons and Dora Sandcock.

The proceeds amounted to $50.

Two Men Admit Office Thefts

LINDSAY, May 18 (ENS). — Charged with breaking and entering and theft, Lyness Spry, aged 23, of Moore's Falls, and George Wilkinson, 26, of Cobocok, pleaded guilty before Magistrate E. A. Gee, on Monday. Charges were that they had broken into the office of the J. L. Nevison and Son Lumber Company in Norland on May 14 and stolen a typewriter and an adding machine valued at $500.

Crown Attorney L. W. Jordan pointed out that he was awaiting information on the two men from the RCMP, and for this reason asked for a remand until May 21, with further remand to May 28. This was granted by His Worship, who pointed out that it was unusual to accept pleas when the accused have no counsel, but both men had stated their willingness to proceed with the trial. The magistrate told the men their sentences would date from today.

Norwood Welcomes New Minister

NORWOOD, May 18 — (ENS) — More than 30 attended Friday evening in the AYPA rooms for the social evening for the congregation of Christ Church, Norwood. Games were played and a sing-song enjoyed with Mrs. Richardson at the piano, after which refreshments were served.

President of the Guild, Mrs. Bradley, thanked those who had helped to make the evening a success, and called upon one of the older members, Walter Bitten, to welcome Rev. P. A. Rickard. In his reply Mr. Rickard pointed out that the ladies had been busy in helping him at the rectory on Wednesday afternoon and the social evening, which he enjoyed very much, and hoped there would be more of them.

NO GENERAL TAX CUT IN STERN BUDGET

U.S. Police Arrest Nick Minille

Held In California
After Burglary
Fingerprints Tip-Off

OTTAWA, May 19.—(CP).—Nicholas (Nick) Minille, one of Canada's most hunted criminals, today is behind bars.

His capture by Oakland, Calif., police after a nine-month international hunt brought words of thanks from Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, penitentiaries commissioner.

Gen. Gibson had been waiting for the capture since Aug. 18 when a spectacular escape over the high walls of Kingston penitentiary set free Minille, 24, an Ottawa kidnapper; and his two bank robber companions, Donald (Mickey) McDonald, 41, and Ulysses Lawson, 26.

The report of Minille's capture was disclosed after police at Oakland, Calif., checked fingerprints of an apprehended burglar and found them to tally with the much-wanted criminal.

Police immediately began to scour the Los Angeles district in the hope of finding the other two criminals.

Meanwhile, Gen. Gibson today said at Kingston that he was "extremely pleased" with the report of the capture and would dispatch RCMP officer to return the convict to his prison cell, if the United States charges against him "were not serious." Minille was serving a 17-year term; Lawson and McDonald, 35 years.

Minille was captured by an Oakland rookie cop, Patrolman Glenn C. Spott.

Police Inspector R. O. Peterson said the Canadian was discovered trying to break into an Oakland drug store on May 9. Peterson said he suspected Minille was more than just a small-job thief.

He acted as if he'd been questioned before, the officer related. A Federal Bureau of Investigation fingerprint check identified Minille and exploded his alias as "John Carpenter of San Jose, Calif."

Afterward Minille refused to talk about any east coast or Canadian activities or acquaintances. Peterson said Minille definitely doesn't want to go back to Canada.

He's offered to make deals with various Oakland police officers to serve terms for offences here if he can stay in this area, Peterson said.

Victor Neil, 22, of Cloyne, Ont., was killed last night when an automobile crashed into a dump truck on No. 41 Highway near this Addington County village.

Two companions — Mat Perry and Gerald Salmon, both of Cloyne — suffered minor injuries. They were taken to hospital in Kingston.

Jack Williams of Kingston, the driver of the truck, was charged with drunk driving.

Police said the three men were driving in an automobile which crashed into the rear of the truck which was either stopped or was being driven slowly in the centre of the road. The top of the auto was removed by the impact. The car rolled over several times and came to rest in the centre of the highway.

Britain Continues To Finance Arab Legion Until U.N. Finds Palestine Action Illegal

LONDON, May 19.—(CP).—Britain announced today she will continue to give financial aid and military equipment to Trans-Jordan's Arab Legion and to other Arab states "unless and until the United Nations finds these countries have been acting illegally in Palestine."

A foreign office spokesman told a press conference Britain saw "no reason at all" to depart from her treaty obligations with mid-eastern Arab states because of their actions in the Holy Land.

Prison Break Report Said Erroneous

KINGSTON, Ont., May 19. (CP).—Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, penitentiaries commissioner, said today a report that four criminals were freed "within the past few days" in a bid to escape from penitentiary here, is erroneous and the "incident" occurred "several months ago."

At that time three men made an escape attempt "and have long since been dealt with for their part in the incident."

George Constantine, a member of the notorious Polka Dot gang, was not involved in the incident, as stated in today's report, Gen. Gibson said.

As to other phases of the report, the commissioner said the men did not tie up a guard or saw their way out of a cell block. "As a matter of fact they never got out of the cell block."

The trio involved in the previously-reported escape attempt, were Allan N. Baldwin, serving a 20-year term for manslaughter, consecutive to a 14-year sentence for bank robbery; Lawrence Burns, sentenced to 15 years for armed robbery at Windsor; and Albert Stouley, sentenced to 12 years for a Toronto holdup.

US A-Weapons Better Than Hiroshima Type

HONOLULU, May 19.—(AP).—The United States has atomic weapons vastly improved over the wartime Hiroshima and Nagasaki types.

Aside from this fleetling peek under secrecy's curtain, the details are hidden.

This was the gist of a press conference Tuesday by top military and scientific directors of a joint task force upon their return from "Operation Sandstone" on isolated, well-guarded Eniwetok in the mid-Pacific.

There they conducted the latest series of atomic tests during the last 45 days. Three weapons of improved design were tested. There was no undersea test, nor any dropped from the air. Whether guided missiles were used can't, for security reasons, be answered.

Ottawa Lifts Sales Tax Off Food Items, Agricultural Machinery

OTTAWA, May 19.—(CP).—Finance Minister Abbott served up what could be a $20,000,000 dish to the Canadian dinner-table last night. That's the amount of annual revenue the Government gave up in cleaning off the eight-per-cent. sales tax, effective today, from virtually all the remaining foods to which it has applied.

The sales tax is imposed at the manufacturer's level, and by the time it has trickled down to the actual consumer, it has been pyramided by mark-ups along the distribution route.

Removal of this impost affects a considerable list of canned, packaged and prepared foods, and N. Abbott expressed the hope in his budget speech that the saving would be passed along to the consumer.

However, any effects would not be felt by the Householder immediately. The tax already has been paid on goods now in the retailers'—and in some of the distributors'—hands.

Previously, the tax did not apply to such staples as bread, butter, milk, eggs, fresh meats, fresh fruits and vegetables, salt and sugar.

To this list is added "practically all" forms of packaged and processed foods.

Here is the complete list:
Food: Shortening, soups, rice, yeast, yogurt, barley, split peas, peanut butter, biscuits, cookies and similar articles; pastry, cake, biscuit and similar mixes; cereal breakfast foods not including beverages; foods prepared and sold exclusively for feeding infants; fruit, canned, frozen, dried or evaporated; fruit juices which consist of at least 95 per cent of pure juice of the fruit; jams, jellies, marmalades and preserves; corn syrup, table syrups and molasses.

OTTAWA LIFTS

Canadian Surplus Hits $670,000,000

No Early Lifting of Import Controls Can Be Expected, Abbott Reports To House

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, May 19.—(CP).—A record surplus of $670,000,000 for the 1947-48 fiscal year was reported Tuesday by Finance Minister Abbott in his budget speech to the Commons.

That compared with a 1946-47 surplus—first recorded in 17 years—of $373,000,000 which was an amount greater than the total of all previous surpluses since Confederation.

Mr. Abbott said that adjustments are made for amounts shown as expenditures but on which no actual payment is made, the cash surplus of $727,000,000. And if cash received from sources other than revenue is added, the cash surplus is $1,181,000,000. Approximately this sum was used to reduce outstanding government debt.

Revenues for 1947-48 were $2,869,000,000 and expenditures $2,199,000,000. In the previous year revenues totalled $3,007,000,000 and expenditures $2,645,000,000.

Mr. Abbott said the practice of budgeting for a huge surplus in times of prosperity is justifiable.

Must Check Inflation

The 1947-48 surplus, considerably larger than the largest pre-war total budget, would not be good policy, he said, were it not for the need to "check inflationary forces at this time and to redeem our debt as quickly as we can under the circumstances as favorable as they have been."

"There will never be a better time to reduce the burden of our national debt. We can do it now without hardship and thereby get ourselves in better position to bear the extra burdens we may have to assume when our national income becomes less buoyant or other untoward developments occur."

The surplus reduced the net debt to $12,378,000,000, as of March 31, 1948.

Must Manage Carefully

"Although this represents a decline of $1,043,000,000 from the peak of two years ago, it is still a very high figure and a reminder of the need we face to manage our revenues and expenditures in such a way as to throw off the maximum practicable surpluses under such prosperous conditions as we enjoy today."

If no changes were made in the tax rates, Mr. Abbott estimated, he would conclude the 1948-49 year with a surplus of $549,000,000. Revenues would total $2,724,000,000 and expenditures $2,175,000,000.

He warned, however, that the international situation made it difficult to judge how much might be needed in the way of defence expenditures, though so far the government did not consider "an immediate expansion" in defence

Say Arabs In Control Of Jerusalem

Trans-Jordan Legion Turns Battle Tide Within The 'Old City'

WITHIN THE OLD CITY OF JERUSALEM, May 19.—(AP).—Arab forces had driven more than half-way through the Jewish quarter of the old city of Jerusalem today.

About 400 Jewish soldiers of Hagana and Irgun Zvai Leumi were reported on the verge of surrender. The guns of the Trans-Jordan Arab Legion and Palestinian volunteers are pounding many Hagana positions in the remainder of Jerusalem.

The Jewish garrison in the old city attempted to bargain with the command of the Arab volunteers over surrender terms this morning. When no decision was reached, the Arab bombardment was resumed.

Pinpointing Jewish military targets in scattered modern sections of the Holy City, Arab artillery is reported to have battered the Monifere quarter, hit an ammunition dump near the military court house in Rehavia and hit another ammunition dump in the Syrian Orphanage.

Press Forward

Infantrymen of King Abdullah's Arab Legion and local volunteers have pressed forward into the Sheikh Jarrah quarter on the heels of retreating Hagana forces.

Mount Scopus is largely in Arab hands, except the Hadassah hospital and the Hebrew University, where Hagana units are still stationed.

Since the entry of the Trans-Jordan troops into Jerusalem yesterday, the battle tide turned. Arab forces have cleared the Jews from the crescent-shaped area around the old city, including West Joz, Herod's Gate, Jebelur and Mount Zion, except for one position.

Earlier, Irgun Zvai Leumi said its Jewish forces are pressing in on Ramle, an Arab city astride the vital Jerusalem-Tel Aviv highway.

Casualties High

An Irgun communiqué said Arab casualties at Ramle, 12 miles southwest of here and about 20 miles northeast of Jerusalem, ran into the hundreds, and that Iraqi and Trans-Jordan troops defending the city have appealed for help.

This city underwent its worst air raid Tuesday, the fourth straight day of enemy bombings. A direct hit smashed a bus station in the middle of town and the last reports said at least 20 persons were killed.

Tax of 60 cents a gallon on spirits used in vinegar-making repealed, effective today.

Dominion succession duties general exemption increased from $5,000 to $50,000, effective Jan. 1, 1948.

Penalty on unpaid taxes boosted from four and seven per cent. to six and eight per cent., retroactive to last Jan. 1.

Surplus of $489,000,000 forecast for the 1948-49 fiscal year.

Revenues for 1948-49 estimated at $2,664,000,000; expenditures at $2,175,000,000.

Seek Heavy-Set Youth In Attack On Little Girl

TORONTO, May 19.—(CP).—A heavy-set youth was sought today as a suspect in the abduction and beating of Teresa Dowling, eight. Police linked the Monday night attack on the child with the sex-slaying last November of 13-year-old Arlene Anderson, a cerebral palsy cripple. But they said the Dowling girl had not been raped.

As the child, her skull fractured, fought for life in hospital—her condition today was reported "fairly good"—police hunt continued for a youth reported seen walking with her late Monday in a suburban York township field near the spot where she was found bruised and bleeding yesterday.

Hospital attendants said today they doubt the child will be able to describe her assailant. Doctors said loss of memory is common in the type of head injury she suffered. Future normal brain functions probably would not be affected.

Walter Saunders, chairman of the Board of Education, said today all teachers have been instructed to warn pupils in Grades One to Six against talking with strangers.

Alex. Harvey, employee of an industrial plant near the field, told police he saw the child with a youth who appeared 18 and 19 years old, five feet tall and weighing about 155 pounds. The youth wore a blue sweater and dark trousers.

Toronto police assigned Sergeant of Detectives William Mace and Det.-Sgt. William Thompson to the case. They are the detectives who investigated the unsolved Anderson slaying.

He said he does not believe, however, that any reasonable increase in interest rates would do much to combat inflation.

Analyzing the 1947-48 revenues and expenditures, Mr. Abbott said receipts had turned out to be much higher than anticipated. Prices, wages, profits and expenditures all were substantially higher than was estimated when the budget was brought down a year ago.

"As a consequence our revenues from the sales tax, the personal income tax, the d-e taxes on corporate profits were all substantially higher than we had estimated."

Mr. Abbott said that if one took bookkeeping transactions into account, the 1947-48 surplus amounted to $1,181,000,000. This included cash received from sources other than revenue, mainly repayments of debts and amounts received in annuity and pension funds.

In all, he reduced taxes by an estimated $56,200,000 in a full year, compared with $265,000,000 in last year's budget, and reduced customs tariffs by about $16,000,000 a year. The loss of revenue in 1947-48 is expected to total about $60,000,000.

Canada's personal income tax, closest of all fiscal levies to the public's mind and pocket-book, was virtually untouched by last night's budget.

Finance Minister Abbott made one minor change that will reduce revenue by an estimated $5,000,000. But higher salaries and wages were expected to boost grand total revenue from $660,000,000 in 1947-48 to $675,000,000 in 1948-49.

The sales tax of eight per cent has been taken off virtually all items of food which are not now exempt, accounting for $20,000,000 of the yearly tax cut. These items are largely canned, packaged, processed or otherwise prepared foods, and Mr. Abbott expressed hope that the cut will result in a reduction of prices as soon as it can be passed along to consumer. However, no refund will be made on goods now in the hands of storekeepers.

Taxes on amusement and pari-mutuel betting are removed, at an estimated annual cost of $23,500,000, as far as the Federal government is concerned. These were 20 per cent on theatre admissions, 25 per cent on other places of amusement, and five per cent on the pari-mutuels.

Ease Inheritance Taxes

Estates under $50,000 will not pay inheritance taxes apart from provincial imposts in Ontario and Quebec; and bequests to charity, formerly exempt up to 50 per cent, now will be exempt in full. Persons 65 and over get for this year an added income tax exemption of $500. Income tax allowances now granted to mining, oil and gas industries for exploration purposes are extended through 1949.

Coal Discussions Collapse In U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP).—Contract negotiations between John L. Lewis, leader of the United Mine Workers (Ind.) and the coal operators of the United States collapsed today.

The two-day-old wage talks broke up over the issue of seating Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association, in the conference.

The operators voted to seat Moody, and the U.M.W. voted against it. A vote then was taken on a union proposal to go ahead with conferences covering the balance of the industry.

The operators opposed that. The union voted for it.

Lewis got to his feet and said: "I make the observation that there is now no conference."

"The operators have voted themselves and the Mine Workers out of a conference."

"The United Mine Workers policy committee will meet at 10 a.m. Thursday."

Russians May Seek Berlin Air Control Make Allied Planes Use Soviet Airports

BERLIN, May 19.—(AP).—The Russians hinted today they may seek control over the western allies' air traffic with Berlin by making American and British planes use Soviet-operated airports.

This proposal was reported discussed by Gen. Gregory Alexandrov, chief of the Soviet occupation air forces, in a meeting with his air control assistants.

The Russian-controlled Berlin Zeitung said the Russians complained about alleged Allied violations of safety rules in the air corridors over the Russian occupation zone which link Berlin to western Germany. The Russians suggested that the way to remedy these violations and "restore order and safety" was to make all Allied planes, army and civilian, use Soviet-operated airports.

The first American reaction expressed by a spokesman here was: "Preposterous, it looks like a trial balloon."

Road Subsidies Increased By 4 Million

TORONTO, May 19 — (CP) — The Ontario Government will pay a total of $18 million in road subsidies to municipalities this year, an increase of $4 million over the 1947 amount, Highways Minister George H. Doucet announced Tuesday. Notification to this effect has gone out to more than 700 municipalities.

These subsidies for roads are additional to the one-million which the province pays to the municipalities on their tax rate. They are paid as part of the government's policy of sharing with the municipalities the revenue obtained from the gasoline tax. This year's total of $18 million will amount to 30 per cent of the estimated gas tax revenue.

Proposed municipal road expenditures of $33 million have been approved by the department following study of the necessary municipal by-laws by the municipal roads branch. This is the largest program of municipal road betterment in the province's history.

"Speaking in general terms," Mr. Doucet said, "the provincial government pays 50 per cent of the cost of approved municipal road construction and betterment and 80 per cent of the cost of municipal bridges."

The increase of $4 million alone is more than the total subsidies paid for this purpose by the previous Liberal administration.

"Nevertheless, it is a real aid in building up one of the finest highway networks in the world," continued the highways minister. "While it helps industry and aids the tourist business, one of the finest aspects is the fact it brings safe, comfortable transportation to the doors of the people in the smaller towns and to the farmers."

Take 18,000 Refugees

GENEVA, May 19 — (Reuters) — Nearly 18,000 refugees and displaced persons will be flown to Canada this year, the International Refugee Organization said. Within six weeks, 1,400 persons will be flown monthly from Hamburg, Germany, to Dorval Airport, Montreal.

Western Area To Require Huge Tower-Tank

Utilities Commission directed R. L. Dobbin, manager, to order the 30,000 gallon tower-tank for the new Civic Hospital and its neighborhood. Equipment will include a booster pump. Estimated cost is $25,000.

Mr. Dobbin told the Commission that delivery would not be made for 22 months. Only one company is making the aerial reservoirs in Canada.

The elevated tank is required to supply water pressure to the upper floors of the new hospital. New houses are being built in that area at the head of Weller St. and beyond the Hugh Stewart farm. Increased pressure for fire protection in the whole area has been a necessity expanding with the steady enlargement of realty investment.

Dig Up Pavement
Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Co. asked for an eight-inch main on Simcoe St. to the front of the plant, to supply sufficient water for a new sprinkler system installed in the factory.

At present there is a five-inch main from the Creek to Bethune St. The work is not required at present and will be fitted into the program which Mr. Dobbin has laid out for the rest of the year. Laying of the new main may not be begun until November. Estimated cost is $6,500.

The Commission was unanimously in favor of acceding to the Peterborough Lock request. "If they came in here as a new company we would be willing to try to meet their need, and spend money in doing so," said Mr. Matthews. "This is an old Peterborough firm that has never asked for anything that I can remember, and besides that the sprinkler system will be protection for the jobs of 225 employees."

Commissioners expressed regret that the work would require the digging of a trench in the Simcoe St. pavement.

Nine Baby Wolves Found In Bush

LINDSAY, May 19 — (CP) — Grant Hickson of Lindsay has no less than nine baby wolves on his hands, but Game Overseer Fred Walton is going to relieve him of the brood and have them destroyed. The wolf cubs, with eyes still closed, are estimated at eight or nine days old. They were found Monday in a den in the bush. Hilliard Hickson shot the mother after a wild chase that lasted several hours on Monday. Later Grant found the litter. One dog was hurt when the wounded mother wolf turned on the animal during the chase. Wolves have been numerous in Victoria County lately.

Rap Princess Dancing On Sunday Night

EDINBURGH, May 20 (Reuters) — The Scottish Association of the Lord's Day Observance Society has protested to Prime Minister Attlee that the official itinerary of the recent visit to Paris of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh included attendance at racing and dancing at a night club on a Sunday.

"This is contrary to the best traditions of British people and sets a regrettable example before the youth of the nation," the society said.

"It is sincerely hoped that the advisers of their Royal Highnesses will in future respect the religious convictions of this Christian nation."

Gold's A Little Easier On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, May 19 — (CP) — The Federal budget announcement had no apparent effect on the stock market here today as trends were narrowly fixed in dull trading. Industrials and western oils firmed with golds a little easier. Base metals were down fractionally although a few selected issues gained.

Volume for the first three hours was 465,000 shares, about 151,000 less than yesterday's similar period.

Steels and utilities showed some improvement in leading stocks with other industrials groupings firm. Brazilian Traction gained 1/2 and CPR was up 1/4. Cocks shut rose 1/2 to a high of 15. Papers had a firmer tone.

Gold's were a little easier with gains about equalling losses. Tuesday's better juniors were down while senior issues were quiet.

Waite Amulet was up 15 cents but other base metals were down fractionally.

Ottawa Vacates Amusement Taxation Field

TORONTO, May 19 — (CP) — Ontario's new 23 per cent amusement tax went into effect today, the revenue earmarked for hospital maintenance grants.

Hard on the heels of Finance Minister Abbott's budget speech announcement that the Dominion is giving up the tax, Ontario's Provincial Treasurer Frost said Tuesday night that everything is in readiness for the province to take over where the Dominion leaves off.

The enabling legislation was passed at the last session of the Legislature which passed two bills. One provided for collection of the tax; the other for establishment of a hospital trust funds account into which the amusement tax revenue would be paid.

Although the Ontario tax becomes effective today, the increased maintenance grants to hospitals—2 1/2 times the old figure—date back to April 1, beginning of the province's fiscal year. Frost told The Canadian Press.

No Amateur Sport

He emphasized that the province takes over only the 20 per cent tax on admission to places of amusement, such as theatres and professional sport. Like the Dominion, the province will not tax amateur sport. Other amusements exempted by the Dominion will be exempted by the province. The province will not take over the 25 per cent tax on expenditures in other places of amusement, such as night clubs. It had no immediate plans to take over the five per cent pari-mutuel tax the Dominion is also giving up.

Succession duty changes announced by Mr. Abbott are in line with Ontario's policy, said Mr. Frost. He recalled that in 1947 he criticized the Dominion for imposing duty on estates as low as $5,000 and of exempting only up to half the amount of bequests to charity or educational institutions.

The new minimum of taxable estates under Dominion law is $50,000 compared with a limit of $25,000 in Ontario and Mr. Frost said consideration would have to be given to the effect on this difference on small estates in this province.

Union Members Are Not Talking

Members of the executive of Local 524, United Electrical and Machine Workers of America were mum this morning over what had taken place at the Union meeting in the market hall Tuesday evening.

Even members of the publicity committee of the Union who had promised a release for publication by 12 noon, could not be located, and no release was forthcoming. From bits of conversation gleaned here and there the meeting apparently was a hammer and tongs affair with neither side pulling punches.

Two members of the executive when asked, for comment said, "The affairs of the union are for the membership to decide in our own meetings. We have nothing for publication at this time."

Order Ban On Importation Of Cabbage Canadian-Grown Supply Available Soon

OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP) — The emergency import control division of the Finance Department Tuesday night took steps to ban the importation of United States cabbages in Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia. Officials say it is expected that Canadian-grown cabbage will be available in these provinces by the time supplies of imported cabbage are exhausted. A similar ban of the product in other provinces is being planned as domestic supplies become available.

Only cabbages already in the course of being transported to Canada on or before today will be allowed entry.

Officials say that in spite of the ban imposition, the current retail price ceiling of not more than nine cents a pound will remain in effect.

Rain

Rainfall is produced when damp air rises, and cools as it expands. The ascent may be due to (a) simple convection caused by surface heating, (b) the effect of upward sloping ground in causing the air motion to follow the slope, or (c) the action at the front, where a warm current is forced to ascend over a wedge of cold air. Most rain in middle latitudes is due to the third of these causes, but the amount of rainfall is increased where the air is forced to rise over ground. Rainfall is slight in the central regions of the sub-tropical anticyclones, which are therefore the desert regions of the earth. Over most of Europe the annual rainfall exceeds 20 inches, while over most of Asia, excluding India, Tibet and China, the annual rainfall is less than 20 inches, being less than ten inches in a long tongue extending from Arabia across to N.E. Mongolia. The following are some of the heaviest rainfalls recorded within 24 hours: Berlin, Apr. 14, 1902, 6.6 in.; Alexandria, Dec. 9, 1888, 9.6 in.; Bruton, England, June 28, 9.7 in.; Cherrapunji, June 14, 1876, 41.4 in.; Bengali, Philippines, July 14-15, 1911, 46.7 in.; Fiji, Aug. 8, 1906, 37.6 in.

We have gleaned these entertaining facts from an encyclopedia and herewith set them down, because we want to throw the whole book at Jupiter Pluvius and knock him out so that we can have some fine weather. We are sick unto death of April showers a month late. If an umbrella can scare rain away, surely our editorial thunder can do as much. Any lack of rain today may be directly credited to this leading article. Letters of thanks from our grateful readers, golfers, June brides-to-be and advertisers weary of advertising raincoats and rubbers, may be directed to this office. If our incantation does not work, letters of distress should be addressed to the Ministerial Association.

A Cold War Victory?

There have been savoury diplomatic developments between Soviet Russia and the United States in the last fortnight. On May 4th, Ambassador Bedell Smith gave Mr. Molotov in Moscow a note re-defining the U.S.'s policy of "patience and firmness". A week later the Kremlin violated the amenities by publishing the note. At the same time the Russians announced their willingness to accept the American "offer" to confer and Foreign Minister Molotov sent the U.S. a note saying that the Soviet Government was prepared to enter into discussions. These developments occasioned headlines in European papers, surprise and bewilderment in Washington, a statement from President Truman and an "open letter" to Premier Stalin from Mr. Henry Wallace—which he read at a Third Party rally in New York. Last Monday Premier Stalin replied to this "open letter", stating his willingness to negotiate the two countries' differences on the basis of the Wallace proposals.

Did the original Bedell Smith note indicate that the U.S. had decided to let the Cold War cool off? In his statement President Truman denied that there was any change in the American policy toward the Soviet Union, but assured the Soviet Union that the U.S. "had no hostile or aggressive designs whatsoever with respect to the Soviet Union". More than 1,000 words of the Bedell Smith note dealt with the U.S. determination to be firm; only 250 words were devoted to a polite, general statement that "The door is always wide open for full discussion and the composing of our differences". It was on this statement that the Kremlin fastened.

Has the Soviet Union been bested by the Cold War? Is its economic plight (for instance) the difficulties it is having in reconstruction and fulfilling the present Five-Year Plan) forcing the Soviet to take a less aggressive position in international affairs? Are too many of its citizens and satellite Communist states alarmed lest the American strong-arm policy and the Russian aggressiveness be leading directly to war? Have the anti-communist victory in Italy and the initiation of E.R.P. convinced the U.S.S.R. that it would be wise to pull in its claws? Does Stalin merely want to assure his own and kindred people that his intentions are peaceful?

These are undoubtedly contributing factors to the Soviet acceptance of an "offer" that was never made and to Premier Stalin's conciliatory reply to an "open letter" composed by Henry Wallace, the pink Third Party candidate for President, who now has no official status.

The Cold War seems to be taking effect and the time may be ripe for laying a diplomatic basis for realistic settlement of differences. We would hail a peaceful settlement which permitted, in Stalin's words, the "co-existence" of the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. "despite the differences in the economic systems and ideologies". There must be, however, no appeasement of Russia, and Russian actions will have to speak louder than their words, and in the right tones.

Opera In Canada

Opera is almost an unwitnessed art in Canada. A generation or two ago Canadian towns with theatrical and musical pretensions had, like Peterborough, their Opera Houses. Valiant efforts were made by amateurs and professional touring companies to bring at least comic opera to the Canadian stage, but even these have virtually passed away, like the Opera Houses. Most Canadians must go to the United States, London, or Paris if they wish to see opera, or must tune their radios to Saturday broadcast from the Metropolitan if they wish to hear them. Until recently there have been only spasmodic presentations in Toronto or Montreal and that was about all. Now, we are happy to have a permanent Opera School and group—the Royal Conservatory Opera of Toronto.

The Conservatory Opera has been fostered by Edward Johnson, the Canadian-born head of the Metropolitan Opera and is led by distinguished musicians like Dr. Arnold Walter and Dr. Nicholas Goldschmidt. Several operas have been staged; Smetana's Bartered Bride and Gluck's Orpheus were particularly acclaimed and have given the Canadian operatic stage real status and culture in this country a fresh impetus.

Beginning next Monday at the Royal Alexandra Theatre in Toronto and continuing for two weeks so that visitors to the Trade Fair may take advantage of it, Rosalinda will be presented. This gay opera of charming song and comedy is adapted from the Fledermaus of Johann Strauss. Its presentation will add lustre to the Royal Conservatory Opera's growing reputation. Toronto is becoming one of the great musical centres of the world, and a permanent opera company is essential to it.

Animal Treks

We who eat plentifully and well tend to be astonished at the great efforts being made to feed Europeans even meagrely and poorly. For instance, the Canadian west is being depopulated of its horses. One hundred thousand of them went into tins last year for food for Britain and Europe and another 11,000 were shipped on the hoof to Belgium and the U.S. (for slaughtering) for the same purpose. Even if they are the best horses, they still make horse meat.

In Australia there is a vast trek of beef cattle now in progress. Herds totaling 40,000 head of cattle are being driven on the hoof 1,200 miles from the Northern Territory through the dry uninhabited interior plains down to Queensland railheads. It is a worthy large enterprise. Nevertheless, even if these 40,000 animals started off in the pink of steak condition, we fear that by the time they reach the slaughterhouses of Queensland they will be pretty gaunt and muscular beasts, better suited to travelling bags and glue than to our spoilt palates. We, fortunately, have not had to educate our stomachs in post-war Europe.

NOTE AND COMMENT

There is a woman in B.C. who paints totem poles for a living. She probably served her apprenticeship in cosmetics.

"Clean up, paint up?" asks the town clock mournfully, surveying its own dilapidated condition.

The Canadian Construction Association holds that "the need for Dominion-Provincial co-operation in advance planning of deerrable construction, as well as in the fields of fiscal policy, taxation, labour, low rental housing, health and social welfare, is the most urgent necessity facing the Canadian people". The Provincial dervishes, D & D of Ontario and Quebec, please take note.

For Ex-Soldiers And All Civilians

By T. J. ALLEN

NO more remarkable book has been published in Canada than THE CANADIAN ARMY 1939-45. It is the story of the Canadian army from the outbreak of war to the force's dispersal, written by Colonel C. P. Stacey, O.B.E., M.A., Ph.D., Director of the Historical Section of the Canadian General Staff and published by the King's Printer, from whom it is to be had (falling local book-sellers) for the relatively small price of $2.50.

THIS history of the Canadian Army in action has itself a history. The present reviewer used to see in Italy in 1944 a jeep travelling hither and yon which had no regimental insignia, though Divisional or Corps colours. It had printed on it the legend "Historical Section". Each Division in the field eventually came to have attached to it an "Historical Officer" and a War Artist. The Historical Officer was charged with collecting and preserving important documents, and taking note of history in the making—on the spot. He was the eyes and ears of the official historian in London. The War Artists, established painters of repute, like Charles Comfort, Will Ogilvie and George Pepper, roamed freely, interpreting in colour and design what they saw. From these records, from thousands of War Diaries kept by every unit, and from tons of other records have come the "source" material for this book.

The book is the work of many hands, but there had to be one man to pull the tangle together, to simplify, to relate the small to the great, the battle to the campaign, to see the whole pattern yet to understand the minutiae, to interpret military jargon and set the story down in plain language. That man was Colonel Stacey. To him must go the final credit for this authentic "official historical summary" (the book's sub-title) published only three years from the final victory in Europe.

THE clarity of the narrative happily belies the immense labour and the weight of source material which have gone into its preparation. Despite its early publication it is accurate and comprehensive. It took twenty years to prepare only the first volume of an official history of the Canadian Army in the First Great War, and no second volume has appeared. Britain and the U.S. have published no comparable official Second World War histories as yet. The narrative is sufficiently complete to satisfy the infantry or tank soldier with a sharp memory of even relatively minor battles in which he was engaged, sufficiently accurate to satisfy the scholar and sufficiently technical to appease Colonel Blimp whose passion for detail of a particular campaign and lust for military tactics is the terror of any historian who takes up a task such as a Colonel Stacey faced.

The most completely related episode of the war is the raid on Dieppe. Painstaking basic research has been made by the author himself—even to a close examination of every available air photograph taken after the event and of all documents, allied and enemy, which he could find. His verdict is that its costly lessons were invaluable and essential to the success of the landings in Sicily and Normandy. In succeeding chapters there are passing references to Dieppe, which lead a reader to wonder if the author "doth protest too much". This reviewer has a feeling that a generation hence a less official and less cautious historian may have sharper things to say about the Dieppe raid.

THE author does not, however, paint the Canadian troops as ever victorious, ever glorious. The failures, the battles that went awry, the lowering of morale in the winter campaigns, the unpleasant incidents between troops and civilians, are at least mentioned—sometimes discreetly in footnotes, as in this one about the "Zombies": "The decision to send N.R.A.M. men overseas caused a considerable wave of desertion among the soldiers. On 20 January it was announced that 7,800 had at one time been overdue or absent without leave, and that 6,300 were still absent at that date. There were breaches of discipline (though happily no bloodshed) in a number of camps".

TRAGIC events like the massacre of the Black Watch on 25 July 1944 beyond Caen are set down—when "not more than perhaps fifteen soldiers of the rifle companies, however, succeeded in returning to our lines", but there is—perhaps properly so at this early date—no assessment of blame. There is no specific analysis of what many a fighting soldier engaged in a disastrous battle thought to be mistakes of the "brass hats". There is no criticism of generals, and no record of those senior officers who were sent back to base or to Canada with promotions. There is, too, only passing reference to the politics and personalities which created and broke Colonels and Generals behind the scenes.

A soldier immersed in the affairs of his own regiment in his own sector seldom knew anything about events beyond his hearing. This book will fill the gaps in his knowledge and put his own part in the war into the large picture. For this reviewer, whose specific experience and knowledge of the war was confined to events in Italy and the last month in Holland, the story of the North-West Europe campaign from D-Day in Normandy to the Hochwald Forest in Germany proved to be the most vivid and integrated.

THERE are some isolated campaigns and events recorded with such vivid restraint that they are thrilling; for instance, the seven day, 120 mile trek across battle-racked Apennine roads of 230 carriers and 650 tanks in August 1944 in preparation for the Gothic Line battles. There is the sharp reference to the documents the enemy secured from a dead Canadian officer at Falaise; the romantic story of the capture of the citadel of Boulogne, the moving account of victorious troops entering liberated territories, with the author's simple comment which conceals his art as a writer: "There is little enough glory in modern war; but it is a very glorious (and at the same time a rather humbling) experience to march in the ranks of an army of liberation".

It is such touches as these, and the graphic

Letters To The Editor

CHILDREN FOR WEAL OR WOE

Sir: There are some children who fling their beauty and sunshine on the vision for a little while and vanish. They are like the morning glories that cannot stand the glare of the hot noon day sun of Trial. They are delicate, they are pale—ethereal as it were. There is something very wonderfully deep in their eyes. They have a gentle foot and a soft hand and something almost supernatural in their peculiar behaviour—ready to be wafted away. Some of us have had such a one in our household. Gone now! Too tender a plant to live in a rough world like this. The Heavenly Gardener knew it and removed her to a more congenial climate. So:

"The name we loved to hear
Has been carved for many a year
On a tomb."

Then there are the other kind of children; hard to understand, difficult to manage. The mark of Cain seems to be upon them. They do not appear to have a through ticket for the world of woe. Some parents would ruin any children. Their interests are in beer, beer parlours, cigarettes, and picture shows. They have little regard or knowledge of the things that matter. Their children have not much chance.

Pursuant to the laws of our country, all children must be educated. Now education is supposed to have a refining upbuilding effect upon the young. Our children when leaving the public schools seem to have a smattering knowledge of everything under heaven but not much knowledge about anything in particular. There is however, one thing they appear to have learned thoroughly, and that is they do not intend to do any work. Many of them are adepts in stealing, lying, destroying sentences on patrolling, winter warfare, mountaineering or flooded terrain, which lift the narrative from a mere chronicle to an interpretation of the reality which is so difficult to achieve when a historian has primarily to concern himself with multitudinous names, dates and facts.

The dozen illustrations in full colour by various war artists help to give the story an interpretative depth which words other than a poet's or a novelist's cannot reach. The fifteen coloured maps are exactly sufficient and elucidations of geographical and topographical references are unusually clear—an achievement in map-making as well as in the composition of the text. It is a book for ex-soldiers, their comrades in the other services, and all civilians who wish to have a permanent record of our great and victorious wartime army.

property, using profane and obscene language. Although they were not taught these things at school, their education does not appear to have improved their moral standing in any way. Are we getting an adequate return for the millions we are spending on education?

JOHN SERVIUS.

BLUE HERON EXTERMINATION

Sir: Five miles northeast of Peterborough, and about a mile from Nassau, a colony of Great Blue Herons has established itself in an elm swamp. This colony is an unique attraction, to the writer's knowledge being the only one in the immediate district. There are over 30 nests, about 20 being in one tree.

On Sunday, May 9th, about 5 p.m. and again on Saturday, May 15th at 2 p.m. certain parties trespassed on the property and shot up this colony of birds. With the second attack a pattern begins to unfold. This is not the work of irresponsible boys as at first thought. Boys as a rule do not prowl the country armed with expensive pump guns. A deliberate attempt is being made to exterminate or drive away these birds. The perpetrators know why and those who can put two and two together also know. These vandals know very well that it is against the provisions of the Game and Fisheries Act to carry firearms on Sunday. Nor do they need to be reminded that it is a crime to kill migratory birds.

There are people who are as interested in protecting these birds, as some of our so-called "sportsmen" are in destroying them. These gentry will be well advised to shun this locality in future. It can prove to be an exceedingly costly pastime.

LIVE AND LET LIVE.

P.S.—Since writing above have noted a letter in your column from Mr. Morley Powell on the same subject.

A WORD FROM VICTORIA RIDING

Sir: Permit me as a non-resident reader to trespass upon your columns. It seems to me a determined campaign is brewing to accuse the Hon. Harold Scott of every thing except the cold backward Spring. Evidence of this is quite noticeable in these columns. Complaints of neglect re local road conditions are none of my business, but when some enthusiasts have gone so far as to consult the ouija board and predict a Liberal or C.C.F. victory, I think it time to take another look under the old clucking hen and see how many eggs are chipped. Election returns on June 7 will show just whose record will be vindicated. I know how far the C.C.F. will get here in Victoria.

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered and said, I am young, and ye are very old; wherefore I was afraid, and durst not shew you mine opinion.

Great men are not always wise; neither do the aged understand judgment. Therefore I said, Hearken to me; I also will shew mine opinion. (Job 32: 6, 9, 10.)

The Spirit of God hath made me, and the breath of the Almighty hath given me life. Behold, I am according to thy wish in God's stead; I also am formed out of the clay. (Job 33: 4, 6.)

Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh, when thou shalt say, I have no pleasures left them; while the sun, or the light, or the moon, or the stars, be not darkened, nor the clouds return after the rain. . . . Or ever the silver cord be loosed, or the golden bowl be broken, or the pitcher be broken at the fountain, or the wheel broken at the cistern.

Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was; and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it. (Ecc. 12: 1, 2, 6, 7.)

Margarine

The margarine issue may be dead in the upper half of Parliament, the Senate, but it is not dead throughout the country. When people hear of a shipment of margarine to Buffalo, retailing at 33 cents per pound, they do some eyebrow lifting.

This nutritious food remains outlawed in Canada by reason of the powerful dairy interests and lobbying at Ottawa, also by reason of the fear of the government for the consequences if margarine is legalized. Butter is not only short in Canada but it remains too high in price for tens of thousands of households. The action of the Senate perpetuated a national injustice and there is scant hope that any private bill by James Sinclair, M.P., will get very far in the House of Commons.

toria County and in my native County of Durham.

So far no Drew supporter has thought it worth while to answer such petty tactics going on. Of course my opinion would only be a "political harangue and party propaganda" because it appears as if the Examiner editorial of May 14 shows the political allegiance of that paper.

Thank you,

B. HYLAND.

Omemece.

(Ed. Note: We are uncertain whether reader Hyland is accusing us of allegiance to the Liberal or to the C.C.F. party. Perhaps he has counted up all the kind words we have thrown Mr. Scott's way in the last year and is accusing us of being rabid Tories. For our part, we think that such varied enthusiasm as ours can hardly be labelled party "allegiance".)

POSTSCRIPT TO THE MAY-DAY SPEECHES by GILES

Say Damage $100,000 In Cannery Explosion

WALLACEBURG, May 19 — (CP)—The Ontario Fire Marshall's Department has been asked to probe an explosion and fire which caused damage estimated at more than $100,000 at the plant of the Garden Valley Food Products early today.

The blast blew out a section of wall about 60 feet long and a resulting fire burned out the interior of the big plant in nearby Chatham township. Company officials who estimated the damage, said the factory may be rebuilt.

Fire Chief Frank Hearn of the Wallaceburg Fire Department, said he had asked for the Fire Marshall's investigation.

Hundreds of cans filled with tomatoes blew up at intervals today, some cans going as high as 125 feet in the air.

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN

"Do women need to suffer so?"—mothers are often asked. One mother writes:

"The company nurse recommended Paradol when my daughter feared she would lose her job because of time lost each month. Now she loses no time and does not suffer pain or discomfort needlessly."

Paradol is the answer for women who suffer each month. Quick relief also from headaches and neuritic pains. The name "Dr. Chase" is your assurance. Carry Paradol in your purse.

Build Your Lives With Religion VC Padre's Message To Cadets

MILLBROOK, May 19—(ENS)—Major John Foote, VC, Port Hope, was guest speaker in Grace Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening for the annual church attendance of the Millbrook Cadet Corps, under the OC, Cadet Lyne McMahon, and the cadet instructors, P. E. Hamilton and Sgt. Major E. Kent.

The Cadet Bugle Band, under Cadet-Lieut. Robert Bigelow, and led by Majorette Hazel Rowe, led the parade from the Armories to the church.

The minister, Rev. Walter Patterson, was in charge of the service, and welcomed the visiting cadets and padre. Special music included a solo, "The Lord is My Shepherd," by Mrs. Gordon Baker, with Mrs. Grace Muspratt at the organ.

Reading the lesson from Genesis XI, the story of the building of the Tower of Babel and the confusion of tongues, Major Foote made this the basis of his impressive talk which was especially for the boys of the Cadet Corps.

"I am glad to hear of your success in your recent inspection," Major Foote began, "and to wish you continued success in life. Many things are necessary to maintain life, shelter, food, clothing and education, but along with these what do you say about religion? Putting religion into life is very important; we cannot get along without it, and there is no other way to make a real success of living. Unless you have a satisfactory relation to God, your life will be incomplete. There has to be a real contact between earth and heaven."

Pointing out that the Bible significance of the words, "Go to," in the story is, "Let's go; we can do it," the speaker emphasized the mistake made long centuries ago when the people decided to "build a city, and then a tower," making religion something extra tacked on.

"Any civilization that did that was doomed; it went down and down. Germany tried it, but the people found Hitler was not a reliable guide. When people do not have the church, then they want it."

Illustrating the last point, Major Foote told of experiences when a prisoner of war in Germany, the soldiers with him, many of whom never had attended church in the days before enlistment, coming to the padre with the request that he hold a service.

"The room or tent was always filled, and the things relating to the Kingdom appreciated as they never had been in the days of freedom. Build your lives with religion as a vital part. Make faith in God and His service your first consideration, and you will have a joy and zest in living, and reach a true success attainable in no other way."

CANNED RHUBARB—We are going to have a bumper crop of rhubarb in our garden. How can I use it up? What about canned rhubarb for pies?

Use the rhubarb raw. Cut it in short lengths and slit it like celery curls. Chill in cold water and drain before using. Steam it in the hand like that and with salt, it tastes like a charm. Canned pie rhubarb is easily prepared and really delicious. Use fresh pulled rhubarb, wipe it and cut it in lengths. Press gently in a bowl with a wooden masher. The juice should flow but the rhubarb shouldn't be pulped. Fill sterile jars to overflowing with fruit and juice. Screw down the lids, test for leakage. Roll in newspapers (that keeps the color) and store for use. A quart jar will fill a nine inch pie.

Receptionist—What training do I need to be a receptionist? What is the salary?

A receptionist usually doubles as switchboard operator and frequently does some typing. For a straight receptionist you need a neat, well-groomed head of hair (that shows), a charming manner and a good voice. You need to be tough enough to brush off the impudent but polite enough to impress the important folks. If, as well you're sensible, you are an answer to an employer's prayer, Salary? Anywhere from $20 to $35 weekly is the average.

FRUIT PIES—Now that fruit pies are coming in, we've got the soggy bottoms back with us again. Tell me how can a lower crust be sealed against soaking? How can I keep fruit pies from boiling over?

To seal the bottom crust of a fruit pie add as much white sugar as salt to the pie mix. To keep it from boiling over make the bottom crust like a lemon pie with a fluted edge. Fill the pie with fruit, then lift on but do not fasten. As the fruit cooks the top lid rides on top and no juice runs out.

Greco Decisions Harry Hurst Second Time

MONTREAL, May 19 — (CP). — Johnny Greco probably shunted Harry Hurst out of the Canadian welterweight boxing picture Tuesday night when he decided the hard-hitting Montrealer for the second time.

In so doing, Greco retained his welter crown and put his former sparring partner, Joe (k.o.) Fyle of New Waterford, N.S., in line for a possible crack at the title.

But a former holder of the crown, veteran Dave Castelloux of Montreal served notice that he is still in the running for a re-match with Greco when he gave one of his best performances in winning by a technical knockout over New York's Juan Carrera in the semi-final. Greco won the title from Castelloux.

Greco was the unanimous choice of the three judges in the 12-round bout and the forum crowd of 6,245 applauded the decision. Two judges gave Greco eight rounds, Hurst two and called two even. The third official awarded Greco seven, Hurst four and called one even.

Hurst threatened only twice, in the second round and again in the sixth, but both times he failed to follow through after staggering Greco with blows to the head.

The rest of the time, Greco was in control, using infighting tactics to good advantage and occasionally standing back and slugging it out with the challenger.

BOOSTS TOTAL — A young man who seems to have something startling on the ball is 18-year-old Jerome Dahlke, shown winding up here. Jerome has pitched three no-hit, no-run games this season for a Mausau Wis., high school in school conference games. Last year he pitched two no-hit, no-runners.

Moss Terrorizes League Pitchers With Home Runs

By The Associated Press
Howitzer Howie Moss once again is terrorizing International League pitchers with his booming home runs.

The Baltimore Oriole outfielder, who has won the circuit home run championship three times, has clouded six homers in his team's last six games to boost his output to 10, tops in the circuit.

He walloped his 10th Tuesday night as the Orioles divided a double header with Montreal Royals.

The Howitzer sent the first game into extra innings with a two-run circuit drive in the seventh inning but the Royals finally won the game, 6-5 by scoring in the eighth.

Baltimore bounced back and took the second game 5-3 which was called at the end of seven innings because of the curfew law.

A three-run homer by rookie first sacker Herb Conyers and a bases-empty homer by Bill Martin highlighted the Oriole triumph. Ernie Groth received credit for the win although he was lifted in the sixth.

Homers Aid Wins
Homers also played a prominent role in the Rochester Red Wings' 11-5 conquest of Jersey Giants. Chuck Diering, Glenn Nelson and winning pitcher Max Surkont whacked four-baggers to highlight a 12-hit bombardment against three Giant pitchers.

At Newark, the tail-end Toronto Maple Leafs downed the Bears, 4-1. Lou Possehl held the Bears to five hits but he was lifted in favor of Jim Konstanty in the ninth after yielding a walk and a double. Konstanty retired the next three hitters but a run scored in the process.

The game between Syracuse Chiefs and Buffalo Bisons was rained out.

Owen Sound Wins
OWEN SOUND, May 19 (CP). — Owen Sound Crescents Tuesday night trimmed Mimico Mountaineers 15-7 here to win the opening game of the Ontario Lacrosse Association senior "A" series. Mountaineers are OLA and Eastern Canada champions. Mountaineers trailed the whole game. Crescents led 5-1, 8-5 and 12-7 by periods.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

No need to leave the city over this holiday week-end coming up, not as far as sports are concerned anyway. Provided the weather is right, of course. Senior "B" lacrosse opens here Friday p.m. with Brampton vs. the Petes' champions. Saturday aft sees the City Baseball League open with a double-header, juveniles and juniors playing. Then on Monday—May 24 it is—senior ball goes in Riverside in the a.m., Batawa vs. the Petes; while the Jay-Cees' jamboree (including softball and horse racing) is the afternoon attraction. Local ball teams, senior, intermediate and junior, have out-of-town trips, too, over the busy week-end. Yeah, it's the first big sports' slam of the season.

Softballers and baseballers mix this semester on the senior ball club. But not too heavily. For instance, none of the three Petes' twirlers go in for softball nor does Al Menzies, one of the receivers. Eddie Starr, the main catcher, hasn't yet shown up on a softball diamond this spring, nor has Joe Stewart—though either may change his mind later. Tommy Foley passes up the younger game, too. Jack Mackness plays both brands and does okay at each. The keystone combination of Freddy Garvey and Howie Dalton are good softballers, but both sat out the first few nights in that game as bench coaches. They may see more action shortly, though, in softball as well as with the Petes. The other few spots on the club haven't been filled as yet.

Difference In Batting

While we don't think the two games ordinarily mix well, some fellows do okay in both. And there's no law saying you must stick to just one type of the game. Main difference, as we see it, is in the batting. A softball flinger has to throw underhand and using a bigger ball for a shorter flinging distance. He sometimes gets a little twist on it but depends mainly on speed and occasionally a change of pace. The baseball hurler uses a smaller, harder spheroid from further back but throws over side arm, and he pitches a lot of curves. Some are of the roundhouse variety and some of the sharp-breaking style. And he has to have a good change of pace. A guy hitting against a softball pitcher one night is apt to be off his stride next night against the baseball twirler. And vice versa.

Probably wisely enough at that, the Girls' Softball League executive decided against opening their schedule too early. The lasses can coast over the holiday, and then they'll start a week from tonight. With Ashby's playing Woolens, and Marines meeting the Electrics. And two more tilts on that Friday in the Bowl. Haven't heard yet what ump's will be used but there's lots of time yet. The various teams have been lining up their players and drilling regularly, we hear, and it shapes up as a stronger circuit than a year ago. Because only six local teams—along with Lakeland and Lindsay—will be battling it out three nights weekly.

Keen Note Contests

Not much wrong—except the weather—with those two men's softball scraps at the Bowl last eve. The R-E Combines had to take the last-half of the ninth to yank out an 8-7 verdict over De Laval, and Legion won 4-3 from Knights in the last of the ninth. Yep, it certainly is shaping up as a neat well-balanced loop with every club having a real chance at copping the silverware. So far, at least. Quite a few fans braved the cold to witness the tussles, though a lot of 'em left with frostbite or something before the end. And theumps kept play moving in fine style, so that the twelfth ball wound up at five minutes past 10! Good stuff.

De Laval rallied for three—that rundown helped—in the ninth to get back in the first game, and it was an interesting go. One Brown (never heard of him before) didn't do a bad chore on the De Laval mound, while Guilfoyle was his canny sel. for Combines. McCarthy and Pryde led the hitters for each side, while Blewett blasted out two homers, though he did bobble a three-run fly! And Sullivan missed a costly one for Knights to end the second game, but it wasn't an easy out. These well-matched clubs put up a dandy fight but Crowley— who pitched fine ball—should have had a win. His buddies led him down with five miscues just where they hurt most. Legion kept battling and finally pulled it out. A good double-header, but, golly, it was cold!

First Ball Accident

Young Brock Caw had rough luck the other evening and he won't be playing ball this season. The 14-year-old second-sacker for the northend bantams in the City Baseball League—he's been playing since he was 11—had his right leg broken in a practice game at the Queen Alex diamond. Coming in to score, he was blocked at the plate by a heavier player and suffered a bad fracture. The club will miss his hitting and fielding, and Bob will certainly miss the game this season. Baseball isn't considered a rough game like such body-contact sports as rugby, lacrosse and hockey, but injuries do occur each summer on the diamond.

HITHER AND YAWN: Earl McCready and the Mask top the big pro grapple card at the Brock tonight. ... Petes play O'Halloran's in soccer tonight while Legion meets CGE on the morrow. ... Juvenile lacrosse (16 to 19 years) drill Thursday p.m. at seven in Miller Bowl under Coach Jack Foote, an open workout; about 30 attended last eve. ... Junior Lakeshore Loop schedule in tomorrow. ... King Edward School softballers took Queen Alex yesterday aft. ... Kawartha juveniles practice at 6:30 tonight at the Ex. ... Tilts at the Bowl on Thursday: Combines vs. Legion, and Knights vs. De Laval and theumps are: Calladine and Wood, with Dormer and Ranger. ... End of the line.

Combines Take Close Win From De Laval

Phil Pryde's hit to left in the last half of the ninth scored Blewett to give the R-E Combines an 8-7 men's softball win over De Laval at the Bowl last night. It was a fine fray before a fair-sized crowd with the scrappy De Laval bunch rallying for three runs to tie the count at 7-7 in the first of the ninth. The Combines had taken an early lead but it was a toss-up at the finish.

The hits were pretty even but the Combines had longer ones, including two homers by Blewett, and Guilfoyle had a little edge on Ed Brown on strikeouts and walks. Apart from a pickup by Courneya and foul catch by Castle, there were no fielding features, and the chill weather caused several miscues. McCarthy led De Laval at bat with three for four, while Anderson got three in six. Pryde led the victors with three in four tries, one a double. Borland hit a triple and double. The box score:

Louis Uses Movies To Learn Fight Errors

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP). — Heavyweight champion Joe Louis says he is going to get ready for his return bout with Jersey Joe Walcott by taking in the movies. But they are not just ordinary movies. They are scenes of that first scrap back in December when Jersey Joe banged the champ. The Brown Bomber, arriving east Tuesday to begin the final phase of his training, announced that a study of the fight pictures would be an important part of his preparations at Pompton Lakes, N.J.

He wants to look over his mistakes and be sure not to make them again at Yankee Stadium, June 23.

King Edward Wins

King Edward took a 26-12 School Softball League victory over Queen Alex yesterday in a wide-open tussle. They banged out seven runs in the first, nine next time up, two each in the third and fifth, with six in the fourth. Queen Alex counted one in the second, six in the third and five in the fourth. Downer had an unassisted double-play, and the other side reeled off a two-kill, Morgan to Weir. The teams:

Legions Grab 4-3 Tilt From Knights

Russ Sriver scored on a dropped fly in the last half of the ninth inning to give Legion a 4-3 nod over Knights at the Bowl last night in the windup City Softball League fixture. K of C scored one each in the first, second and sixth of a fifty number, while Legion rammed home three in a big fifth. Despite quite a few cold-weather errors, it was a tidy tussle and plenty tight to the finish, which saw most of the chilled crowd departed.

Crowley deserved to win on his pitching for Knights, a five-hit effort with 13 strikeouts, but the costly errors hurt. Dalton gave 11 hits and fanned five, being below his usual form and having five wild pitches. There were no fielding features in the snappy scrap which lasted but 1 hour and 10 minutes. Two were out in the last of the ninth when the winning run scored. Crowley led his side at bat with three for four, while none of the Legionnaires got more than one safely. The box score:

Kiner's Timely Homer Gives Buccaneers 4-3 Victory

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Ralph Kiner whose 51 four-baggers tied him with Johnny Mize of New York Giants for the National League lead last year won another game for Pittsburgh Tuesday night with his home-run bat.

He slammed his eighth homer of the season with a mate aboard in the eighth inning to give the Pirates a 4-3 victory over Bill Voiselle and the Braves in Boston.

It marked the fourth time this season that a Kiner blast provided the winning runs for the Buccaneers. The four-bagger snapped a four-game winning streak for Boston, and hung the first defeat of the year upon Voiselle.

A freak in the percentage table gave Cleveland Indians the American League lead over Philadelphia despite the fact they trailed the Athletics by half a game. The mathematical oddity occurred when the Indians defeated the A's Tuesday night, 6-1, in Cleveland. It was their 74th victory in 20 starts for a 70.0 percentage, a four-point lead over the A's who have won 16 and lost seven for .696.

Moves Fast

Allie Clark's triple highlighted a two-run first inning against Lou Brissie. Four more runs followed in the second to mark the end for Connie Mack's left-handed rookie. Another southpaw freshman, Gene Bearden, scattered six hits for his second victory without a defeat.

Enos Slaughter, the Cards' "money player," and big Red Mumper, collaborated to give the Redbirds a 4-3 decision over Brooklyn Dodgers in Ebbets Field. Slaughter's tremendous home run with one on in the sixth inning provided the winning margin for the Cards, who extended their streak to four straight. Mumper allowed nine hits but was tough in the pinches to register his second triumph.

St. Louis' American League representative the Browns, not only handed New York Yankees a surprise 6-5 trimming, but inflicted the season's first defeat upon right-hander Allie Reynolds, who had won his first five starts. Charley Keller and Johnny Lindell hit homers for the Yankees in a losing cause.

At Detroit, the Tigers spotted the visiting Boston Red Sox a 6-0 lead and then tallied seven runs off Dave Ferriss and two successors to win 10-7.

Rae Scarborough, third Washington pitcher, won his own game when he singled in Ed Stewart with the run that gave the Senators a 5-4 12-inning victory over the White Sox in Chicago. It was the Sox' 11th defeat in their last 12 games.

The Giants inaugurated their home night season by defeating Cincinnati Reds 6-5 to remain within a game and a half of the National League lead. Southpaw Johnny Vandermeer was charged with his fifth setback of the season.

In a pitching duel between two southpaws, Johnny Schmitz got the nod over Curt Simmons as Chicago Cubs topped the Phillies 3-2 at Philadelphia. All Cubs' runs were unearned.

Think Bob Hope Will Have Oscar Chance

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 19 (AP)—Bob Hope did a tender scene with Mary Jayne Saunders for "Sorrowful Jones" that evoked many a wet eye among onlookers. When I suggested that the picture might be Oscar bait, Bob answered, "No chance—too many laughs in it to woo an Academy Award." But, I pointed out, "It Happened One Night" did all right. And if Bing can't snag an Oscar, why can't Bob?

Another Texas millionaire is in the Hollywood news. He is Glenn McCarthy, the fabulous oil man, who is putting up the green for "The Green Promise," an outdoor story, which actor Robert Paige and writer Monty Collins will produce. Bob, hunting buddy of McCarthy's, will also star in the film.

Fair-haired Farrow

No wonder John Farrow is the fair-haired director at Paramount. The wartime Royal Canadian Navy officer finished "Dark Circle," originally slated for 45 days, in 24. Careful planning did the trick, said the star, Ray Milland: "The director is the one to cut down costs. If he knows what he wants, and gets it, you save money."

Constance Bennett, on the other hand, reports: "I always hire the most capable actors I can for the pictures I produce. If the actor knows his job, the picture moves along. That is where you save the money."

10-Second Review

"Silver Rock" (Warners) is hewn from the same rock that has served movie Westerns for decades. It is the yarn of the intrepid strong man (Errol Flynn, intrepid as ever) who rules a frontier town and wins his gal (Ann Sheridan). Plenty of shooting, brawling and riding, plus an Indian threat that doesn't materialize. Neither do some other things, but horse opera fans will love it.

Mask-McCready At Brock Tonight

According to his pre-bout predictions Earl McCready expects to dispose of his bitter feud with the Masked Marvel in tonight's final set-to between the two large fellows in the Brock Arena. "I know I am a better wrestler," stated McCready, "and the breaks can't go against me forever. Tonight I'll clean up this situation once and for all. I'll not only unmask the hooded one but I'll pocket his share of the purse." McCready can do just that as tonight's bout is a winner-take-all match.

It looks like the fur will really fly when the main bout bell rings.

Lou Laird, a large newcomer from Boston, takes on Mario Renaldi, the volcanic Italian, in the semi-final.

In the opeher Jimmy "Red" Sims, one of the most popular matmen to appear here, will tackle Jack Dillon. It looks like big doings at the Brock Arena tonight.

YWCA PAGEANT—One of the finest displays of gymnastics in Peterborough was held Tuesday evening before a packed house and the program went smoothly forward without hitch. Although senior groups put on a splendid show of

Musial Making Better Showing

ST. LOUIS, May 19 — (AP).— Bulky Jim Ferrier, who looks more like a hammer thrower than a golfer, has no intention of trying to break the Professional Golfers' Association qualifying record of 134 he set two years ago. As defending champion, Ferrier does not have to qualify for the match play test which starts on Friday. Like most of the others, Jim figures the rolling Norwood Hills course will be tough on the long drivers.

Train of Thought

While New York Yankees were travelling here to open their Western tour, a number of players and baseball writers hopped off the train at Pittsburgh to buy newspapers. In their absence, a switch engine hooked on to their special cars and hauled them away to add a few more coaches to the train. Returning to find the cars missing, one scribe turned to Frank Scott, substitute road secretary, and complained: "You are worse than Red Patterson. He only lost one car. You have lost three."

St. Louis Blues

Stan Musial, who is hitting .350 — a remarkable contrast to his average at this time last year — figures he should keep up that pace all season. "I have been improving," hitting the fatter strikes and laying off the questionable stuff," Stan explains. Patty Berg tried to jerk a weed out of the turf on a golf course the other day and tore a ligament in her hand. The moral of that ought to be: "Never fool around with a jerk."

Car Declared Forfeit

TORONTO, May 19 — (CP).— An automobile owned by Gordon Lee of suburban East York, valued at about $4,000, was declared forfeit Tuesday under an amendment to the highway traffic act passed only last month.

The car was seized because Lee drove it while his driver's licence was under suspension. Lee was fined $25 on the charge. Three other fines were levied: $250 for driving while his licence was suspended; $25 for issuing a false statement; $45 for having a driver's licence illegally.

Canada's basketball representation at the Olympic games in London will be a 14-man squad, made up of seven players from the University of British Columbia, six from Montreal YMHA and one from Vancouver Clover Leafs, it was announced in Montreal Tuesday by W. A. Irwin, secretary of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association.

Personnel of the Olympic team was left in the hands of coaches Bob Osborne of UBC and Moe Abramowitz of the YMHA, whose teams met in the Olympic trial finals held in Toronto last week. Each coach had the privilege of selecting seven players from his own team. Osborne picked his full allotment from his squad. Abramowitz was ready to name seven Montrealers but found one of his aces, Abe Dikofsky could not make the trip.

Jack Pomfret of Vancouver Clover Leafs filled out the list although he may not be eligible under Olympic regulations. The coast star is a director of physical education at UBC.

Detroit Tigers announced Tuesday the release of pitcher Rufus Gentry to the Buffalo Bisons of the International League. The 30-year-old righthander, who won 14 and lost 12 games for the Tigers in 1944, was with Dallas of the Texas League last year.

Dick Turpin, 28-year-old negro, Tuesday night won the British Empire middleweight title in Coventry, England, by knocking out champion Bos Murphy of New Zealand in 2.55 of the first round. Turpin weighed 156½ and Murphy 158½.

Gil Dodds, who thinks nothing of running the mile and two-mile on the same program, may try a new twist next month—appearing in track meets at Boston and New York on the same day. The world indoor record holder and the chief hope of the United States in the Olympic 1,500 metres expects to return to competition in the New England AAU championships at Boston June 12. Noel Harris, manager of a charity meet scheduled here the same day, said Tuesday in New York Dodds was considering running in both meets, making the trip by plane.

Denmark's teen-age tennis team joined the racket squads of seven other countries Tuesday in the quarter-finals of the European zone Davis Cup eliminations. The round of eight was completed Tuesday when Denmark ousted Eire, 3-2 in the last second-round series at Dublin.

The winner of the European zone will face the American zone survivors for the right to meet the United States in the challenge round.

2 Fishermen Drown

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., May 19 — (CP).— Two Queen Charlotte Island fishermen, one a father of five children and the other a 15-year-old boy, were drowned within sight of home and before the eyes of friends on shore, it was learned here Tuesday night. Friends who witnessed the capsizing were powerless to help.

Doesn't Think Higher Interest Rates A Help

OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott in his budget speech in the Commons Tuesday night said that no reasonable increase in interest rates would succeed in cutting down either business or private expenditure.

"A rise in rates sufficient to produce these results would cause so drastic a fall in the prices of bonds and such chaotic conditions that I doubt whether any responsible person would recommend it as a deliberate policy."

Mr. Abbott noted that the government and Bank of Canada recently had allowed market forces to bring about a slight increase in the yield on government securities. This would not have any great effect in cutting down capital expenditure.

It was difficult to believe that higher interest rates would lead the general public to cut down its living expenditures.

An analysis of the demand side of the market "leads to the conclusion that no reasonable increase in interest rates is likely to affect materially the action of the industrial borrower."

It would take a really substantial increase to dampen the industrial borrower's demand for funds.

"What we need is a slowing down, not a sudden cessation of the capital development which has been taking place at a pace which has been straining our resources," he said.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Ald. Adam Sands received permission of the council Monday to be absent from the two next meetings of the Board of Governors of Civic Hospital. The first is Thursday, May 20.

PREPARING BUDGET—Finance Minister Douglas C. Abbott who presented 1948 budget to the House of Commons Tuesday night in an address which began at 8 o'clock and was concluded by 9:30.

Canada Can't Be In Hurry To Lift Controls—Abbott

OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP) — Canada cannot be too hasty in removing its exchange and import controls or too optimistic about its ability to give further assistance to world recovery, Finance Minister Abbott said Tuesday night.

The country's present foreign exchange reserves are $668,000,000, after drawings of $130,000,000 on the export-import bank loan from the United States and "certain transactions of a non-recurring character."

"Making due allowance for any abnormal factors on both the favorable and unfavorable sides, I think we have a right to be gratified with the first six months' operation of the emergency program we put into effect last fall."

But Mr. Abbott said "our cash reserves must still be increased substantially before we can regard our exchange position as satisfactory."

The European Recovery Program would help Canada by strengthening other countries which are Canada's customers. It would also enable Canada to sell more of its exports for United States dollars.

"These are clearly great advantages but I wish to emphasize that the program will not in itself solve our exchange problem."

"It should help to assure us much larger cash markets for our exports than would otherwise be available but we must make the goods available for export by increasing production, by being sparing in the use of imports and by holding our domestic consumption in reasonable check."

Reference To Mr. King Brings Applause

OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott's references to Prime Minister King were the most warmly applauded portion of his budget address Tuesday night.

Liberal members banged their desks for several seconds when Mr. Abbott spoke of Mr. King's leadership.

Removal of the tax on alarm clocks got the warmest reception of any financial item.

There were approving calls from the opposition benches: "Good for you."

One opposition member shouted "about time."

Keep Tax High To Assist "Little Man"

By DOUGLAS HOW

OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott put a friendly arm around Canada's little man last night, and told him there is more than one way of acting the fiscal Santa Claus.

He is holding income taxes where they are, Mr. Abbott intoned in his budget address, to save the taxpayer money in the long run. His argument: Tax reductions would give Canadians more money at a time when the supply of goods could not be simultaneously increased. Prices would be sure to rise. Some people would profit, but others would lose out to the higher cost of living.

"The apparent benefits," said Mr. Abbott, "would prove to be a mirage."

The little man could take that argument or leave it, then pass on to the more refreshing virtues in the avalanche of words.

His pocketbook will smile, if not rejoice, at the removal of the eight-per cent sales tax from the range of food items is still plagued—providing it is passed along to him.

No Changes

There was no joy at all in liquor, tobacco, soft drinks, chocolate bars. Taxes stay where they are. There were occasional rays, such as an end to the 25-per cent sales tax on silver-plated forks, knives and spoon and on alarm clocks worth less than $10; news that refundable portions of both 1943 and 1944 income taxes both will be repaid next year; news that the government will pay two-per cent interest on overpaid taxes.

But, all in all, it was neither a momentous nor a merry budget for the little man.

Furthermore, Mr. Abbott's final word was of the future. The day of big income tax cuts, he implied, is over. Large budgets are here to stay, and "we cannot lightly reduce taxation in any field."

Defence Costs May Be Boosted

OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott warned in his budget speech Tuesday that "events in the international field" may sooner or later force the government to increase defence expenditures.

"As yet the situation, despite its threatening appearance, has not led the government to believe that an immediate expansion in our defence activities now is necessary," he said. "Events are marching swiftly, however, and we must be prepared to change our program on short notice."

The government would not be justified in forecasting higher defence spending this year but "we must bear these circumstances in mind later in considering our tax policy."

Continue To Assist Mining Exploration

OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP) — Federal assistance to mining exploration will be continued through 1949, Finance Minister Abbott announced Tuesday night in his budget speech.

Under this plan, companies may charge against their profits, for tax purposes, the full amount spent for exploration work on new sources of minerals, oils and gas.

Housewife, Who's Handy With Can-Opener Comes Into Her Own Under New Budget

OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP) — One thing about this 1948 budget: The girl with a can-opener has come into her own.

If working a single, she'll still feel the income tax squeeze on her pocketbook. And the tax remains on the wrist-watch she has been wanting to buy.

But Finance Minister Abbott has announced the eight-per-cent sales tax will be lifted on most prepared foods. If she's adept with a can-opener she'll be able to save on her food budget as long as prices come down accordingly.

The full-time housewife will still feel the pinch of high prices. Standard food items such as bread, butter, milk, cheese and eggs, have no sales tax to lift. It's anybody's guess whether Finance Minister had June brides in mind when he announced lifting of the 25-per cent retail purchase tax from silver-plated knives, forks, and spoons.

Canada Can Teach Lesson To The Entire World Advertising Chief Says

"Nothing is more necessary in Canada today than that every person be made aware of the benefits and responsibilities that each must assume if our way of life is to be sustained and improved," Major James Baxter told the 59th annual meeting of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. President of the McKinn Advertising Limited, he was guest speaker at a banquet attended by more than 100 men of the city and district.

Major Baxter gave a vivid description of a recent air trip to Britain and South Africa, detailing his observations in both countries. He emphasized that as "Canada's national attitude is essentially a reflection of our own personal faith, that each of us must mold a pattern for the kind of Canadianism we can be proud of and in whose results we can participate."

Regarding his stay in England, he said: "London, because of its political fog, I can only describe as a depressed area. The real England is in the working Midlands, in Yorkshire, in Lancashire, wherever business men had shown the foresight and displayed the courage to find employment for thousands of workers. There I found, amongst a host of British stock, refugees who had fled from the vicious grip of Nazism, leaving behind the fruits of a life's work, starting anew in a land of traditional opportunity and freedom. Many were employing up to 2,000 people producing articles that used to be made on the continent before the war. The solid leadership given by the business men of Britain is in direct contrast to the inept political planning so evident in London."

"In Great Britain I found a people facing restrictions and deprivations of which we know nothing in Canada — and facing them with a quiet courage and determination which no government, whatever its policies, can diminish or frustrate. The magnificent resourcefulness and adaptability of the industrialists and humble private citizens of Great Britain, which showed so gloriously in the late war as the counterpart of the bravery and endurance of their fighting men, impress the visitor. That individual self-discipline, that willingness to endure and strive, are still in splendid evidence, carrying with them a firm faith in themselves and their ability to win through to survival and economic health. One cannot but draw inspiration from contact with such people."

He pointed out the great distances between points in South Africa and mentioned their problems in that sister dominion, and how they are being met.

A Great Problem

"The existence of four main ethnic groups, trying to work out a formula for harmonious living" constitutes the greatest problem. These groups are the European, the native Africans, colored or mixed-blood people, and the Asiatics. Thanks to the statesmanship of English and Boer leaders, who share a sturdy spirit of independence and individual initiative, are learning to live in harmony. But there remains the problem of the native, mixed and Asiatic peoples, and this problem is not yet solved."

"English capital is aiding the South Africans to develop their resources, so as to get away from what seems to have been too great a dependence upon gold and diamonds. There has been a considerable wave of immigration from the British Isles. Here is proceeding an experiment in inter-racial tolerance and collaboration. But the formula is expensive and it has not yet been finally worked out."

Such countries as these, Major Baxter pointed out, are involved with "difficulties of adjustment, and even of survival, in comparison with which Canada's difficulties seem simple and almost negligible."

"In comparison, Canada's resources, as yet, scarcely touched, have a richness and variety that dazzle the imagination. Canadians are fortunate in their inheritance. We have in this country a tradition of sturdy, self-reliant, resourceful, pioneering endeavor handed on to us by our ancestors. "That spirit," he said, "has already expressed itself, both in peace and war, in achievements of such extent that they have drawn upon us the eyes of the world." He mentioned the tremendous assistance Canada has given Britain and Europe during the war and after.

An Amazing Record:

"No other country on earth, no other 'way of life,' can show an achievement more creditable than that which has been made by Canada, acting in the spirit of that sturdy individualism, personal initiative and resourcefulness, which has animated her citizens. It is the key to some amazing feats of our ancestors."

Here, the speaker outlined particularly the historical background of the Peterborough area. He paid high tribute to the fortitude of the pioneers of the district who struggled against natural obstacles and carved from them the present characteristics of this section of the province.

He described the circumstances leading up to the founding of Peterborough and its growth to its present size.

"Today," he said, "I see a prosperous and progressive modern city, still garlanded by natural beauties that time has not spoiled, but molded by the hand of man into a place of throbbing industries, efficient businesses and comfortable homes; a centre whose name and products are known, not only throughout Canada, but across the wide world; a city whose daily newspaper represents all that is best in the journalism of our country."

He praised the work of Robert Davies, Editor of The Peterborough Examiner and of Harold L. Garner, its general manager. "I see a city which has played and is playing a role of leadership in the evolution of a strong and distinctive Canadian nation."

Linking the achievements of the past with the promise of the future, he said that both were based on "the unquenchable vision, the indomitable spirit of enterprise, the indefatigable courage and persistence, the will to strive and achieve in the face of every obstacle."

Nothing Impossible

"If those early forerunners of yours, with the obstacles they had to face, with the equipment they had, with the vast resources of this land still discernible only to the eye of faith — if they could achieve what they did; if the men who succeeded them, inspired by the same initiative and courage and self-reliance, could produce the Peterborough — and the Canada — we know today, what is impossible to us?"

"How can we be daunted by any obstacle or difficulties that loom in our path? How can we refuse to accept the gauge offered us by our circumstances, and by the examples of industry, initiative and courage which illumine the humblest pages of our past?"

"Some of us are prone to be concerned about the magnitude of the obstacles that do face us today, in a confused and uneasy and distracted world, about the forces at work within and without our country which seem to make the future dark and ominous."

"What, actually, have we to fear? What have we to fear from the insidious voices which would persuade us that our way of life is inadequate to the needs of the present and future; that freedom is a myth, that free men, acting with faith and courage, and in voluntary co-operation with their fellows, cannot measure up to the challenge of this complex age in which we live?"

"It is a challenge, make no mistake about that. In spite of what we have done in the past, in spite of the immense resources, the staggering possibilities, that make Canada a land of infinite promise, of unlimited horizons — in spite of all that, we shall prove unworthy of our opportunities unless we are inspired by that courage, that enterprise, that endurance in adversity which animated our pioneering ancestors."

"Our immediate need, which transcends all others, is for greater production. And that need can be met only by every individual — every industrialist, every business man, every employer, every employee — putting himself unflinchingly to his job."

"I we — one and all of us — do that, I have no fear that those who bid us forsake our traditional way of life for another, who bid us take shelter under the wing of some bigger and more powerful nation, or who cry down and belittle the promise which Canada holds out to those with faith and vision — I have no fear that these people will ever bring us down to their level of pessimism and fear and destructive criticism."

"I am one of those who share the faith that Canada is unmatched among the nations of the earth in the opportunities she holds for initiative, hard work, and persistence in the pursuit of honestly-achieved rewards; the faith that if we preserve our present way of life, and live in the letter and the spirit of that faith, handed down to us by our ancestors, there is no obstacle we cannot surmount. It is my faith that by her example and her achievement, Canada can become an object lesson in a world where pessimism and despair are making so many people the prey of doctrines that can only lead to slavery and the death of the spirit."

"Never forget that in Canada we are blessed with a way of living that is today the envy of people and nations all over this earth. Countless millions of people would count no sacrifice too great to achieve the kind of life that we enjoy. Seen from a distance — our way of life seems even more precious, with all that it means — peace and security; friends, churches, service clubs, Chambers of Commerce, all working peacefully and co-operatively for something better."

"It is a rare opportunity that is ours. Let us never fail to count our blessings. And let us never cease to strive ever more aggressively for the attainment of those things which will make this great nation greater still."

Major Baxter was introduced by H. L. Garner, who called the speaker, "the man to explain the Canadian way of life — the salesman for our way of life." Thanks of the meeting were expressed by J. E. Girven.

Wilson M. Gemmel, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was chairman of the meeting. Reviewing the development of Peterborough during the 59 years of the Chamber's existence, he urged full support in a concerted effort to further betterment and growth. He commended the work of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Newly-appointed Manager of the Chamber of Commerce, James Fraser, was introduced.

Presentations were made to past presidents of the Chamber by Mr. Gemmel. Receiving the tokens of appreciation were Hon. J. Duffus, George Gillespie, James Dutton, John R. Marshall, Fred Overand, George Hewitt, George Macdonald and J. E. Weir. Those unable to be present were J. W. Geraghty and J. W. Fraser.

F. H. Robertson, Trade Commissioner of Jamaica, also spoke briefly. A past president of the Jamaica Chamber of Commerce, he stressed the importance of ties of Empire countries.

Canadian Surplus

tially higher than we had counted on in the budget. The same was true of customs revenue, because both the volume and the prices of imports were much higher than we had expected a year ago. It was also true of special receipts and credits."

Great reductions had been made in war and demobilization expenditures of national defence, and in expenditures on termination and liquidation of war contracts, on cost of living subsidies and veterans' benefits.

Expenditures About Same

He expressed doubt that the current fiscal year's expenditures will be much lower than last year's. Provision would have to be made for the $30,000,000 which the government announced last week it will pay to the provinces to help expand public health services.

The original estimates of expenditures would also have to be altered to provide for the 25-per cent increase in war pensions. Continuation of freight assistance on the movement of feed grains would add another $16,000,000 to the original estimates.

In forecasting revenues of $2,724,000,000 for the current year, Mr. Abbott said:

"In making this forecast, we assume some small further increases in wages and other incomes and some prices, a small increase in our national production, normal crops, and no serious industrial disputes or other set-backs to production and income. These are, I would say, conservatively optimistic forecasts."

"Prices, wages and profits may increase much more if inflationary forces prevail. Good crops would increase our real production and our revenues above what I have assumed and forecast. On the other hand, severe difficulties in our export markets, poor crops, prolonged stoppages of production or an abrupt decline in capital expenditures of Canadian business might reduce incomes and our tax base and make our estimates appear too optimistic."

Need More Dollars

Referring to Canada's United States dollars position, Mr. Abbott said the reserves totalled $507,000,000 at March 31 and $668,000,000 at April 30, by which time $130,000,000 had been drawn from the $300,000,000 loan obtained from the United States export-import bank.

"Our cash reserves must still be increased substantially before we can regard our exchange position as satisfactory," he said. "We can neither be too hasty in relaxing the irritating controls we have had to impose nor too optimistic in appraising our capacity to give further assistance to world recovery."

The import controls were necessary to protect the country's economy. As far as other controls were concerned the practice of the government has been to return to a free price system.

"Neither this government nor this parliament has either the political mandate or the constitutional power to maintain indefinitely in peacetime a strait-jacket of controls over prices, production and distribution."

"Our whole economy has been organized to operate on a price basis by private incentives and private initiatives, not by centralized direction."

Sales Tax

Though the limited concessions will apply to a considerable number of people, the lack of any over-all reduction was interpreted by some observers to mean that a general election is not likely this year. However, Mr. Abbott in effect warned against over-optimism. "With the public demand there is today for additional government responsibilities and expenditures in many fields, we must anticipate large budgets in future, and we cannot lightly reduce taxation in any field. Those who advocated increased expenon cotton and rayon piece goods is suspended until June 30, 1949, with the purpose of lowering their price range to Canadian buyers, and the United Kingdom will take all possible steps to see that the target for shipment to Canada of 80,000 yards of cotton goods in 1948 is met.

Also, certain goods may be exempt from special dumping duties, if it is decided that their importation is necessary. The three-per cent excise tax on imports from general tariff countries, now largely a dead letter, is repealed.

Various minor changes are made, such as removal of the 25-per cent sales tax on silver-plated cutlery. No tax reductions are given for liquor, tobacco, candy bars or soft drinks.

All income tax changes are effective from Jan. 1 and other changes today.

Income Tax Lower

Though the taxpayers get little relief from this budget, the individual's income tax will be lower this year than last, and thousands will get substantial cheques from the receiver-general.

This is because last year's deductions applied only to the last six months of 1947, while they apply to all of 1948. It is estimated that this will reduce 1948 taxes as compared with 1947 by an average of 12 to 15 per cent. Also, taxpayers of 1943 and 1944 will get next March the refundable portion of their taxes for those two years in one lump, to a total of $230,000,000.

The first criticism of Mr. Abbott's speech from the official opposition came immediately from J. M. Macdonnell (PC—Muskoka-Ontario).

Raps Surplus

All the reasons for the forecast budget surplus of $489,000,000 are bad reasons, he said. Prices had gone up, some of them disastrously, and brought increased revenue as a result. Britain had a surplus too, but "no one feels that it has begun to solve their problems."

He blamed the government for Canada's shortage of United States dollars and said the only difference between Canada and other countries short of dollars is that "we asked for it."

Things had been getting worse ever since the government brought the Canadian dollar to parity with the American dollar. United States investment in Canada had been "cut off like the turning of a tap. And having shut out the dollars, Canada had to shut out American goods."

Distorted Economy

The government "not only has distorted our economy abroad but has distorted it at home." One reason for the housing shortage was that the government has stimulated large construction projects, he said.

Mr. Abbott, in his budget speech, gave the House a picture of great economy activity and high revenues.

For the fiscal year ending March 31, Mr. Abbott forecast a surplus of $489,000,000 — from estimated revenues of $2,664,000,000 and expenditures of $2,175,000,000.

Mr. Abbott, no doubt realizing that he would face criticism, devoted a large part of his speech to selling his program to the Canadian people. He said in part:

"If we diverted our prospective surplus into a reduction of taxes now, it would add hundreds of millions of dollars a year to the already intense demand of Canadians for goods and services—but it would add nothing to the volume of Canadian goods and services available for sale."

"People would try to buy more, but there would not be more to buy, unless the effort to get it resulted in more imports that we cannot afford and which we would have to shut out somehow or other. Some people would profit, but others would lose out to the higher cost of living."

Three Reductions

He said the personal income tax has had three substantial reductions since the end of the war "and ours, I believe now is by and large or for the majority of people, the lowest income tax in the English-speaking world, with the highest exemptions."

Three out of every four Canadians would pay more income tax on their present income if they lived in the United States rather than Canada. "Times are exceptionally good at present, economically and financially, and it would not be prudent to rely on such conditions continuing indefinitely. Our surpluses now are temporary surpluses and will quickly disappear when we have more difficulty in selling our goods abroad and less capital expenditure by business in Canada. We should therefore be putting away what we can for a rainy day. In our case we put it away by paying off debt."

Every night parking space at Young's Point is at a premium as fishermen from all parts of the district drive into the village for a spot of pickerel fishing. Tuesday night it was cool—very cool, but the crowd showed no reduction in numbers.

Budget Changes To Aid Housewives

Removal of the sales tax on certain foodstuffs, announced in the budget address Tuesday night, will result in cuts on the consumer level at an early date. This was the prediction of G. S. Matthews, General Manager of the local plant of Canada Packers. He said that the eight per cent cut would be made to retailers effective today, and that cuts to consumers will be up to the individual retailers. He added that it was felt that the housewife buyer will feel the eased prices situation in a very short time.

The budget items affected produced here include smoked and cured meats, shortening, cooked, canned, smoked or dried meats and poultry; canned frozen and dehydrated vegetables.

Regarding the effects of the announced cuts, which include in press releases the listing of "cereal breakfast foods," R. R. Paryon, General Manager of the Quaker Oats Company here said that until specific directives were received it would not be possible to ascertain how this would affect his company's products.

It may mean a cut in the prices of some, he said, but was of the belief that the cuts would "not be very much to the consumers."

Westclox Affected

"It won't increase sales at all, but it will help to prevent them from falling," said John H. Vernon, vice president and general manager of the Western Clock Co., commenting on the abolition of the 25 per cent luxury tax on alarm clocks value at less than $10.

He explained that the firm was working at capacity now and thus there was no slack production that could be made up. However, he added, the market was beginning to show signs of a drop in demand because of the continued high price but this latest cut by the Finance Minister would prevent this drop.

"It's a move in the right direction, but it doesn't go far enough," said Mr. Vernon. He explained that a third of the company's business consisted of selling "the poor man's watch" for less than $5, and he said he could not understand why the tax was not pared on this as well.

"I'm not too happy about it, I had hoped that it would go on more items than it did," said Morton Knox, manager of Ostrander's Jewellers. He pointed out that jewellers got relief on silver-plated war but that giftware such as cut glass and china figures was still taxable.

Like Mr. Vernon, he criticized the budget for letting the tax remain on watches, particularly in the low-price bracket.

"Half a loaf is better than none, but we'd rather have the whole loaf," was his summation.

Bert Austin, jeweller, was more reserved in his judgment. He said it was more or less what was expected by the trade, but he indicated that he did not think the Finance Minister erred on the side of liberality.

Generally he thought the extent of the cut was fair, but he said he believed that silverware, particularly in the low-price range, was long overdue. And he said that this could be said of alarm clocks as well.

"There's no doubt about it, though, it will increase sales," he said.

Hugh Davidson Name RSM Of 50th HAA

Hugh B. Davidson, 154 Hunter St. East, has been appointed RSM of the 50th HAA Regt. (PWR) RCA, with effect from April 1. He has taken over his duties from RSM James Miller, well-known Peterborough Post Office official, who has retired after a long and colorful military career.

Mr. Davidson is well-known as a musician and has served with the Peterborough Reserve Force since 1933. During the last war, he served overseas from 1940 to 1945, with the 1st Bn. SD&G Highlanders as RQMS. He returned to Peterborough in November, 1945 and has since served as a sergeant, and later BSM, with the HAA regiment.

Mr. Miller served with the British Army during the first world war and was one of those who made the first march—of 150 miles—on specially improved desert roads consisting of wire netting laid over the sand. It was while he was serving with the RE (Signals) BEF in Egypt. This road-making method was originally used by the Romans and was not rediscovered until the 1914-18 war. During the last war, it was used for the construction of desert airfields.

Mr. Miller served with the Peterborough Reserve Force since 1940, when he was posted to the Prince of Wales Rangers from the 32nd Inf. Res. VHG. On conversion of the local unit to HAA in 1946, he was appointed RSM.

Cost of Social Services Mounting Steadily Children's Aid Society Told

Peterborough Children's Aid Society will not be responsible for the children of unmarried mothers who have left the community and have not previously asked the society for help. This was decided on Tuesday at the monthly meeting held at the City Hall. The superintendent, Miss R. Young, raised the question in reference to a specific case. She pointed out that in such cases the society had no opportunity to educate the girl and would be getting the baby without obtaining a first-hand history of the case.

In her report, Miss Young mentioned the increased costs of the holiday camps. "This morning," she said, "we received word of a contribution for a two weeks' holiday for a girl at the YWCA camp from the Business and Professional Women's Club. It will be recalled that last year, through donations of almost $600, we were able to arrange for many children to go to camp. Enquiries are already being made by children, who we feel will greatly benefit, but to meet the need we will require even greater contributions as fees in both boys' and girls' camps have increased."

At Crossroads

Miss Young also reported on the annual meeting of the Association of Children's Aid Societies. "If there was a trend throughout the whole conference," she said, "it was that we are at the crossroads where the most careful thinking must go into our policy making—not only from the standpoint of financial costs but from the standpoint of function."

"There is little doubt," she continued, "that the present movement for financial aid from a higher level of government stems from the greatly increased costs of social services owing to a broader and better program requiring more highly skilled and better paid personnel. However, it is to be recognized that the nearer the control is to the problem, the better the service to those who need it. There was therefore a pleading that we think, and think carefully, before we do anything which might place the work of the CAS in a position where it would be hemmed in by rules and regulations."

W. J. Grady, T. T. Rodger, who presided at the meeting, and John Twigg, a member of the staff, also briefly reported on the conference.

Thirty-eight, or an average of slightly more than one case per day, was referred to the society during April. Of those who came during the month, 29 per cent were by personal application. Miss Young said that an increasing number of cases are coming to the society, because they think it has something to offer, whereas when children's aid work started, cases were reported by outsiders.

Four children were made wards—three permanently. Five children were placed in foster homes for the first time, three being for adoption. Three children were moved from one foster home to another.

The finance committee report was read by J. McKerchar, approved. It moved that three members of the staff receive salary increases of $200 retroactive to January 1.

Mrs. Keith Leach gave the report of the sewing committee. Sewers were Mesdames H. G. McGinnis, T. Mark, E. Latimer, E. Cox, C. W. McGee, F. Horton, K. Robertson and E. Oxley. Donations were received from Mrs. T. Mark, Mrs. F. Horton, Mrs. Jack Mark, St. Luke's Auxiliary, Mrs. J. H. Hewitt, Parkdale Social Workers, Mrs. G. C. Scott, Civic Hospital, Mrs. G. W. Crow, Miss F. Vickers, Mrs. West and Mrs. B. A. Brown.

Social Security

"A committee will be appointed immediately to draft plans which will assure social security for all our people." This quotation taken from 22-point platform of Premier Drew in 1943 election.

Don't look for the plans because you will not find any.

Instead of making plans, he spent his time and energies by dabbling in Federal affairs such as the now abandoned immigration scheme. As a result social legislation is at a standstill in Ontario.

We must have a Government head who is not obsessed with his own personal ambitions and who will apply himself strictly to the affairs of this Province.

MOTTO.—In this election don't let Drew becloud his record of neglect by an erratic exhibition of words. All we get from him is speeches.

Hydro Pays City Substantial Sum

A Hydro-Electric cheque for $52,663 was shown to the members of the Utilities Commission at their meeting Tuesday by Howard Clegg, accountant.

The corresponding "13th bill" received last year amounted to $44,825. The largest amount of this fund ever received from the provincial Commission was $66,249 in 1944. This annual settlement in accounting with Hydro customers, the cities and towns and villages who own the electric enterprise, is the difference between cost as charged on interim rates, for conveniences, and the cost of the amount of power actually used by the community.

Back in 1939 the Utilities Commission had to pay the Hydro $3,200. That was one year the 13th bill was a minus quantity.

Gordon Matthews, chairman, and G. A. Macdonald and Fred Jills, looked at the piece of paper with the figures on it, a grateful increase to the treasury. "Maybe we ought to buy a bond with it," Mr. Matthews remarked.

British Trades Union Leaders Seek To Clean Out Communists

LONDON, May 19 — (CP) — powerful group of British trades union leaders is campaigning to rid the Labor movement of Communist influence.

The group, which includes Sir George Chester, member of parliament T. O'Brien, Andrew Naesmith and other well-known trade unionists, has the sympathy of the Trades Union Council.

Its first job will be to teach rank-and-file union members to pay more attention to union politics—and vote out of power a number of Communists who hold key positions.

The campaign started too late to prevent the recent election of Communist George Middleton as president of the Scottish Trades Union Council.

It may, the new group hopes, help prevent such elections in the future and also turn out of their present jobs such well-known Communists as Arthur Horner, Secretary-General of the potent Mineworkers' Union, A. F. Pappworth, member of the Trades Union Council as a representative of the huge Transport and General Workers' Union; W. R. Scott, member of the Amalgamated Engineers' Union Executive Council, and Wallace Hannington, pre-war organizer of the Unemployed Workers' Union.

Although their number is small compared with Labor Party members in the unions, Communists have been able through agitation, hard work and compact voting tactics to reach many other strategically important positions in the workers' movement. The charge was made recently that Communist "cells" have been created among seamen on most of Britain's merchant ships.

Communist influence also is powerful in the Shop Stewards' organization, which was created during the First World War as a Leftist movement and is still outside the pale of the T.U.C.

A spokesman for the Council said however the organization included only a small portion of the country's total number of shop stewards, whose job is to link the shop workers with their respective trades unions.

An overwhelming proportion of trades union members are fee-paying members of the Labor Party. Latest figures show they total 4,031,000 of the party's overall membership of 4,685,000.

Small Membership

The Communist Party, on the other hand, claims only 40,000 fee-paying members. Labor sources doubted that figure. They pointed out that Communist leaders claimed an increase of 8,000 member in 1947, but failed to state how many had left the party in the same period.

Trades Union Council spokesmen say the danger of Communist penetration in their movement is not related to their numerical strength.

"The hardest thing," one of them said, "is how to identify Communists or pro-Communists when they start their infiltrating work."

Main aim of the newly-created group — and the unofficial hope of the T.U.C. itself — is to bring matters back to the pre-war status, when Labor and Communism were recognized foes.

Small Membership

The Communist Party, on the other hand, claims only 40,000

Many Canadians Badly Disappointed In Budget

The Canadian Press.

Across Canada to-day reaction to the Federal budget included praise and disappointment.

The praise came from some industrial heads on the tariff changes and some theatre owners on the dropping of the Federal amusement tax. But in Ontario the amusement tax will continue with proceeds going to the Provincial Government; Manitoba will not only assume the 20 per cent tax, but will make it a general provincial levy of 25 per cent, which was the Federal rate on certain other amusements apart from theatres. British Columbia has legislation ready to proclaim its own amusement tax.

Housewives were cheered by the death of the Federal 8-per cent sales tax on some foods. One grocery chain executive in Montreal said this would mean a reduction of about 5 cents a pound on ham and bacon there. Canned goods were also expected to become cheaper, but it was pointed out that the question of passing on the benefits is entirely up to the industry.

The disappointment was expressed by Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan, who said that in view of the province's unprecedented budget surplus income tax reductions for the lower income groups would have been in order. No one in Ontario will notice the Federal amusement tax has ended, because it is immediately replaced by a provincial tax of the same amount, proceeds of which are to be used for hospital maintenance grants.

Plans Uncertain.

What Quebec will do is uncertain. Premier Duplessis was unavailable for comment. Montreal night club and cabaret owners, however, welcomed the announcement and Montreal theatres to-day are passing along the benefit to their patrons.

The increased exemption in the succession duty—under Federal law estates up to $50,000 now are exempt, instead of $5,000—may result in some reconsideration of the provincial succession duty in the only two provinces now levying it, Ontario and Quebec. The other provinces yielded this tax field to the Dominion under arrangements with Ottawa.

Ontario Treasurer Leslie Frost said at Toronto that with the provincial succession duty set on estates of $250,000 or over, consideration would have to be given to the effect on the smaller estates. Ontario already exempts estates bequeathed to charity, as

Great Britain Draws 368 Million In Last Year, Report Shows

OTTAWA, May 19—(CP).—Britain drew $368,000,000 from the Canadian loan during the last fiscal year which ended March 31, Finance Minister Abbott said in his budget address Tuesday night. This means that by the end of the fiscal year Britain had drawn $1,008,000,000 from the total of $1,250,000,000 authorized under the United Kingdom Financial Agreement Act of 1946.

The interest-free $700,000,000 loan made to the United Kingdom in 1942 had been whittled down to $331,479,000 by last March 31. It was agreed in 1946 that the loan would remain interest-free until 1951 when the agreement will be reviewed.

During the fiscal year Russia paid back $2,500,000 of a $10,000,000 loan extended during the war, said Mr. Abbott. This wiped out the loan by the date repayment was due.

Other Countries
During the same period, $130,830,000 was advanced to other foreign governments under the Export Credits Insurance Act. The largest advance was to France—$49,945,000. Belgium got $16,000,000 and repaid $2,112,000 during the war.

China borrowed $20,046,000, Czechoslovakia $10,135,000, Netherlands $28,536,000, the Netherlands East Indies $5,900,000 and Norway $1,906,000. Some interest on earlier loans was unpaid by foreign countries. In Belgium's case the transaction was $248,000 and in Norway's case $150,000.

They Like It

On tax benefits to oil, mining and gas companies for exploration expenses: "Anything which encourages exploration sounds pretty good," said H. H. Hewitson, president of Imperial Oil at Toronto.

On tariff changes generally: "The changes are beneficial inasmuch as they are directed at increasing our external trade and more particularly trade with Britain and Empire markets," said Thomas Oakley of Toronto, president of the Canadian Imports and Traders Association.

On the suspension of British preferential duties on cotton: Belief that this would mean an increase in imports and would help the Canadian industry was expressed by Jack Klein, Montreal, who headed a Canadian textile mission to Britain a few weeks ago.

New Corps Plans To Produce Veterans' Jobs

A drive to provide a great many more positions for older and disabled veterans through the Canadian Corps of Commissioners is being held this month by the National Employment Service and the Department of Veterans Affairs. H. P. Robinson, secretary-treasurer of the Kingston division of the corps, is at present visiting Peterborough to help the campaign here.

"We have been very fortunate in Peterborough," he said in an interview today, "and the employers have come forward in a splendid manner." As well as discussing the work of the corps with employers, Mr. Robinson is interviewing applicants for positions as commissioners. Any soldier, sailor or airman, discharged from the armed forces with an exemplary character and still in reasonably good health, may apply to join the corps. Only responsible men with a high sense of loyalty and duty are accepted. The Canadian Corps of Com-

NEW NATION OF ISRAEL BORN IN DARK WORLD — Surrounded on three sides by enemies and on the fourth by the sea, the newly-born nation of Israel may soon have to fight for its very existence. Reports, most of them unconfirmed, tell of invasion by the Egyptians at the south and Transjordan forces at the east and north. The map shows the position of Israel in relation to the Arab states marked in black. Also shown is the estimated troops strength of the Arab states, except Saudi Arabia, which is an enigma. It was reported that the Jewish capital, Tel Aviv, was bombed by planes identified as Egyptian.

Nine Out Of Ten Estates Left By Canadians Will Pay No Federal Death Duties — Abbott

OTTAWA, May 19.—(CP)—Finance Minister Abbott announced Tuesday night in his 1948-49 budget that the exemption on estates for Federal succession duties purposes is being raised from $5,000 to $50,000. This means that nine of every 10 estates left by Canadians when they die will pay no Federal tax.

The change is retroactive to last Jan. 1. The seven provinces that signed tax agreements with the Dominion have undertaken not to levy succession duties for a period of five years so, in those provinces, estates of less than $50,000 will be relieved entirely of what is generally called "death duties."

In Ontario the provincial succession duties start at $25,000 and in Quebec at $10,000. These may continue, as the two central provinces have signed no agreement with Ottawa.

The old act provided that bequests to charity, deductible from the duties, could not exceed 50 per cent of the entire estate. Under the new act this limitation is removed.

It is estimated that the increased exemption will mean a loss of revenue to the Dominion of $5,000,000 a year.

which was formed, with parliamentary permission, in 1859 after the Crimean War by a Captain Walton and eight one-armed veterans. It now has units, controlled by voluntary boards, in all principal Canadian cities and provides work for 5,000 older veterans, but it is hoped to increase this figure to 10,000.

Examples of positions now filled by commissioners are: Receptionists, guides, guards, doormen, watchmen, special police, store detectives, chauffeurs, bank messengers, elevator operators, stewards, janitors and hall porters.

Huron Synod Rejects Raise In Payments

LONDON, Ont., May 19.—(CP)—The Church of England Synod of Huron declined today to increase payments to church funds by nine per cent until other dioceses raised their contributions accordingly.

Each diocese across the country pays a certain amount annually to the Missionary Society, the Canadian Board of Religious Education, and the Council of Social Service.

Huron diocese last year rejected a proposal its share should be higher and recommended the General Synod of Canada study the matter for all dioceses.

The Huron synod reaffirmed its position, although it approved a grant of $2,000 to a fund to assure an increase in missionary stipends.

Last year Miss Dolph celebrated her 100th birthday with a double slide.

Bishop Raps Results Of Liquor Sales

TORONTO, May 19.—(CP).—Rt. Rev. A. R. Beverley, Church of England bishop of Toronto, said Tuesday revenue from increased consumption of alcoholic beverages could not begin to compensate for the "baleful effects of intemperance, drunkenness and the disastrous physical and normal consequences that accompany them."

Speaking before the annual meeting of the Toronto Diocesan Synod, Bishop Beverley said the church depended on law makers and administrators to promote temperance and to ensure decency in community life.

The evils of unemployment, inadequate housing conditions, intemperance and poverty "if unchecked tend to undermine the foundations of our national life and are breeders of revolutions and war."

He commended the Ontario Government for introduction of religious education in regular school curriculums.

"It is noteworthy that whereas in 1943 there were 852 clergymen giving instruction in public schools, in 1947 the number rose to 1,044. The results of religious instruction in public schools is already becoming apparent."

St. Joseph's Nursing Class Graduates Under New Roof

Nine graduates of the School of Nursing of St. Joseph's Hospital received diplomas and medals during commencement exercises Tuesday afternoon. The presentations were made by His Excellency Most Reverend G. Berry, D.D., with a message of greeting and inspiration. "I trust you will be worthy of the splendid school that has trained you, and of the city in which it is located," he said. "All those who have helped to train you have pride in your success and hope to see you go far. Nursing cannot be learned from books alone. The knowledge must be gained under enlightened supervision with minds and hearts busy." Paying tribute to the senior nurses of religious dedication, the Bishop pointed out that the graduates have not only had the benefit of their experience in nursing, but have had an opportunity to live with them and know that their aim is to nurse the sick who represent Christ to them. "Service to man as man and as a Christ to you are two entirely different levels."

Graduates of 1948, first class to receive this honor in the auditorium of the new nurses' residence, were: Miss Gloria M. Culotta, Toronto; Miss Helen K. Fraser, Toronto; Miss Evelyn C. Lahey, Madoc; Miss Agnes Lambert, Toronto; Miss Patricia M. McDermott, Toronto; Miss Elizabeth M. McDonald, Kirkfield; Miss Ann T. Wilkins, Peterborough; Miss June B. Moore, Peterborough; Miss Jean F. Johnston, Marmora.

Gifts to each graduate from Rev. Mother Anita were presented by Mrs. P. D. Scollard, convener of nurse-in-training in the Hospital Women's Auxiliary. The president, Mrs. J. V. Gallivan presented the Auxiliary's ward for the highest standing in theory to Miss June Moore. Scholarship award for general proficiency amounting to $500 for one year post graduate work at university, donated by the Hospital Medical Staff, was won by Miss Jean Johnston and presented to her by the chairman, Dr. J. Ralph Clark. A gold medal for bedside nursing given by Dr. R. J. Young was won by Miss Elizabeth McDonald, and the award for medical nursing from a "friend" went to Miss Ann Wilkins.

Dr. Reverend F. J. O'Sullivan, D.P., made the presentation of Beneficendi medals. Three of these awards are given each year and if earned for three consecutive years will have the owner's name engraved on them. Nurses of the graduating class to receive these medals this year were Misses Jean Johnston, Evelyn Lahey and Elizabeth McDonald. Second year students so honored were Misses Irene Dickie, Teresa Lucas and Maureen O'Connor, and first year students were Misses Geraldine Crough, Teresa Garvey and Rosemary O'Hara.

An award for bedside nursing from the Mother Superior went to Miss Josephine Duggan of the Intermediates. A similar prize from the sisters of St. Joseph's Hospital went to Miss Eleanor Sharp of the Juniors. These were presented, on behalf of the donors, by Dr. Clark.

An exceptionally fine valedictory address was given by Miss Jean Johnston. She spoke of bright days which follow dark days and the dawn of the future now breaking on life's hilltop. "We will maintain the standards of our profession, practice the principles of unselfish ministrations, and try to use every opportunity to say a word that brings comfort and encouragement to those in need."

Though science has made great strides in perfecting systems for correct diagnosis, Miss Johnston and her fellow nurses know that oftentimes causes of bodily illness lie in the mind and a soft touch and kind word go a long way toward a cure. The confidence of our patients has sent us speeding up life's hill with courage to try again," she said.

Gratitude for aid in reaching the peak of their dreams was expressed by the valedictorian, on behalf of the class, to their parents, spiritual directors, doctors, members of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and especially to the Sisters of St. Joseph who were tireless in their effort to develop strong characters as well as good nurses.

Dr. E. P. Snider of the Gage Institute, Toronto, was the guest speaker on this occasion. He complimented the graduates on choosing nursing as their profession.

phase of life and the beginning of the next. "You are going out into a troubled, materialistic world full of great responsibilities and possibilities, without benefit of supervision. Possibly never before have we had so many material advantages, but all over the world we can see them fail to bring happiness without the inner peace from knowledge of life well spent and a job well done."

"Woman is most truly herself when most utterly forgetful of self," the speaker quoted. This is what makes woman the centre of the home and the nurse the centre of humanity. Nurses are engrossed in maintaining their standards to make the headlines, except in rare cases, but their worth is nevertheless recognized. However, knowledge that she has done a service for humanity is not enough, he pointed out. She has every right to expect adequate payment and to strive for improved working conditions that will give her a chance to make social and cultural contacts outside her work. "One engaged in such a high profession cannot stoop without great loss to herself and even greater loss to those she serves. If she gives her best to those in her care, no remuneration can ever repay her."

For Thursday, May 20

A sudden and quite unforeseen twirl of the Wheel of Fortune, a brilliant coup or flash of genius, could have power to make a sensational change in current events, delivering static or menaced situations from dire calamity and distress. But quick action is vital to the issue, even though it demands a complete about-face in plans, programs, associates and scene of action. Concentrated creative work could recoup lagging ambitions, and to an adventurous and romantic climax. Fast work tells.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are advised to be ready for keen, alert, initiative and firm grasp of affairs, when some surprising swing in the affairs is destined to swerve into new channels of high adventure, romance and possibly spectacular achievement, probably following in the wake of some devastating experience. Ready action, preparation for drastic change, new fields and affiliations, could have a radical and far-reaching effect on the life, its fortunes, achievements and dramatic fulfillments. Creative and fast work are the open sesame to thrilling climax, involving all phases of life.

A child born on this day will have special equipment for a thrilling, adventurous and romantic life, with high adventure and daughters, and that the main reason that girls don't listen to their mothers' advice is that mothers' can never say a thing once and let it go at that. They keep on harping on the same string until they get on their children's nerves, and that makes them stubborn and feel as if they would rather die than give in.

But in your case, my dear, I think your mother is right in advising you not to give up all the boys and devote yourself exclusively to this boy when you are not even engaged to him and it will be years and years before he could marry you. After a while you may tire of him, or he may tire of you. You may outgrow him, or he may outgrow you. Or he may go away to seek his fortune, and where will you be then if you have let him monopolize you?

Dismal Future

You will be left forlorn and stranded and it will be pretty hard to get back into the old circle with the old boys. I think a girl just naturally lacking in good, hard, horse sense who gives up going with other men until her wedding day is in sight.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am to be married in three months to a girl who is everything I have always hoped to find in a wife, but she has me puzzled about one thing. She has not lived with her parents for four years and she only visits them once a year and never speaks of them, and when I tell her that we will drive up some Sunday to see them, she always makes the answer: "They will not be at home," or "Mother is not able to see people," or something like that.

She also tells me that her family will not attend our wedding. Why do you suppose she refuses to let me meet her parents? Shall I go ahead with the wedding, or not?

PUZZLED

ANSWER: There certainly must be something about the girl or her family that she does not wish you to know, because it is most unnatural for a woman not to want to show off her fiancé to her family and friends.

I am a great believer in heredity, and I think a man in your position is very foolish not to make some investigation as to her character and as to what sort of stock she comes from.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young woman of 32. I have never married because my parents died and my two younger brothers were left in my care and I have spent my time taking care of them. Now that they are grown and on their own I am free and I would like to marry. It seems, however, that I am a little late. All the eligible bachelors I meet are too young for me.

My problem is this: Would you consider it degrading to seek the aid of a Lonely Hearts' Club? My brothers vow if I do such a thing they will never speak to me again. They say I am still young enough to snare a man in the traditional manner, but I am tired of waiting. What should I do?

WORRIED SISTER

ANSWER: Forget the Lonely Hearts' Club. No man who would be fit to marry a girl in your position would seek a wife in that way.

At 32 you are but no means on the shelf. You are just at an age to appeal to some middle-aged widower or bachelor who is on the lookout for a wife who will make him a good home. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Home and School Association News

BRIDGENORTH SCHOOL

Last meeting until fall of Bridgenorth Home and School Association was held Tuesday evening with a large attendance of members and friends. Guest speaker for the occasion was Mr. W. Graff of the Peterborough Public Library who showed two interesting films to illustrate his subject, "The Books and the Child." Mr. and Mrs. T. Seidel favored with vocal duets of lovely Austrian folk-songs. Students of the school sang appropriate songs commemorating Empire Day.

A well-written history of the Association, since organization in February, was read by the historian, Mrs. J. Johnson. Announcement was made of the forthcoming field day for pupils, parents and pre-school children to be held in June.

A social hour followed the meeting with Mrs. A. Connors and her committee in charge.

MARMORA SEPARATE SCHOOL

The May meeting of the Separate School and Home Association was held in Sacred Heart School on Monday with a small attendance. Mrs. H. A. McNally presided and the meeting was opened by Rev. H. J. Farrell.

A letter from Mrs. Charles Brady was read, tendering her resignation as secretary. As there will be no summer meetings of the organization it was decided to delay the appointment of a new secretary until September. A committee was appointed for sports with Joseph O'Neill as chairman.

Mrs. James Black read a paper on "Manners in the pre-school child." She also spoke about "Mothers" and read a short poem entitled "Passport." Mr. Joseph O'Neill gave an interesting talk on the "Separate School Act."

Rev. H. J. Farrell spoke of his anticipated trip to Ireland in the near future, and gave advice on general matters pertaining to the church and school. He asked the Home and School Association to work with the Holy Name Society for the school picnic to be held on June 20 at Crowe Lake. It was decided to notify the members personally by cards of each meeting.

THREE SLIPS ON A DEAL
ANY PLAYER has frequently made a wrong bid, no matter how good he is. In fact, we can all recall, if we try, plenty of times when we have made two wrong ones on the same deal. But the number of possible errors in bid-nerable game; if stronger by just a bit, he could have counted on the likelihood of his side scoring because of his opening.

However, having opened for the purpose of chiseling some kind of score, he should have passed when he heard South's 2-Club response. The latter, with

And North passed that—his third error on the deal. He bid twice when he should not have and failed to bid once when he should have.

It was rubber bridge, and as several kibitzers pointed out later, North's hand was hardly strong enough for a sound third-hand shaded opening bid, nor weak enough for a psychic. If weaker, he could have been sure he was defending against a vulnerable game; if stronger by just a bit, he could have counted on the likelihood of his side scoring because of his opening.

Prepare To Discuss Flood Channel Plan

OTTAWA, May 19 — (CP) — Plans for a $2,000,000 flood-control channel from the South Nation River near Spencerville to the St. Lawrence River will be discussed Friday when 28 municipalities meet here, it was learned today.

A member of the South Nation conservation committee, Reeve Alexander Roger of adjoining Gloucester Township, said the representatives will hear a report on the St. Lawrence River "cut-back" as a remedy for the spring floods throughout the valley.

The South Nation conservation committee had been set up a year ago under provincial legislation following disastrous floods throughout the river area.

Emergency Declared In Israel

Will Begin Organizing Hagana Troops As Regular Army

TEL AVIV, May 20 — (AP). — Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion has decreed a state of emergency in Israel. The decree was read by Ben-Gurion at Wednesday night's session of the Provisional Parliament. It empowers each Minister in the new state to order emergency regulations necessary for Israel's security. Parliament also authorized the government to organize land, air and sea forces, thus creating a legal base for transforming Hagana, the Jewish militia, into the official regular army.

Egyptian planes bombed Tel Aviv this morning for the sixth straight day. Two persons were injured.

Mayor Israel Rokach asked the United States, Russia and the United Nations to stop Egypt from bombing the city.

In one of Wednesday's attacks planes bombed the city with explosives heavier than the 50-pound missiles used the previous day.

(The Egyptian defence ministry in Cairo said planes bombed docks, depots and the Tel Aviv airport.)

Jewish sources reported in Haifa that Samakn, at the base of the Sea of Galilee, is partly in Jewish hands again following a strong counter-attack Wednesday night by Hagana militiamen.

On Tuesday the Syrian army said it had occupied the town, less than five miles from the Syrian border inside Palestine.

Rush In Supplies
Jewish military headquarters said the army of Israel's thrust through the Arab-held zone into the old city of Jerusalem had raised the months-long siege of the 1,700 Jews there and that food and medical supplies were rushed in.

Ottawa Won't Take On Code Enforcement

OTTAWA, May 20 — (CP). — The Commons industrial relations committee today refused to endorse a proposal that the government be made responsible for legal enforcement of its new labor code.

The issue of alleged Communist domination of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC) was injected into the debate.

The code, now being prepared for third reading in the Commons, puts upon disputants the onus of prosecuting for violations of the measure.

Clarie Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) urged that the code be rewritten to make the labor courts more effective through the proposed Canada labor relations board, responsible for its enforcement.

Chiang Becomes President Pledges State Allegiance

NANKING, May 2 — (AP). — Chiang Kai-Shek became China's first constitutional President today, and he called it a "turning point" in the history of this ancient land.

Wearing a Chinese gown, the 59-year-old political and military leader was installed before an audience of some 3,000 in the Great Hall of the National Assembly.

Sworn in at the same time was Gen. Li Tsung-jen, Vice-President, elected for his outspoken demands for governmental reform.

Li's election climaxed a bitter, prolonged fight in the National Assembly in opposition to the Kuomintang, the governing party.

Chiang, who has guided China's destiny in one capacity or another for the last 20 years, pledged "complete allegiance" to the new constitution under which National Assembly and Legislative Yuan were chosen. Chiang and Li then were elected by the National Assembly.

Canada's Prime Minister Mackenzie King sent greetings from Ottawa to the new President.

"This," said Chiang in his inaugural address, "is a turning-point in the history of our nation. For the personal and political, or rather, the political and personal, no longer enter into my consideration."

"My only wish is to serve the State and my people."

The Generalissimo warned that China's Civil War "is a war between democracy and totalitarianism"—and not political friction. It is a struggle "between those who wish China to continue as an independent nation and those who seek to subvert her."

The government's main task "is to purge itself of corrupt officials."

Unlikely UN Pass Palestine Sanctions

Cease-Fire Order Likely To Be Reduced From Order To Request

LAKE SUCCESS, May 20 — (CP)—The odds today were overwhelmingly against passage of a United Nations resolution in the United Nations for forceful action to stop war in Palestine.

Britain, China, Belgium and Syria are openly opposed to the American cease-fire proposal which could provide for economic sanctions and use of U.N. force against Arabs and Jews if they disobey.

The resolution comes before the security council again today with only Russia and the Soviet Ukraine openly backing the United States.

With Canada, France and

Argentina yet to express their opinions, there were grave doubts that the United States could muster the seven votes necessary for the proposal to pass the 11-country council.

More likely was acceptance of an amendment proposed Wednesday by Britain. It would reduce the cease-fire order to a request, taking from the American plan all threat of imposing economic sanctions or using military force to obtain peace.

The Security Council already has sent out three cease-fire orders which were ignored by Arabs and Jews.

This fact was emphasized Wednesday by American Delegate Warren B. Austin who rejected Britain's amendment, denouncing it as an evasion of the council's duty under the charter.

But China and Belgium supported the opposition taken by Sir Alexander Cadogan of Britain. Sir Alexander said his government could not agree to use of sanctions or force, especially since the U.N. does not now have an armed force.

With definite rejection of the American plan, the Security Council will be back where it was more than a month ago—issuing unheeded calls to Arabs and Jews to lay down their arms.

Ask Reds Drop Civil War

SCARBOROUGH, Yorks., England, May 20 — (CP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin said today the Communist countries of eastern Europe are fostering the civil war in Greece, and appealed to them to stop it. Without mentioning Russia in this connection, he told the Labor Party's annual conference that "one lift of a finger from a place you know would stop it tonight."

"Civil war as an instrument for foreign policy of any outside power is a dastardly thing to do," he said. "I appeal to them to stop it."

Bevin opposed "any steps to carry on aggressive war against Soviet Russia or any other country." He spoke for 50 minutes without a mention of the Middle East situation.

The party, brushing aside recent left-wing Labor attacks, adopted by a 17-1 ratio a resolution approving the Government's domestic and foreign policies.

"I do not believe war is inevitable," Bevin told the party.

He asked the Soviet Union to halt the war of nerves.

"The danger of where a war is likely to arise is the war of nerves, which the Russians can stop," he said.

Bevin recalled the recent air-raid incident in Berlin where a British transport and Russian fighter collided, the killing of a British officer on the Yugoslav frontier and the embargo on allied shipping into Berlin.

"If we had not been very, very cool, trouble might have ensued" after the airplane incident, in which 15 persons were killed, Bevin said.

He repeated his call for an early peace conference of all countries which fought in the Pacific war to solve the "vexed problem of Japan."

A treaty for Japan would open the way for a settlement of all other Oriental problems.

State Secretary Marshall's project of financial help for Europe probably rescued Britain from having to ask another United States loan.

If Britain had declined the aid offer "we would have been guilty of one of the greatest crimes against our own people if we had fallen down under threats of Mr. Molotov—of what he would say to us and France if we dared to go on. I will submit to no threats from any one."

Find Mother Dead On Path To Store
The body of 68-year-old Mrs. E. Williams of Toronto and Gilchrist Bay was found Wednesday afternoon by her son. Visiting his parents at their home at Gilchrist Bay, Reginald Williams, Toronto, was told by his father that Mrs. Williams had gone to the store across the fields and roads. Deciding to go to meet her, the son started to walk along the middle of the road. Death is estimated to have happened about three o'clock. She was found at five o'clock.

Cause of her death was given as a heart attack. A pensioner, Mr. Williams had lived at Gilchrist Bay with his wife for the past three years.

The body was taken to Tedford Funeral Home, Lakefield, for funeral arrangements.

2nd Union Man To Be Deported
TORONTO, May 20 — (CP). — Another official of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO) is scheduled to face deportation proceedings here today.

He is George Knott, an organizer for the union, who was taken into custody in Sudbury yesterday and put aboard a Toronto-bound train last night.

A high government official in Ottawa said the deportation of Knott, companion organizer to Reid Robinson, can be expected within a few days. The official said the action against him was in line with government policy to rid Canadian Labor unions of alien Communists.

The government official said unless Knott appeals to courts and thereby delays deportation action, he will be escorted across the border within the next few days and dropped off, probably at Buffalo, N.Y.

Protests against Knott's arrest came last night from R. H. Carlin of Sudbury, Canadian director of the union, and from the union's Sudbury and Port Colborne locals.

BANCROFT, May 20 — (ENS). — Allan Aude, two-year-old son of Day Aude of Hartsmere, 30 miles east of here, was bitten and severely mauled by a dog Wednesday afternoon. The dog, owned by the boy's uncle, James Aude, has been ordered locked up for observation for 10 days.

The boy was taken to Bancroft where he received treatment from Dr. O. W. Anderson, who permitted him to be taken home later. The doctor was the person who instructed the dog to be confined until further investigation.

Canada Submits Her Views On German Government
OTTAWA, May 20 — (CP). — Without jeopardizing her right to a voice in any formal peace conference, Canada has submitted views on the establishment of a government for western Germany, the two-thirds of the conquered Reich outside Russian control.

Lester B. Pearson, under-secretary for external affairs, said yesterday the Dominion presented her views in memoranda to the working committees that are moving toward establishment of a degree of German autonomy.

He told the Commons committee on external affairs that the memos are being considered by representatives of Britain, the United States, France and the Benelux countries. Canada's views had been invited and had been forwarded.

These representatives would report back to their respective governments, which would decide finally what sort of limitations the German government should have. Mr. Pearson forecast a "government would be established before long."

In words that recalled Canadian resentment over exclusion from the four-power east-west conference which failed to sign a peace treaty, the under-secretary emphasized that Canada still holds her right to a voice in any treaty conference at government level. The memos simply represented a desire to keep the countries informed and to show "that we are still interested."

Their tone adhered to policy outlined last year by Prime Minister Mackenzie King: namely that there should be a federal constitution with emphasis on powers of the member states; and that the western Germany should be strong enough to prevent permanent depression yet weak enough to forestall militant revival.

Mr. Pearson now is building up his headquarters in Paris. An official says the Pierce appointment was not permanent. Mr. Pierce now is in Ottawa.

RCAF Fighter Pilot Lived Only For Combat Anxious To Sign Up In Jewish Cause To Get More Action

ROME, May 20 — (CP). — A Canadian flier identified by Jewish refugee circles as George (Buzz) Beurling of Montreal, Canada's No. 1 fighter ace of the Second World War, was killed today in a plane crash at Urbe Airfield. The plane, one of three en route to aid the Jewish cause in Palestine, crashed and burned during a trial flight around the airfield.

Rome police confirmed that the name of the dead pilot was George Beurling. The 26-year-old Montreal ace compiled a record of 31 enemy planes shot down in the Second World War while fighting with the RAF and the RCAF.

Also killed in the flaming crash of the light two-engine plane was a British test pilot.

Beurling, who flashed to fame through hostile wartime skies and who asked little of life but action and adventure, was known to have been on his way to the Middle East to take part in the present fighting between Jews and Arabs for control of Palestine.

(In Montreal, Beurling's father expressed belief that there was little doubt that his son had died. "My son told me some time ago that he was heading that way (to Palestine)," said Fred Beurling.)

The other man killed in the crash was Leonard J. Cohen, who carried a British passport and flying license.

The plane, a Norseman type built in Canada as a light transport, had a United States registry number. It arrived at Urbe field from the United Kingdom two days ago with two other planes being ferried to Palestine for use as ambulance aircraft.

Trip For "Fun"
G. M. Schuller, Swiss newspaper man, who witnessed the crash, said he talked with Beurling before the flight. He said Beurling was not Jewish and had told him that he was flying to Palestine "for fun" before going next week to Switzerland for a vacation.

The two other planes with which the Norseman flew from Britain landed safely and took off after refuelling.

Place Record On Housing Before House

Howe Flatly Rejects CCF Proposal To Subsidize Homes

OTTAWA, May 20 (CP)—The government's record on housing, including expenditures of $235,000,000 since 1942 and another $75,000,000 this year, was placed before the Commons yesterday by Trade Minister Howe.

He flatly rejected a C.C.F. proposal that the Dominion embark on a program of subsidized housing and said this assistance would result in no more houses being built than at present. The main difficulty of subsidized housing was that of allocation.

Mr. Howe spoke on a C.C.F. amendment calling upon the government to consider a subsidized, low-rental housing scheme. The amendment, to a bill setting up a rental-insurance plan for builders, will be dealt with later. It was moved by A. M. Nicholson (CCF—Mackenzie).

The Progressive Conservative party withheld support from the C.C.F. motion and moved one of its own, only to have it later ruled out of order on procedural grounds. Introduced by Harold Timmins (PC—Toronto Parkdale), it sought Dominion-provincial-municipal co-operation in setting up local housing authorities to provide low-rental homes and undertake slum clearance.

Must Have Some Say

Mr. Howe said there be no close co-operation with the provinces and the municipalities as long as they ask the Dominion to supply most of the money, with no strings attached. The Dominion should have some say in how public money was spent.

Mr. Howe observed that the C.C.F. has talked much about subsidized housing but said it has done little in Saskatchewan, where a C.C.F. government is in power, to show how the subsidies

In contrast to the below normal temperatures which were prevalent throughout Ontario yesterday, Winnipeg reported the hottest May 19 on record, when the temperature soared to 83 degrees. This very warm air is now flooding over Ontario, but at levels high above the ground. As a result, skies which were clear in most sections during the night became overcast shortly after daybreak. Showers and thunderstorms have occurred in sections of the White River and James Bay regions, but they are not expected to push much further southward. Friday should be bright and warmer in most sections.

Forecast: Lake Huron, Lake Ontario, and Niagara regions—Overcast and a little warmer today, clear and warmer Friday.
Summary for Friday: Clear and warmer.
Georgian Bay and Haliburton regions—Overcast with scattered showers today, Friday clear and warmer. Winds light today.

Would Work

Allocation was the big question. Houses built by Crown-owned Wartime Housing Limited were allocated to veterans, on the basis of years of overseas service and number of children. This worked well with veterans but there was no similar yardstick for civilians. He conceded that establishment of local housing authorities under Dominion, provincial and municipal authority might lead to the construction of more homes. But if the Dominion was expected to make most of the investment, it should control the expenditures.

Mr. J. Caldwell, C.C.F. leader, said the government's legislation is "entirely inadequate" and will not meet the needs of the people for more accommodation. Thousands across the country were living in homes "unfit" for Canadians and in conditions that led to juvenile delinquency.

John Blackmore (SC—Lethbridge), urging the government to initiate subsidized housing, said it is the job of the administration or has the opportunity to own, his own home. The government should lend interest-free money for home construction.

CCF Prepared To Lift Amusement Tax

TORONTO, May 20.—(CP)—E. B. Jolliffe said Wednesday night that if a CCF government is elected in Ontario June 7 one of its first acts will be repealing of the province's 20-per-cent tax on amusements which became effective yesterday.

In other election campaign speeches, Premier Drew at Parry Sound explained his government's liquor policy and at Fort Frances Liberal leader Oliver dealt with his party's pledges to help farmers.

The CCF party leader spoke in his own riding of South York near Toronto after a swing into Northern Ontario. He called in position by Ontario of the amusement tax which the Federal government has just lifted "totally unjustifiable" in light of the Provincial government's $25,000,000 budget surplus.

Revenue the province receives from the amusement tax is to be used for hospital purposes. Mr. Jolliffe said a CCF government would provide for hospital needs from the province's consolidated revenue fund — "not from the pockets of working people."

Premier Drew declares his government has greatly advanced the cause of temperance in Ontario under workable and practicable liquor laws.

Careful Study

He said careful study has been given before any legislation regarding liquor was passed. In the three sessions since that legislation, which provided for operation of cocktail lounges in the province's five largest cities, the opposition in the legislature had proposed only one amendment. The amendment was sponsored by the Labor-Progressive party and opposed by both Liberals and C.C.F. as well as the government.

Mr. Drew criticized Rev. Hugh Dobson of Vancouver, United Church secretary of evangelism and social service, who was quoted as saying in Vancouver that when the conference of provincial liquor commissioners was held at Winnipeg the Drew government would support free advertising of liquor. The clergyman also was quoted as saying he Ontario government was trying to flood all Canada with liquor.

The premier said the purpose of the Winnipeg conference was "consistent in every way with the stated policy of this government to limit advertising of liquor in any way it can be done." He asserted the Dobson statement about flooding Canada with liquor was "an unqualified falsehood."

Farm Program

Mr. Oliver said his party had "a very definite program" to help the farmers. If elected, it would set up a conservation board to analyze soil and check erosion. It would make loans to farmers, providing up to 80 per cent of the capital investment to a young man vouched for by his neighbors.

"Young people are leaving the farms, but if the opportunities and financial backing are there they will remain."

He outlined the Liberal platform which included pledges of co-operation with the Federal government; increasing the basic old age pension from $30 a month to $40; taking Hydro out of politics; proceeding with Hydro developments already started and removal of the three-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax.

Cripps Plans Visit

LONDON, May 20.—(Reuters)—A treasury spokesman disclosed Wednesday night that Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, hopes to visit Ottawa. The spokesman described as "pre-mature and incorrect" reports that Sir Stafford would visit Canada this month, but said it was hoped that the visit could be arranged for later in the year.

Murray St. CGIT Holds First Banquet for Mothers

First mother and daughter banquet sponsored by Murray St. Baptist Church CGIT Group, held Wednesday evening, was a most delightful affair that showed careful planning toward a memorable evening for the honored guests. Tables were most attractively laid with novelty place cards and daintily decorated programs in pastel colors at each place. Cherry blossoms and daffodils centred the head table with pink tapers on either side.

A sumptuous meal featuring roast turkey was served by ladies of the young married couples group.

Mrs. D. Bruce Gordon, who is celebrating her silver anniversary in CGIT work this week, told the girls some interesting experiences during 25 years as a member and leader. Speaking of the first mother and daughter banquet which she attended in 1923, she explained that these events teach the girls a sense of co-operation, responsibility and the value of planning. She also urged members of the CGIT to suitably school to do their part in drawing girls of their own age into the groups through their enthusiasm for the work. A survey has shown that only 600 girls of this city are touched by mid-week church interests which is an astonishingly small number for the population.

"Mothers are directors of so much of the future thinking in this world that it is frightening," said Mrs. Gordon. "We must strive to call out the best in our daughters and try to obtain the best teaching facilities and environment for them. We must also teach them faith in themselves."

She continued with the suggestion that CGIT camp is one of the finest places for girls to spend part of the summer holidays. Camp leaders are chosen for their special knowledge and they give splendid guidance with planned programs of recreation and study.

Chief value of camp, life is that girls do things together from dawn to dusk and all have the same privileges under an over-all Christian fellowship. It is not the place or the program followed that means so much to the girls, but it is what happens to campers and what they take home in their minds that is of value, she said. "Parents do well to give their children every opportunity for good Christian living, and Canadian girls in training offers a great deal for girls."

Highlight of the evening came when Miss Jean Mailing announced that Miss Jean Mailing will leave the city this week. As a member of the Intermediate Sunday school class, Miss Marilyn Jones expressed deep regret at the loss of their teacher, and Miss Irene Kelly voiced the sorrow of CGIT girls in losing their beloved leader. A parting gift to Miss Mailing was presented by Misses Marilyn Hardwicke and Elaine Osborne.

A toast to the church was proposed by Miss Patricia Weston and the reply given by Mrs. I. C. Mailing.

man so schooled in the wild, tingling sounds and sights and smells of war that he could not shake the burning desire for more. He gave in to it — indeed, he never really fought against it — and went to his death.

But Buzz Beurling's friends will say his death was pretty well the kind he would have chosen. Flying was his life; flying seemed destined to be his death.

Was Perfectionist
There was more to Beurling, however, than just sheer youthful drive and exuberance. He was a perfectionist.

Known as "Buzz" and "Screwball" to his R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. buddies, Beurling was awarded the D.S.O., D.F.C., D.F.M. and Bar for his heroic work.

In the defence of Malta, he flew with the R.A.F.'s highest-scoring Spitfire Squadron led by Sgt. Ldr. Timber Woods of Vancouver, B.C. During the summer of 1942, when Malta was putting up a valiant defence against the enemy, the famous squadron was so heavily manned by Canadians that its few British pilots were nicknamed "the few Englishmen."

The final wartime official compilation showed that Beurling ranked fourth as "Ace of Aces" among the Allied fighter pilots who fought over Europe. Ahead of him were the names of such fliers as J. E. (Johnny) Johnson of Britain, No. 1 Allied ace with 28 planes to his credit; and A. G. (Saulor) Malan of South Africa and Paddy Finucane, each with 32.

The cool-eyed blond Beurling was an unorthodox type from the start and was described by persons who didn't understand him as a "show-off."

This "show-off," though, had read flying exploits and aerial tactics when his schoolmates were reading boyish adventure tales.

When he did get into the air, he had confidence in the knowledge of his perfection as pilot and marksman. He never had any doubts about the ability of Buzz Beurling.

Morgan. She said "girls who want to grow and increase in wisdom and favor with God come to study and worship in this building and meet others who are following the Christian way of life." A tribute to mothers was read by Miss Alice Pilling and Mrs. O. J. Hayward replied to the toast, Miss Mildred Hayward then sang the well-known words of "Mother" with piano accompaniment by her mother. Miss Joan Nalsh contributed a delightful piano solo, "Barcarolle."

E. A. Adams, 445 Albert St., was fined for charges listing canned tomatoes, peaches, orange juice, fresh oranges, grapefruit, carrots, soap, soap flakes. Anthony DeNoble, 141 Sophia St., pleaded guilty to the WPTB charges on prices of canned green beans, tomatoes, grapefruit juice, orange and grapefruit juice, fresh oranges and grapefruit, soap flakes.

MORE ABOUT— Andy Clarke

duced with the co-operation of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, Andy Clarke found his element. Free of pressure, he developed a chatty style which seemed to make him one with his listeners. He received the largest consistent mail of any CBC broadcaster and not one letter in 50 was critical.

Probably no news analyst on the continent put so much time into the preparation of a 15-minute broadcast. He always worked at night, a habit developed during his newspaper days, and spent the first three nights of the week puffing at his pipe as he rifled through 250 weekly papers published in English in Ontario and Quebec.

By the time he had scissored the 50 or so most interesting items he had decided on the angles he would work into the next Sunday broadcast. It took him two more nights to wrap up his broadcast in readiness for his 14 minutes at the microphone.

By that time he had a roomful of crumpled newspapers and an average of 30 items, including perhaps a homey poem or a timely editorial, plus perhaps 15 names for what he called his over-nifty birthday club. Andy would never miss clicking one of the weeklies for fear he might slight a nonagenarian who had just had a birthday. An ardent fisherman, he liked to report the success of fellow devotees.

When his "neighborly news" was started in 1940 it was an unexpected success and the CBC soon set up special programs in the Maritimes, the Prairies and British Columbia.

Occupy Beersheba

CAIRO, May 20.—(AP)—The defence ministry said today Egyptian troops have occupied the Arab town of Beersheba in Southern Palestine.

A ministry communique said also the troops have captured the fortified Jewish settlement of Deir Suneid guarding the road toward Tel Aviv.

Beersheba is in the interior about 40 miles southwest of Jerusalem. It is in territory earmarked for the Arabs in the United Nations partition plan, just outside a Jewish-claimed area. Deir Suneid, is in the coastal belt seven miles north of Gaza. It also is in territory assigned to the Arabs. It is 15 miles south of the Jewish-claimed part of the coastal plain and about 28 miles south of Tel Aviv.

said previous examination "gave the appearance of a quantity of radioactive minerals."

It was too early to estimate the extent of the field and the exact nature of the deposits. Many surveys had been carried out in the past but they were aimed at exploration of lignite deposits — the so-called "brown coal" of the region — a few miles to the north of Pitt township.

133 Claims Filed

The mines department credited veteran prospectors Alex Mosher and Fred Austin with the discovery which may touch off a mineral-seeking rush into the Muskeg country.

So far, 133 claims have been filed. Staking started in the western half of Pitt close to the O.N.R. North Bay-Mosson line.

Mr. Frost said the Ontario government intends to do all in its power to promote the search for sources of radioactive minerals. He said the tract of land opened for staking in the James Bay basin involves more than 1,000 square miles of territory. Certain reservations will be made in the case of the lignite deposits in the Onkawana area, on which the province carried out development work until a year ago.

The find is within easy reach of the O.N.R. Steel, requiring perhaps a spur line of a mile or two. The nearest Hydro-electric power source is in the rugged Abitibi canyon, a scant 15 miles away. Discovery of the mineralized section, said to be five feet wide and 30 feet long, was termed last night one of the best-kept secrets of modern Ontario mining history.

TORONTO, May 20.—(CP).—An official of the Salvation Army hostel has identified the body taken from the Don River in suburban East York Monday as Edward Johnstone, about 40 years, a resident at the hostel.

The body was found in the river about 200 feet west of the Canadian Pacific Railway bridge, near the place where the body of Leo Robb, 62, was discovered May 8.

The two close friends were believed to have been together when Robb was killed by a train on the bridge. It is now thought that both were struck at the same time, and fell into the river.

Merchants Ask For Revision Town Bylaws

COBOURG, May 20. (ENS).—Revision of the present licensing bylaws was urged at a meeting of the retail merchants division of Cobourg Chamber of Commerce. Mayor Joseph Smith told the merchants that three members of the town council would sit in with three representatives of the retail merchants to discuss and revise the existing bylaws. He pointed out that the transient traders' license fee had been reduced from $250 to $100, some years ago, and that this type of license was permanent, once purchased. Accordingly H. O. Taylor, C. A. Chidley and Eldon McFadyen were appointed a committee to meet with the three members of the council in this connection.

It was recommended that any merchant in town who desired to be in the plate glass plan, should pay an enrolling fee of $1.00. The meeting turned down a proposal that the merchant should also be a member of the chamber of commerce. When a store window is broken each merchant contributes on a basis of his own glass area and this form of plate glass insurance covers the cost of all damage.

Allan Fisher was appointed chairman of membership with power to add to his committee for the purpose of increasing the membership of the retail merchants division.

Mayor Joseph Smith pointed out that in the aggregate, the local merchants represented a sizeable industry with large payrolls and with a large amount of money invested in their businesses. It was accordingly proposed that a questionnaire be sent to all merchants for the purpose of obtaining this information which would

What's Your Beef Unusual Topic At WA Meeting

ROSENEATH, May 20 (ENS).—Perhaps the most interesting feature of the United Church WA meeting on Wednesday afternoon was "What's Your Beef?" It was conducted by Mrs. Earl Waldie, program convener. The members were asked to submit unsigned questions relating to the society, and many anonymous questions pertaining to: securing officers, new members, entertaining for our young folk, more interesting programs, renting of the society's dishes, were discussed briskly. The secretary was asked to file the findings for future reference.

The meeting was held in the home of Mesdames E. and C. Sandbrook; Mrs. B. Thackeray presided.

The devotions on "Witness Bearers," with Philip and Bartholomew as the subjects, were conducted by Mrs. R. C. White, developing these points: Philip's interest in his brother man; followers must be witness-bearers, and sorrow deepens capacity for joy.

An invitation was received and accepted from Fenella WMS to attend the open meeting on June 4 in Fenella United Church.

Mrs. F. Norris, treasurer, reported bazaar receipts as $127.73, and a bank balance of $378.37.

Mrs. Clark Sandbrook, sewing convener, displayed print and material for pillow cases, and displayed samples of Christmas cards.

A lucky chair prize donated by Jean Braithwaite was won by Mrs. E. Waldie. Other program numbers included: an advertising contest, and an oral contest conducted by Mrs. Ivan Thackeray. Mrs. James Thompson moved a vote of thanks to the hostesses, who served supper at the close.

Taking Small Trout Angers Association

COBOURG, May 20 — (ENS).—Game wardens are going to crack down on people who have been coming in to the country and taking away trout which are under size. Officials of the Northumberland Fish and Game Association have learned that some motorists who live outside the county have been coming in on Sundays and going out with trout that are smaller than the legal limit. Steps are being taken to check the catches and those found with fish that are under size are going to be prosecuted.

"Yes... it's easy to see why Libby's is extra-easy-to-digest"

If you could compare Libby's Baby Foods under a microscope, you would see why Libby's are extra-easy-to-digest. Even after careful straining, much of the food value of fruits and vegetables is encased in closed cells. Baby's undeveloped digestive juices have a hard time penetrating these, and baby's food is often incompletely digested, causing upsets.

But in Libby's Baby Foods these cells are exploded open by Libby's exclusive homogenization process. The nourishment is already released so baby's digestive juices can readily mix with it. Tests show that baby can digest Libby's Foods more completely in 30 minutes than foods which are strained but not homogenized in two hours.

The Budget

Since 1946 and the first time in 17 years, the Ministers of Finance have been able to announce surpluses. Therefore pre-budget blues have given way to surplus optimism. On Wednesday evening everybody knew that the country's financial statement would be rosy and despite warning to the contrary, many of them confidently expected large cuts in income taxes, indirect taxes or both. They have been disappointed. The Government has paid more attention to economic principles than to political cajolery. No major tax reliefs were forthcoming. That was, by the way, an indication—if another were needed—that there will be no Federal elections this year.

The surplus of revenue over expenditure amounted on paper to $1,181,000,000. That is not the real surplus, as we took care to explain in these columns as early as January 31st and again on February 18th, when we warned against pipe dreams about the expected surplus. Canada has made huge loans to Britain and foreign countries. Although these loans are repayable and we hope will be repaid some day, they must be considered as current expenditure. The real surplus is therefore $670,000,000. That is still very great — the largest in the country's history and greater than the entire total of a pre-war budget.

There have been large tax reductions, according to the standards of ordinary years. The abolition of the 8 per cent. sales tax on processed food at a cost to the Treasury of twenty million dollars will be important to the housewife, for if the manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers, pass the saving on to her, it will mean at least a cut of 10 per cent. in very many of the foods she buys. There have been reductions in various other taxes and tariffs. The amusement tax has been completely abolished, at a revenue loss of 23.5 million dollars, but the Ontario Government is immediately reimposing it; therefore—in Ontario—the people will get no relief there. In all, the reduction in taxes and tariffs will total $60,000,000, a not unimportant sum.

Nevertheless, in relation to the surplus, it is small. Why have there not been major concessions? Mr. Abbott explained that the international situation is so unstable that we may on short notice be called on to make vast expenditures for national defence, and should have money in hand for that. It is a reasonable argument. He reminded us that any major change which left more free spending money in the hands of the public would be inflationary. We think that there are ways to check inflation without taking the money away from us. Another matter that must be taken into account is new expenditures by the Federal Government for which money has to be found—we are thinking principally of the new five-year 150 million dollar social health plan.

The prime reason for the stern budget is one any good housewife or businessman can approve: when times are good, when there is money coming in, put away as much as possible for a rainy day. The way the Government can and has put it away is by applying it to the sky-high National Debt. In the last two years the debt has been reduced by $1,043,000,000 to $12,378,000,000. That is good business, though it is too much to hope that we can continue paying off the debt at the same rate. It must not be forgotten that Canada has recently fought a costly six-year war which has to be paid for eventually. The greater the debt, the more we have to pay in annual interest charges. This interest comes out of our pockets and helps to keep taxes up over the years. The Conservative financial critic, Mr. Macdonnell, had much adverse criticism to offer, but he approved the practice of reducing the National Debt.

It was a disappointing budget from the personal point of view, but sound business from the national.

Rampaging Albertan Oil

Two general observations may be made about the wild Leduc No. 3 oil well by persons who are not actually on the spot to see the oil bubbling freely in an area of ten acres and spreading over forty. One is that vast quantities of oil and natural gas are being lost, the other is that there are still vaster quantities available.

The wastage will not be as great as it appears (literally) on the surface. The danger of disastrous fire has passed. The fifty million cubic feet of gas escaping daily are disappearing into thin air but the eight to ten thousand barrels of oil on daily spree are not all being lost. Much of it is being trapped in an artificial oil lake and being piped from inundated surfaces to a railroad. The total loss will be large but not critical. It will not deter the men who plan to construct an 800-mile pipe line from the oil fields to provide natural gas to cities as far east as Winnipeg. The Toronto Globe and Mail notes that this project is regarded as the biggest single undertaking in the Prairies since the building of the C.P.R.

This brings us to our second general observation—the vast petroleum wealth in Alberta, almost untapped. The Leduc field, 18 miles south of Edmonton, is proving to be extremely important, extremely rich. It was only in February of last year that the Leduc No. 1 well was brought in by Imperial Oil, one of the largest drillers in the field. There are now 16 producing wells. No. 3, which is presently misbehaving, gives indication that Leduc will far surpass the Turner Valley Albertan field, which is now falling off in production.

Oil deposits in Alberta are not limited to the one corner of the province. The bituminous sands deposit at McMurray in the northern Athabasca area are reported to contain the greatest known oil reserve on the face of the earth. Estimates vary. Canadian geologists put it at 100 billion tons, the U.S. Bureau of Mines at 250 billion tons. The yield at present is about one barrel of oil per ton of sands.

Mindful of so much oil, of the delights of Calgary and the balm of the Chinooks, of the other natural and artificial resources (like Banff) some Easterners might be inclined to forget Alberta's Social Credit, and disloyally forego for a month or two the culture of Ontario, to follow the gospel of 'Go West'.

Pictures In The Bathroom

The most chaste, unadorned, flatly antiseptic room in modern houses is the bathroom. There is nothing to look at of any interest but oneself in the mirror—no pictures, just bare walls. Some people may believe that a bathroom should be solely a sanctuary for meditation and that visual pleasures should be excluded from it. We are of the opinion that this point of view is dull. A treat for the eye can be an aid to thinking, not a distraction. Further, the best place in the house for looking at pictures is the bathroom. In that room people spend more time in waking solitude than in any other. It is the only room where they can look as well as think without interruption.

We therefore suggest that paintings, prints and pleasing calendars be hung in the bathroom. It need not be overdone—a couple over the bath, one beside the shaving mirror, another in line of vision for people who are neither shaving nor bathing. We have been in the bathrooms of several fine unrepined homes where hygienic aridity (and humidity) was confronted by pictures, and really we have been quite charmed. These bathrooms were not merely utilitarian chambers devoid of pleasure. A rustic landscape on one wall, a Venus on another, a French poodle romping in the Bois de Boulogne on a third—how delightful! It is a sign of debased materialistic civilization when hostesses take guests to the bathroom merely to show off the good plumbing and shower curtains. The enlightened hostess should be sending her visitors there to inspect her latest pictorial treasures. There is little pleasure in the privacy if one can stare only at taps, tile and enamel. Private communion with Van Gogh in the bathroom can be a rare delight.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Mrs. Paul Leduc of Ottawa lays claim to being the world's youngest mother and states in a letter to the Editor of the Citizen that she is 28 and has given birth to her tenth child. So that there can be no doubt about her status she signs herself "(Mrs.) Paul Leduc".

Astronomers report that Mira sometimes changes within a month from one of the brightest stars in the heavens to a dimness far below visibility without a telescope. They should not worry so much about Mira. She has her counterpart in Hollywood stars who fade out of sight without bringing the world to an end.

The Canadian International Trade Fair

In early 1946 the thinking of men who guided the policies of Canada's trade and commerce at home and abroad had passed ahead of the immediate post-war reconstruction period. The day was not far off when a let-up in material shortages would permit production to exceed domestic demand. Before that happened, much had to be done. War-broken business contracts abroad had to be forged anew; export markets previously unknown to Canadian goods had to be explored and established; all this before a glutted domestic market brought about a slump in production.

Ottawa had been approached individually and in groups by Canadian industrialists who foresaw more difficult times ahead. They offered to back selling missions to foreign nations. "Put a moulin show of Canadian goods on the road," they said, "get our goods before the buyers of the world, and we'll pay for it." However, there was more to the issue than appeared on the surface. The credits Canada had extended to foreign nations would not last forever. Before many countries would be able to buy Canadian goods in any quantity they would somehow have to be supplied with scarce Canadian dollars.

In order to sell, Canada would have to buy. THE solution to these problems would have to embody a vigorous promotion of Canadian goods while at the same time fostering the principles of multilateral trade, forgotten over the war years. Somehow, other countries would have to be given the opportunity of selling to Canada while they bought from her. The obvious answer was an international trade fair.

Thus, Order-in-Council P.C. 3369, passed in August, 1946, officially authorized the conduct of Canada's first international trade fair. Lack of adequate facilities ruled Ottawa out, and finally Toronto was chosen because of the Canadian National Exhibition Grounds' large permanent buildings. Too, it was accessible by sea, rail and air. An amount of $225,000 was allotted to cover administration and rental of the buildings.

INVITATIONS to participate were extended through their Governments to every country with which Canada enjoys trade relations. Response, even at a very early date, was more than enthusiastic.

Toronto hotels co-operated most creditably, and each set aside a quantity of rooms to be allocated directly by the Trade Fair. It was soon apparent, however, that all the hotels in Toronto could handle no more than a small percentage of the visitors expected. With the co-operation of civic officials, a list of some 1,500 Toronto guest homes was obtained.

It was decided that all booths which would house the exhibits would be provided by the Trade Fair, cost to be included in the rental of the floor area—this for two reasons. It would add greatly to the business-like atmosphere, and at the same time it would tend to level off the competition from expensive and ornate displays which foreign exhibitors might find unfair in view of their restricted Canadian capital.

Part of the plans included provision of restaurant and snack room facilities for the use of exhibitors, buyers and visitors. The experience of European Trade Fairs, however, convinced management that these should be more than mere places-where-food-is-served. Alcoholic beverages, too, would be expected to be served in these places. This was contrary to a Provincial ruling governing the serving of alcoholic beverages at public exhibitions. It explained that the Canadian International Trade Fair belonged not to Ontario, or Toronto, or to Canada. It was pointed out that the whole Fair belonged to the 1,000 or more exhibitors from 32 countries who were making it possible. Considered in the light of an international organization, the ruling was waived and a license was granted for the serving of alcoholic beverages in the restaurants and lounges.

A RATHER unique system was employed in setting up the restaurants. The time rather than price element was chosen as the basic consideration. Under this arrangement a booth attendant can eat a quick meal in twenty minutes, and an exhibitor will be able to take a buyer for luncheon to one of the larger dining rooms, where they can spend as much time as they wish over a more elaborate meal in the most pleasant surroundings.

All liquor on display has been stocked in the bars and club rooms because exhibitors are not permitted to give samples of alcoholic beverages in their booths. This way, an exhibitor will be able to give a potential buyer a sample of his wares in any one of five locations. Care has been taken to ensure that the proper glasses will be used, and that the beverage will be at the correct temperature when served.

QUALIFIED interpreters on loan from the Foreign Service in Ottawa will be on hand to straighten out any language difficulties. On both sides of the reception desk will be grouped offices offering the services of customs officials, transportation companies, telegraph and cable facilities, forwarding agents, a large telephone switchboard with a number of booths equipped to handle long-distance calls to any corner of the earth, officials from the Import, Export and Industrial Development Divisions of the Department of Trade and Commerce, and sundry other aids to the efficient conduct of business.

In all, 200,000 board feet of lumber, ¼ of a million square feet and 15 miles of electrical wiring were used in preparing the service areas and booths. Provision of electrical power for the exhibitors involved the re-wiring of the Coliseum and Automotive Building, which cost well over $40,000. Each booth is illuminated by a fluorescent fixture giving brighter-than-daylight candlepower in all corners. To provide for this and the exhibitors' requirements 10 different types of power were made available, from 25 cycle, 110 volts to 50 cycle, three phase, 550 volts. The sum total of power used by the Trade Fair is

NEIL McCALLUM in the "NEW STATESMAN"

THE history of the north of Scotland has a text-book simplicity in showing the shift of economic and social balance under the influence of military defeat and, at a later date, of an adjacent industrialism. It is a story of the disruption of a people in so thorough a manner that one is liable nowadays to regard the north as an uninhabitable waste of mountain and moor.

Though the century of exploitation and exhaustion is ending, there are complete districts where the process of decay continues. Population graphs show an almost vertical decline in the last few generations. Yet new families are breaking new land, and hills are carrying heavier stocks than ever before. The Department of Agriculture has waiting lists for crofts under its control. Elsewhere the land is finally going out of cultivation. When Dr. Fraser Darling left Tanera in the Summer Isles it became unworkable for the first time in memory. There is talk of "closing down" the isolated community of Applecross.

I was recently directed to a derelict three-storey farmhouse in Argyll. This had been far more than a croft and was still served by a line of unsteady telephone poles from which the wires had vanished. The farm could be reached only by sea or by a bridge-track, and the farmer had probably left so that he could be on a main road where delivery vans bring city-baked bread. On the raised beach leading to the farm were the ruined homes of earlier families. There was nothing, absolutely nothing of life except a few birds and the seals in the water.

Skye gives the contrast with new houses that are bright and neat and a sense of small-scale busyness, as in a Swiss valley. Across the sea are communities that will almost certainly vanish when the old people have died. The young have already left. Yet again, on some of the outer isles there are sound populations, and a Highland priest, Father MacPherson of Knolart, has a scheme for transferring some of them to the mainland where they would be more at home than outsiders. It is noteworthy that throughout the pressure of events the Gaelic-speaking Scots have retained a dignity and independence. Out of their poverty they delivered the snub heroic to Lord Leverhulme in his attempt to industrialize the Hebrides.

There are people who see the salvation of the Highlands in electrification, in improved communications, in assured markets, in greater assistance to put the land into working trim, in a balance between subsistence crofting and fishing and small industries. There are people who believe that the despair of the Clearances has bitten deep into the native soul and that the inhabitants do not care any more. There are people who say that the desolation of the north is evidence, not of economic factors, but of the deliberate destruction of Gaelicdom, the murder of one cul-

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And I, brethren, could no speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ. For while one saith, I am of Paul; and another, I am of Apollos; are ye not carnal? ... I have planted, Apollos watered; but God gave the increase. ... Now he that planteth and he that watereth are one; and every man shall receive his own reward according to his own labour. For we are labourers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's building. ... Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? (I Cor. 3: 1, 4, 6, 8, 9, 16.)

But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord. (II Cor. 3: 18.)

Letter To The Editor

WASTE NOT, WANT NOT

Sir: I was impressed by that cartoon in a recent issue, titled "The Canadian Appeal—The Need Is Great"—showing an ordinary North American dog enjoying a plate of food, while a group of the undernourished "Children of Europe" look on, enviously.

The story is not that the former gets too much to eat—every dog is entitled to his ration—but that the latter get so little. On the other hand, it is rather horrifying to read in an authoritative New York magazine (House & Garden Jan. 1948) that "Americans throw away 125,000,000 pounds of food a day".

Is this fact or fiction, Mr. Editor? If the former, then I suggest that the grim story of the figures merits being spotlighted? Here's one way to measure that wasted food: If true, the intake of the North American garbage-can is more than 60,000 tons every day of the year, which would be more than 2,000 shiploads of 10,000 tons of food apiece! This would be the equivalent of every pound of American food exported during 1947, namely, 20 million tons. Certainly it is not a pretty picture, to be placed opposite the following awful words in a recent advertisement in the Thomas Times-Journal, in connection with the aforesaid "Canadian Appeal" and sponsored by the UN Food Council: "Half the children born in Europe since the war have already died of malnutrition".

Just because crop conditions in European fields are much improved over last year, with its subnormal yields, find a tendency to consider the Battle of Bread already won. This is dangerous nonsense. Every pound of food we can produce, not only in 1948 but, also, in 1949 and 1950, will be needed, if precious young lives are to be saved.

PRIMMARY PRODUCER.

ure by another, in terms of misadventures and misadventures.

These are debating points for sociologists and historians. What matters is that the inhabitants of the north are entering a phase of uncertain recovery to which the national community is more or less indifferent. The inhabitants of megalopolis, Scots or English, do not care. The north is unknown, possessing neither Blackpool nor continental cooking. Its contribution to the national economy is not enough for serious attention.

From a governmental point of view it is worth a major operation to put, at the most, some tens of thousands of people back on the land? There can only be one answer as long as it is more important to have ten men working in a factory than a hundred living on the land but producing no large and certain surplus. Even so, the possibilities of northern food production, particularly of beef and mutton, have not been fully developed. If the English stomach or a sense of great social experiment should ever turn attention northwards the problem will have to be tackled with the thoroughness of the Jews colonizing the desert.

Profits Not Guaranteed

Left-wing economists would have us believe that under our system of free enterprise every business venture is raking in profits. Actually it is a profit-and-loss system. Profits are not guaranteed.

Ottawa statistical figures have revealed that 545 Canadian businesses failed during 1947; almost double the 1946 total. The nature of these businesses was diversified, ranging all the way from the small retailer to the manufacturing plant.

As pointed out in industry, published by the Canadian Manufacturers Association, business enterprise is not a rosy path. It is a tough grind and the competition is fierce, but from the very fierceness of the competition emerges the best in goods and services.

And competition will become a lot keener once the supply of goods exceeds the demand. —Kitchener-Waterloo Record.

McCready, Masked Marvel Draw In Main Bout On Card

Earl McCready and the Masked Marvel fought it out to a draw in the main match of the pro wrestling program at the Brock Arena on Wednesday evening. A good-sized crowd saw each awarded a fall when both were counted out of the ring, but neither could get the deciding pin in the one-hour time limit and it was ruled a draw.

They staged a hammer-and-tongs tussle throughout, especially as they fought for the final fall. Hundreds of fans were on their feet, and many swarmed about the ring, the final 10 minutes as the big fellows grappled hard in and out of the ring, with Referee Ernie Powers plenty busy. The police were busy at times, too, keeping excitable fans back from the ring. The Mask was threatened by a lot of the customers as he strode away after the going went.

Both Strong

McCready, weighing 239 pounds and the hooded one, at 257 rough pounds, battled from the start with the Mask strong and villainous while the Moose was just about as powerful and ready to rough it up when necessary, too. They made it a real scrap as the crowd roared. The Marvel used a piece of tape to partially blind McCready for a time and tried other illegal stuff but Earl kept ploughing in and it was pretty even. They wound up fighting furiously amid the crowd, and both were counted out by the referee, who ruled it was a fall each, after 32 minutes of hot going.

When they resumed, McCready applied a tough body scissors but the Mask finally broke it and kicked Earl out of the ring. He kept battering him back as he tried to return till Earl slipped.

O'Halloran's Tie The Petes In Soccer Fray

O'Halloran's and Petes (late Spartans) drew one-all in a soccer league match at King Edward Park Wednesday evening before a good attendance. Both elevens were at full strength.

Early stages revealed that the teams were cautious in their tactics. O'Halloran's half-backs dominated play to be successful when Newt Downer placed a perfect corner kick to Pyle, who put O'Halloran's one up. Petes retaliated with steady attack to find Smart and O'Halloran's frustrating their efforts. On resuming, Petes introduced a long, swinging style of play to open up the game. Eventually, with 12 minutes to go, Whittall got the equalizer to split the points.

The teams: Petes — E. Woodcock, goal; D. Downer and K. Downer, backs; W. Post, F. McMaster, and E. Lane, half-backs; H. Payne, J. Byers, J. Whittall, L. Payne, and N. Lane, forwards; subs, J. Hennessy and Don Downer.

O'Halloran's — T. Scott, goal; C. B. Smart and A. O'Halloran, backs; J. Duncan, H. Pyle and D. Gray, half-backs; W. Cribbins, Newt Downer, E. Duffus, A. Featherstone, and E. Boon, forwards. Referee—Asa Downer.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

All over the province of Ontario May 24 is recognized as the day on which the lawn bowling clubs are officially declared open for the coming season, and our own club will be no exception.

Chairman S. Shields tells us that everything will be in fine shape. The tournament is to be a mixed rink affair. Draw from the board at 1.30 p.m. All games played in the afternoon. As this tournament is on the "house," there will be no entrance fee. Good prizes. Phone your name early, and don't forget this year's slogan, "be on time." Start the season off right and everything else will follow.

We believe the games committee intends to play the annual president-vice-president series on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. However, as soon as we know the line-up we will pass it along.

With the death of William Greenslade another one of the old guard of lawn bowlers has passed on. The late Mr. Greenslade was a member of this club when we bowled down at the corner of Aymer and Brock Sts. and for a good many years he bowled up on the new greens. Of a quiet and friendly manner, the late Mr. Greenslade was highly respected by all.

The news of his death came as a great shock to his many friends. The sympathy of the entire club is extended to his widow.

'TWA'S LADIES' DAY AT PIMLICO—To horse, to horse! The bugle has sounded for Ladies' Day at Pimlico, Md. Like Christmas the event comes but once a year. Here the feminine jockeys leave the jockey room for the paddock to get astride their mounts. Ten minutes later the race was over with Joyce Goldschmidt, 19-year-old Baltimorean the winner. She was astride Audible. She topped the event for the second year. Judy Johnson rode Fall Guy for second honors while Rita Marzani on Fire High took third.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

At the last annual meeting of the Ontario section of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, Fred Jennings of this city was elected first vice-president. And just the other night he was called to Toronto and presented with a nice bronze plaque in recognition for services rendered the association in amateur swimming during the past year. The plaque was presented by George Duthie, sports director of the Canadian National Exhibition. This is just another tribute paid local swim officials like Mrs. Pansy Forbes, Gord Minty, Fred Jennings and a few more for their fine work in promoting amateur aquatics.

In men's softball over Bowl-ward tonight, if the weather is ok, the R-E Combines play Legionnaires at seven sharp, followed by Knights against De Laval. Maybe a switch or two in the ump's named for this twin bill, but they'll be notified by Prexy Pat Calladine in time. After those two keen contests Tuesday, it looks like a dogfight all the way—even though a team may have the odd off night. All a club has to do to make playoffs is finish third so they're all in there trying from the start to roll up a respectable balance of wins in case of stretch trouble. And the fans, despite some cool and wet weather, have been turning out in goodly numbers.

City Baseball League opens its schedule Saturday aft in Riverside with two games. Actually, two schedules are opening. At two bells, the combined juveniles of East City and the northend meet the westend juveniles in a seven-inning start, and this one is followed by the Junior Lakeshore League opener, a nine-inning go betwixt the two Peterborough entries. So, ball fans won't have to wait till the holiday Monday to see good diamond action. Rest of the minors will be commencing their campaigns next week.

Senior Petes play Batawa in Belleville this Saturday to begin the COBL schedule and the same squads are back here for a Monday morning melee. Quinte columnist smiles at the groans of two weeks ago by the various COBL managers that "nobody had no pitchers, nobody had a team, nobody had nuthin'." He says: "It seems to us that we've heard that sort of malarkey before. The Petes and Oshawa have a fairly strong nucleus of veterans left over besides a flock of kids over junior age. Kingston won't be lacking good help and Batawa will do all right, so don't be disheartened, mes amis. You'll see plenty of good baseball before the curtain rings down on the first edition of the rejuvenated COBL." Yes, we think so, too.

Lacrosse All Set

Big lacrosse unveiling will be tomorrow (Friday) p.m. at nine in Miller Bowl. Brampton's senior "A" huskies open the season here with an exhibition against the Petes, 1947 OLA senior "B" champions. There'll be a parade, led by a band, down George St. before the battle begins and official opening ceremony, et al. The Bowl has been rejuvenated and the local lacrossers will step out in brand new equipment, including uniforms, pads and even that necessary, first-aid supplies! Red Creighton has a team that looks stronger on paper than the champs of last year, a number of stars of other centres augmenting the classy crew which eliminated Fergus last autumn before a record crowd. Should be an interesting start.

Jack Billingsley's intermediate ballsters have an open workout at 6.15 p.m. Friday in Riverside as they prepare to open their Lakeshore League schedule Monday in Coborne. Baz Murphy and "Bids" Cray are the present pitchers and Billingsley will be on hand for a relief role. Fid Girard will do the catching and the infield sort of looks like Bud Guerin on first, Bob Crowe at second, Jerry Pagett for short and Reg Jones on third. Jack Carpenter, Reg Burns and Don Conway are available for the garden, and there will be several more on the prospective players' list by the time the loop opens.

Heavy Mat Action

Cleveland and the trains have an hour's difference, it seems, so two grapplers, Mario Renaldi and Jack Dillon, missed the choo-choo to Buffalo and didn't appear on last night's mat card here. Nor did Lou Laird, but he broke a leg in a bout in Evansville, Ill. Three substitutions had to be worked into the two prelims here but they did well. A fine grapple card before a goodly and noisy gallery. McCready and the Mask went to a furious draw in an hour time limit and fans swarmed about the ring the final 10 minutes of the hot tussle. Bunny Dunlop doffed referee's attire and battled Red Sims to a semi-final draw in a dandy do, while Stack took the prelim from Pitkeathley. We're told that Nick Vichiarelli, local middle, will get a spot on the next Brock Avenue card.

GRAB-BAG: O'Halloran's and Petes drew 1-1 in soccer yesterday eve; Legion plays CGE tonight... ONE men's 10-mile race has a first prize of $5,000... Brampton opens its senior "A" lacrosse season Monday against Fergus Thistles... Open drill of juvenile lacrossers (16 to 19 years) at seven tonight in Miller Bowl... Horse races and men's softball feature the Jay-Cees' jamboree May 24 in Morrow Park... St. George's took Knox 20-10 in church softball with Bill Parry and Stew Tyndall leading the winners' attack... Two tidy senior school tiffs yesterday aft. Queen Alex defeating Queen Mary 13-11 as King Edward edged King George 11-10... Schedules and other last-minute details decided upon at last night's City Baseball League meeting... East City peewees practice Saturday a.m. at 10 in the Oval; they want one more catcher... East and north juniors and juveniles drill at 6.15 Friday night in Riverside. Portable bleachers ordered for Riverside won't be here for a spell yet; meantime the west stand is being wrecked rapidly... Wheel it off.

Syracuse Edges Buffalo In 3-1 Triumph

By The Associated Press
Major leaguers of the future, who started this season in the big show, are shaping the course of the International League race. Eddie Evers of Syracuse, Glenn Nelson of Rochester, Jack Banta of Montreal and Dick Starr of Newark all accounted for victories in yesterday's games.

Evers, a brilliant strikeout star in the Pacific Coast League in 1946, spent all last season with the parent Cincinnati Reds. He was optioned to Syracuse last week and Wednesday pitched the Chiefs to a fancy 3-1 edge over Buffalo. He allowed only seven hits, pitching shutout ball after the first inning.

Banta, highly regarded by Manager Leo Durocher of Brooklyn in training days, kept the Dodgers' Montreal farm hands within one game of the leading Syracuse Chiefs. The lean right-hander trimmed Baltimore 5-2, although Frank Laga had to help him out of trouble in the ninth after Howie Moss hit his 11th

Rogers Aboard Coleraine; Replaces Mann

TORONTO, May 20 — (CP). — The annual King's Plate excitement began to mount rapidly today as the weatherman at last got into the spirit of things and historic Woodbine Park's racing strip began looking more like its old sunny self.

With only four days left before the cream of Canadian-bred three-year-olds go to the post Monday for the 89th running of the classic, the question of actual starters and jockeys became a leading topic. A total of 33 are still eligible, including 21 who ran in the twin Plate Trials Monday won by the Winnipeg-owned Lord Fairmont and the Toronto-owned All British.

No one could say before Saturday, when the final starting fee is posted, just how big the Plate field would be this year. A guess would put it between 16 and 20. The automatic starting gate will accommodate 12 horses, with other horses breaking from the track handlers outside the gate.

The riders' picture was cleared up a little when it was made known that jockey Chris Rogers would have the mount on Ed

Short's Coleraine. The colt was ridden by the veteran Frankie Mann in Monday's Trial but Rogers had been contracted before Mann decided he would try a comeback as a jockey. Mann has been a trainer for some time now. Jockey Emil Roy will ride Norman Heise's Kid Rumble and Frank Dougherty will be aboard All British.

The sporting public studying the charts of last Monday's trials, which were run at only six furlongs compared with the mile and an eighth of the King's Plate itself, was giving more attention today to the few eligibles that didn't start in the trials.

Queen Alex Victors

Queen Alex pulled out a 13-11 senior School Softball League win over Queen Mary on Wednesday on the former's grounds. It was keen ball all the way with the north-enders scoring three in the first inning and five each the next two. Queen Mary counted a pair in the first and again in the fifth, with one each in the second and fourth and five in a big third. The teams: Queen Mary—Woodgate, Deal, Wilson, Morley, Howe, Watson, Swanger, Mann, Clement. Queen Alex—Rogers, Stewart, Seabrook, Bebee, Reid, Withers, Nicholls, Watson, Oliver. Umpire—G. Ball.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

By The Canadian Press

Mexico plays Canada in Montreal July 8-10 in the first round of the North American zone Davis Cup competition. Chairman Walter Merrill Hall of the cup management committee said in New York Wednesday. Australia, 1927 challenger and seven times holder of the famed international tennis trophy, tangles with Cuba in Havana on July 22-26. North American zone competition will be completed by Aug. 9. The European finalist will be known by July 27. Winners of the two groups will meet in the inter-zone final by Aug. 23 to determine the country that will attempt to wrest the cup from the United States.

The favorite Replica II from R. K. Melton's stables was a driving winner of the $2,000 added Fraser memorial steeplechase, 57th running of which highlighted Wednesday's Ontario jockey card at Woodbine race track in Toronto. Danny Deever was second and Gadabout third.

The Canadian National Exhibition swimming committee announced Wednesday in Toronto that first prizes in the C.N.E. men's and women's open marathon races this year will be $5,000 and $1,500 respectively. The women's race on Sept. 1 will be five miles and the men's race Sept. 3 will be 10 miles.

An intermediate ORFU Rugby League is proposed in Western Ontario with three entries already definite. It was learned in Sarnia Wednesday. The Hard Oils will represent Sarnia in the proposed loop along with entries from Chatham and Wallaceburg. St. Thomas is flirting with the idea of entering the loop, but as yet has not made any definite promises. An entry from London would be more than welcome, the Sarnia boosters say.

Coaltown took over the winning chores for Calumet Farm on Wednesday while his stablemate Citation reigned in the barn, and blazed a stake record in the aptly-named Swift Stakes at New York's Belmont Park. Coaltown covered the seven-furlong route in 1:23 2-5 to crack 2-5 of a second off the mark set by Mantagna in 1935 and equalled by Parasang in 1940.

At St. Louis Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., and Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., chipped out a pair of five-under-par 69's Wednesday to lead the way in the first 18-hole qualifying round of the 30th Professional Golfers' Association championship. Herman Kesler of Akron, O., and Gene Sarazen had 67s for the opening round.

Featherweight champion Willie Pep took a 10-round decision from Charles (Cabe) Lewis on Wednesday night in Milwaukee, flooring the Brooklyn negro twice in racking up his 36th straight victory. But Pep suffered a bad cut under the eye and a bloody head wound in the process. The decision was unanimous.

FEW CASUALTIES
Although the great fire of London in 1666 did a tremendous amount of damage and destroyed many great buildings, only six people were killed.

Leafs Get Catcher From Philadelphia

TORONTO, May 20 — (CP). — The Toronto Maple Leafs Wednesday acquired a catcher-first baseman from the Philadelphia Phillies and at the same time sold a pitcher.

At Lakewood, a reserve backstop with the Phillies, was sent to the International League Leafs on a 24-recall option. Right-handed Paul Calvert, who has played four games with Leafs, was sold conditionally to Atlanta of the Southern Association.

Feller, Cleveland Mates Cool Off Mack's Athletics

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Bobby Feller and his Cleveland Tribe have cooled off Connie Mack's Athletics and wrestled the actual American League lead from Philadelphia.

By a mathematical freak, the Indians slipped into first place Tuesday night when they actually trailed the A's by half a game. No longer is there any freak about it. Feller took care of that.

The fire-balling right-hander only American Leaguer to win 20 games last season, hung up his fifth victory last night by trimming Philadelphia 6-1, with three hits.

Feller's brilliant pitching permitted the Tribe to sweep the series from the A's, who came in to town on a red-hot spree after sweeping a double-header from New York Yankees.

Hal Newhouser got back on the victory path, after having been knocked out five straight times, when he hurled Detroit to a 4-1 decision over Boston. Vic Wertz broke up a 1-1 tie when he homered off Ellis Kinder with two on in the last of the ninth. Pat Mullin's homer in the fourth accounted for the other run.

Drop Browns

The Yankees yesterday finally got a route-going job from Lefty Ed Lopat. Lopat allowed 12 hits in taking an 8-4 verdict over St. Louis Browns. Yogi Berra's double with the bases loaded snapped a 4-4 tie in the seventh.

Pitcher Early Wynn helped Washington out of trouble with his bat. Coming in as a pinch hitter, he singled home two runs that started the Senators to a 4-1 nod over Chicago White Sox.

There were some high shenanigans at Ebbets Field where St. Louis Cardinals thumped Brooklyn 14-7, in a night game which lasted three hours and 28 minutes and consumed five of the Brooks' seven able pitchers. Clyde King, who replaced starter Red Barney, caught the loss and the nod went to Ted Wilks, the third Card chucker.

After the Dodgers fell on a Brazle in a four-run first inning the Cards came back strong. Led by Stan Musial, who had a perfect night with five hits, including a triple and double, the Red Birds posted a big five in the fourth inning and four more in the fifth.

While the Dodgers were losing their fourth in a row at home, Philadelphia Phils were coming from behind to shade Chicago Cubs 2-1. Two in the last of the ninth on a triple by Johnny Blatnik and singles by Del Ennis, Eddie Miller and Howie Schmitz turned Cliff Chamber's potential shutout into a decision for reliever Sam Nahem.

Blank Reds

New York Giants took advantage of another fine pitching job by Larry Jansen who curved the ball past Cincinnati Reds for a 3-0 victory, allowing seven well-scattered hits. Whitley Lockman and Bill Rigney hit homers for the Giants who now have 24 of the same in 23 games.

Boston Braves uncovered a new rookie, Vern Bickford, who may have an important bearing on the race. Bickford, making his first start, limited Pittsburgh Pirates to five hits in a 4-1 victory.

Hogan Worried PGA May End

ST. LOUIS, May 20.—(AP).—Ben Hogan professes to be worried over the chance that the P.G.A. qualifying rounds may end today as they did in 1939. This year the wiry little pro tied with three other guys—Ky Lafoon, Dutch Harrison and Emerick Kocsis—for the medal. So far as anyone knows, none of them got a medal for performance. "I'm all in favor of giving out prizes after every round," Ben commented after coming in with a 66 in yesterday's first round. The prize, incidentally, is $250 cash and a handsome trophy. One of the guys who didn't agree with Ben, moustachied Lloyd Mangrum, was sitting at the next table. Lloyd, 1946 open champ, had a 70 when someone asked him how he had made out. Mangrum replied: "I was just a-topping, and a-shaking, and a three-putting."

One-Minute Sport Page
It may be un-poetic justice, but Gene Sarazen, who was outspoken in his criticism of the Norwood Hills course and in predicting that an "unknown" would have the best chance of winning the P.G.A. tournament, had one of the best scores on the first day.

And virtually all the low scorers were tournament-toughened veterans who had the know-how to place their shots in the right spots. And right after finishing with a sub-par 70, defending champion Jim Ferrier gave himself a workout on the practice green. Apparently Jim's motto is "putt me no putts."

The Kansas City Blues have lost 12 one-run decisions so far this season and Manager Dick Bartell, trying to retain his sanity, has called upon a team that plays mostly night games to hold morning workouts.

36 Players Dropped In Major Ball League

NEW YORK, May 20.—(AP).—Rosters of the 16 major league baseball teams were set today after feverish trimming that lopped off 36 players in three days. At midnight last night each club had to be down to 25 men. Twenty-six of the men dropped were from National League teams, with Brooklyn heading the list. Of the American League clubs only Detroit and Cleveland had as many as two to dispose of in the final rush while Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox completed their transactions last week. Pittsburgh of the National League also trimmed its squad early.

As is customary, most of those sent down are subject to 24-hour recall.

Claude Jarman Prepared To Drop Movies

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 2 (AP).—Young Claude Jarman, the memorable Jody of "The Yearling," indicates that a life-long film career is not for him.

Claude's ambition is to study agriculture and he is aiming at that goal. Now five-foot-seven, and approaching high school age, he still has a few years of film work left.

The lad now is cavorting with Lasse in "Sun in the Morning." His next film probably will be "The Secret Garden," to be made in England with Margaret O'Brien and Dean Stockwell.

Fred Astaire happened to remark to Irving Berlin: "I suppose now that you have had 'Alexander's Ragtime Band,' 'Blue Skies' and 'Easter Parade,' you will undoubtedly have a picture called 'White Christmas.' So the tune-smith whipped up one and Fred and Bing will star in Paramount next year.

Michael Kirby will continue as Sonja Henie's skating partner in her ice show, but he will have four months a year for film work. "Eventually I want to give up skating for acting," says Kirby, who now is opposite Sonja in "Countess of Monte Cristo." "Acting pays more in the long run."

Write Own Music
Hollywood confusion: MGM is now filming "Connecticut Yankee" with June Allyson. Last year, Paramount made "Conn. Yankee" with Bing Crosby. The MGM version is a sequence for the Rodgers-Hart biography, "Words and Music." Paramount had to write its own music because MGM owned the original score.

"The Pirate" (MGM) presents Judy Garland and Gene Kelly in a frantic musical romance with a pinweight plot. The film's greatest asset is the terrific dancing of Kelly, who returns to the screen in a big way after one false start.

Jell-O Puddings Whenever You Like—

At last, you can have all the Jell-O Puddings you like, whenever you like. Your choice of four marvelous flavors—and enough to plan second helpings all 'round.

Enjoy the goodness and speed and economy of those wonderful Jell-O Puddings—"like Grandma's, only more so."

Serve them plain . . . or with cream . . . or with fruit. Or use them for such inspired serving as suggested on the packages.

HIS TURN FOR SPOTLIGHT—While necessarily remaining in the background for most of the British Royal couple's four-day visit to France, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, was spotlighted briefly as he received the Croix de Guerre from France's President Vincent Auriol. Princess Elizabeth looks on at the ceremony in the Elysee Palace. Later she received the Grand Cordon of the Legion of Honor.

Children's Art Exhibit Reveals 'The New Look'

The "new look" has extended even into the realm of children's art as shown by the exhibition now on view in the gallery at Public Library. The display includes work from Grades 1 to 8 from the nine Public Schools of the city, and shows the modern emphasis on freedom, originality and creativeness. The art program no longer demands only the training of hand and eye for certain skills, but rather seeks to develop self-expression on the part of the child, by providing for him a variety of media and topics.

The work showed that the Peterborough boys and girls are interested and happy in their art activities.

The visitor is impressed, perhaps most of all, by the size of the drawings, large surfaces with free rhythmic pictures replace the old cramped style of drawing. Some of these individual pictures deal with subjects dear to the heart of childhood such as illustrations of "Making a Snowman," "A Windy Day," "Spring Is Here." Bright, colorful chalks have replaced crayons and are used both for individual and for group drawings, as in an Eskimo mural and a group of illustrations of Hansel and Gretel. In the primary section group pieces are shown in "The Vegetable Store," where the pupils contribute their individual drawings and build up the whole. Here, finger painting has been tried out with good effect. An example of imaginative work may be seen in the picture called "Fairy Flowers" from a Grade 1 class. The three dimensional pictures and murals are effective, with colored paper used to represent flowers. In the primary section, there are also some pretty "box" pictures, where the lids of boxes have been utilized for backgrounds.

Another new venture this year was the designing and making of hats—some on display were made by Grade 3 pupils, others more sophisticated, were created by Grade 8 classes. Gay paper plates, table tiles made from corrugated card and many interesting books fill the tables, while one is covered with a lovely lace cloth made from paper cuts by Grade 1 children.

A novel display from Grade 5 shows cardboard figures dressed in Halloween costumes and there are several "movies" entailing a great deal of work by pupils of this same grade.

A beautiful doll's house, complete in every detail of its four rooms, created a great deal of interest, especially from junior visitors, and was made by Grade III pupils.

In the Senior section, there is much work done co-operatively including fine murals on pioneer travel and historical topics, as well as those on the Christmas theme. Also, evidencing the trend toward correlation of art with other subjects, are the realistic models of the Pilgrim Fathers celebrating the first Thanksgiving, with tiny figures made from clothes-peg, modelled by Grade VI boys and girls. Pictorial maps bear out the importance of art as a help to geography.

An outstanding display is a table setting arranged by Grade VI pupils on the St. Patrick's theme, with plates, place mats, serviettes and centre skilfully designed in pale green with a touch of rose.

Scratch board pictures were artistically carried out by Grade VIII students and in the realm of design they show samples of name designs, paint papers and mono prints—all comparatively new techniques.

One of the features of the exhibition was the particularly fine display of modelling done by pupils from both primary and senior classes.

The whole display shows an enthusiasm and a talent for creative art, which speaks well for the future of these youthful artists and reflects much credit upon their teachers.

Constance E. Wagar, supervisor of art for the city is in charge of the exhibition, which will be on view all week and which is well worth a visit from all parents and interested friends.

The large array of work was arranged by Miss Wagar, assisted by

Nature Unspoiled — YOURS TO ENJOY — YOURS TO PROTECT

A vital factor in the survival of North America's waterfowl is our knowledge of the routes they travel in their spring and fall migrations. With this information we are able to provide sanctuaries where they offer the greatest number of birds a spot to rest and feed unmolested. The men who have helped to plot the flyways, devoting years of voluntary effort to banding birds, deserve the deepest gratitude from all nature-lovers.

Campbellford Choir Heard In Marmora

MARMORA, May 20—(ENS)—Music-lovers of the district were treated to an excellent presentation of classical choral and piano-forte music in the town hall on Monday evening as the Campbellford Choralians (fourteen ladies under direction of Mrs. A. G. Watson, with Mrs. G. Nicholls as accompanist) were joined by Mr. D. D. Bennett, pianist in a program given under auspices of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild. In their twelve numbers, the Choralians displayed a fine blending of tone. Their accompanist, Mrs. Nicholls, contributed two solos in the first half of the program with pleasing effect and joined with Mrs. H. R. Hendershot in two duets.

The vocalists were Mrs. H. R. Hendershot and Mrs. F. G. DeCarrol. The former chose "The Maids of Cadiz" and "When I Was Seventeen." Mrs. DeCarrol sang "Sing On" and "Mary of Argyle," and for an encore "In An Arbor Green." Mr. D. D. Bennett played three Chopin numbers.

Grenfell Mission Seeking Funds

Annual appeal for funds of the Peterborough branch of the Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission started this week and contributions for this worthy cause will be received at the Examiner office or by Mrs. F. M. Somerville, 16 Inverlea St.

Work of the mission, which has been carried on for many years following the first missions of the late Sir Wilfred Grenfell, is among the inhabitants of the coasts of Labrador and Northern Newfoundland. The official publication of the International Grenfell Association called "Among the Deep Sea Fishers" is printed quarterly and explains the work that is done. In the main it is a medical mission bringing medical aid and hospital care to the people who live on those barren coasts. The work has been expanded with the building of a new hospital at Harrington Harbor on the Labrador coast last year.

There's a special reason why no other beans are quite as delicious as Libby's Deep-Browned Beans. Libby's have perfected and patented a new cooking method which cooks every bean at exactly the right temperature. It deep-browns them clear through to the centre—imparts to each plump, tender bean its full share of rich, savoury tomato sauce. Slash Tariffs By 12 Million Lift Duties On British Cotton

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL

OTTAWA, May 20—(CP)—A $12,000,000 to $14,000,000 slash in tariffs and temporary suspension of all duties on British cotton and rayon piece goods were announced last night by Finance Minister Abbott in his budget speech.

The duties on cotton and rayon will be suspended until June 30, 1949, to help Britain regain her place in the Canadian clothing market.

During the period of suspension, countries entitled to most-favored-nation tariff rates on cotton and rayon goods will have their rates reduced by the amount of the British preferential rates which now are being suspended. However, imports of the goods from countries entitled to the most-favored-nations treatment is limited by the restriction imposed to conserve United States dollars.

In general, other changes will bring about some reductions in the cost of operations in the mining, building and dairy products industry.

About 10 items on the tariff schedule of about 1,000 items are affected by the changes. The schedule was almost completely overhauled during international organization negotiations at Geneva last year.

Other Reductions

Reductions will be made in the tariff rate on several items relating to mining machinery and equipment. The British preferential and most-favored-nation rates will be eliminated on geophysical precision instruments to assist in exploration for oil and minerals.

Another change will give the government authority to relieve certain goods or classes of goods from special dumping duty.

In another field, the three per cent excise tax on imports from general tariff countries will be repealed.

All changes will be effective as from today.

Commenting on the suspension of the British preferential tariffs on cotton and rayon piece goods, Mr. Abbott said:

"At present British exports of cotton and rayon piece goods are encountering difficulties in their efforts to expand sales to Canada because their laid-down prices in this country after payment of duty, are higher than what our converters and consumers can afford to pay. The proposal to suspend the duties temporarily would help to reduce the obstacle arising out of the price situation."

"We have received assurances from the United Kingdom that the reduction in landed prices made possible by any removal of duties would be passed on to Canadian buyers."

"Because of commitments in the Geneva trade agreement, the most-favored-nation rates on cotton piece goods, had to be reduced by the amount of the corresponding British preferential tariff during the period of suspension."

Review Situation

Mr. Abbott said the situation will be reviewed before June 30, 1949, to decide what should be done at that time.

The change in special dumping duty regulations also is aimed at solving a problem faced by British exporters. Dumping duties are applied in cases where goods are sold for export at prices lower than those pertaining on markets where they are produced. Some British products are sold cheaper in Canada than on the British market. These ordinarily would be subject to the special dumping duty.

Mr. Abbott said some of the reductions in the tariff structure are designed to take account of technological changes which have occurred in the last few years. Some would remove complexities and facilitate administration. And a number would embody reductions already made by government order in response to immediate circumstances which have arisen from time to time.

Save $500,000

It was learned that the reductions in tariffs on mining machinery will mean a saving of about $500,000 a year to Canadian mines. The move was made to encourage the modernization of mining machinery.

Minor reductions are made in tariffs on heavy petroleum products and lubricating oils.

Farm machinery, propelled by attached motors, is moved to the free list. It formerly carried tariffs of from 15 to 30 per cent.

A minor reduction is made in the tariffs on many of the power machines used in the dairy industry. The change will mainly benefit the large dairies and milk processing plants.

Clean-Up Plan By Jaycees Well Underway

Top feature of the Junior Chamber of Commerce "Clean-Up, Paint-Up Campaign" is the circulation among city schoolchildren of score cards indicating various phases of cleaning up homes and property. In the final result the school, which shows the most work done, will receive a cash award.

Peterborough, for the first time in its existence, now has street rubbish cans. Early on Monday morning, the Jaycees working on the clean-up campaign set up the cans on main intersections on George Street. The bins are clearly stencilled: "Keep Your City Clean."

Window streamers, posters and motion matter with the main theme, "Beautifully Peterborough," have been circulated by members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Tom McMillan is chairman of the campaign, which was officially opened on Monday night by Mayor W. G. Owens in a broadcast over CHEX. It will continue until Saturday, May 29.

Annual increase totals $250,000. An additional six cents an hour will be paid on a progressive basis through the contract year.

WITHERS & BAIRD, PARK AND MURRAY STREETS

Beverley, Caddy Streets Site Selected

Permits for 44 houses of total estimated value of approximately $300,000 have been issued by City Engineer A. E. Chalmers to Arnold Steele and Don Ephgrave. They are to be built on Beverley and Caddy streets in Ashburnham.

Twenty permits have been taken out by Mr. Steele and 24 by Mr. Ephgrave. Work will be begun some time in June, according to present expectations.

As contractors independent of each other they are now completing the Arnden subdivision of 69 houses in the new city area south of Braidwood Ave. and between Park St. and Monaghan road.

These 44 houses will be built for sale primarily to ex-service men, but it is understood that some of them will be offered to general home-seekers. Their site on Beverley and Caddy streets was bought by the city as location of some of the Wartime Houses which Peterborough expects to have constructed here this year.

Messrs. Ephgrave and Steele first considered an area west of Chemong road and north of the new Brookdale subdivision. City Council's special housing committee have since then obtained options on deeds of other properties, and have sold the Ashburnham land to Steele and Ephgrave.

Their houses will be brick veneer bungalows of four and five rooms. Some of them may be of frame finish. The ground is of rolling type, and is rated as more attractive than some of the other flatter areas on which blocks of houses have been built.

Mr. Steele and Mr. Ephgrave are experienced young contractors who ventured into the integrated housing plan. Of the 69 houses in this enterprise only three remain unsold. Two are of brick finish and one frame.

Voters' Lists Being Revised Tip To Citizens

At every election a number of legitimate voters are unable to cast their ballots for their chosen candidates because they have neglected to check the voters' list to see if their names are included.

If citizens have not done so now, they are urged to do it immediately. Beginning today and continuing on Friday and Saturday they will have an opportunity of adding any omissions to the list or making any complaints of illegal voters being included on it.

Three sittings for registration and revising will be held simultaneously. District No. 1, sub-divisions 31-46, will go to the County Court building where Judge S. L. Snook is the presiding officer. District No. 2, sub-divisions 3-7, 11-13, 22 to 30 and 50, will go to the Council Chambers, City Building, where John R. Corkery, KC, is presiding. District No. 3, sub-divisions 3-7, 11-13, 22 to 30 and 50, will go to South Central School, where V. J. McElderry, KC, is presiding.

D. J. Lawrie, Provincial Returning Officer, said: "As far as the enumerators are concerned, it was a good job."

No streets were missed in their canvass of voters, but some people were out when the enumerators called, or perhaps the owner of the house forgot to name roomers who are entitled to vote.

He pointed out that there are more than 25,000 names on the enumerators' list, and that as they are only human certain mistakes are bound to happen. But he said he thought they had in general "done a stout job."

All political parties have warned their members to check the voters' list carefully and make sure that everyone eligible to vote is included. It is not believed that either the omissions or complaints will be very numerous.

But as one clerk observed: "They'll all wait until Saturday, the last day, and then line up three-deep."

WATER MAINS IN 1844

A 10-inch water main was laid on George St. in 1844, 1850 and 1854. It was the 8-inch main on Hunter St. and other lines of pipe that were the beginning of the city's waterworks system. These facts of construction were included in a diagram of the Simcoe St. main shown to the Utilities Commission this week by R. L. Dobbin.

Hydrant Nozzles Clip Many Car Fenders Utilities Commission Not Too Concerned

If motor vehicles shall not be parked within six feet of a hydrant, why should the city council be concerned about the direction in which the nozzles point?

That question was implied in the Utilities Commission reaction this week to a motion from the council suggesting that a survey be made to ascertain how many hydrants are offensive to traffic. It seems that several complaints have come to the council from motorists who ventured too close to a hydrant curb, and encountered a projecting nozzle.

Such is the story. The council's opinion is that there are a few of these hydrants around town, with their nozzles sticking out over the line of curb's edge. If such cars pull in close to the curb to park near a hydrant, they are asking for scraped fenders and the Commission is not inclined to drop any tears on their garage bills. At that it is agreed that there may be a few hydrants which may be partly encroaching over the street line. Ross Dobbin is going to count them, but there won't be any hurry about getting this job done. Some time before the leaves fall is its place in the order of more pressing Utilities affairs.

JAS. M. FRASER

Manager C of C Former Newspaperman

James M. Fraser, 39, Toronto, has been appointed manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce. His work will be of an organizational and administrative nature, giving him overall charge of the office and responsibility for the Chamber's activities.

James J. Dorris will remain as secretary of the Chamber and Auto Licence Issuer.

"Mr. Fraser's function will be to develop the Chamber of Commerce as a public service organization," said Wilson Gemmell, president of that body.

Although a comparatively youthful man he has had many years of experience in public relations work. It is expected that his appointment will result in an early intensification of Chamber of Commerce activities.

He was born in Scotland in 1909, came to Canada while still very young and obtained Matriculation standing through night classes at St. George's Williams College in Montreal. (Recently he has completed courses at the University of Toronto on "Public Relations" and "Market Research.")

In the early '30's he joined the MacLean Publishing Company, Toronto, to obtain experience in publishing and advertising. After serving as editor and associate editor on several technical periodicals he joined the Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal.

Worked On Victory Loans

During the war he organized a number of campaigns and projects for government organizations. While working with the Island of Montreal War Finance group he helped in the organization and promotion of the first two Victory Loans.

During these loans he worked with the late George Spinney, E. A. McNutt, Philippe Brais and others. And he handled the personal appearances of such well-known persons as Col. Frank Knox, then Secretary of the U.S. Navy, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Colman, Gracie Fields, Mischa Auer and other Hollywood stars.

While still employed by the Montreal Star his services were loaned to help in publicity and public relations activities connected with war savings certificates and stamp drives. In 1941 he organized the Management Service Division of the W.P.T.B. and was then transferred to Toronto for a similar job.

After this he was sent to Ottawa to serve on the Wartime Information Board under Charles Vining. His next job was two national publicity drives to raise funds for the Canadian Red Cross Society.

He is still associated with that body as a voluntary supervisor of the publicity campaign.

Previous to the six Victory Loans he organized the News and Features Committee of the Periodical Publishers' War Finance Publicity Committee. He served as editor looking after all Canadian periodicals. During this time he worked with such men as the Hon. J. L. Isley, Dr. Clark, David Mansur, H. L. Garner and others.

Since the war he looked after the $2,000,000 financial drive on behalf of the Ontario Cancer Foundation. Within three months he had set up some 40 committees from Cornwall and Ottawa in the east to Niagara Falls in the west, and as far as Timmins and Sault Ste. Marie in the north.

After accepting several other executive positions he served un-

Mental Illness Increasing Doctor Warns

A speech of Dr. Silverman, assistant professor of psychiatry and director of the Mental Hygiene Institute of Montreal, McGill University, was quoted by Miss Mary Ross, VON supervisor, at the meeting on Wednesday of the Peterborough board.

Speaking at the annual general meeting of the VON Board of Conveners held in Ottawa last month, he said that mental and emotional illness constitutes one of the greatest threats to economic security. He stated that it is a fact that more than half of all hospital patients in Canada are in mental hospitals. At the present time 50,000 patients are in such hospitals at an annual cost of $20,000,000. Approximately one third of all patients, who have complaints of any kind, are ill through mental conflict.

Dr. Silverman urged that more consideration be given to behaviour problems in the home, school and industry, and stressed the need for prevention and treatment of disturbances in the behaviour of children. "It is of the utmost importance," he said, "that we should develop more adequate mental health service for all children and that parents and teachers should learn to give the same consideration to mental handicaps in children as is given now to physical disabilities."

A letter was read from the National Office asking that a service payment be made to the national organization by the local branch on a basis of 2½ cents per visit, to become effective January, 1949. The matter was turned over to the finance committee for consideration before advising that the board was in agreement with the request.

James Dutton, Sr., reported on the following nominations and appointments, which were approved: medical committee, Dr. J. J. Dawson, Dr. R. A. Kelly, Dr. D. Whyte; Ministerial Association, Rev. Dr. James Semple; Roman Catholic representative, Rev. F. M. Grant; appointments to the Board of Governor of VON for Canada, J. E. Given, Charles Elliott, John Bradshaw, F. J. Overend, Dr. G. S. Cameron, Wilson Gemmell, H. Bradburn, Mrs. R. H. Hall, Mrs. J. Lynch, Miss R. Young, Alderman Richard Raine and J. L. Thompson; finance committee, Fred J. Overend, Charles H. Elliott, Wilson Gemmell and James Dutton.

In her report, Miss Young gave the following details of VON work during April, "187 patients were under care during the month, of whom 97 were new patients. A total of 658 visits were made. 336 visits were for care to medical and surgical patients. These patients are of all ages and visits were made according to their needs. Nine of these were patients cared for on return from hospital."

J. E. Given presided at the meeting.

Hope Donations For Arena To Be Tax Free

Question of donations to the Civic Arena campaign being tax-free was taken up by Gordon K. Fraser, M.P. for Peterborough West. In reply to a question from Mr. Fraser, Finance Minister Abbott said in the Commons on Wednesday, that in a good many cases, donations for the construction of memorial halls or arenas can be considered proper charitable donations for income tax purposes.

Transport Bill Makes Progress Through House

OTTAWA, May 20 — (CP) — Transport Minister Chevrier's bulky bill amending the Canada Shipping Act made good progress through the Commons Tuesday, despite stiff opposition to some of its clauses from both sides of the House.

The bill, first major overhaul of the Act in more than a decade, was nearing final reading after passage through the Senate.

Members from the seaboards, representing various parties, were particularly critical of some of the amendments. To their complaints was added the voice of John T. Hackett (PC-Stanstead), president of the Canadian Bar Association.

Mr. Hackett launched an attack at the night session against a provision empowering the minister to exempt vessels from steamship inspection in emergencies. This clause was a continuation of authority given to the minister in wartime.

The Stanstead member said it subjugates the rule of law to the minister's discretion. He was joined in protest by Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East) and T. L. Church (PC—Toronto Davenport).

Mr. Chevrier contended the provision is aimed at avoiding lay-ups of ships in cases where inspections has to be delayed unavoidably. He was upheld by A. W. Stuart (L—Charlotte) and Loran Baker (L—Shelburne-Yarmouth-Clare), both from seaside ridings.

But Mr. Stuart was among the critics of other sections of the legislation, chiefly those classifying as "steamships" vessels that use auxiliary engines for propulsion.

He said the regulations are restrictive since they apply to fishing vessels, and he called for "a little liberty for fishermen."

Driver Fined For Killing Dog

TORONTO May 20 (CP)—Harry A. Manderson, 22-year-old truck driver, was fined $125 and costs or 30 days in jail, charged with cruelty to an animal and failing to remain at the scene of an accident which resulted in the death of a seeing-eye dog owned by John Berzanski. Manderson also failed to produce an operator's licence.

The 10-month-old German shepherd, known as Laddie, was presented to Mr. Berzanski after shopbreakers broke into his home several weeks ago and shot his former seeing-eye dog.

"I saw the dog hesitate and then cross the road," said A. C. Packer, who was driving behind Manderson's truck when the dog was struck. "The truck made no attempt to avoid the dog, which I could tell was a well-trained one. Shortly afterward I picked up a policeman and followed the accused."

"There is no doubt in my mind you knew you hit the dog and deliberately drove away," commented Magistrate Thomas S. Elmore.

3 Bus Drivers Have Served 21 Years

Three city bus drivers have been with the Peterborough Bus Lines since it began 21 years ago in 1927. They are Tom Drumm, Bill McDougall and Lawrence Gibson, who between them have driven 1,560,000 miles, equivalent to 40 times around the world. All have received awards for safe driving and all worked for the Peterborough Street Railway before the bus company was formed. Tom Drumm holds the "No Accident Driver Award" of the Ontario Safety League for 13 years, which is probably a Peterborough record. Altogether he has had 20 years driving buses; for the past year he has been working as a despatcher. He was originally working as a lineman for the Hydro Commission and had one year on the old street cars before the buses were introduced. "The public is pretty courteous," he said, "people tend to come with suggestions rather than complaints. Drunks are the most annoying passengers, but none have been real bad." Mr. Drumm lives at 250 Romaine St. and came to Peterborough in 1922.

Bill McDougall hasn't driven for the last five years, when he has been working as a despatcher. He has never had a serious accident and has an award for four years without an accident of any kind. "As a whole the public is very courteous," he said, "but some people are grouchy. Passengers that are slow getting on and off the buses give the most annoyance." Mr. McDougall came to Peterborough in 1914 and is now living at Bridgenorth. He worked for two years as a motor-man and did five years shed work with the street railway before becoming a bus driver.

Lawrence Gibson, of 483 Parnell St., is the only one of the old-timers who is still driving today. He has driven 600,000 miles, and practically 100,000 miles more than either of the other two men who are now despatchers, since he began with the Peterborough Bus Lines. After leaving the Army in 1918, he spent eight years on the street cars before the bus company was started. Mr. Gibson also served for five years in World War II with the Royal Canadian Regiment. He is a Peterborough man and was born here in 1903.

The June meeting will be at the home of Miss E. Waldon.

Canada Draws Only 80 Million

OTTAWA, May 20 — (CP) — Canada has drawn only $80,000,000 on the $300,000,000 loan obtained from the United States export-import bank, Finance Minister Abbott said Wednesday in the Commons.

Rising on a question of privilege, Mr. Abbott said he noted that a Canadian Press report on part of his budget speech had said that $130,000,000 was drawn on the loan to the end of April. The confusion, he said, probably resulted from his own terminology. He had stated that at the end of March Canada's American dollar reserves were $607,000,000 of which $50,000,000 represented drawing up the export-import bank. At the end of April they were $668,000,000, including $80,000,000 drawings upon the loan.

Boyer Appeal Delayed Again

MONTREAL, May 20 (CP).—The long drawn-out case of Dr. Raymond Boyer was interrupted Wednesday for the fourth time in a year when one of the five judges hearing the appeal of the wartime chemist against a conspiracy conviction withdrew from the trial.

The case, in which the wealthy Montreal scientist seeks to have quashed his conviction for conspiracy to give away Canada's wartime secrets, was adjourned until today when Mr. Justice J. L. St. Jacques decided his conscience would not allow him to sit at the hearing.

This meant that the appeal hearing, which began Tuesday night will have to be started again if the defence does not waive its rights.

Mr. Justice St. Jacques pointed out that he had sat in appeal on the Rose case and it was a question whether his conscience would allow him to sit in the present hearing.

Court was recessed for 20 minutes while the appeal judges conferred. On their return it was announced that Mr. Justice St. Jacques had decided to withdraw.

Minister Won't Defend Church Rule Violation

LOS ANGELES, May 20 (AP).—The former Sydney, N.S., minister who married Lana Turner and Bob Topping said Wednesday he would offer no defence to violation of church rules, but added he was impressed by the "deep sincerity" of both as they took their fourth mates.

Dr. Stewart P. MacLennan, retired pastor of Hollywood Presbyterian church, has been criticized for officiating at the Topping-Turner marriage.

A presbytery official disclosed

$100,000 DAMAGE TO FOOD FACTORY—This is a view of the Garden Valley Food Products plant, near Wallaceburg, after an explosion and fire caused damage estimated at more than $100,000. The Ontario Fire Marshal's Office has been asked to probe the blast.

Tuesday that a commission of ministers and laymen has been appointed to hear charges that Dr. MacLennan violated church law which requires a year's wait before a divorced person can be remarried. Topping had been divorced three days before by Arline Judge.

The pastor said he was unaware that he was violating any canon, that he did so "unwittingly and unconsciously" and that he would act as his own accuser when the commission meets, thus eliminating the need for a trial.

Lightning Kills Dog Family Escapes

Lightning killed a collie dog on Sunday, when an electrical storm swept over the Bolsover district north of Lindsay. Dan McDonald and members of his family were sitting at home with the dog stretched out in front of a battery-powered radio, when there was a blinding flash and the room filled with smoke.

When the smoke cleared, the dog was dead although none of the people in the room were injured. Fire to the battery attached to the fire to the battery attached to the radio and Mr. McDonald's quick action in putting out the fire saved his home from possible destruction.

Capt. Blackburn Thorn In Side of Labor Party

LONDON, May 20 — (CP). — Capt. Raymond Blackburn, 33, a barrister and journalist, wrote a wartime book called "The Problem and Rights of Soldiers" his friends now suggest he could write another on the rights and problems of a Labor member of Parliament.

Sometimes Blackburn's views are in line with government policy, sometimes not. But he is recognized as the gadfly of the Leftist fringe of his party; an unsparing critic of fiscal policies pursued by former Fuel Minister Shewan; an industrious student of foreign affairs, and something of an authority on scientific research, during atomic energy developments.

Weeks before the 1947 fuel crisis hit Britain and threw millions out of work temporarily, Blackburn blasted at Shewan's policies and the system of coal allocation. He was a leader among the backbenchers who demanded a change in administration, even at the expense of a new portfolio for Shewan, who later became War Minister in Cabinet shuffle.

Foreign Affairs a Specialty

But his specialty has been foreign affairs. Long before pessimism developed over relations with Russia, Blackburn brought the groans from Labor benches with his demand for a strong line by Foreign Secretary Bevin.

Recently he brought before the House the touchy question of some Labor members' support for the pro-Communist Nenni Socialists in the Italian election. He used typically stern words: "I will only say that in sending a message to Italy inviting Italy to join the Communist conspiracy against freedom, they have shown themselves to be traitors to the cause of the Labor Party and to the cause of freedom and democracy."

He went to Greece this year to see the fight against Communist ambitions. This was his verdict: "The country that gave the word 'tragedy' to the world is indeed the greatest example of tragedy in the world to-day. The villages of Greece are, on the whole, dominated by terror. It is most important for us to understand that to-day the Communists rely on terror and not on persuasion as their main weapon."

changes recommended in 1943 by the "Wilson report," a provincially-sponsored survey, all but five had been implemented.

A mother's allowance increase recommendation was not for his department to implement, he said. Increasing use is being made of child-guidance clinics.

Inability to find staff members had prevented setting up a

Mr. Hill challenged a statement by Dr. Whitton that Alberta offered no industrial or training schools for youthful offenders or opportunities for observing them.

Kamloops Trout Thriving In Lake Bernard

TORONTO (Special). — Kamloops trout, introduced into Ontario waters from British Columbia, are thriving. Spawning operations completed by the Division of Fish and Wildlife, Department of Lands and Forests, augur well for the future of this game fish in provincial waters.

The fish were planted in Lake Bernard, Ontario, some years ago and the collecting of spawn was completed this week. The Department is most interested in the results since this was the first natural reproduction of the fish in the province. The take of the spawn was well up to expectations and has given a good start on the restocking of Ontario waters with this fine type of game fish.

Pickering spawning operations have been completed on Lake Huron and Lake Erie, with one of the best collections in many years. Game overseers and experts from the division are right at the peak of the distribution of speckled trout, with most of the restocking being of yearling size, ranging from five to seven inches. The fish are being placed in the streams and lakes in all parts of the province. In Southern Ontario emphasis is being placed on the distribution of brown trout which fare better in the warmer water of the southern streams. None of the browns are being planted in the good speckled trout waters in the north, but about one million are being stocked in the southern waters. The Department has been greatly encouraged by reports of good catches of fairly large brown trout in the southern end of the

Wins Acquittal In Murder Case

VANCOUVER, May 20—(CP)—Sentenced to be hanged as an accomplice in a policeman's murder, William Henderson Wednesday night won an acquittal.

An assize court jury freed him of a murder charge laid after the slaying a year ago last February of Police Constable Charles Boyes.

Henderson was tried as a sequel to Henry Medes' conviction of the murder. Medes was hanged Oct. 1.

The acquittal is the culmination of a series of appeals from the decision of Mr. Justice A. M. Manson, who in August, 1947, sentenced Henderson to be hanged. A retrial was ordered by the Supreme Court of Canada on appeal.

Basis for the acquittal was the failure of the Crown to establish a mutual design on the part of Medes, Douglas Carter and Hen-

CONSIDERED CHICO—This picture might be called the punster's delight. It would seem that hen's eggs were growing on trees but according to the photographer it is "No yolk, son." Farmers in the poultry area of Puerto Rico decorate trees with fresh eggs for a purpose. The tropical sunlight brilliantly reflected by egg shells is supposed to scare the lizards away. At any rate they consider it an eggsalutary idea although the lizards who eat much of the plant life have not been given a chance to tell their side of the story.

Navigation Unchanged By Power Project

WASHINGTON, May 20—(P)—Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep., Wis.) was advised today by the New York State Power Authority that joint New York-Ontario harnessing of St. Lawrence Hydro-Electric energy would not affect future navigation development of the river.

The authority has been directed by Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York to negotiate with the Province of Ontario on the proposed power development.

Authority representatives were expected in Toronto today for conferences with the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission.

The proposal has heretofore been considered as part of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project. Rejection by the United States Senate of legislation to authorize the latter prompted Dewey to seek the power development alone because of New York's need for electrical energy.

WILL RECEIVE HONOR—Lord Rowan-Allan, chief Boy Scout of the British Commonwealth, will be honored by McGill University, Montreal, on May 26 when he will be presented with an honorary degree. Lord Rowan-Allan made a coast-to-coast tour of Canada in 1946.

BUYS AND WHYS BY Barbara Brent

A weekly shopping and information service for today's women. MONTREAL, May 20th — I housecleaned the other day... thoroughly and most effectively with Sapho! This is the time of year when houseflies begin to buzz—mosquitoes to hum... and spiders to spin webs. So when a friend told me how completely Sapho-6% DDT had freed her home from Maytime insects, I tried it for myself. Remember "Sapho the Killer" on the radio... well known for his booming and confidence in his powers to destroy insect pests? Allow me to say that his confidence was well founded... never have I used anything as effective as Sapho! And so clean, too! It won't stain or harm furniture or clothing... all you do—just brush the DDT crystals away. Take my tip and ask for SAPHO 6% DDT. The liquid spray with hand sprayer... or for SAPHO 10% DDT Pest Dust.

Add This To Your Precious Collection of charm secrets... the sure knowledge of how and when and where to use perfumes and colognes! You'll find "PERFUMES AND COLOGNES—And When To Use Them" a priceless, aid-to-loveliness! Advice from experts in perfumes, it's a packed-with-information booklet for you—by CHANEL, "the most treasured name in perfumes"! Lights Out! The youngsters are tucked in for the night after their special bedtime treat of Kellogg's Pop! And how they love its crisp deliciousness! They like the fascinating, fun-to-play-with decal transfer pictures in every package of Pop.

There are sixty-four different designs—two free in each Pop package—sports, dogs, butterflies, aeroplanes—all in colour. Yes, youngsters like to see those packages of Pop in your market basket... and mothers like Pop because it's just what children need for sound growth and health. You see, it's a real whole grain cereal... the crisp whole wheat that's good to eat! Ask your grocer tomorrow for crunchy KELLOGG'S POP! It's priced way below what you'd expect from the cost of living index.

Where do children get all that energy? A lot of them get it from Vi-Tone—an every food that wise mothers keep on their kitchen shelves ready for use at all times of day. Vi-Tone contains minerals, vitamins and other elements essential in building strong bones—maintaining vitality. Children really love Vi-Tone! Its rich, chocolaty flavor makes milk taste twice as good—adds more calories to it, too! See that your children are equipped with plenty of energy this summer—serve Vi-Tone often! Try a free, trial tin of VI-TONE—write to me—Barbara Brent, Dept. M-4, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

Making Merry Plans for your May 24 holiday? You might decide to go for a jaunt into the Spring countryside—with the satisfaction of knowing that there is at least a delicious dessert ready for supper when you return. Something like Orange Tarts Glacé—sparkling and delicious, made with Jell-O®-folded drained sweetened orange sections into slightly thickened Orange Jell-O. Chill in baked tart shells. For an extra touch—top with whipped cream.

For another wonderful "looked-in" JELL-O flavor. And of course—Jell-O is as drifty as a desert material as you could imagine.

Have you thought of converting your War Savings Certificates into Victory Bonds or Canada Savings Bonds? It's an excellent way to keep your savings intact, you know... and the BANK OF MONTREAL provides a special service for this very thing. The B of M looks after my Certificates as they come—and credits the full proceeds toward my Canada Savings Bond. The Bank charges very little for this service—and saves me the trouble of sending each Certificate to Ottawa myself, as it matures. Letting the B of M handle the matter also helps me duck the temptation of spending the money on "little things" now... helps me save for the important things I've always wanted. Ask your B of M accountant about this really worthwhile service tomorrow!

Lingerie laundering can be a cinch instead of a chore! The secret is in a lingerie wardrobe of nylon... nylon nighties, slip, panties and bras. So simple to wash—so quick to dry... and there's no need at all to ironing! It has such an amazing resistance to wear—it looks freshly, crisply lovely with so little effort on your part that you'll want to begin collecting that nylon lingerie wardrobe now! Nylon's beauty is its lasting beauty, as women wise in the ways of fashion and the family budget have told me over and over again! And, remember—when you're buying—your assurance of quality and satisfaction in nylon lingerie is that important C-I-L Nylon Lingerie Tag. Look for it!

Morning, noon and night... every mealtime in your busy day can be made faster, more exciting with versatile C R O W BRAND CORN SYRUP! Begin your day with a "Crown Brand" breakfast—fruit juice—cereal sweetened with this delicious corn syrup—bacon—h-eggs—coffee and golden brown toast topped with Crown Brand. Then for your noon or evening meal, there are these delicious recipes... Old-Fashioned Baked Beans—Bran Muffins—Applesauce Cookies—Chocolate Cream Pie. Simply write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.—for your copy of Crown Brand Recipe Sheet C.B.A.

Here's such a simple way to make your husband happy that you can't afford to ignore it! If there's one thing a man really loves... it's a good cup of coffee... coffee with zest and flavour and full-bodied richness! Time now to take stock of your husband's "response" to the coffee you serve him! If he drinks it without enthusiasm... switch to Chase & Sanborn—the smoother, the better! You see, with the basic goodness of the coffee bean! So don't deprive your husband of good coffee, will you? Give him CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE and he'll say... "Honey, this is REAL coffee!"

BARBARA ANN AT U.S. GOLF TOURNAMENT—The second annual U.S. Celebrities Golf Tournament, the proceeds of which will go toward providing recreational equipment for children, was held at Columbia Country Club in nearby Maryland, with a stellar list of contestants from government, sport world, stage, screen and radio. Rain, however, dampened things a bit, and shown here under a big umbrella are Margaret Truman (right) and Barbara Ann Scott, of Ottawa, world champion figure skater (left). Misses Truman and Scott were scorers in the tournament. Holding the umbrella is Francis Timmons, of the Washington Post newspaper, sponsor of the tournament.

Labor Party Shows Anxiety

SCARBOROUGH, Yorks, England, May 20.—(CP)—This seaside town is the political capital of Britain as Labor government and party leaders prepare for the general election expected in 1950. The annual party conference has become a campaign against complacency in the ranks of the party which holds 396 of the Commons' 640 seats. Some 1,200 delegates have had it hammered home to them that they must close their ranks and gird themselves for what Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, predicted will be "the greatest fight of our lives."

Two party spokesmen told the Canadian Press they hoped that the expulsions of John Platts-Mills and Alfred Edwards, approved quickly by delegates, meant the end of inter-party strife. They said even-handed justice had been given the Left Wing Platts-Mills and Right Wing Edwards.

Jubilant over the 1945 victory evident at the last two annual conferences has been replaced this year by plain anxiety at their opponents' progress. Attentive delegates heard a speaker from the floor ask them not to underestimate polls like that recently published by the Sunday Pictorial which said an immediate election would give the Conservatives 49 per cent. of the votes cast.

COUNTRY GIRL DRESS—This peasant dress is a one-piece affair, not the usual blouse and skirt duo which the country girls of foreign parts wear, and which we have bought, borrowed and stolen, from Latin America to the Alps. It is a junior dress not expensive, and quite pretty enough for square-dancing nights; not too coy for everyday wear and tear. The blouse is white cotton, with whipped red edging on its ruffles; the printed (and pedigreed) cotton skirt is black, with a design of blue, red or yellow roses between rows of scalloped eyelet embroidery. This embroidery effect is also a printed device.

the liquid is tender—as high as 3 hours for skirt or flank steak; add water if necessary. After sauteing this may be baked, since the oven is to be heated for the cherry pie.

We think the butter goes farther if it is melted and served in small pitcher at table, than if cold butter is used on boiled asparagus.

To make the open face cherry pie make a baked pie shell; then drain juice from 1 can cherries, add 1 cup boiling water to it; mix 1-3 cup sugar with 4 tablespoons juice into it.

Stir over heat until thick, then

To make the Chicken à la King as nourishing as possible, since it is the one hot dish, add peas, canned or frozen, chopped green pepper, or pimiento, and 1 beaten egg to the white sauce, before chicken is added. One 7-oz. tin chicken will serve four if extended with the vegetable suggested above.

Lemon Snow is a good dessert for this time of year because it provides a dish where we can use lemon juice which contains the scarce vitamin-C, and also satisfies our craving for fruit.

Soak 2 tablespoon gelatin in 1/4 cup cold water for 5 minutes, then add 1 cup boiling water to it and stir until gelatin dissolves. Add 1/2 cup sugar, pinch of salt, 1 tablespoon grated lemon rind, 1/4 cup lemon juice. Cool until slightly thickened. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff, then add
1/4 cup sugar, and beat again.
Fold into the slightly thickened pudding and let chill, or pour into serving dishes to chill. Serve with

Custard Sauce 1 cup milk, 2 egg yolks, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Scald the milk, beat yolks with sugar and salt. Slowly stir the hot milk into them, then return to double boiler stirring until thick over simmering water.
When cooked mixture coats spoon.
Immediately remove from heat, and add vanilla.

Note: If custard sauce is cooked too long it curdles: If this occurs beat with rotary beater. This sauce is good on strips of stale cake spread with jam; or over sliced bananas or strawberries.

Preview of Shoe Styles Given Kawartha Dealers

"Canadian women are more style conscious than ever before," said Miss Betty Hill, Toronto, well-known shoe stylist in an address to the Kawartha Shoe Club on Wednesday night. She said this was largely due to fashion magazines and radio talks which allowed even those women in remote places to know of recent style trends.

Nearly 50 persons, including guests, were present as Miss Hill told of New York creations and prophesied those lines likely to prove popular on this side of the border. She pointed out that this country could not expect to carry all the styles shown at New York because that metropolis catered to a large transient trade which was always looking for something novel.

Miss Hill said that there would be many varieties of shoes for women to pick from this year. She claimed that pumps were increasing in popularity. Open-toed shoes were described as still popular but she said also that there was a swing back to closed shoes.

Stylish shoes for those requiring corrective footwear were also described. This trend was later elaborated upon by W. Brimblecombe, Toronto, who said there was no need to limit this line to a one-pattern, unstylish trend.

Miss Hill then went on to say that dress shoes would have gold and colored piping. In New York, she said, this type was common even in walking-out lines.

Popular colors she said would be pine green, fiesta wine, cocoa, dark grey, black, and town brown. As usual the black would be the largest seller but dark grey would be worn by not only old women but also many younger ones as well.

She suggested that retailers try to educate the public to the proper care of shoes by selling polish, shoebrushes and brushes. Polish preserves the leather, she said.

Miss Hill had little to say about men's styles pointing out that the male sex seemed to be too conservative to make many changes worthwhile. She observed, however, that a little more color was being injected in the masculine apparel and this would cause changes in taste.

The speaker was introduced by Clare Collins, and president William Moorhead passed along the vote of thanks after a gift had been presented by Harry Silver, Arthur Sutherland, Toronto, extended greetings to the Kawartha Shoe Club on behalf of the Toronto Shoe Club and congratulated the local body on its large turnout and the general enthusiasm shown.

Mr. Brimblecombe said that on a relative scale the increase in the price of shoes was less than that of any other commodity which made up wearing apparel. He claimed that the price of shoes did not show the high market price of leather.

Unless there is a break in the price of hides in the next three or four months, he predicted a boost in the retail price of shoes. After that he believes there will be a drop.

At the head table were Mr. Collins, Miss Hill, Mr. Moorhead, Mr. Sutherland and Mr. Silver.

Getting Out Your Recipes For Strawberry Season

By MARY MOORE

Nobody believes me but there are strawberries in my patch that will be ripe next week.

When I visited the locker to "take stock" of the fruit I had left (Marianne and Peter have been getting the frozen fruit from the locker for me during the winter) I found six quarts of strawberries still left, so I have been using them to try out the recipe for the three strawberry desserts I am giving you today.

The family is overwhelmed with all the luxurious pies and wonders what has come over me—for like, ly as not for the next few days they will have to struggle along on half or a grapefruit for dessert.

The pie that we all felt was best I have put first—but do not depend on that selection too strongly—we were very hungry that night because we had been working hard in the garden most of the afternoon.

Emmet's Strawberry Pie

Using one quart berries select one cup of the poorer ones and crush them, and to them add one cup water, and one teaspoon gelatine. Let stand five minutes. Mix together $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar, four tablespoons cornstarch or arrowroot flour (arrowroot flour gives a clearer syrup), $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt, and add this to the crushed strawberry mixture and cook, stirring until it thickens. Cook over boiling water 20 minutes.

Meanwhile slice the remaining berries in halves into a baked pie shell and sprinkle with one table-spoon powdered sugar. Strain the cooked mixture over the fresh berries in the pie shell, while it is hot. Chill. When ready to serve pipe heavy whipped cream around the edge with the frosting tube, and garnish with a few choice berries.

Strawberry Pie De Luxe

Pastry: 1 cup sifted flour, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup shortening, about 2 tablespoons cold water. Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Add water. Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Add water, barely mix, and turn out on flour-board. Roll out $\frac{1}{4}$ inch thick and line pastry dish with it. Prick with fork and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for about 10 to 12 minutes. Cool.

Beat one small package white cream cheese until light and fluffy and spread over the baked pastry shell.

Strawberry Filling: Mix together 2-3 to $\frac{3}{4}$ cup sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup cornstarch, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup water and 1 pint washed and halved strawberries. Cook stirring until thickened and clear over boiling water. Cool. Fold in remaining berries which have been cleaned and halved. Pour over cheese in pie shell. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream.

Strawberry Cake

(Top of Stove Cooking) Grease a heavy 10-inch frying-pan and cover bottom with two layers of heavy wax or parchment paper.

Sift together $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups sifted flour, $1\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon baking powder, and $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt. Cream very well $\frac{1}{2}$ cup good quality shortening, and add 1 cup sugar to it gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add the flour mixture alternately with $\frac{1}{2}$ cup milk, beating smooth between additions. Add $\frac{3}{4}$ teaspoon vanilla. Fold in three stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into the prepared fry-pan. Cover. Bake on a surface burner over moderate heat for five minutes, then reduce heat as low as possible for 25 minutes to finish baking. (This may be baked in over if preferred). Cut into wedges to serve and pour over.

Golden Sauce (or spread with ice cream): Beat 3 egg yolks until stiff and lemon-colored and add 2 tablespoons sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon vanilla. Beat until stiff and light. Spread top generously with sweetened, sliced strawberries.

Grade Ten Girls Hold Final Meet

Grade Ten Y Club concluded its activities for this term with a gala supper meeting in the YWCA. The room and tables were prettily decorated for the occasion. Guests at the head table with the president, Miss Margaret Walton were Miss Olga Johnson, Miss Annabeth Reidel, Miss Judy Wood and Miss Marilyn Pomeroy. Members were thrilled to receive a telegram from their former leader Mrs. Nora Peel who sent best wishes for luck in examinations and a happy vacation.

Miss Johnston spoke to the club on the YWCA Reconstruction Fund and the "March of Dimes" campaign for funds. Miss Judy Wood, a talented young singer who is soloist with the PCVS Choral Club entertained with a pleasing selection and was accompanied by Miss Marilyn Pomeroy. A highly amusing skit was presented by Misses Adele Rostok and Evelyn Wallace. All took part in an interesting game.

When Teen Y re-convenes in the fall, members will be this term's grade nine pupils of PCVS and St. Peter's high school. Their predecessors will decide upon a fitting initiation to begin the year for them.

Fair-Olan Vows Pledged

MILLBROOK, May 19—(ENS)—A quiet wedding was solemnized at the parsonage of St. Andrew's United Church Saturday afternoon, when the Rev. G. C. R. McQuade united in marriage Mar- retta Alberta, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Olan, of Millbrook, and Joseph Fair, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Fair of Ida.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a wedding gown of white satin, with sweetheart neckline, long sleeve coming to points over her hands fitted bodice buttoned to the waistline at the back with self-covered buttons. The full skirt extended gracefully into a short train and her long veil of silk tulle illusion was held in place with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of red roses and sweet peas.

Miss Jessie Murney attended the bride wearing a gown of pink figured marquisette, with finger-tip sleeves, bouffant skirt, and fitted bodice. Her small matching hat was of flowers, with a short veil, and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations and sweet peas. Mr. Robert Fair, of Toronto, was his brother's groomsmen.

The reception was at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Olan wore a flowered silk jersey dress, with black hat and accessories, and corsage of carnations. Mrs. Fair also received, her dress being of mist-grey silk crepe, with black hat and accessories, and corsage of pink carnations.

The bride's table was in a color scheme of pink and white, lace-covered, with a cluster of wedding bells overhead, and centred with the tiered wedding cake, with tall white tapers on either side. The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Benjamin Olan and Mrs. Samuel Kennedy, poured tea from a silver service at either end of the table. Serving the guests were Misses Mary Baldwin, Betty North, Kathleen Olan and Mary Raper.

For a wedding trip to the States the bride wore a brown silk crepe dress, with floral pattern, brown hat, shortie coat and accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Fair will live at Millbrook.

BEAU-CATCHER VEIL AND CALOT—A beguiling little straw calot can top your summer prints or tailored frocks, and with the eye veil of black maline, as provided with this tiny elf cap, become a flirtatious accessory. Straw braid flowers with dewdrop rhinestone centers trim the calot, making it assume more important roles than its simple, beanie kin. On its practical side, such a hat covers a swim-wrecked coiffure adeptly, and again, one needn't remoye it to help the fellow behind, at the theatre.

the fall tea at the home of Mrs. W. R. Morris. Subscriptions from members and the generous response of friends to the Society's annual appeal brought the revenue for the year to a satisfactory total. A substantial amount is sent directly to head office in Ottawa for use in the Labrador mission field. Several bales of clothing have been sent to Harrington Harbour and letters of appreciation are most encouraging. Plans were made for a spring tea to be held at the home of Mrs. B. D. Hall, 59 McDonnell St., on Friday, June 11. This date marks the close of the annual appeal for funds which is now open.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Doubts Marriage Can Remain Perpetual Courtship

A wife who has tried it says that all of this sweetness and light advice to brides about keeping on cutting bait after they have landed their fish is just so much malarkey.

She says: "It is all very well to tell the starry-eyed girl in love that she mustn't slump after she gets married; that she must keep young and glamorous and be smartly dressed, and meet her husband when he comes home with a glad smile, and always smooth his fur the right way.

"The program sounds fine, but

the catch is that it won't work. For courtship is one thing and married life is another thing, and the amenities of one estate don't fit into the other.

"Further more," concludes this woman who has trodden the upward and downward paths of matrimony, "it is doubtful if man would want a wife who was a perpetual sweetheart. It would be too much of a strain to live up to her."

Thus speaks the voice of experience, and it is only too sadly true what she says. For there is no magic in the marriage ceremony that changes ordinary, prosaic, everyday men and women into romantic heroes and heroines, and that enables them to live in deluxe apartments on a clerk's salary.

Technique Different

So there are many good reasons why the technique of the wife and the Lady Love should differ. Take the matter of looks, for instance, probably every bridegroom gets a shock when he discovers how much of his Angelina's pulchritude is due to art and not nature, for few women are as pretty as they are painted. But to expect her to keep up this delusion of grandeur for 30 or 40 years is asking the impossible. Before marriage a girl has time for beauty shops. After marriage she has to hustle to get the family's breakfast, instead of dilly-dallying on her complexion and painting her toe nails.

Then there is the matter of always being sweet and amiable and yes-yesing a man, no matter what he says or does. It is a trick so simple that a bobby-soxer could pull it off, but it is only thing to jolly a man along before marriage, when he is taking you out on a swell date and you are having a good time, and something else again when you have to keep a husband buttered up with flattery to keep the peace.

Before marriage all girls are optimists who believe that they are going to come up to their husbands' ideals and be the perfect wives that every man thinks it his due, no matter what sort of a husband he is himself. It is only after wives realize that their husbands expect them to be parlor ornaments and kitchen slaves; to make one dollar do the work of five; to look like a million dollars in a hand-me-down suit; to congregate good meals out of the air instead of the grocery; to rear children and pinch pennies and never lose their looks or their temper or get nerves, that they give up the effort to be the kind of wives that their husbands feel they deserve.

So the advice to brides about retaining their girlish figures and keeping young and beautiful, no matter how old they get, and continuing to practice their fascinations upon their husbands, really gets them nowhere, and they had just as well scrap it to start with.

Every wife's best bet is to be easy to live with. If she doesn't nag, if she laughs at her husband's jokes, if she feeds him well and babies him a little, she can be happy through married. And so can he.

For Friday, May 21

Rather adverse and trying conditions seem to dominate on this day, judging by conflicting astral influences. It is probable that finances, property, family interests and possessions, and general welfare are at stake, with dangers from loss and treacherous entanglements. However, there is possibility that a judicious use of the purely personal element, with social, cultural or financial influence, could find happy and lucrative reactions on all menaced objectives and ties. Take care of health and that of the family as well.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are advised to take heed of the safety and endurance of their health, possessions, ambitions and objectives of all contacts and interests in life. These are under a rather crystallized or static influence, which calls for a careful, prudent and sagacious course of action, since business, family and romantic associations are slowed down. However, the judicious use of the personal element, social, artistic, professional or financial, have promise of setting aside obstacles and limitations. Family, love affairs and all kindred interests may gain by the injection of personality, charm, magnetism. Plans, motives and goals demand discretion.

A child born on this day, although meeting with opposition and limitations in life, are fortified to dispose of these by a prudent use of its personal graces, charms, talents and pleasant disposition.

University Plans
To Honor
Mrs. McWilliams

Her Peterborough friends will be interested in the honor which the University of Toronto is paying to Mrs. R. F. McWilliams, wife of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, at the commencement exercises Wednesday, June 2 at 3 p.m.

The announcement from the University is that Margaret May Stovel McWilliams of Winnipeg will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters. She graduated from University College in 1898, and is being honored because of her active roles in educational, organized social work and municipal affairs.

Hon. R. F. McWilliams was born in Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. B. McWilliams. He practiced law here, served in the city council of which he was mayor, supported the Chamber of Commerce and took active interest in other community affairs. Mr. McWilliams played a strong game with the rugby club during his years in the first years of the century, and probably had much to do with the introduction of the game in Peterborough.

Mrs. McWilliams has various talents and capabilities in her own right, and has been a great help to her husband in their long term of duty and prominence as the King's representative in the province of Manitoba.

Peterborough is also interested in another of those whom the University has selected for honor in this year's commencement. Mr.
Charles T. Curle, professor emeritus of archaeology and director emeritus of the Royal Ontario Museum of Archaeology, will receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Now living in Hope township, north of Port Hope, Prof. Curle is the father of Mr. J. C. N. Curle, barrister of this city.

E. B. Jolliffe
Speaks Tonight

E. B. Jolliffe, provincial C.C.F. leader will speak at a public meeting in the Collegiate auditorium this evening starting at 8 o'clock. His visit is in the interests of John G. Morton, C.C.F. candidate in the Peterborough riding in the June 7 election. He will be the first of the provincial party leaders to address a Peterborough audience in this city.
Farquhar Oliver, Liberal leader being slated to visit here next week.

Edward B. Jolliffe, Ontario
C.C.F. party leader, is still a young man as politicians go—he is 39 years old—but he has been a member of the provincial C.C.F. executive since 1936. And among politicians his background is probably unique.

Born in China in 1909, the son of Rev. Charles Jolliffe, a Canadian missionary, Mr. Jolliffe spent part of his boyhood on an Ontario farm. He attended elementary schools at Rockwood and Guelph, and at Chengku, China. He studied at West China University and graduated from the University of Toronto with a Rhodes scholarship to Oxford, after working throughout his student days as a newspaper man in Toronto, Montreal and New York.

He was admitted to the English bar from the Inns of Court, London, where he became the first Canadian to win the Arden prize of $2,000, granted for outstanding scholarship. He then returned to Toronto where he attended Ostrea Hall and took up law practice in Ontario.

Member British Labor Party

Ted Jolliffe—as his friends call him—first became active in politics in England where he joined the British Labor party in 1931.
Returning to Canada, he became C.C.F. campaign director for the 1934 and 1937 Ontario elections.

Elected provincial party leader when that office was created at a 1942 convention, Mr. Jolliffe guided his group through the 21st legislature that followed the 1943 Ontario general election in which his party became official opposition. Mr. Jolliffe was elected in 1944 and 1947 to the Ontario parliament.

Besides his formidable amount of work in political life, he finds time to practice law in Toronto.
Prominent in representing unemployed groups and trade unions, he has written many articles for legal publications and newspapers.

He was also for several years a general counsel in Canada for a number of international unions.

PARIS—Damage estimated at 50,000,000 francs (about $230,000) was caused when fire broke out Wednesday on board two French cargo ships, the Syrie and the Louis Dreyfus, which are undergoing repairs at Saint Nazaire, western France.

LONDON — Spring is really here. The BBC interrupted a musical program Wednesday night to broadcast a nightingale singing in the Kentish woods.

Bad Hail Storm

PARIS — A layer of hail four inches deep covered some roads after severe hail and thunder storms had swept many parts of France on Tuesday. Crops and fruit trees were damaged, and landslides in the Tour district swept away vineyards.

CAIRO — Premier Mahmoud
Fahmy Nokrasky Pasha decided the mobilization of all drivers of motor vehicles aged 18 to 25 with the exception of private chauffeurs. They will be liable for military service in Palestine.

ATHENS — Nicholas Tsoussis,
Chief of the Security Police, said eight persons have been arrested and charged with the May Day assassination of Minister of Justice Chritos Ladas. Ladas was killed by a hand grenade. Tsoussis said seven have confessed.

JERSEY, Channel Islands — Jersey faced its greatest "crisis" since the German invasion of 1940 — an airborne invasion of the dreaded potato-killing Colorado beetle, borne on the wind from the French coast 18 miles away. Worried islanders decided to deal with the threat to the $3-million potato crop with DDT. The invasion brought to a temporary halt at least the export of potatoes to Britain.

Catch Shark

HONG KONG — Fishermen said they caught a giant 450-pound shark containing the remains of a man's body off Cape de Guilar. The only identifying article appeared to be a piece of a United States Army jungle green trousers — worn by coun-less natives in this part of the world since war's end.

LONDON — Australia has placed a £1,500,000 ($6,000,000) order with Britain for 50 naval aircraft. Destined for the carrier Sydney, at present nearing completion in Devonport, Dockyard, the planes will consist of 25 Fairley Fireflies and 25 Hawker Sea
Furies of the latest type.

LONDON, England — Britain's coal output last week, at 4,177, 900 tons, increased by 57,400 tons over the previous week's figure.

Widow Gets Estate

LOS ANGELES — The $250,000 estate of Tom Breneman, radio master of ceremonies, has been left to his widow, Billie Dunn Breneman, former actress. Breneman died April 28 at the age of 47.
He had conducted the "breakfast"
in Hollywood radio show.

CAIRO — The Egyptian Chamber of Deputies adopted a bill allocating $3,000,000 (about $20-000,000) to meet the expenses of the Egyptian army. Parliament last week approved the allotment of $4,000,000 for the same purpose.

SHANGHAI — An explosion in the Tienfu coal mines in western China killed at least 92 Chinese, the newspaper Ta Kung Pao reported. The mines are near Chungking. The blast occurred
May 14.

into action of two Moncton policemen in evicting a Saint John Negro, W. A. Talbot, from Monistrate W. F. Lane said his finding would be announced in three

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

A TIME TO BE HOGGY CUPIDITY, if properly applied, is an important tool in the kit-bag of the fine bridge player. It is not unimportant for him to use it, when the chance is offered. Part of the fun of the game lies in the fact that a good opponent uses the same weapon against him and he then gets his opportunity later to retaliate. One spot for its use comes when the bidding has offered you an option between two courses of action—one to go ahead with a contract which your own side can surely make, the other to double the opponents and collect a penalty. Selecting the choice promising the larger number of points is no more than plain common sense.

UNDERMINED BY ICE FLOES — Minutes after a heavily loaded bus had passed over it, the bridge over the St. Jacques river, just outside Laprairie, near Montreal, Que., collapsed. No one was injured. The highway, incidentally, constructed about quarter of a century ago, was one of the first of the so-called "good roads."

Poets Arrive To Entertain In Hyde Park

By H. L. JONES.

LONDON, May 20 — (CF) — The poets have come to London's Hyde Park with the spring.

On the littered greensward of "Speaker's Corner"—where it is claimed anyone can say anything—they have taken their stands, flanked on either side by quick-fire orators and reformers, the regular park soap-boxers.

And they are winning the crowds. It is possibly because their message is chiefly one of cheerful promise. The very lightheartedness of it seems to draw park strollers like a magnet.

Mothers, kiddies by the hand, and home-bound workmen in overalls stop to listen to lines from Shakespeare, Spenser, and Chaucer, or perhaps a verse of the poet's own making.

Michael Clifton is a satirist whose barbed verses always draw a crowd. When he steps down another takes his place, delivering something more calculated to soothe.

Some are humorous but most are serious like Marion Charlesworth of Bloomsbury. She is one of the regular readers and gladdens the heart with such offerings.

BIG BANG

The two-day eruption of the volcano Krakatoa, Netherlands Indies, in 1883 was so violent that actual sounds of the explosion were heard nearly 3,000 miles away.

as lines from Gerard Manley Hopkins' poem "Spring": "Nothing is so beautiful as spring When weeds, in wheels, shoot long and lovely and lush..." Bearded Stanley Hurwitz of Paddington is mainly interested in short stories, but contributes poems as well. And there are also lyric poets like Tom Scott of St. Andrews whose verse is about lovers and seasons, experiences that they have known themselves.

The poets say their only reward is enjoying of sharing their poetry with all who care to listen. Why do they do it? "It's spring, isn't it?"

Say Arab Forces Control 80 Per Cent Of Jerusalem As Hagana Driven Back

Battle Reported Reaching Crisis Stage As Legion Hurls Armored Might Against Jewish Positions In Old City

WITHIN THE OLD CITY IN JERUSALEM, May 21.—(AP).—The end of a four-year-old battle for old walled Jerusalem seemed to be in sight today. Arabs Thursday night claimed control of 80 per cent. of the old city, seized by their forces or abandoned by the Jews. The Jewish Hagana and Irgun Zvai Leumi had been driven back to a thin defence line along the west side of the Jewish quarter.

Labor Minister Intervenes In Rail Dispute

OTTAWA, May 21.—(CP).—The government moved in on the railway wage dispute Thursday. Simultaneously, strike-vote returns from one large segment of rail labor indicated a heavy majority for a tie-up to enforce pay demands. With all normal conciliation processes tried unsuccessfully, Labor Minister Mitchell stepped in personally as mediator. He opened conferences with top railway officers on the possibility of settlement before the start of a paralyzing strike. The minister described today's discussion as just "exploratory" and had no comment on how much progress had been made. He made no proposals to the railways at this point, it was understood. Tuesday he is expected to meet officials of the rail unions, whose 140,000 members are looking for higher pay. In the interval, it is expected there will be further consultations between Labor Department officials and the company representatives.

Today A. R. Mosher, president of the 30,000-man Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers (C.B.E.T.W.), said members of that union are voting preponderantly in favor of a strike to back up their demands. Early returns indicated an "almost unanimous" ballot for a strike, President Mosher said. Full returns are expected during the week-end and may be made public about next Thursday.

Quadruplets Die

QUEBEC, May 21.—(CP).—Birth and death of quadruplets in the family of Joseph Botvin, Quebec shoe industry employee, was reported today. Condition of the 38-year-old mother was said to be satisfactory. The quadruplets, three girls and a boy, were born prematurely Thursday. One was dead at birth and the others died in the last 24 hours.

Council Snubs Elizabeth Night Club Ruckus Grows

LONDON, May 21.—(AP).—Another Scottish church group rebuked Princess Elizabeth today for frolicking on Sunday in Paris. The heiress apparent received support, however, from the Archdeacon of Lewes, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard and the London Star.

The General Assembly of the Free Church of Scotland started the ruckus Wednesday by sending Prime Minister Attlee a resolution saying Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip set a bad example by going to the races and a night club in Paris on Sunday.

The Scottish Free Presbyterian Synod of Inverness joined the protest today.

Without explanation, the princess was snubbed today by the Trades Union Council in Coventry. The Council decided to boycott her visit there tomorrow to dedicate a public square. The Council's executive committee planned to present representatives to the princess. The Free Presbyterians said they were "profoundly grieved" by the royal couple's Sunday activities. The Archdeacon of Lewes, the Venerable H. L. Morrell, decried the criticism. Speaking at Hastings last night, the Archdeacon said:

"Two well-loved members of our royal house, after faithfully doing their duty by attending divine service, for the second part of the day enjoyed themselves naturally and normally as people in that country (France) normally behave, and then there is an outburst by the Sabbatarian people in Scotland. That is both it is an example of the muddle-headed thinking which is becoming common among us."

The Evening Standard said critics of the princess are stiff-necked and unable to "look down into the fathomless abyss of their own folly." The newspaper said the General Assembly's resolution lacked good taste and insulted the French people and government who "outdid themselves in effort, courtesy and every mark of genuine respect and affection."

Only United Nations' Force Can Halt Jerusalem Battle

Gromyko Criticizes Members Seeking Weaker Council Action, Bernadotte Named Mediator

LAKE SUCCESS, May 21.—(CP).—The American-French-Belgian consular truce commission reported from Jerusalem today that nothing short of United Nations force could stop fighting in the Holy City. The report was read in the Security Council by Alexandre Parodi of France, this month's council president.

Besides recommending that the council consider assignment of forces to Palestine, the commission appeal for a group of military observers to help in its task. Egypt immediately objected that the truce commission has exceeded its authority by calling for force.

Russia's Andrei A. Gromyko, restating his support of the American plan for a forceful U.N. cease-fire order, renewed the Soviet attack on Britain. He said King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan was a Middle East Caesar supported by Britain. He sharply criticized China for seeking weaker council action. The Soviet deputy foreign minister concluded with a demand that the council order stoppage of "foreign military activities."

The Big Five Thursday appointed Count Folke Bernadotte, vice-president of the Swedish Red Cross, as the U.N. representative to seek agreement between Arabs and Jews.

Shortly after the appointment, the council received word from King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan that he would not answer the questions on war aims and actions sent Wednesday to the Arab League states and the "Jewish authorities in Palestine."

Won't Answer Questions

King Abdullah, who controls the Arab legion—strongest Arab force in the Middle East—said he would not answer the questions because they were proposed to the council by the United States which recognized the new state of Israel minutes after it was born but has never recognized Trans-Jordan.

The U.N. general assembly created the post of Palestine mediator last Friday. Paul Van Zeeland, former premier of Belgium, was also asked to serve but Count Bernadotte's acceptance was received first. Count Bernadotte, 53, will receive $26,000 annually for the post.

Another U.N. representative, Harold Evans, will serve as mayor of Jerusalem. He will attempt to preserve the holy places and keep peace.

The resolution was doomed with Britain leading the attack against it. Canada, Belgium, China, and Syria have indicated they will support a British amendment which would draw the teeth from the American resolution.

Zionist Council Raps Canada For Attitude

OTTAWA, May 21.—(CP).—The United Zionist Council of Canada today assailed as "a distinct shock and great disappointment" Canada's failure to support a United States "cease-fire" resolution for Palestine.

(In the United Nations Security Council Thursday, Canada and Argentine swung the balance against the U.S. effort.)

The Council, in a statement by President Samuel J. Zacks of Toronto, urged the Canadian Government to support the resolution which would back a truce order with economic sanctions and other measures to end Arab-Jew hostilities.

The statement said: "We had hoped that the Canadian United Nations delegation, on instructions from Ottawa, would have seen the futility of once again appointing a truce commission without enforcement powers. Three previous efforts by truce negotiators have failed miserably and the Canadian attitude would have the effect of permitting blood to flow while a mediator was engaged in another series of futile discussions."

(Canada's Gen. McNaughton expressed strong support for British plea for moderate truce and mediation action.) "On the other hand a truce order, supported by the threat of economic sanctions and other necessary measures, would put an end to hostilities within perhaps 48 hours."

Berlin Reds Defy Plebiscite Ban

BERLIN, May 21 (AP).—Berlin's Communists announced today they intend to defy the American ban against their plebiscite on a unified German state.

The plebiscite is scheduled to start Sunday. The United States military government has prohibited petitioning in the American sector of Berlin and in the U.S. zone of western Germany. The Americans call the plebiscite an unauthorized and pernicious maneuver by a Communist-front organization.

The Communist press, denouncing the ban as a "suppression of democracy," said they intend to send their petitions into the western areas, and to set up extra polling booths in the Soviet sector for any in the American area who want to cross over and vote.

Bread Black Market Develops In Dublin

DUBLIN, May 21.—(CP).—A bread black market has developed in Dublin as the bakers' strike ended its first week still deadlocked on wage-increase demands of the city's 3,000 bakers.

Despite strict control, some bread coming into the city from country areas is being peddled at 8d (16 cents) for a two pound loaf, against the normal price of 6d (12 cents).

As housewives strive to cope with the biggest house-keeping headache, Dublin Members of Parliament conferred with master bakers and representatives of the strikers but failed to reach an agreement. No further peace steps have been taken.

Boat Capsizes, Trio Drowns

ESPAÑOLA, Ont., May 21.—(CP).—Three persons were drowned in the Spanish River on Thursday night about two miles west of this paper-mill town, nine miles southwest of Sudbury. The victims: Harold Rogers, 32; his son, Harold, four, and his brother-in-law, Reginald Spencer, 37. They were trapped under a flat-bottomed boat when it capsized. Another man, 34-year-old George Beer of Espanola, escaped.

May Add 7 More Years To Minnille Pen Term

OTTAWA, May 21.—(CP).—Nicholas (Nick) Minnille, escaped Canadian criminal who was captured in Oakland, Calif., can look forward to a possible seven years added to his current prison term of 17 years, it was learned Thursday night. Maj.-Gen. R. B. Gibson, penitentiaries commissioner, said that orders will be issued to the Crown Attorney at Kingston to try the taxi-driver kidnapper on a charge of breaking prison. It is believed the charge carries with it a maximum sentence of seven years.

Meanwhile, Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers have been asked to facilitate the return of the 24-year-old convict who, in company with bank robbers Donald (Mickey) McDonald, 41, and Ulysses Lauzon, 26, last August scaled the walls of Kingston Penitentiary in a daring night escape. An immigration official at Ottawa said that "everything possible" would be done to speed return of the criminal.

Place Hold Order

OAKLAND, Calif., May 21.—(AP).—Capt. J. H. Smith, United States Federal Bureau of Investigation, has placed a hold order on Nick Minnille, who escaped from Portsmouth penitentiary at Kingston, last August.

Local police said Minnille, 24, is son of the Oakland force said, however, that police here would not stand in the way of Canadian charges in Oakland with attempted burglary and that they are proceeding with plans to prosecute him. Inspector Roderick Peter-authorities if they want Minnille. Bail of $4,000 was set for Minnille on the Oakland charges but he still is in jail, nobody having bailed him out.

BULLETIN

OTTAWA.—An Ottawa paper said today a county ballot found a machine-gun and 400 rounds of ammunition in a car he seized for non-payment of $300 in telephone bills a foreigner ran up making calls to Moscow and the Argentine. As a result, the paper said, both city and Federal police now are investigating the activities of a man who, they said, claims to be employed by the Argentine Embassy. No arrest had been made pending investigation of his diplomatic standing.

Two Grade School Boys Steal Plane Take Joyride To Texas And Land Safely

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 21.—(AP).—Two fifth-graders who studied flying in comic books confessed to the state patrol Thursday night they piloted a stolen plane almost to Texas. The plane was a two-place crop-eater with simplified controls advertised as nearly fool-proof. Astonishment at the 120-mile flight—air distance—almost drowned out talk of a juvenile court hearing tomorrow morning.

The grade-school aviators are Jimmy Bodard, 11, and Robert Ronald Peterson, 12. Robert, the larger, weighs 85 pounds. Troopers cracked the case when all evidence pointed to an unbelievable but inescapable conclusion.

"When we put it to them they broke down and told us all about it," Trooper Arch Hamilton said.

"They hung around the airport Monday afternoon, and slept in a Cessna plane in a hangar that night. They fooled around Tuesday, and at 5 p.m. pushed the Ercoupe out onto the runway, fired up, and took off.

42 Homeless In Two Fires

OTTAWA, May 21 (CP).—Two fires drove a total of 42 Ottawa people—including two sets of twins—into the street today, some of them in pyjamas. Damage was estimated in thousands of dollars. Firemen's ladders rescued a number as flames ran through adjoining double tenements on Guinness Street, in central lower town. In all, 33 people—now homeless—reached safety in a rush after Oscar Parisien, a roomer, awoke and gave the alarm.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Racine got up with their two sets of twins, Jean and Marthe, two, and Louise and Clare, 10.

Hector Blais escaped in pyjamas and had to borrow clothes to go to work. His own wardrobe was destroyed.

Erase of the fire was not determined immediately. Earlier nine persons, including a 90-year-old man and a two-year-old baby, were driven into the street by flames that enveloped a two-storey frame house on west-end Willow Street.

Police Captain Shot In Office

NEWARK, N.J., May 21 (AP).—Police Capt. Thomas J. Rowe was shot and killed today in his office at police headquarters, and Chief Haller said all red-haired women identified as Mrs. Ann Powers were being held for questioning.

Haller said Rowe and the woman walked into headquarters shortly after 4 a.m. and went to the captain's office. Ten minutes later Lieut. William Villie, on duty, heard a single shot and saw the woman running from the office. Haller said, Plainclothesman Ray Poquette rushed into Rowe's office as Villie grabbed the woman.

Haller said the woman refused to say anything other than to admit there had been "a shooting."

Girl Wears Nightgown To Opera In Paris

LONDON, May 21.—(AP).—Reporter Joan Reeder wrote in the Daily Mirror today she wore her nightgown to the Paris opera and other customers never knew the difference.

Joan, 23, was sent to Paris on short notice last week to report the visit of Elizabeth and Prince Philip. She got an unexpected invitation to the opera, but had no evening gown.

She wore instead a pink-and-black nightgown with a bare midriff. It being Paris, no one noticed. "There were new looks everywhere but the looks I got were the most old-fashioned in the world," she commented.

Police Find Widow's Body At Foot Of Stairs In Timmins House Cellar

Woman Getting Supper When Hatchet Attack Heard By Neighbors; Third Slaying In This Area In 11 Weeks

TIMMINS, May 21.—(CP).—A 42-year-old widowed mother, Mrs. Lucy Victoria (Banty) Hutson, was hacked to death with a hatchet Thursday night as she prepared supper in her four-room bungalow in Timmins' west end. Her son, Mervyn Hutson, 23, was arrested by police who sped to the bungalow in response to the calls of neighbors who heard the woman's screams.

He was arraigned today on a charge of murder and remanded to Tuesday.

Dr. R. P. Smith, who performed an autopsy, told police the woman died on two hatchet wounds in the head. The weapon, found in the Hutson dwelling, will be sent to Toronto for examination by police experts.

Mrs. Hutson's body was discovered at the foot of a stairway leading to the basement. The son was waiting in the house when police arrived. They declined to say whether he made any statement.

Thrown Down Stairs

Detectives said the woman apparently was attacked in the kitchen and her body thrown down the stairs. A supper was on the kitchen stove. Chief Constable Albert Lepic said neighbors told him they heard what sounded like an argument between Mrs. Hutson and her son. A few minutes later, when they heard her scream, they called police.

The only other occupant of the bungalow—an elderly boarder whom police did not identify—was not at home at the time. Chief Lepic said that when police entered the dwelling, they first noticed bloodstains on a sofa. A search disclosed the body at the foot of the stairs. The stains on the sofa bear out the theory that Mrs. Hutson was attacked upstairs and her body thrown down into the basement.

Third Slaying

The slaying was the third in Timmins in 11 weeks. The first was the ax-slaying March 4 of Jerome St. Cyr. His wife, Clara, charged with the murder, was acquitted by an Ontario Supreme Court jury at Cochrane.

Frank Delica, once-convicted high-grader, was stabbed to death with a butcher knife May 5. His body, the stomach slashed, was found on the floor of the living-room of his house in Moujtoy township, near the Timmins limits. Despite an intensive police investigation, no person has been charged with the Delica slaying.

Drop Austrian Talks

LONDON, May 21.—(AP).—Official United States sources said that the four-power talks on an Austrian peace treaty will be called off indefinitely. The breakdown, which follows a temporary suspension two weeks ago, came after nearly two years of futile efforts to resolve the differences between Russia on one side and Britain, the United States and France on the other.

Saint John Trying To Halt Big Baby Black Market

SAINT JOHN, N.B., May 21.—(CP).—A meeting with Premier McNair was sought today by the Saint John Children's Aid Society in an effort to stamp out a black market in babies centered in Saint John.

Officers of the society and other welfare organizations in the city reported that at least 50 babies had been sold on the black market by the ring during the past year. Prices for the babies, they said, ran as high as $1,500.

Travis W. Cushing, president of the society, and Mrs. J. G. Bishop, executive secretary, gave details of the ring. Mr. Cushing said that the ring worked for financial gain and that the babies were sold with little consideration for the welfare of the child, its parents or foster parents. Many people were willing to pay high sums for babies and it was a "profitable business."

Within the last month, five infants had been "snatched" from the ring, he said. Mrs. Bishop said that if, after selling a child, the ring found a "higher market" it would get the infant back and re-sell it. There was a premium for twins. A boarding house where children were kept until delivered to their foster parents operated in conjunction with the ring. "A mother-to-be signed her baby away" to the ring on its birth. Then she decided she wanted to keep it. It was a nip and tuck battle to keep the infant from the ring," Mrs. Bishop said. The society was told by Mrs. Bishop that many infants—"more than by sale—are given away" by their parents.

Finland Gov't May Fall, Following Split

HELSINKI, May 21.—(Reuters).—Finland's insecure coalition cabinet may fall as a result of Wednesday's vote of censure on Rjo Leino, Communist leader of the interior, it was believed here today.

The split developed Thursday night between the Communists and Left-Wing Socialists forming the People's Democratic Party which holds key posts in the coalition cabinet.

Parliament censure Leino, who controls the "staplo" or state police, because in 1945 he arrested and delivered to the Soviet Union 10 Finnish subjects and 10 stateless persons, an action making him liable to trial in the Supreme Court.

The split was regarded as more than a small political squabble, because Finland is due to hold a general election in July, in which the People's Democrats are expected to suffer the same reverses as in the municipal elections last December.

These reverses might become a catastrophe if the split continues, causing the party Socialist wing to go back to the Social Democrat party. Several members, including Premier Mauno Pekkala, have repeatedly threatened to take this course.

Roof Collapses 6 Miners Killed

DANTE, Va., May 21 (AP).—Grim and sweat-streaked rescue crews early today brought to the surface the last of six miners killed Thursday night after a roof section collapsed in the Clinchfield Coal Company's No. 2 mine. Tons of coal, earth and debris buried the miners alive as they worked in the mine tunnel four miles underground. There was no explosion.

Four other miners, working some 40 yards away in the corridor, were injured, but only slightly, in the accident. They were brought from the shaft about midnight after four hours' entombment.

Talk On Cooking Meats Delights Millbrook Group

MILLBROOK, May 21 — (ENS). — A large audience gathered in the waiting-room on Wednesday afternoon to hear Martha Logan, nutritionist, of Toronto, give her lecture and demonstration on "Meat makes the Meal", a sub-title was "Good Food and Good Eating". The Ladies' Aid of Grace Presbyterian church had the event under its auspices, the president, Mrs. Charles Thorn-dyke, extending a warm welcome. Mrs. S. E. Eakins attended to the individual card signing, later to be used in the drawing for the door prizes.

Using platters of tastefully garnished meat to illustrate her points, Miss Logan declared the housewife should ask three questions when preparing a meal: Is it satisfying? Is it appetizing? Is it nutritionally balanced? She advocated clipping pages of colorful food advertisements from the magazines, and pasting them in a big scrap-book, as a source from which to draw suggestions for making food different in ways of serving, attractive and colorful. "Do this for the family at regular meals, and not just for company," was her advice. She also urged referring fairly often to the Canadian Food Chart, in order to be sure of a properly-balanced diet. This chart should have a prominent place in every kitchen.

In speaking of meat cookery, Miss Logan told of two methods—by dry heat, and by moist heat. The former for tender cuts, and the latter for the less tender. Cooking a tender roast by dry heat would mean putting it on a rack in the roasting-pan, with no lid, and no liquid, in order to bring out the full flavor of the meat. Have the oven at 325 degrees, "for a high temperature means shrinkage of at least two slices in every pound of meat. No basting is necessary if the meat has a good layer of fat on top surface. Allow 22 minutes to the pound for rare roast, and 28 minutes for well done." How to correctly use a meat thermometer, putting it through the thickest part of the roast after first piercing the meat with the metal skewer, was demonstrated. Put the skewer right through meat, and place thermometer half that distance. That veal, pork and fowl should always be thoroughly cooked, was stressed, the thermometer registering 180 for the first two, and 190 for the last named; 140 for beef will make a rare roast, and 170 one well done.

Regular Letters Will Go Air Mail Now

OTTAWA, May 21. — (CP). — Beginning July 1, ordinary one-ounce letters will be carried by air mail to the major centres of Canada under a new postal scheme, announced in the Commons Thursday by Postmaster-General Bertrand.

Canada thus becomes the first country to introduce what is known as "all up" mail service on a national basis.

The new service, which will operate at first on the Trans-Canada Air Lines main network and later may be extended to secondary feeder lines, means that letters weighing up to an ounce will receive air mail treatment whether or not they carry air mail postage.

They will thus go by air even with the ordinary four-cent postage now confined to surface mail.

The seven-cent air mail stamp will continue to be used on letters weighing more than an ounce. Try As Experiment

Mr. Bertrand said the new routing, to be used wherever the mails can be speeded up, will be on an "experimental basis" until it is proved financially sound.

The ordinary postal rate for out-of-town mail is four cents for the first ounce and two cents for each additional ounce or fraction. The air mail rate is seven cents for the first ounce and five cents for each additional ounce or fraction. Thus, a two-ounce letter still will need 12 cents postage if it is to be sent by air and six cents for normal surface delivery.

Mr. Bertrand announced also that the department plans to make "various improvements and extensions" of an undisclosed nature in the rural mail service.

first time King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan and the Syrian and Lebanese presidents had met together since they helped form the Arab League three years ago.

Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, Arab League secretary-general, told them: "All Arab leaders have determined that the Arab states will not under any circumstances cease fighting in Palestine until the capitulation of the Zionists."

Order Prayers
At Tel Aviv fears for the fate of Arab-besieged Jerusalem heightened by the hour. Rabbis ordered prayers for the holy city, shrine of three of the world's greatest religions.

The battle for Jerusalem apparently reached the crisis stage as Arab legionnaires hurled their armored strength against Jewish position. Arab artillery rocked the entire city.

The outcome still was in doubt, as the latest situation is not known here. News dispatches must be pieced together from sparse reports of a Jewish headquarters communicate which said Jewish sectors of the city had been under heavy Arab fire.

Jewish forces drove the Arabs from Semkh, near the Sea of Galilee on the Jordan valley front in a counter-attack today, a Jewish army communicate said.

American officials said Thursday night's ruling was made by European command headquarters at Frankfurt because the Russians decreed that the American military mission stationed at Potsdam could cross into the Soviet zone only at Helmstedt.

The American responded by notifying members of the four Russian missions in the United States zone that they, too, could cross only at Helmstedt.

Herbert Morrison Defends Lords

SCARBOROUGH, Yorks, England, May 21. — (AP). — Herbert Morrison, the Labor Government's Deputy Prime Minister, defended the House of Lords today, but suggested there should be some changes made.

Sixteen years after the Labor party voted for abolition of the peers' chamber, he told the annual conference here the present government has decided such a step would be unwise.

Without a vote after hearing Morrison, delegates pigeon-holed a resolution expressing alarm over reports the government plans to support a Conservative plan for remodelling the House of Lords on a permanent basis.

Such, said Morrison, is not the case. The government intended to go ahead with its own measure to have the peers' present power to delay passage of legislation for two years.

Soviet Airplane Lands In U.S.-Korean Zone

The United States army said today the plane, bearing the number 84, was forced down by lack of fuel Wednesday.

The army announcement related that when American soldiers arrived at the scene, they found the pilot had been seized by unidentified South Koreans. The Americans took charge of him and quartered him in an American officer's billet.

The pilot gave his name as Ivan Feodorovich Osmakov. He said he is a Soviet air force captain. He will be returned to Russian authorities.

Base Metals Continue Strong On Exchange

TORONTO, May 21. — (CP). — Base metals and western oils continued strong in moderately active trading on the stock exchange as Thursday's advance in golds steadied and industrials firmed for fractional rises.

Base metals moved ahead in good volume as leading stocks gains. Waite Amulet gained 20 cents and Sheritt rose 5. East Sullivan and Falconbridge were other good gainers.

Papers had a firmer tone. C.P.R. continued to gain and was up ¼. Almost all oils traded actively for good gains.

Gains about equalled losses in golds with Thursday's better issues easing slightly. Eldora traded more than 72,000 shares for a gain of 6 cents.

8 Fly-Casting Americans Say Pickerel Fishing Tops

Residents at Hastings are watching last Saturday night and using fly-rods and spinning tackle with flies as baits are enjoying phenomenal pickerel fishing.

This US angling brigade is ignoring all the orthodox fishing methods, and the plug casters and natural bait addicts are wondering if it isn't high time they hooked the family jewels and invested in these new doo-dads.

The eight men, all from Ohio, arrived last Saturday night and rented two cottages in the village. They immediately rigged up a live-box, a screened affair, which can be submerged in a creek to keep fish alive. In this way, the visitors can keep all the fish alive, and each day they eat the small ones, and save the largest to be taken home when the holiday ends.

Each man is allowed to take home one day's legal catch, six pickerel, or a total for the eight of 48 pickerel. In the meantime, however, they can catch six a day, but cannot have more than two days' legal catch in their possession.

Using 7-pound test lines, spinning reels, fly rods and long streamer flies which cannot be purchased in Canada, they got into action Sunday. Fishing was poor, everybody said so, but the visitors got their limit—plus a pair of rock bass. These "rocks" they kept and ate along with the smaller pickerel.

The group includes: Frank Zanders, Canal Fulton hardware store owner; Paul Swigart, Canal Fulton undertaker; Frank and Joe Rozlog, Brewster, Warren Ship, Canton; Ray Warnock, Canton insurance man; Bill Peters, North Canton, and Leo Peters, Cuyahoga Falls.

Waded Flies

By Sunday night the local anglers were enquiring of these wader-equipped anglers what kind of baits they were using. Then they tried to buy some flies, and Zanders was wishing his hardware store was in Hastings. The flies are much different from those available here, having an extremely long feather of the streamer type, and a small head to better indicate a live minnow. With these are used small gold-plated or nickel-plated spoons on a short shank.

Monday night, Swigart, the undertaker claimed all the rheumatism had left his right shoulder, even though he had twice tumbled into the Trent River after slipping on the rocks. At eight o'clock Monday every one of the Americans were returning pickerel to the water because they had the day's limits. They refused to give any away, claiming they wanted to ensure good fishing next year. They kept the rock bass, and discovered that a sizeable rock bass can make life interesting on a light fly rod.

Hooked Muskie

Tuesday, Frank Rozlog caught a 24-inch small-mouth black bass

which was measured and photographed, then returned to the water because bass are out of season. Late Wednesday evening Ray Warnock hooked a muskie that must have weighed at least 10 pounds. He was using a fly in the fast water below the Hastings dam. The muskie was photographed as he played it, but it smashed his leader as he attempted to lift it to the pier to release the bait.

Joe Rozlog, who might aptly be named a professional fisherman because of his extensive knowledge, halted activities at 4:30 Thursday and sat for more than an hour telling four youngsters all about fishing with light tackle. His reception can best be summed up by one youngster's exclamation: "Gee, he's a great guy, ain't he?"

By mid-week, the men agreed that no wall-eyes under two pounds could be kept in the day's bag, and this only served to irritate the regulars who were lashing plugs and live minnows in the water, and not doing so well. Rugged conservationists, all of them, the men are popular with the natives, and four are fine singers, belonging to Barber Shop Quartet Organizations. Each evening the mellow strains of "Whippenpoof Song" can be heard from the cottages, but the men retire early, desiring to get at the angling shortly after dawn.

Sunday afternoon, they intend to head for home with plenty of evidence to convince their neighbors that the pickerel fishing in the Kawartha district is superlative.

Director Fired Demand Probe

OSHAWA, May 21—Members of Oshawa's Neighborhood Recreational Associations are asking for a "full public investigation" into circumstances surrounding the dismissal of Robert L. Coleman, Oshawa recreational director for the past two years. Mr. Coleman was dismissed by the board of directors of the city's community recreational association last week on the grounds that he had differed with board members on "matters of policy."

A letter from the neighborhood council was forwarded to George Roberts, CRA president, asking that another board meeting should be called "in regard to having the director's dismissal rescinded for at least 30 days."

A press statement from the council said that its representatives found Mr. Coleman's dismissal had to understand, "as we have had complete co-operation and helpful direction from him. That we should lose the wisdom and foresight of so accomplished a man without a full public investigation of the matter seems and irreparable mistake."

Paper On Courtesy Presented At WI

WESTWOOD, May 20—(ENS)—The Women's Institute met on Tuesday in the Town Hall. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. S. Graham, showed a balance on hand of $35.87. The programs for the coming year were distributed.

A review of the recent district executive meeting was given by Mrs. Birdsall. A discussion on the co-operative program in home economics was held.

Feature of the meeting was a paper on "Home Courtesy and Good Manners," prepared by Mrs. L. Hutchinson, and in her absence, given by Mrs. F. Neilson and Mrs. J. Thompson. A short discussion followed.

A contest prepared by Mrs. S. Graham was won by Mrs. A. Wood and Viola Walker.

Begin Investigation Of Baseball Lottery

MONTREAL, May 21 (CP).—Because they estimate that the baseball lottery ticket organization here takes in $25,000 weekly, officials of the Sacred Heart League have decided to investigate methods that might be taken to stop the illegal ticket sales. The tickets sell for 25 cents each, and prizes of $1,000 are offered in some cases. League officials declared they had not yet heard of anybody winning $1,000.

Constable And Engineer Resign At Lindsay After Secret Council Sessions; No One Talks

LINDSAY, May 21—(ENS).—The Lindsay Town Council has held two secret sessions in the past few days, the last being on Wednesday, and as a result of the meetings, Police Constable Thos. Bolderstone and Town Engineer E. Cobb have resigned their posts. Neither Town Clerk W. R. Alley nor Mayor Charles Lamb would comment when questioned later concerning the closed meetings.

However, one alderman, who asked that he not be quoted by me, told a reporter that Mr. Cobb was definitely resigning—the resignation to take effect immediately. Following the first meeting earlier this week, Constable Bolderstone resigned and the town is now seeking an officer to replace him. It is not known whether a new town engineer has been engaged.

658 Voters Added At Lindsay Revisions

LINDSAY, May 21—(ENS).—Court of revision was held here Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday for the purpose of considering applications from local residents for inclusion on the voters' lists for the Provincial elections June 7. The names of 658 persons were added to the list of voters. Of this total, 330 are Sound Ward residents, 211 live in the North Ward, and 117 in the East Ward.

Judge J. A. McGibbon, who presided, explained these are nearly all persons who have reached the age of 21, or are new residents. Town Clerk W. R. Alley pointed out this is an unusually large number of names to be added to the list. He said the number does not generally exceed four or five hundred persons. On Friday, consideration will be given to applications from Ops township residents.

ARAB WARRIOR—This legionnaire is typical of the type of fighting men that make up the Arab Legion of Transjordan's King Abdullah. Trained and officered by the British, the legion is also British-subsidized to the tune of $8,000,000 a year. Although the Arab legion has been reported in action against Palestine, such reports have not been confirmed and many observers believe that Abdullah will not send it against Israel but will use it as a holding force in that part of Palestine given to the Arabs under the United Nations partition plan.

Passing It On To The Consumer

Several months ago the cigarette manufacturers decided that they must increase the price of cigarettes. The next day some local shopkeepers, despite large stocks on hand, bought at the old price, raised their prices. Some wholesalers did the same.

Several weeks ago the Prices and Trade Board listened to the importunities of Canadian growers, and put an embargo on the importing of potatoes from the United States. The explanation was that there was no longer need of American potatoes because our supply of native-grown potatoes was adequate until our own new potatoes appeared on the market. The explanation was probably true. Nevertheless, Canadian potatoes were selling on the local market at $2.50 a bag before the embargo. A week after the embargo (with competition from American potatoes removed) the price ranged from $3.00 to $3.75.

Under the new budget nearly all the remaining sales tax of 8 per cent. on food was removed, effective immediately. Since the sales tax is imposed at the manufacturing end, most manufacturing firms, wholesalers and retailers have stocks of goods on hand on which the tax has already been paid. The housewife cannot therefore expect to buy her cans of soup and her shortening immediately at reduced prices of 8, 10 or 12 per cent. The people who sell are more ready to take an unexpected quick profit on cigarettes and potatoes than a loss on goods in stock from which tax has been removed. Nevertheless, she should expect that the sales tax cuts granted by the Government will be passed on to her reasonably soon.

What is the prediction? Officials of some distributing firms have announced that a drop in the prices of canned goods is unlikely until the autumn. They further estimate that the drop will be merely 2 or 3 per cent.—not 8 per cent. or more. That is not the way we think the reduction should operate. The sales tax of 8 per cent. was applied at the manufacturing end. The tax is therefore added to the initial cost, and every manufacturer, wholesaler and retailer reckons to take a profit on the total cost. Supposing the profit expected by each is 10 per cent. The 8 per cent. sales tax will have mounted (through three transactions) to 10.6 per cent. Therefore, we would expect that the reduction in retail price will be not 2 or 3 or even 8 per cent., but 10.6 per cent.

It would seem from the first unofficial reactions of the trade that the cut in sales tax is not going to be passed on to the consumer, either soon enough or largely enough. If the Government intends to help the housewife, it may be necessary for it not merely to take off the tax but to order manufacturers and distributors to pass on the saving to the consumer. Otherwise there is danger that they will add the amount of the sales tax reductions to their profits.

Desertion In Moscow

There is a growing list of men and women from the Soviet orbit absconding to the free west, if they can crawl under or fly over the Iron Curtain. The easiest avenue is open to Soviet citizens who are already stationed in outside countries. These deserters have good and sufficient reasons for their deviation.

The traffic is not entirely one way. An American citizen, a Miss Bucar, employed in the American embassy at Moscow, resigned her job last February under questionable circumstances, after allegedly marrying a Soviet citizen. Last Sunday the State Department in Washington announced that 21-year-old Sergeant McMillin had deserted the United States Army in Moscow and had served notice that he was remaining in the Soviet Union. McMillin is not a Gouzenko, nevertheless his story has the elements of a spy thriller. He had apparently become infatuated with a Russian woman who had a few years ago infatuated another American sergeant in Moscow and married him. This husband eventually returned to the U.S., an untainted solid American citizen. Sergeant McMillin has deserted and disappeared. The official State Department explanation is that "It is a case of seduction and exploitation by an experienced female Soviet agent of a young, inexperienced American in a strategic spot". It seems to us to be a case of love in the red and soft in the head.

War In Palestine

We turn with regret to write about the war in Palestine—regret for the unholy situation in, for instance, holy Jerusalem; regret that once again we must concern ourselves with communiques. The reports from both Arab and Jewish sources are not really informative. It is not that they are too terse. There is no bewildering brevity about them. It is simply that they are misleading and contradictory. Leo H. Turner, a United Press correspondent, has recently written from Palestine saying:

For a correspondent today in Palestine, only seeing is believing. Eye-witness reporting is not so much an exploit as an everyday necessity. It's the sole sure way of finding out the truth of things.

There's one occasional exception to this. You can trust reports from the Arab and Jewish sides when they happen to agree. But that's as rare as the jackpot on a slot-machine, and no more to be counted on.

It is apparent that Jerusalem is being besieged by the Arabs with some success and that the Jews have achieved victory elsewhere and are holding their own in general. The Jews are fighting with the unanimity and fervour of a people defending hearth and home on their own soil. In addition they are in the legal position of fighting for the existence of a country established by U.N. and recognized by the two greatest world powers, the U.S. and the U.S.S.R. The Arabs have their tribal animosities, most of them are fighting beyond their homeland's borders and the Palestinian Arabs seem to be apathetic about hearth and home—being basically nomadic.

It is not quite futile to hope that limited or temporary agreement may be reached between the warring Jews and Arabs. There are reasonable men in both camps. It is not quite futile to hope that U.N. can intervene effectively on the side of peace or that the Security Council can agree on a policy for peace in Palestine and secure enough power to enforce it. The Security Council (of which Canada is a member) cannot be unkindful of Article 24 of the U.N. Charter which states that the Council has "primary responsibility for the maintenance of international peace and security".

If these things come about we shall happily be able to turn our comments on Palestine to eulogies of Israel's first President, the scholar patriot Dr. Chaim Weizmann. Dr. Weizmann is now ill in New York. The birth of the new State marks the culmination of a life devoted to the cause of Zion. It is reported that the famous Balfour Declaration of 1917, when the British Government pledged itself to provide a "national home" for the Jews in Palestine, came partly as a reward for Dr. Weizmann's scientific war work for the British in 1914-1918.

An Explanation

In our editorial comment yesterday on the budget we said that Mr. Macdonnell approved the practice of reducing the National Debt. At the time of writing we were relying on incomplete news despatches. We now have Tuesday's Hansard at hand and can quote the exact phrases, which are more general, yet more specific in their commendation. The Conservative financial critic said: "I wish to say that I think his (Mr. Abbott's) argument for budgeting for a surplus is sound for the reason that he gave: in the first place, because of the unusual and unprecedented size of our present income and second, because of the possibility, regretful though it be, of the need for additional defence expenditures". Mr. Macdonnell also approved the income tax relief given elderly people and the taking off of the sales tax on food.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Bad weather always looks worse through a window.

A beauty columnist says that there is nothing to equal the brush for training the hair. And this applies equally to the hair.

A piscator is a fisherman, a piscator is a bull-fighter. Each carries a kind of lance. The piscator is out for blood, the piscator just seems to be, for he never hooks a bleeding fish.

Since May 15th we in this Kawartha paradise for fishermen have been noting curiously clothed, rakishly hatted men with strange glitters in their eyes and hooks and worms in their pockets. Our involuntary comment is: Oh! The poor fish.

The Examiner's London Letter

By J. D. CAMBRIDGE

FOR the past week the British Industries Fair has been the big item in the news over here. It is organized by the Board of Trade, and is intended to be the show window to the world of what Britain can do. Don't let the use of the term "Fair" mislead you. It is not like the local fairs we have at home, or even like the C.N.E., or perhaps it would be more exact to say it is like the Manufacturers, Electrical, and British Empire Buildings of the C.N.E., and nothing more. No midway, no spun-sugar candy or not dogs,—nothing but the straight-forward presentation of the goods British manufacturers hope to sell at home and abroad in the coming year, with emphasis on the last category.

It is only open for two weeks, and only to potential buyers except for three days, when the general public is admitted. It is in three parts, two of them large auditoriums in London, and the third in Birmingham, where heavy industrial equipment is concentrated. The publicity department of the Fair states that there are over twelve miles of stands,—roughly the distance from Peterborough to Young's Point, and these range from stands of about ten feet frontage to elaborate islands and displays ten times this size, but there are restaurants, and the various Dominion and Colonial governments have stands of a general nature, displaying products of their respective countries.

It is heartening to friends of these Islands to see what Britain can produce, and the many exciting new products and ideas that are shown. But to the Canadian, it is humiliating to see what a botched-up presentation is made for Canada. When will they learn that a few photos of wheat fields and lumbering operations, a few graphs on mineral production, and jars of tinny seed are not enough to show the world Canadian products and potentialities?

The Canadian exhibit, presumably prepared by the Dept. of Trade and Commerce, was by far the poorest of any of the Dominions and Colonies. Rustic, unimaginative, it represents a complete waste of the taxpayers' money. Across from the Canadian stand was that of Pakistan, and here the contrast was striking. Not only did they have all the traditional products of the country, such as fine textiles, rugs, filigree silverwork, but many new developments that were a revelation to me, such as hospital and dental equipment, sporting equipment, and other goods that I was not previously aware were made in Pakistan. And I was not the only person to think Pakistan had the more imaginative of the two exhibits. Scarcely a person was to be seen about the Canadian stand, while large crowds milled about that of Pakistan. Jamaica had an interesting display of fruits, sugar, and tobacco production, while even tiny Nyasaland had a comprehensive display of native products and industries. My only hope is that there is another display for Canada at Birmingham (which section I have not visited) that will give the proud story of Canadian production and achievement in a more human and interesting manner.

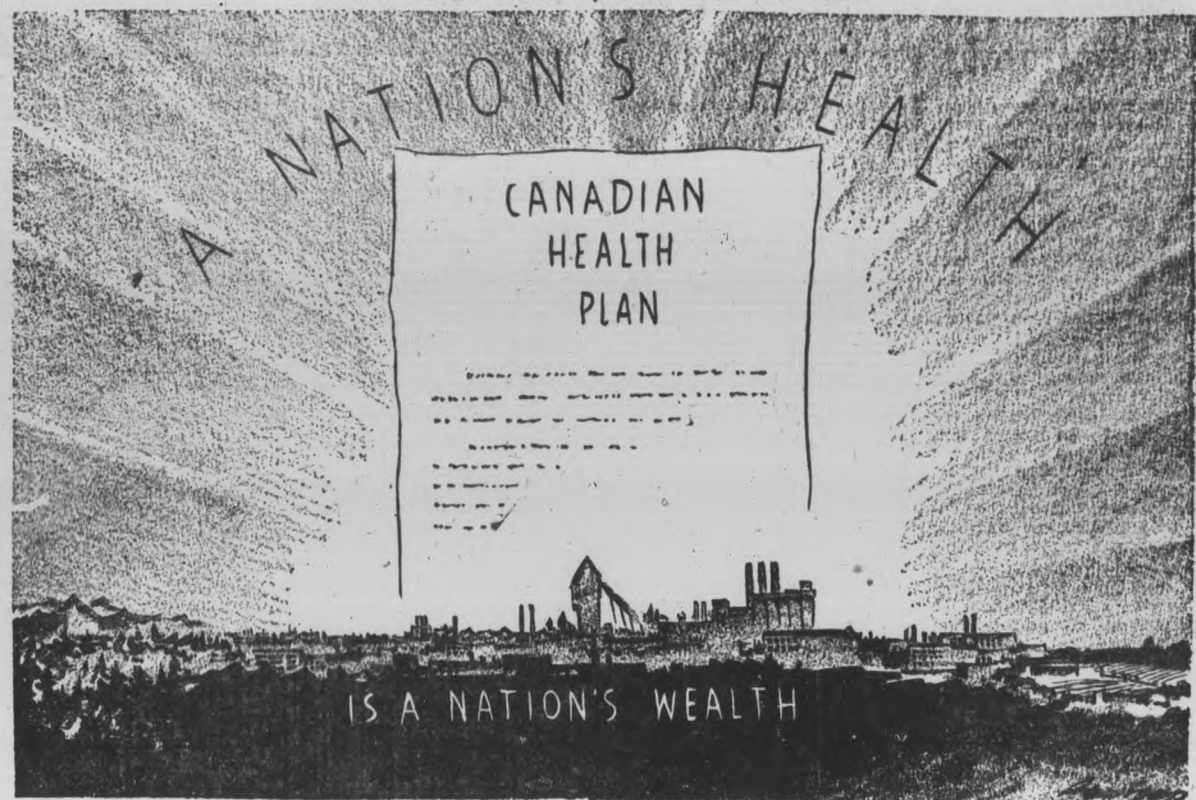

MANY items display the enigma of the British buyer sign that they are for export only. There are indeed large numbers of foreign buyers present; Egyptians in their fezzes, Indians in turbans and Congress caps, and Europeans and other westerners in more conventional costume. All is not clear sailing even for the foreign buyer however, as has been shown in some of the London papers interviewing foreign visitors to the Fair. The two main snags from their viewpoint are high prices and no guarantee of delivery dates. The latter objection is less valid than it was last year, as there has been a big speed-up in deliveries, and the President of the Board of Trade, in a Fair speech, has given warning to industry generally that their first worry in the coming year must be reducing prices to a competitive level. This is easier said than done of course, but at least the problem is recognized. The many lovely things on display are mouth watering, especially the leather goods and jewelry. All in all, the Fair is a great success, and Britain is justly proud of it.

WANDERING about a second-hand bookstore in Winchester recently, I came upon a curious link with the past in Canada. This was Karl Baedeker's "Dominion of Canada", a guidebook for European travellers to Canada, and compiled about 1906. It is one of a famous series of guidebooks published in Germany in that era, and covers every province and town with typical Teutonic thoroughness. Naturally, I immediately looked up to see what they had to say about Peterborough and district. The two leading hotels are given as the Oriental and the National, and the rates, American Plan (full board) as $2-$2.50 and $1.50-$2 respectively. A daily stage runs from Peterborough to Chemong Park. At Rice Lake you could stop at the Jubilee Point Hotel for $1 a day, American Plan also, as you could at the Carleton Hotel in Young's Point. A daily steamer is in operation from Port Hope to Rochester, and there is a thrice weekly service to Toronto from the same port. Peterborough, according to the most recent census, has 11,239 inhabitants, while Norwood has 945, and Havelock 984. From Lakefield you can take a steamer to Cobocook, 70 miles away,—the terminus of a branch line of the Grand Trunk Railroad from Scarboro Jet. I wonder how many readers will be able to recall those days?

LAURENCE Olivier's long-awaited screen production of "Hamlet" finally appeared in London for its world premiere. Reviewers have been generally favourable, although the more traditional have criticized the free rendition necessary to make the film of reasonable length for screen presentation. The prestige of Olivier's productions has done much for the British film industry, and this one should be especially welcome in light of recent events, when some very poor garbage indeed has come out of British studios.

Have you seen a pelican flying over Peterborough recently? If so, phone the London Whipsnade Zoo and tell them about it. Every-

"THE TRUE NORTH, STRONG AND FREE"

Carpenters Hammer Own Thumbs

(MONTREAL GAZETTE)

THERE was a touch of unconscious irony in the complaint of the provincial council of the A.F.L. carpenters' union that rents had soared beyond the reach of the ordinary working man, and the accompanying demand that the Dominion Government should finance a nation-wide low-rental housing program. For the carpenters' union, along with other building trades unions, has helped to produce inflated costs of building which in turn have resulted in the charging of rents which, as they say, are too high for the ordinary worker's income. In this respect the union has, in effect, been hammering its own thumb, and is now calling on the taxpayer to relieve the pain and swelling.

Swollen building costs are, of course, the result partly of increased prices and persistent shortages of building materials and partly of much higher building labour wages, which in the case of carpenters here are 65 per cent. above the pre-war level. But in addition, there has been a marked reduction in the standards of training, experience and skilled efficiency among many of the men now working as carpenters and other building tradesmen, which has added further to the post-war cost of building. It not only slows construction and otherwise increases cost, but means that really skilled men can command wages well above the recognized base rates.

The statement of the union council's secretary that workers are "working harder and producing more individually than at any time in our country history" is open to serious question. If the carpenters really want to get rents lower, they can make an important contribution to this end by working more steadily and more efficiently on construction projects, thus lowering unit costs.

This would be a much fairer and more effective approach to the problem than calling upon the taxpayers to subsidize housing at its present inflated cost level, for the benefit of particular classes of the population.

body else does. Last week a pelican escaped, and so many calls came in to the Zoo about it they were forced to employ extra girls on their telephone switchboard over the weekend. The Zoo Chief stated they had had over a thousand calls about the bird, reporting it as anywhere from within sight of the Zoo to 200 miles away. At last report the bird was still loose, and the Zoo is appealing to all hunters to abstain from shooting any bird of an unfamiliar appearance. Until it is caught, the Pelican bids fair to replace the flying saucers of recent memory as the chief astral pre-occupation of the Londoner.

Test Well Water

Out of 1,000 samples of well water sent to the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, 250 were found to be polluted with bacteria of intestinal origin in the past three years. These figures provide a grim warning for farmers and others who depend upon wells, springs or sandpoints for their water supplies. Check-ups on the purity of such water should be made at frequent intervals as pollution may occur at any time. Such service may be obtained free through health authorities. Shallow wells are particularly dangerous, in view of the fact that water largely comes from contaminated areas. Deep wells are much safer, although even these are found to be impure at times.

Not only is contaminated water a danger to human beings, but it also contains a threat to dairy herds. For instance, shallow streams may become contaminated with T.B., Bangs disease or other diseases by cattle miles away. Another place where water supplies should be checked carefully is at the summer resorts. Many cottages get their water supplies from sand points, driven into the sand. Much of this water is found to be pure, but constant check should be made. Adding to the problem is the installation of many septic tanks in cottages. Where properly installed, and drainage precautions taken, there is little danger from them. Where improper tanks are installed, however, they present a danger. Whereas on farms, residents may develop a resistance to disease from impure water, people at summer resorts will not have been so fortified by Nature. Their systems, used to the pure water supplies of towns and cities, will react quickly to contaminated water.

B.C.'s Beer For Prisoners

In British Columbia, defaulting debtors can still be sent to prison. And, if they know their rights, they can demand to be served with free beer. But rights or no rights, they're unlikely to get it.

Nevertheless, the free-beer clause still stands in an old law adopted by the crown colony of British Columbia in 1858 from an even earlier British statute of 1759. Under this law, debtors who have incurred their debt through fraud, or who are concealing their assets, or who are about to flee B.C. to avoid paying up, may be sent to prison for as long as a year. About a dozen persons a year are convicted; most of the sentences are from seven to 10 days.

The act says in part: "Every sheriff, bailiff, jailer or keeper... shall at all times permit and suffer every such person, during his con-

A Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now after that John was put in prison. Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God, and saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe the gospel.

Now as he walked by the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and Andrew his brother casting a net into the sea; for they were fishers. And Jesus said unto them, Come ye after me, and I will make you to become fishers of men. And straightway they forsook their nets, and followed him.

And they went into Capernaum; and straightway on the sabbath day he entered into the synagogue, and taught. And they were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one that had authority, and not as the scribes. And there was in their synagogue a man with an unclean spirit; and he cried out, saying, Let us alone; what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the Holy One of God.

And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. And when the unclean spirit had torn him, and cried with a loud voice, he came out of him.

And they were all amazed, insomuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, What thing is this? what new doctrine is this? for with authority commandeth he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him. (Mark 1: 14-18, 21-27.)

tinuance under arrest or in custody, at his free will and pleasure, to send for and have brought to him at reasonable times, in the daytime, any beer, ale, victuals, or other necessary food.... And none of these things shall cost the prisoner a cent.

According to Sheriff Moodie of Vancouver, no prisoner has ever asked for beer, much less got it. And Warden John Millman of Oakalla Prison says the prison's own rules against liquor override this particular law. —Maclean's Magazine.

Jolliffe Repudiates Aid From Communist Party

In a clear-cut statement of policy, E. B. Jolliffe, provincial leader of the C.C.F., denounced "attempts of the Communists to identify themselves with his party."

"We repudiate the Communists, lock, stock and barrel—we have always done so and will continue," he said, drawing applause from audience in the Collegiate Auditorium here Thursday night at a meeting in the interest of the C.C.F. candidate John G. Morton.

The provincial leader said that the common object of both the Tories and the Communists was to destroy the C.C.F. He said that Conservative forces were trying to show a connection between the C.C.F. and the Communists in an attempt to discredit the party.

"The object of the two is the same. The Tories want to continue their dictatorship of Big Business, and the Communists want to set up their own form of dictatorship."

Watch "Red" Herring

Mr. Jolliffe predicted that, within a few weeks of the June 7 election, the Drew party would try to start "a big Red scare" with its object, he said, "of throwing the voters' minds off the real issues—the string of broken promises, those unfulfilled 22 points."

Stressing his party's disavowal and repudiation of Communist support, he pointed out: "In 1944, they supported Drew; in 1945 they backed King; today, there has been a change in party methods, but the object is the same—to destroy the C.C.F."

"No Communist is entitled to speak for the C.C.F. or claim to represent it."

Mr. Jolliffe discussed at some length, the principal points of the C.C.F. program—the "first term platform." He said that it was their belief that "this program gives the answers to the needs of the people of Ontario." The motto of the party's campaign, he pointed out, was "People First," because "after all, it is the people who count most."

"The C.C.F. believes that democratic institutions should be used more and for greater benefit," he said, listing not only legislative bodies, but unions, co-operatives, Home and School groups and similar organizations.

He was scathing in his condemnation of the Drew housing record. The shortage of homes, he said, was taking a daily toll in diseases, unhealthy home conditions, juvenile delinquency.

"This problem will never be solved by leaving it to individuals to build houses. Ontario has the resources to build homes—but this is not being done." He cited the recently announced provincial surplus, the huge Hydro development scheme and larger road expenditures as proofs that the financial position made a housing program feasible.

Build 20,000 Homes

The C.C.F., he said, was pledged to build a minimum of 20,000 homes and said that this was possible because governments can borrow money and buy material much cheaper than can be done by individuals. A housing administration which would be set up, he added, would co-operate with municipalities, co-operatives, and individuals in fulfilling this program.

"If the federal government should decide to remove rent control, then the Ontario government must step in with reasonable controls," he said.

"Otherwise there will be the wild profiteering we have seen in floods," he said. "There has been far too much profiteering already."

"There are lots of non-essential buildings being constructed now by private enterprise, but not enough homes for the people who need them."

He denied the argument that there was a scarcity of materials for building, and cited a number of examples in Toronto where banks, stores and office buildings were being built.

"It is not a question of shortages—it is a question of using materials first where they are most needed." He pledged that a C.C.F. building administration would have the power to give priority to the erection of homes, hospitals and essential factories.

Returning again to the charges of Communist-C.C.F. connections, he replied: "The Communists are weakest in Saskatchewan, New Zealand and other countries where there are progressive governments; they are strongest where there is Toryism. Toryism makes the conditions which breed Communism."

"There is nothing progressive about either the Progressive Conservatives or the Labor-Progressives," he said.

Mr. Jolliffe emphasized the need for an extended health program for Ontario. He said that it was false that such a scheme was not workable and pointed to the C.C.F. sponsored plan in Saskatchewan, where, he said, it was working.

"We would not permit this present injustice to Old Age Pensioners," he said.

The C.C.F. program, he pointed out, contained pledges for the improvement of child welfare—more day nurseries, more money for organized recreation.

"We will attempt to negotiate in good faith with the federal government," he said, "to see that at least some measure of a national social security and health program can be instituted."

More Hospitals

He also promised construction of more hospitals, training of more doctors and nurses, a health service plan for all. He cited the present Saskatchewan plan, under which the full cost of medical treatment is available for an annual cost of $5 a person, with a maximum for a family of $30 yearly.

He said that such a plan would save lives, and said that recent reports from Saskatchewan showed that the death rate from cancer in that province had begun to drop for the first time in years. This, he said, could be traced to the establishment of cancer clinics, which he said was included in the program of the Ontario party. The control and battle against tuberculosis would also be intensified.

He discussed in some detail the proposed health scheme, stressing how it would cut medical bills of all by spreading the cost.

Mr. Jolliffe's address also promised: encouragement of co-operatives; passing of new farm legislation to give the farmers the Marketing Act they want and passage of a new trade unions bill to give unions better security ("we are the only party ready now to do this"); make changes in the Workmen's Compensation Act to give higher rates because of the increased cost-of-living.

He warned labor of the trend of "Tory governments" to restrictive labor measures, citing the recent act in Prince Edward Island, which he termed "Hitlerite." He asked that if such a bill passed there, "think what can happen under Drew, who has been a life-long enemy of the labor movement."

He maintained that the PEI legislation, the Taft-Hartley Act in the United States and recent restrictive labor laws passed in British Columbia gained places in the statutes "because unions did not want to take an active part in politics. The old parties work on the principal that, with labor divided, they can get away with things like that."

In reply to a question from the audience, he said that the CCF would repeal the 20 per cent amusement tax.

A member of the audience asked the speaker: "In the last election you charged the Drew government with maintaining a Gestapo force in the provincial police. A Royal Commission found those charges to be false. How have we any assurance that what you say now is true?"

Gestapo Existed

In reply, Mr. Jolliffe questioned whether the man had read the report of the Royal Commission.

"The Commission did not find my charges false," he said. "It found as a fact that several provincial police had been engaged for political espionage on some members of the provincial house and some labor leaders, and that Attorney-General Blackwell knew of some of these activities and had read some of the reports."

Asked what basis a CCF government would negotiate with the federal government, he said that, as no negotiations had started, he would not be prepared to say. He added: "We would make a bona fide effort to make provisions for a social security program."

Peterborough riding CCF candidate Jack Morton, who spoke briefly, condemned both the present provincial and federal governments. The recently announced health scheme, he said, "can not be compared" to that planned by the CCF. He said that the Drew government was "running up huge surpluses at the expense of the common people."

He criticized the new Abbott budget, saying "it still gives no relief to the small income people." He also scored the minister's plan of leaving the choice of reducing the price of foods by the eight per cent tax to the retailers.

William C. Grant, asking for financial support for the party's campaign, said the only source of funds "comes from the common people." He denied stories that "support is received from strange and distant places."

Chairman of the meeting, which included a half-hour broadcast of part of Mr. Jolliffe's address, was W. J. Whibbs, chairman of the CCF election committee.

LOOK, ACT, GRADUATE ALIKE—Sidney (left) and Bernard Lerman, 20, identical twins, were born within five minutes of each other and next Wednesday they expect to graduate from McGill University in Montreal within five seconds of each other. They both qualified for B.Sc. degrees "with great distinction." The sons of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lerman, of Montreal, they hope to enter medicine at McGill in September. Both held scholarships during the past season and their marks have been almost identical. The only way professors can tell them apart is by their hair. One combs his hair smooth and the other allows it to bush out.

Blondin Rated Highly For Olympics

MONTREAL, May 21.—(CP).—Canada's Olympic weight-lifting hopefuls converged here today for tomorrow's Olympic trials but the leading candidates for berths on the Dominion squad are expected to come from the Montreal district.

Rosaire Smith of Drummondville, Que., 50 miles south-east of Montreal is unchallenged in the bantam class, the Olympic Association said. He finished third in the world championship meet and established a new world's record in the clean and jerk which was disallowed because he was one-quarter pound overweight.

In the lightweight class, John Stuart of Montreal, who finished second in the world trials, is rated a good chance to cop the Olympic title.

His closest competitors are expected to be John Sinclair, a husky gent from Winnipeg and Blondin of Peterborough. In their last performances, only five points separated Sinclair and Blondin.

In the light heavyweight class, the leading candidate, the Association said, is Jimmy Varaleu, a member of the RCAF, stationed at Trenton.

The heavyweight division has no likely candidate in sight but officials are hopeful that the trials may discover a new "Hercules."

The Canadian National championships are being held at the same time and several entries from the United States are expected to give the Canadians close competition.

Hamilton Has Tough Luck

ST. LOUIS, May 21.—(AP).—Hard luck tales from the Professional Golfers' Association: Bob Hamilton, who was on top of the field the first day, came up to the 12th hole Thursday very much in the running. He had been red hot with his short pitches, so when he found his drive about 20 yards from the cup, he carefully poked off the distance. The rule requires that the pin must be removed on all shot from less than that distance. It seemed o.k., so Bob shipped up and his ball rolled in, touching the pin as it dropped. Just to be safe, officials got out a tape and measured—the distance was 59 feet, 10 inches and Hamilton had to take a two-stroke penalty as a result.

Who's Dizzy?
Dizzy Dean, former St. Louis pitcher who has been broadcasting American League baseball, was starting out to the golf course Thursday when he encountered Mickey Vernon of the Washington Senators in the lobby. Noting a familiar face, Old Diz shook hands warmly and asked, "what time do you tee off?" After assorted explanations, Dizzy atoned for his error by inviting Mickey to see some golf. But Vernon still is wondering whether the question referred to his hitting or the enemy habit of teeing off against Washington pitching.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Tonight's the night the senior "B" lacrossers go. At nine in Miller Bowl, an exhibition game with Brampton Excelsiors — an "A" team—to open the season. Parade, opening ceremony and lots of action between two classy clubs. Petes' players include: Bun Hill, Bill Edgar, Jerry Creighton, Pup Curtin, Curly Warren, Ron Horton, Jack Breakspear, Mick Magee, Terry Gordon, J. J. Hill, Bush, Roy Rendwick, Jack Foote, Tony Caravaggio, Dootch and Lou Vitarelli, Bob Breakspear, Arn Dugan, Em Creighton, Don Smith, Farmer Connelly and Barney Dundas. "Cream of the local crop"—provincial senior "B" champs—and some smart newcomers on the Petes. Likely a big crowd out, if the weather is okay.

Baseball starts tomorrow aft in Riverside with a double-header. At two bells, the Ashburnham juveniles tackle the westenders in a seven-inning scrap; and at 3.30, the two local junior entries in the Lakeshore Loop begin their schedule. Opening ceremony at 6.15 there, the northend bantams meet the Hawks—a fifth bantam entry. And on May 28, southend midgets tackle the Ashburnham bunch on the same diamond. A week from tomorrow, it'll be westend peewees vs. southenders, and Ashburnham peewees against Crawford's Grove, times and places to be named later. Schedules will be published when the Morrow Park diamond is ready. League draw is June 26.

COBL Commences Play

Central Ontario Baseball League schedule starts tomorrow with the Petes playing Batawa in Belleville at three p.m. Same two clubs meet here Monday morn at 10.15 in Riverside, so as not to clash with the afternoon program in Morrow Park. Kingston Locos go to Oshawa the same day. Eddie Murphy has Edger, Whitehill and Loucks for pitching, with Starr and Menzies as catchers. He figures on Edwardson at first, Garvey on second, Dalton for short and it's a tossup among several at third. Stewart, Foley and Mackness in the garden. Not much info yet on the Batawa bunch.

Jay-Cees' jamboree is Monday afternoon (the holiday) in Morrow Park. Sports' features are three harness horse races and a trio of men's softball games. Knights, De Laval, Legionnaires and the R-E Combines have entered the tourney for the Junior Chamber challenge trophy (and individual prizes for the winners) and two tilts will be run off in the afternoon, starting at two. Names will be drawn for the starters, and the finalists tangle in the evening at 6.30. Provided the weather is as favorable as that which smiled on the Jay-Cees there last May 24, a lot of humanity will meander about the large southend park Monday.

Not Raining Violets

Men's softball games at the Bowl last evening were washed down the drain, the cancellation call coming through about 3.30 of the clock. Don't know when they will be played but the men have Saturday nights available at the Bowl and can work 'em in handily again. They took their chances by opening the season early this year but got in five of eight scheduled games, which isn't doing too badly. Three were rained out, and some of the others were frosty affairs but were held and before fairish crowds at that. Weather should begin improving from now on for summer sports. Men go again next Tuesday with Combines vs. Knights, and Legion vs. De Laval.

Managers of girls' softball teams haven't been supplying us with much info on their prospects this season. So, all we know is that the league opens next Wednesday with Ashby's playing Woolens and Marines meeting the CGE-ers. The following Friday has Lock Co. going against Lindsay lassies here and Lakefield tangling with Westclox. We'd write more about the loop if we had it. This little criticism applies as well to certain other leagues and club each season. The smarter-circuits keep the press posted and thus get more publicity. But mayhap the girls' teams haven't complete rosters of players signed up yet.

To Take Care Of Fans

While the west grandstand in Riverside, considered unsafe by the parks committee, is being demolished, the main stand is okay. Bleachers have been ordered from Toronto but won't be here for a spell yet. Meantime, a bunch of benches will be put in the park for Monday's ball game and cars will be permitted to park deep in the outfield, a practice common in many ball fields. Hence, fans won't be put to any real discomfort while they await arrival of the new bleachers. That west stand, in nearly 40 years, held a lot of folks at a lot of games.

UP AND DOWN SPORTS' RIALTO: Soccer game Thursday p.m. was rained out, too. Kawartha Golf Club officially opens on the morrow. TCS of Port Hope plays the local cricketers at 2.30 in the Oval this Saturday. OASA has granted a transfer to Johnny Nameth from Hamilton to Peterborough; the slugging first-sacker will line up with Legion. East City peewees practice at 10 in the Oval tomorrow morn. East and north juveniles and juniors drill at 6.15 tonight in Riverside. Juniors and intermediates play out of town on Monday. Oshawa's COBL team is known as the Merchants. Larry Edwardson got a waiver from Port Hope to play first for the Petes; George Walton is expected to start at third for them. Cobourg golf club is 50 years old this summer. Lacrossers pull out for Montreal tonight after the game here. Nothing else.

Kawartha Golf News

By JERRY SEABROOK

Don't forget the official opening for the club to-morrow, golf at 1 o'clock, possibly tennis if the weather permits, guests all day and a nifty dance and lunch in the evening starting at 9.00 o'clock. So don't fail to make an appearance, win a few prizes and generally get into the swing of things. This is directed to all the club members and in particular the new ones. A good chance to get acquainted.

The below listed score divisions will win valuable prizes in the golf match.

First flight handicaps, 1 to 9, low gross, low net; second flight handicaps 10 to 20, first and second low gross, first and second low net; third flight handicaps 21 to 32, four low net prizes; one blind hole prize.

Depending on the entry list, possibly more prizes will be available.

All the entry lists for the club competitions will be posted opening day. Remember, these various competitions are operated for your benefit, so don't fail to get the old John Henry up there. Phone lumber also if available. Meanwhile put in a good word for a nice warm sunny day, Saturday—yes, sir.

Trinity College School Draws With Kappas

PORT HOPE, May 21.—Trinity College School first team drew with Kappa Alpha Fraternity of the University of Toronto in an exhibition cricket match here Thursday.

The Kappas batted first and declared for 94 runs after eight wickets had fallen. TCS retaliated with 75 runs for seven wickets. Forbes with 31, Scandrett with 23 retired, and Wells with 19 were high scorers for the visitors, while Paterson's was Trinity's best bat with 27 runs.

TCS Littlestone team defeated UCC, 43-23, in a second game.

Sweepblu Joins Favored Ranks For King's Plate

TORONTO, May 21.—(CP).—Add to the list of "good things" for the classic King's Plate Monday the name of Sweepblu, the brown Sweepster colt owned by Carr Hatch which was somewhat of a disappointment in the Plate Trials last Monday.

Sweepblu was an also-ran in the Trials but they were run at only six furlongs, whereas the 89th renewal of the King's Plate is at a mile and an eighth. And Sweepblu gained a host of supporters after his impressive work-out Thursday, when he covered the mile in 1:45 1/5 over a track no better than "good" and was held under wraps all the way.

Sweepblu was eased up as he finished the full Plate distance of a mile and an eighth in 1:59 flat under the veteran jockey Bobby Watson.

The Winnipeg-owned Lord Fairmond and the Toronto-owned A.L. British continue top competitors on the strength of their victories in the twin Plate Trials but more and more of the other Plate entries were commanding respect.

Of the few Plate contenders who did not run in the Trials veteran Jim Fair's Last Mark was commanding increased respect by his later workouts. Last Mark Thursday equalled Sweepblu's time of 1:45 1/5, but he may have been using more exertion than was Sweepblu.

But workouts don't mean a race, and the Plate Trials themselves were being given less attention in view of prospects that the Plate may be run over a fast track, compared with the mud last Monday. The extra three furlongs in the Plate, compared with the Trials, also have a vital bearing on the prospects.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS

Minor league baseball is ready to fight against invasion of its territory by televised major league games. Frank C. Lane, president of the American Association, said Thursday in Columbus that a committee of which he is chairman would propose at a minor league meeting July 13 a resolution asking that "rebroadcasting or televising by stations within 100 miles of a minor league city" be banned.

Lane said he had been informed that when a night game is televised from one of the New York parks, attendance at two International League cities, Newark and Jersey City, falls off 20 to 25 per cent.

The University of Manitoba captured the Canadian inter-university rifle championship, it was announced in Montreal Thursday by Dominion marksmen, sponsors of the annual event. The Manitobans scored 1,495 of a possible 1,500 points in the 22 calibre sporting rifle event. W. R. Guild of Manitoba was top individual scorer with a perfect 300 points. McGill University was second.

Ezzard Charles, leading lightweight contender from Cincinnati, won a slow 10-round decision over Erv Sarlin of Pittsburgh Thursday night in Buffalo before 7,138 boxing fans. Charles, the aggressor all the way, pursued the Pennsylvania from the first, but was able to land only a few solid punches. Charles weighed 173½, Sarlin 185½.

Members of Quebec's Willingdon Cup team will be selected from a series of qualifying medal play rounds. Province of Quebec Golf Association officials announced in Montreal Thursday. All amateur players in Montreal district will be eligible to try for a spot on the team, while two players each from the Quebec City and Ottawa districts will be invited to compete in the qualifying playoffs.

Douglas Ness Thursday was granted a temporary trainer's license by the Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations. He had been suspended as a trainer about two years ago.

Biggest long-shot of the young eastern racing season turned up Thursday at Toronto's Woodbine Park when the eight-year-old gelding Styx, owned by A. Prest, paid off at $94 for $2 in winning the Redwood Plate. The race was for four-year-olds and up over the six furlong distance.

HAMMERING HANK—Hank Greenberg, who won fame as a slugger with the Detroit Tigers and the Pittsburgh Pirates, is now officially a pitcher. Here he is shown tossing a few at Cleveland, Ohio, during his club's workout. Greenberg, who is vice-president of the Cleveland Indians, signed with the team as batting practise pitcher in order to have the official playing position required by American League rules if he is to be permitted to remain in uniform on the field when a game starts. Actually Hank's real worth to the club is as a hitting coach.

Dodgers In Dog House After 5 Straight Defeats

By JACK HANCOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Home sweet home has a strange tune in Brooklyn this year. Jeers instead of cheers greet the Dodgers after five straight defeats in "friendly" Ebbets Field.

No longer does a return to Flatbush guarantee success. First the Boston Braves and then the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals swept series in the flock's own backyard where the Dodgers are supposed to be toughest.

Hugh Casey was bumped again Thursday in his second straight relief appearance when the Cards slugged their way to a 13-4 slaughter. The loss was charged to starter Joe Hatten who was battered for six runs in the fifth inning.

The Cards' Stan Musial continued his red-hot batting, banging out four hits that included a homer, two doubles and a single.

The second-place New York Giants lost ground when they were hog-tied by Cincinnati's Howie Fox, 3-1. Fox, an early season "burst" hurled a neat six-hitter for his first victory of the year.

Elmer Riddle continued his remarkable comeback by blanking Boston Braves with four singles while Pittsburgh clubbed Red Barrett and two successors for 17 hits in a 13-0 romp. Ralph Kiner hit his ninth homer and two doubles to ease Riddle's path to his fourth victory.

Chicago's Cubs rapped three Philadelphia pitchers for 14 hits in a 5-3 decision over Walt Dubiel. Shortstop Roy Smalley added his first major league homer to the assault. Russ Meyer required relief help in the seventh in earning his fourth victory. Johnny Blatnik's hitting streak was stopped after 10 games.

Cleveland opened up a 14-game lead in the American League by drubbing Boston 13-4 at night after the runner-up Philadelphia A's bowed to Detroit in the afternoon, 4-2.

The Indians profited by the generosity of southpaws Mickey Harris and Maurice McDermott who tied the major league record by walking 18 men. The old mark was set by Detroit May 9, 1916. Harris passed seven and McDermott walked 11 while 43,158 watched.

With Joe DiMaggio enjoying a field day, the Yankees whipped Chicago White Sox 13-2. DiMaggio hit two homers, a triple, double and single for five hits in six trips, driving in six runs. St. Louis Browns hopped all over Washington for a 17-7 night verdict to soar into fifth place, passing both the Senators and Red Sox. It was the highest run total of the year in the league.

Lopata Leads Leafs To Victory

By The Associated Press

Stan Lopata, husky young catcher of Toronto Maple Leafs, is proving to be one the best clutch hitters in the International League.

The 22-year-old backstop, on option to the Leafs from Philadelphia Phillies, has banged in 24 runs in 25 games on 23 hits.

Lopata enjoyed one of his best nights at the plate Thursday night as he paced the Leafs to a 10-6 victory over Jersey City Giants.

He drove in eight runs on two homers and a double. His second homer came in the ninth inning with the bases loaded to break up the game. His first tied the game in the seventh.

The Giants jumped on starter Bubba Church for three runs in the first two innings and then drove the rookie from the hill with three more in the fifth to take a 6-4 lead.

Baltimore suffered a 9-0 trouncing at the hands of Newark Bears. Zeke Melignano held the Orioles to eight hits while his mates collected 11 safeties.

Laraine Day Says Baseball No. 1 Interest

By BOB THOMAS.
HOLLYWOOD, May 21 (AP)—Laraine Day has served notice on Hollywood that baseball will be her No. 1 interest in the future. Mrs. Leo Durocher says henceforth she will stay with her irrepressible husband during the Dodgers' spring training and the playing season, vacation with "The Lip" for a few weeks, then return to Flickerville for an annual movie. She will rush East as soon as she finishes "My Dear Secretary" to lend her support to the Dodger campaign.

Red Menace
Dana Andrews was relating the difficulties of filming "The Iron Curtain" in Canada. Some government workers in Ottawa, he claims, disapproved of the film and ruined location shooting by waving handkerchiefs from windows of government buildings. Willy William Wellman sent assistants to talk with the workers shot the scenes he needed.

Latest to hop on the anti-Soviet bandwagon is "FBI Meets Scotland Yard." The spy yarn does not identify Russia as boss of the espionage group, but little is left to the imagination....

About People
James Stewart says he has not yet talked with MGM about doing the Monte Stratton film, but the odds are good that he will make the baseball picture.

Teresa Wright is sparkling before the cameras again after more than a year's absence. She says she will pursue her career now her baby is eight months old. Her brunette tresses have been dyed orange for "Take Three Tenses."

Students Hear Rev. J. Howson

FREDERICTON, NB, May 21. With weather of the finest and attendance possibly the largest ever, the Baccalaureate Service of the University of New Brunswick took place at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The chancellor of the University, Lord Beaverbrook, was unfortunately prevented by a cold from attending. Premier McNair headed a distinguished group from the government and the senate of the university. The graduating class this year having some 250 members was more prominent than usual in the procession and congregation.

The visitors from the university were seated in the front of the church. The congregation was so large that special accommodation had to be provided for the public. The sermon was preached by the minister, Rev. J. Donald L. Howson, MA, LTH, who stressed the intellectual power given mankind, yet the comparatively small advance made down through the ages. Man was the wonder and the scandal of the universe, he said, the one because of the heights he occasionally reached and the other because he seldom reaches those heights. If only natural forces were to be at work in human life, the prospect was not hopeful but the ascension of Christ reminds one that the event was not only the return of the Son of God to His Father but also the entrance of human nature into Heaven. The future progress of the human race rests on the spiritual and moral plane, Mr. Howson asserted.

(Mr. Howson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Howson of Aylmer St., Peterborough. He served with the navy during the war and later took post-graduate work at Knox College.)

Celery Prices Reviewed By Committee

OTTAWA, May 21 — (CP) — The future of the full series of investigations which the prices committee has decided upon was in doubt today.

Members yesterday came against the fact that they have more on their schedule than they can complete during the present session of parliament, at the present rate of progress, but they avoided any extensive discussion of the problem.

Counsel Fabio Monet, K.C., told them it will not be possible to begin investigation of textile prices, expected to last a month, until June 1. The committee also has on its agenda an uncompleted fruit and vegetables probe, investigation of feed grain and building materials prices, and some unfinished business on subjects dealt with previously. Parliament is expected to rise at the end of June.

Ross Thatcher (CCF-Moose Jaw) asked how the committee is to get through its work and said he wonders if it is dying a lingering death. Other members did not comment on his doubts about the committee's future but it was agreed the steering committee will meet Friday to discuss future work.

Raises Celery Price

The committee had as its witness Ralph DeYong, president of DeYong's Ltd., of Sydney, N.S., and questioned him on his prices for celery, oranges and onions last winter.

Members showed special interest in a price rise Dec. 4, when the firm's profit on oranges rose from $1.78 to $2.53 a case.

Mr. DeYong said the price in question was deliberately raised to retard sales and maintain stocks for the Christmas trade.

In the case of celery, he had deliberately held his price up to help a local grower clear a large crop which he considered too expensive to buy himself. On another occasion, soon after import restrictions were imposed, he had raised the price of celery for the same reason as in the case of oranges—to retard sales and maintain supplies for Christmas.

"Would it be fair for the committee to assume that you took advantage of the market?" Mr. Thatcher asked.

"No, it would not," Mr. DeYong said. "If there had been any idea of profiteering, those prices would have carried on until after Christmas."

32 Seamen At Welland Remanded Till June 7

WELLAND, May 21 — (CP) — Thirty-two seamen charged with conspiracy to damage the collier Glenelg and render her unseaworthy Wednesday were remanded to June 7 after electing trial by judge and jury. Judge Harold E. Fuller entered innocent pleas for them.

The men, members of the Canadian Seamen's Union (TLC), were arrested after the storming of the Canada Steamship Lines vessel in the Welland Canal last April 22. Seven others, who chose trial by magistrate, were each sentenced last Saturday to six months and fined $205.

A photographer arrested at the same time will be tried separately by judge and jury, June 14.

Three New Engineering Buildings To Make Varsity Key Centre

TORONTO, May 21 — Dr. Sidney E. Smith, president of the University of Toronto, has announced that the addition to the University's physics building would be called the Burton Wing in honor of Prof. E. F. Burton, one of Canada's most famous scientists.

After 16 years as head of the physics department, Prof. Burton is retiring this year to devote all his time to research. Replacing him June 1 will be Prof. E. G. Ballard of Cambridge.

The Burton Wing is one of three projects which will further integrate the University with the industrial life of Canada and which will make Varsity one of the great technological centres of the continent. A second project is the Wallberg Memorial Building for Chemistry and Chemical Engineering which is costing $3.5 million, largely financed by the Wallberg bequest. The third is the addition to the Mechanical Engineering building which will have in the basement one of the finest hydraulic labs in the world. Other sections of the Mechanical Building will be devoted to lubricants, cutting tools, heating and ventilation, air conditioning and refrigeration, and to studies of vibration—power transmission, speed control and plant layout.

Appeal For $13 Million

Every effort is being made to have at least some sections of these three new buildings ready for classes in the autumn. They are only three of the improvements embraced by the current Varsity Appeal for $13 million. With $7 million pledged by the Ontario Government and more than $1 million subscribed in the first few days of the campaign, the remainder of less than $5 million is being raised by the University's first national drive for funds.

The latest honor to Prof. Burton draws attention to a man whose reputation is world-wide. In all great laboratories, important research is world-wide. In all great laboratories, important research projects are being carried on with the help of electron microscopes which reveal and photograph particles so tiny that six and a half million of them, side by side, would measure one inch. The first electron microscope in North America—and the first practical model anywhere—was constructed by University of Toronto physicists working under Prof. Burton's direction eleven years ago. He is famous for his work with liquid helium, super conductivity and in many other fields as well.

Dr. Ballard, the new head of the department, was in charge of de-aussing and mine-sweeping research for the Royal Navy early in the war. He played an important role in Britain's victory over the magnetic mine. Later he was assistant director of naval operational research and, for a period, scientific adviser to the Commander-in-Chief, Fighter Command.

Appointment of Dr. Bruce Chalmers to the teaching staff next September also points up the University's emphasis on modern technological skills. Dr. Chalmers is at present chief metallurgist for the Atomic Energy Research Establishment of Great Britain.

Four Men Injured In Pilot House Blast

BUFFALO, May 21 — (AP) — Four men were injured, one severely, in a pilot house explosion Wednesday night aboard the lakes tanker Oswego-Socony, moored at the Colonial Beacon Oil Company dock near here.

Police said no cause had been determined yet.

The injured, all of Brooklyn, are Benjamin Lande, 38, chief officer, severely injured; Michael J. Rosolovsky, 20; Gustav W. Staahl, 24, boatswain; and Anthony G. Clinich, 42.

The tanker arrived here Wednesday from Toledo, Ohio, with 600,000 gallons of gasoline, Staahl said.

"We all were standing in the pilot house when there was a sudden explosion," he added. "And we were lucky to get out of it alive."

Jet Propulsion Work Speeded By Scientists

By H. L. JONES.

LONDON, May 21 — (CP) — British science, inventor of jet propulsion in the heat of war, now is speeding a vast research program to develop this new-found technology to the growing needs of peace.

The program is mainly under the wing of the Ministry of Supply and embraces propulsion and power development on land and sea as well as in the air. It envisages jet propulsion as filling the "gap" between the internal combustion engine and development of atomic energy.

A 500-mile-an-hour jet-propelled Trans-Atlantic airliner is under construction. Recently aeronautical history was made at Wisley Airfield, Surrey, with test-flight of the world's first all-jet airliner, a Vickers Viking powered by two "Nene" jet engines. The flight lasted 20 minutes and was "uneventful."

"Ghost" Engine

At Hatfield the De Havilland Company is pressing development of the "ghost" jet engine. One ghost-powered Lancaster, an airliner version of the bomber, has been test-flying a year, and high-flying trials are being conducted in a ghost-engined Vampire which recently set a world altitude record of almost 60,000 feet.

Britain also is experimenting in combinations of jet propulsion and new fuselage design, especially with futuristic "flying wing" types. Two DH 108's with Goblin jets have done many hours flying to study behavior of swept-back wings.

Abbott Budget Under Fire From Bracken

OTTAWA, May 21.—(CP).—John Bracken said Thursday night Canadians "asked for bread and were given a stone" in Finance Minister Abbott's budget.

"It was probably the most disappointing budget for the Canadian people in the history of our country," the Progressive Conservative leader said in an address prepared for delivery on the CBC's Trans-Canada network. He spoke on the political two-time series.

Mr. Bracken said unnecessary tax exactions to provide huge surpluses are not welcome and are not warranted, when achieved by oppressive taxation in lower incomes.

To the extent that taxes were necessary for essential social services, the Progressive Conservative party would support them.

"But the government has set in motion an inflationary spiral. And now they tell us it will get worse if we do not continue to exact taxes from poor and rich alike on a scale never before known in this country except in wartime, and on almost the same level as then.

Are Canadians to be trusted to look after their own earnings, or must the government do it for them? Who is it that built up Canada?"

The government took only 10 per cent of people's earnings before the war. Now it took 25 per cent.

Mr. Bracken said the budget "conveniently avoided" the Dominion-Provincial tax agreements, in effect with seven provinces for a full fiscal year.

Inventor Refuses To Take $200,000

LONDON, May 21.—(AP).—The Royal Commission on awards will meet next week for the task of persuading a reluctant inventor to accept about £50,000 ($200,000).

The man who hesitates to take the cash, tax free, is Air Commodore Frank Whittle, holder of a number of basic patents for jet propulsion and gas turbine engines.

Whittle has been seeking recognition, not cash. He feels it would be improper for him to claim a monetary reward because he developed his inventions while serving as an officer of the Crown.

Whittle cherishes two old letters from the Air Ministry. One in 1935 said:

"The Department do not think your invention will be of any practicable value to the service."

Now, the whole RAF is being outfitted with new engines on the basis of inventions by Whittle.

Allow Britons To Emigrate But Limit Skilled Workers

LONDON, May 21.—(CP).—Many Britons who dream of an escape from austerity and read that the Government is "eager to facilitate emigration" will find the Control of Emigration Order keeps them at home.

The order is Britain's protection against the loss of essential skilled workers. It has been used sparingly to check emigration thus far, mainly because comparatively few have been able to leave.

The limitation has been imposed by a shortage of ships. Government spokesmen said they doubted the oft-quoted estimate that 500,000 are already to leave the United Kingdom but agree none can be sure of the number until ocean berths are more plentiful.

Patrick Gordon-Walker, Commonwealth Relations Undersecretary, said in the Commons: "The only limitation that we have in mind over the facilities we can offer for travel is that we do not want too many skilled workers in certain categories to go out. With that one exception we are willing and eager to facilitate emigration, and we do our utmost to make shipping available."

Identify Workers

Sources said that the "skilled workers" mentioned by Gordon-Walker would include those employed where present manpower is insufficient, including farming, coal mining, textiles manufacture, roll-bearing factories and other basic industries.

All persons not regarded as professional, executive or managerial come under the order. It requires workers to obtain employment through labor exchanges and permits the government to direct them to work.

The restrictions apply, with some exceptions, to engagements taken up in Britain for employment abroad. The coal miner who wishes to emigrate cannot do so without receiving permission.

Spokesmen said applications are considered on an individual basis and government policy has been to allow emigration when it was clear the national interest was not harmed.

Stricter enforcement is certain if large-scale emigration develops later an vital industries face the loss of many skilled employees.

Ask Marriage Act Clarified In Ontario

TORONTO, May 21.—(CP).—The Toronto Synod of the Church of England in Canada voted on Thursday to ask the Ontario Government to clarify the Ontario Marriage Act as it relates to the signing and reading of banns.

Delegates questioned the legality of marriage performed by the ministers in parishes other than their own. This situation arises because the Act requires ministers who sign the banns to perform the ceremony.

Church laws and the Act also result in confusion. The Church requires banns to be called three times; the Act requires one reading. Banns must be called in the parishes of both bride and groom according to the Church; the civil law requires it in only one parish.

Five In Family Up For Theft

BRCKVILLE, May 21 (CP).—Five members of one family from the nearby village of Athens were charged individually with theft on Thursday. Three pleaded guilty and one was convicted, all being remanded to May 26 for sentence. The fifth was released on a plea of innocence.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hoare and sons Gerald 23, and Donald 26, were accused of theft of a long list of articles in the last six months. The list read like this:

Buttons, thread, seeds, electric light socket, elastic, clock, silk stockings, varnish stain, grass cutter, aprons, pocket-size novels, all in small quantities; two pairs of shoes, two pieces of underwear, nine skeins of wool, $77 worth of assorted merchandise, $45 worth of pocket books, 10½ yards of fabric, six forks and spoons, a jack from a coal company, and $100 of wire and cable. The court released Beryl Hoare 17, who was charged jointly with her mother with theft of some of the articles.

Get Chance To Vote On Increased Taxes

SASKATOON, May 21 — (CP).—The Saskatchewan electorate soon will have an opportunity to record its judgment of "increased taxes, improper ownership and centralized authority," Rupert Ramsay, provincial Progressive Conservative leader, said last night.

He was commenting upon the announcement earlier by Premier T. C. Douglas that a provincial general election will be held June 24.

"We need more business in government and less government in business; more trade union freedom and less patronage," Mr. Ramsay said. "Return of the CCF government will ensure further socialization of business. Further the control of opinion-forming agencies, reduce credit available here and increase costs of government."

Mission Nurse Tells Of Work In Newfoundland

MILLBROOK, May 21 (ENS).—Guest speaker at the May meeting of the Golden Links Mission Circle on Tuesday evening was Miss Bessie Banfill, for many years missionary-nurse at Mutton Bay in Labrador—in the Magdalen Islands, in the West as far as British Columbia, and in Northern Ontario.

The meeting was at the home of the president, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs who introduced Miss Banfill, a personal friend.

The guest speaker unfolded experiences in a life filled with adventure and service.

"Not many people seem to understand that there are two Labradors—one belonging to Newfoundland, and the other to Canada. It was in the latter that I served at the Dr. Grenfell Hospital, at Mutton Bay, a village of 200 people. The nearest doctor was at Harrington, some miles away; frequently in emergency cases often at distant points reached with extreme difficulty owing to stormy seas, practically no roads, unfavorable weather, and means of transportation, the mission nurse has to assume full responsibility, since no doctor was available. The work is undenominational in character. I went under the Anglican Sunday School, and worked together with a Roman Catholic priest, and a Baptist minister, as we all did our best to meet the needs of the people, raise their standards of living, and establish Christian principles in their hearts and lives."

Since the Goose Bay airport has been set up in Labrador, a great change has been coming in the life of the people, she said. Things once regarded as luxuries are becoming more available.

Th people are hardy, and include English, Scotch, Irish, French, and half-breed Eskimos. Their staple articles of diet are bread, lard, molasses, fish, and perhaps oatmeal, but as noted, changes are taking place.

While coal is burned at the Mission, and in some of the better homes, the people generally use wood, which they cut all winter. The children mature rapidly, but the death rate is high, owing to lack of any proper sanitation, and to faulty diet. The aim of the Mission is to teach them to help themselves, and since with them it is "either a feast or a famine" according to the fish harvest, the right use of their money is an important feature. Instead of supplies being given them, slips are issued which have money value.

"Clothing Day" at the Mission is like a bargain day; they have to be served in relays.

Long Winter

Winter in Labrador begins in September "when we put on our first woollens; by November we need the second layer, and in December a third is necessary, which we retain until spring—probably May, though the last of the snow does not disappear until July, perhaps August. We use dog teams in winter, and boats in summer for getting around."

Interrupted frequently by questions, Miss Banfill explained some customs, such as the practice in weddings at the coast, of friends firing rifles off as close to the bride as possible all the way to and from the church; dancing goes on all night after the ceremony. A dentist may come once a year, so the nurse must extract aching teeth "and as my wrist was not strong enough, another held on and together we got the tooth out."

DISTINGUISHED BACKGROUND—Appointment of Dr. Harold Warwick, of Montreal, one of Canada's outstanding younger medical scientists, as executive director of the Canadian Cancer Society and the National Cancer Institute of Canada, was announced recently in a joint statement from Dr. Louis-Charles Simard, president of the National Cancer Institute, and Dr. T. C. Routley, chairman of the board of directors of the Canadian Cancer Society.

Christening robes are very important, but scarce. So if four or five babies were to be done at the same time, a robe and bonnet might be hastily taken from a baby receiving the rite, and though damp with perspiration, were hastily put on the next in line for the ceremony."

Handiwork Shown

Among handiwork passed around for inspection were lovely hooked rugs made by the women during the long winter, which sold readily outside. The designs were made of the skins of unborn seals, and were an attractive part: a komatic, model of the sled used in travelling; some beautiful bead work made by the Indians among whom the speaker had worked, and a carved tooth pole well done, and interesting.

Miss Jean Burnham moved thanks to Miss Banfill and led in the worship service, assisted by Mrs. H. W. Gray, Miss Gladys Williamson, and Mrs. Gordon Powell.

The president reported a large parcel of used Christmas cards mailed to Miss Jean Stewart in China, with more to go to Miss Meta Sadler at Winnipeg. Mrs. E. J. Powell gave the stewardship message, and Mrs. Ken Pennington was appointed literature secretary, in place of Mrs. Orval Rowland, who resigned. The June meeting will be a sunset service at Mrs. Gordon Powell's home, with a weiner roast to follow. Mrs. Ingham and Mrs. Gray invited the Circle to attend the Mission Band on May 29, when the children will demonstrate their work.

Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. Ernest Powell, Misses Margaret Smith and Gladys Williamson.

Fur Industry Plays Big Role In Alberta

CALGARY, May 21 — (CP).—The fur industry plays a leading role in Alberta's economy. Agriculture Minister David Ure Wednesday night told a joint meeting of the Mutton Mink Breeders of Canada and the Dominion Council of Canadian Fur Breeders.

Paul Rheinhardt of Burlington, Wis., secretary of the Fur Farmers of North America Advertising group, said the demand for silver fox furs is becoming stronger in North America. Production in 1948 will be the lowest in years. As a result, he said, the balance of trade for those farmers still in business is proving much more favorable.

Demand for furs in Europe is "terrific," Mr. Rheinhardt said.

Garbage Litters Roadside Monaghan Reeve Irked Wants Mayor to Crack Whip

By HARRY THEOBALD

Every time Mel Johnston takes the low road into the city he feels mean enough to bite somebody on the leg. And that just isn't any leg. He knows some of the characters who are messing up that road, and if Mayor Wm. Owens doesn't stick some of them into jail he's not the man the Reeve of Monaghan has been rating.

The low road used to be called the town hall road in the days when Monaghan had a municipal building out near the McIntosh farm. It runs from Scott's Corners to Crawford's Grove—past the city's dump east of the CPR. A lateral road turns off to the north (and no peasant fine either, Bill—$30 or nothing, although you may be ultra vires or something out in the Johnston territory) past the Archie Patterson place and down through a woods with a brook on each side, babbling to each other all day long and into the night. This road comes off at Lansdowne St. at the foot of the long hill.

Some Good Done

Now and then when Reeve M. H. Johnston wants to look at that part of his constituency he drives in past Dobbin's wood which has carpet of nothing but trilliums these days. And as he comes to the dump he gets prepared for the worst.

"I'll say this for the city, they certainly cleaned up the ditcher of those roads east of the dump last year and I thought that was the way they were going to keep them," the Reeve explains. "But, right now it is as bad as ever. You'd think that when the truck fellows get out that far they would keep on going to the dump; but the good-for-nothings toss stuff onto the roadsides, and I wish some of the people in Peterborough would go out there and see what's going on."

(The Examiner accepted the Johnston challenge or invitation, and the mildest suggestion is that offenders should be barred from putting another foot in the township.)

City debris of all kinds is scattered along the Patterson Road, some of it in the creeks, and the sylvan beauty is smeared by the vandals who are let drive big trucks.

The city council might as well know that Reeve Johnston is really mad about this nuisance along two Monaghan roads. He said the other day he was provoked every time he came into the city that way. His "provoked" means a lot more than indignation.

Blame Business Men

"We should demand a tarpaulin on every truck going out to the dump, seeing the city will not compel it. Trucks are loaded with stuff. Business men and manufacturers, who ought to know better, let irresponsible youths drive at speeds that blow the stuff on to the road—even before they leave the city."

Reeve Johnston says there are far too many of these offenders, and it is about time the city, on its part, showed some real co-operation with the township.

"They did it last year, but as soon as their backs were turned the truck drivers messed up the scenery again. It looks wretched. They should be in jail on soaked a good fine. We've pussy-footed with them long enough, and they don't appreciate patient and easy dealing."

"What we might do to bring this home to the city fathers is to gather up a few truck loads and dump them on some of the city fathers' lawns; heave a load over the fences of a couple of factories; and we might leave still another at a certain fruit dealer's place."

"We let the city burn their refuse out in the township, and there's no reason why they don't help us keep the roads tidy. They'll just have to start soon if the city people and their council mean anything by the words good relations. Right now those roads are a disgrace."

Schools Mark Empire Day

Today is Empire Day in schools throughout the province. All Peterborough primary schools are marking the occasion with a special program. A number are having a general assembly and others will have their program in the individual classes.

In a printed message the Department of Education points out that Empire Day was first celebrated in 1895, and was to be observed on the school day immediately preceding the 24th of May. It was set apart "to increase the interest of the pupils in the history of their own country and to strengthen their attachment to the Empire to which they belong."

Central, Confederation, King Edward, St. Mary's, Park Hill, Queen Mary, Sacred Heart and St. John's are all having individual classroom ceremonies. Mrs. F. W. Harris, Board of Education will address the pupils of Park Hill school on the Empire Day theme. At Prince of Wales there will be a general assembly and Leslie Woodruff of the Normal School will be guest speaker. St. Mary's are staging the special program suggested by the Department of Education in an outdoor ceremony this afternoon.

This will be a patriotic pageant with songs, recitations and references to the various members of the British Commonwealth.

Close Market Saturday At Two

The farm market closes at 2 p.m. Saturday as announced by City Clerk Outram in a recent advertisement in the Examiner. "Farmers have the use of the market from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m.," he explained. "We have observed that only two or three vendors are staying around until four or five o'clock. The council felt that it was better to open the market for parking at 2 p.m. instead of waiting for the several farmers to make up their minds to go home after that time."

The great majority of farmers do not use the market except for parking, when Saturday afternoon space is available. Mr. Outram said that the longer hours of selling prevented parking use of the market. As a result few late-staying vendors were getting all the advantage that should be afforded for public parking.

BEAR ACTIVE— TOES MISSING

W. B. Gordon and Jim Byrne visited Kinnmont this week to attend a Liberal organization meeting, and the only sign of unusual activity was a huge black bear, that ambled across the highway in front of the car. Jim Byrne, a native of the Kinnmont district, had never spotted a bear on the road before. "We saw the bear, but no Conservatives were visible," Pete Gordon remarked.

A cheque for $5,000 from Mrs. Nina McKee, 462 Charlotte St., was received by the Board. John Horne, superintendent of the hospital, read a letter from Mrs. McKee, explaining that this generous gift is for the fitting up and furnishing of a reception room in the projected Nurses' Home, for the greater comfort and happiness of nurses in training, in memory of her late husband, Herbert E. C. McKee and his father, George, of Smith township, and in appreciation of the care and comfort shown her at the hospital since year ago. Mr. Horne reported that 489 patients were treated at the hospital during the month of April, 31 patients were refused admission and 184 operations carried out. Forty-two patients were treated at the Queen Mary branch.

Recommendations by Mr. Horne that the rate for X-ray service in the Civic Hospital be changed to the former rates approved by the Ontario Medical Association, and the question of dental care for indigent patients be referred to the Medical and Surgical Advisory committee for advice were approved.

Patients that recovered totalled 224, improved 119, deaths 13, stillborn babies 3, diagnosis only 2 and transferred 3. Laboratory examinations totalled 1,332, X-ray examinations 336, physiotherapy treatments 28.

Report of the property committee was given by I. F. McRae who reported that repairs had been made to the ceiling of the laboratory and new lighting installed in the laboratory and radiology room.

Appointment of Dr. Douglas Kelly, 479 Thompson Ave., as a member of the medical staff of the Civic Hospital was approved.

A letter was read from the Peterborough County Council appointing Jeremiah Mahoney, Reeve of Douro, member of the Board to take the place of the late Gilbert McIlmoyle.

Horse Racing To Feature 24th Jamboree

Entertainment is the theme of the second Jaycee Jamboree now ready to open its gates Monday, May 24, to the citizens of Peterborough and the rural districts. Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce left their planning board last week with the final blueprint of the Jamboree. It is designed to give patrons of the Jamboree a day of fun and enjoyment.

Drawn up to attract the maximum number of visitors, the program is slanted to both city and rural residents. Horse racing has one of the top billings at the Jamboree; and the program includes three races: 2:26 pace, 2:22 pace and a free-for-all.

City people will be interested in the baseball championship which will be played on the grounds at Exhibition Park. Inter-city teams will compete for a trophy which the Jaycees propose to offer in annual competition at the Jamboree.

By reason of the large number of children attending the Jamboree in 1947, the committee were unanimous in their decision to permit all children under the age of 12 years entry to the grounds without charge.

Other features of the program include a fly-casting demonstration, recently seen at the Toronto Sportsman's Show, a radio demonstration by the Provincial Police, and a display of fireworks which the Jaycees guarantee will light up the City.

Oliver Charges Drew Using Government Plane For Campaign

TORONTO, May 21.—(CP).—Farquhar Oliver charged Thursday night that Premier Drew has been using an Ontario government airplane in his election campaign travels.

The Ontario Liberal leader, speaking in Ottawa, said the plane was a $162,000 machine bought for the Provincial Power Commission. He did not mention Mr. Drew by name but said the plane was used in the north by "the man who carries the gospel for the Progressive Conservatives."

Newspaper reports of the campaign mentioned that the premier made airplane flights during the northwestern and Northern Ontario legs of his tour.

Premier Drew, in an election speech at Pembroke, said he wanted to assure Eastern Ontario residents that power to be produced by projects now under construction on the Ottawa river would be used in the eastern part of the province as well as in western Ontario industrial areas.

CCF leader E. B. Jolliffe, speaking at Peterborough, said his party was having no part of offered Labor-Progressive party aid and asserted the best antidote for Communism is the CCF program.

One-Party Plane
Mr. Oliver criticized what he said was the use by one party of a publicly-owned aircraft.

"If it is to be used by one party, it should be used by all. On my next trip North I must see if my next has arrived."

He charged also that the Progressive Conservative Party had used a government-printed information pamphlet, "Queen's Park Report," for propaganda purposes.

He said that if a Liberal Government is elected in Ontario on June 7, Ontario would "get down off its high horse" and meet Federal officials in an attempt to discover how each government could best serve the interest of the province and of the Dominion.

"I do not like nor will I countenance as far as our party is concerned," Mr. Oliver said, the "strange" way in which Premier Drew had waged his campaign in Northern and North-western Ontario. He had promised $300,000 to a hospital at Fort William, $50,000 to another hospital at Port Arthur, a university of Northern Ontario, and land-clearing bulldozers at North Cochrane.

"If our Premier had more time at his disposal, he would give the province away."

Proposes Bridge
Besides speaking on power, Premier Drew promised that Ontario will take its part in the construction of a bridge across the Ottawa River five miles below Pembroke. The proposed bridge has been a matter of interest in Pembroke for 25 years. The nearest span across the river is at Portage Du Fort, nearly 50 miles east of Pembroke.

"When you obtain the consent of the Dominion Government and of Quebec Province, we will take our part without delay," Premier Drew said. "We also will do our part in promoting the necessary agreements with those two governments."

Jim Hawthorne On Broadway Success Story Started At PCVS

Broadway hasn't paused long enough to notice yet, but a young ex-sailor from Peterborough, has established himself on that famous street in no uncertain terms.

He is Jim Hawthorne, 24-year-old tenor, who came to New York two years ago straight from the Canadian Navy and is now playing a small part in "Inside U.S.A.," which is the big town's latest hit and has another Canadian Beatrice Lillie, as its star. He is the son of Mrs. Jessie Hawthorne, 163 Antrim Street. His father, the late James Hawthorne, died in the Whitaker fire in 1947.

Getting on the stage through a story-book romance, Jim earned a lead part in his first show, and has made a steady advance in the dramatic world ever since.

When he was 17, Jim joined the Royal Canadian Navy as a telegrapher, intending to make that his career, but after five years he was sure that it was the stage, not the sea, which called him.

He sang in operettas at Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational Institute and had taken part in shows put on at naval stations. He had a part in the Navy Show for six months, after some friends connected with the show ran across him in Halifax naval hospital, but when the RCN which thought he was still in hospital, found one of its men in the all-Navy show, they decided they needed him for the invasion.

After his discharge Jim left his service benefits and a chance to study at the Royal Conservatory of Music of Toronto behind him "to take a shot in the dark at Broadway, because New York held everything I wanted."

He arrived June 15, 1946, with a permanent visa, his savings and not a single friend in the city. He became one of the unhappy throng who spend their days on black hard chairs in agents' offices trying to be witty and cheerful when they feel neither, scrambling with hundreds of others for tips on who were casting.

He learned that producers "look not for new talent, but for tried performers, and that summer is the worst time for getting auditions. When his money ran out he took a job as a "soda jerk," working nights so he could hunt for his chance by day.

Then he struck up a conversation with a beautiful blonde who ate at the drugstore regularly. He learned that her name was Doretta Horrow, and that she was the ingenue lead in a revival of Victor Herbert's "The Red Mill," which was then running.

Through her Jim got his first audition, and earned a part in the chorus. He was understudy to the juvenile lead, and when the latter left Jim found himself, less than a month after he met her, playing opposite Doretta.

"I had the shortest Who's Who in the history of the Playbill," he recalls. After five years in the RCN, Jim has again donned sea-going garb to play the part of Hendrik Van Dami.

Hendrik was a young sea captain in love with Doretta. Jim found that making love to Doretta on the stage was contagious, but their real life love affair ended when the show went on the road after an eight-month run. Doretta went with the show, while Jim decided to stay in New York to continue the voice lessons he had begun under Madame Alice Zepilli, a former opera star who sang with Caruso.

He found that one good part was an open sesame for auditions. In six weeks he was the juvenile in a revival of "Sweethearts," with Bobby Clarke. This part, which was straight acting, no singing, lasted from May, 1947, until October, when "Sweethearts," too, went on tour.

Both shows are still touring, and Jim could still be with either but he puts his voice training first. A month after "Sweethearts" he was juvenile in "Bonanza Bound," which folded in Philadelphia.

"It was rather unpleasant, but an education," Jim comments, "I'd never been in a flop before, and, heaven forbid, no more."

Then came "Inside U.S.A.," for which he had "the toughest audition I ever hope to go through," and was chosen from among thousands of aspirants. His part is small, some chorus work and a duet of two sweethearts at a country fair, but this is a prestige show, with top stars and a long run assured, and Jim feels it is worth anything just to be in it.

He plans to stay with the show until it leaves town, perhaps moving up as some of those with better parts go to new plays. Later he looks forward to work in radio, the movies, and singing before a band, but he wants to establish himself on the legitimate stage first.

Jim's typed as a juvenile now because the lights make him look even younger than he is, but he finds the parts easy to play and is glad to wait until he has more experience before trying more difficult roles. Handsome and blond, he finds that because most tenors are short his height, over six feet, is a great help to him.

His ultimate goal is opera, although as yet he can't handle operatic exercises. His teacher finds it necessary often to shout, "Open your mouth wider. Some day, I tell you, you choke," but her verdict is: "Certainly he's good enough, his voice is beautiful, far better than most."

Loses Arm In Crash Court Awards $5,000

BRANTFORD, May 21.—(CP).—Frank George White, 20, was awarded damages of $5,000 in the first settlement here under the unsatisfied judgment clause of the Ontario Motor Vehicles Act.

His left arm was amputated as a result of injuries suffered in an accident last Aug. 16, in which the driver left the scene.

White's claim of $1,353 for property damages was also allowed. This must be sought from the unidentified driver.

The Act allows a maximum settlement of $5,000 for personal injuries but does not cover property damage.

Nomination Lost By 'Holly' Acres

OTTAWA, May 21.—(CP).—A. H. (Holly) Acres, veteran member of the Ontario Legislature, Thursday night was defeated by Don Morrow, district school principal, as Progressive Conservative candidate for Carleton in the Toronto election, June 7.

Eight men stood against the 70-year-old PC standard-bearer who first had been sent to the Ontario House in 1923. He successfully battled for the seat in 1926, 1929, 1934, 1937, 1943, and 1945.

As the fifth ballot was being polled, only Morrow and N. J. Nesbitt, another possible nominee, stood against Acres, but the poll disclosed that Morrow, for-

Kennedy Cites Drew Record Urges Support of Foote

BETHANY, May 21. (ENS)—Major John Foote, VC, Progressive Conservative candidate for Durham County made his initial campaign speech for election in Bethany Town Hall Wednesday. He was introduced by Charles Stephenson, MP for Durham.

"You, in Durham County, have chosen your candidate wisely. He will bring further distinction to this constituency and I know his efforts on our behalf will be untiring."

Major Foote spoke briefly, thanking the assembly for his nomination and expressing his desire to be a real servant to the people.

"I feel I have a mission to perform. I am interested in your problems, and would like to have the opportunity of being the mediator between the people of Durham county and the Government."

Mrs. Ira Lowe, of Mt. Pleasant, introduced the guest speaker. Hon. Tom Kennedy, Minister of Agriculture.

Col. Kennedy urged the electorate to turn out in force and support the new candidate, Major Foote, and help put the Drew government back into power.

"I am interested in farmers and farmers' problems from a very personal standpoint. The development and expansion of the Province's vast resources under the Drew policy is reason for your support. The National Health plan is another step forward in the field of public welfare. The recent announcement of the Amusement tax taken over by the Provincial Government means that in Ontario we will have the best, the cheapest and greatest amount of hospital accommodation per capita anywhere in the world. In addition to maintenance grants it will include sharing in the building of new hospitals. The effect of the new grant will be to relieve the municipal taxpayers, principally the home owners of the responsibility of paying the large deficits which hospitals have been incurring. It will also place the hospitals in a position of being able to go ahead with their expansion program. Community centres will also benefit and what could be a better policy than looking after the youth of our country?"

Of special interest to farmers was his announcement that the Government would spend this year $450,000 on agricultural research and more if necessary if the trained personnel could be found to carry out this research project.

"Methods of farming are advancing all the time. It is a far cry from the first sickle and reapers to today's modern tractors and combines. The future peace of the world may be found in a better and more universal understanding of agriculture. Hardships of the severest kind were encountered by the early settlers. The farmer who has followed up the history of this country and who knows how certain changes have come about is the farmer who is really getting on. He is no guesser. He is building for a better Canada."

Reeve Ernest Cavano moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Kennedy. Charles Stephenson, M.P., spoke briefly on the new budget just released, giving some of the highlights in detail. He urged the voters to stand behind Maj. Foote in the coming election, and concluded on a warning note against Communism.

"The doctrines of the CCF party are similar to Communism. It is time we examined their policies to see why they are supported by Communists. I am not saying they are Communists, but the fact that Communists choose to support them indicates that their policies are close enough to enable Communistic support. I hope the election shows the Communistic element that the people of Ontario have no time for them. In Premier Drew's Conservative Government we have wise, far seeing and youthful men who have the interest of Canada at heart."

Howard McMullen moved a vote of thanks to Percy Stinson of Millbrook, who acted as chairman.

Lunch was served by the members of Manvers Township Conservative Association.

Rental Insurance Project Discussed All Day In House

OTTAWA, May 21—(CP).—The Commons put the finishing touches Thursday to a Government bill establishing a rental insurance plan. It is aimed at encouraging the building of dwellings, in groups of eight, family units or more, renting up to $80 a month each. In brief, the plan will guarantee the builder or ultimate owner an 85 per cent return on an "economic" rent.

In a day-long housing debate, the bill received second reading—adoption in principle—and was approved in all its clauses. Now it stands for third and final reading, then goes to the Senate.

Before approving the principle, the Chamber voted down—by 197 to 30—a CCF amendment calling upon the Government to consider a program of subsidized housing. The CCF group drew support from the Social Credit Party but lost out to a combined majority of Liberals and Progressive Conservatives.

Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto) spear-headed an Opposition attack on the legislation, charging that the government lacks determination in tackling the housing problem and is repudiating its 1945 election campaign promises on housing.

George McIlraith, parliamentary assistant to Trade Minister Howe, defended the bill. The government, he said, has given leadership to provinces and municipalities. But while most of the municipalities had co-operated, the provinces had turned their backs on the Dominion.

External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said that, if Newfoundland votes to enter the Canadian Confederation, new treaty arrangements will have to be made with the United States on matters pertaining to the American bases on the island.

Explains Legislation

Explaining the housing legislation, Mr. Howe said the rental insurance scheme will apply to fully-serviced dwellings renting for $80 a month or less, heated and provided with a stove and refrigerator. It was hoped they would rent as low as $55 a month and that unserviced units would rent from $40 to $57 a month.

Builders would have to agree not to increase the rent for three years. They would pay a premium for the insurance. The Cabinet was considering a premium rate of 4½ per cent.

Mr. McIlraith said Canada's housing record is better than that of any other country. Official statistics, for example, showed that 79,000 houses were completed last year against a preliminary estimate that 77,000 would be built.

Mr. Fleming said Mr. Howe is always anxious to put the blame on the provinces and the municipalities, although the municipalities have done more than the government is willing to admit. The government was lacking in responsibility when it refused to call a conference on housing with the provinces and the cities.

F. S. Zaplatny (CCF-Dauphin) said it was clear that houses are not being built and that the only answer lies in subsidization.

John T. Hackett (PC-Stanstead) said he is opposed to subsidies for the same reason that he opposes Socialism. The homes of the people should not be owned and controlled by the state. Subsidies would open the way to interference with the freedoms of the individual.

Mosher Assails Budget Report

OTTAWA, May 20—(CP).—A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, said today the Government in its budget had "let the wage-earners of this country down at a time when they are badly in need of relief."

In a statement, Mr. Mosher said the budget should have eliminated the sales tax on clothing and building materials as well as foodstuffs, and he criticized the decision to pay refundable income tax in a lump sum.

The labor chief called also for higher income tax exemptions to restore purchasing power to low-wage earners, whose real income had been cut by inflation.

"At present," he said, "this group cannot afford to buy milk, butter and other needed foodstuffs in sufficient quantity to raise healthy families. The elimination of the sales tax on various foodstuffs, according to Mr. Abbott himself, is likely to be absorbed by food merchants in a fresh orgy of profit-making, leaving the consumer no better off than before."

Warn Canadians About Palestine

OTTAWA, May 21—(CP).—Canadians who leave the country and without permission take up arms in Palestine will not be given government protection in the event of capture, a government official indicated Thursday night.

He was commenting on a report from the new state of Israel that 69 Jews, including three Canadians and 41 Americans, were taken by force from the American ship Marine Carp at the Arab port of Beirut.

The government official said that a protest has not yet been received by the Canadian Government in connection with the three Canadians, believed sent to a Lebanese concentration camp.

(In New York, agents for the Marine Carp said the passengers included the following Canadians: Allen Schulbaum, 20; David Sidersky, Maurice H. Waldman, 26; Pearl Schulbaum and Zeldia Posternak, 20. The steamship agents said hometowns of Canadian passengers were not shown in records at present available.)

Boyer's Counsel Says Court Has No Proof

MONTREAL, May 21—(CP).—Dr. Raymond Boyer's counsel, claiming there was no legal proof in the record to show that Boyer had committed an offence under the Official Secrets Act or had been party to any conspiracy, Thursday asked the Court of Appeal to set aside the conviction of the wealthy wartime chemist.

However, the court adjourned Thursday before any action was taken on the defence motion. Hearing of Boyer's appeal against a conviction of conspiracy to violate the Official Secrets Act commenced Thursday at the point where it was interrupted Wednesday by the withdrawal of one of the five judges hearing the case.

Mr. Justice J. L. St. Jacques withdrew. Mr. Justice E. Fabre Surveier Thursday took the place of Judge St. Jacques and Boyer's counsel waived the right to start the case at the beginning.

Paper Declares Jesse James Is Still Living

LAWTON, Okla., May 21 (AP).—The Lawton Constitution says it has "undisputable proof" that Jesse James is still alive.

"The two-fisted, gun-slinging Robin Hood of the post-civil war era was revealed to be officially alive and residing in Lawton," the Constitution says.

The paper has affidavits from three persons who knew James during his lifetime, who have seen the man here and believe he is James.

"Officially Jesse James was killed in 1882 by Bob Ford," the Constitution says. "But actually, it was Charlie Bigelow who met his death at the hands of Ford." The story adds that it was "agreed among the outlaw gang that no one would reveal his identity until all were past the age of 100 or dead."

"Old man Jesse is the only one who lived... he passed his 100th birthday Sept. 5, 1947, and the secrecy agreement ended then."

Sure He's Dead

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP).—Jesse James may be alive in Lawton, Okla., but he has been dead since 1882 as far as the Pinkerton National Detective Agency is concerned.

The agency has three huge volumes of files attesting to his death.

The Pinkerton Agency, hired by railroads and express companies that had been victims of raids, trailed the James boys for years throughout the Midwest.

The files say Jesse's corpse was identified by several friends—and enemies—as it lay on the floor in his St. Joseph, Mo., home in 1882.

Canada Batters Dollar Position

By The Canadian Press.

Canada continues to make progress in correcting her unfavorable trade position with the United States, and consequently in her American dollar situation.

However, she still buys much more from that country than she sells there, and continues to have a dollar problem which she must try to make up by getting payment in dollars for what she sells to other countries.

Assistance to European countries through the European recovery program helps in this, though the course of American policy is not clear in all respects. Also, Canada is suffering somewhat in her trade with dollar-short countries which do not get ERP aid and which have put restrictions on what they will buy from dollar areas.

Total Canadian sales to the United States in the first four months of this year were $421,533,000 compared with $320,237,000 in the similar period of 1947, an advance of more than 31 per cent. For the first three months of the year the unfavorable trade balance with the United States was $107,900,000 compared with $203,200,000 in the same period of 1947.

"Why are your teeth so much Whiter today?"

Don't try to save too much

It may sound like unusual advice from a bank. But it's based on our experience with thousands of depositors, and we think you'll agree it's sensible.

The simple secret of saving is regularity... deposit money regularly, and leave it there until you have the amount you want for some specific purpose.

If, on the other hand, you try to save more than you can afford it becomes not only a burden, but an impossibility.

You find you have to miss one or two deposits, you find yourself drawing out your savings for some current need.

Decide on a sum you can afford, make deposits regularly, and enjoy saving!

Phyllis Crowe Takes Vows Thursday in St. George's

A pretty spring wedding took place Thursday afternoon in St. George's Anglican Church when Phyllis Gwendolyn Crowe and Alexander Henry McLaren were united in the bonds of matrimony. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Crowe and the groom a son of Mr. Joseph McLaren and the late Mrs. McLaren, all of Peterborough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. C. Moore against a floral background of apple blossoms and snapdragons with ferns and red roses graced the altar. Mrs. A. Watkins played the wedding music and during the signing of the register Mrs. E. W. Cooper sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white slipper satin featuring a sweetheart neckline. Tiny covered buttons fastened the light fitted bodice and long sleeves were gracefully pointed over her hands. The skirt had insertions of lace and fell into a slight train. Her full-length circular veil was of bridal tulle and held in place by a beaded tiara. She carried a cascade of red roses and white sweet peas. Miss Reita O'Donnell was her only attendant. She was frocked in pink nylon over satin and wore a headpiece of blue velvet flowers and carried a cascade of variegated pees.

Mr. Edward McLaren was his brother's groomsman and the ushers were Jack Branson and Roy Fraley.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Hooper's palm rooms where the bride's mother received wearing a blue flowered crepe dress with black accessories and corsage of briarcliff roses. Mrs. Roy Fraley, sister of the groom, also received, wearing pale blue silk jersey with white accessories, and a similar corsage.

When the bride and groom left on a motor trip to Niagara Falls and the States the bride was wearing a light blue dress with grey accessories, and a corsage of rapture roses.

Mr. and Mrs. McLaren will live in Peterborough.

Veal Taking Special Place On Present Everyday Menu

In the month of May, veal takes a special place on both everyday and party menus.

Home economists feel that the lack of popularity of veal, in some homes, comes from the fact that it requires longer cooking than beef and should always be served well-done. In families where rare roast beef is the choice the veal may not be sufficiently cooked and therefore unappetizing.

Veal lacks fat in the tissues so a generous coating of fat over the roast gives it color and flavor as well as keeping it juicy. Low temperature is best for roasting. A moderately slow oven, 325 degrees F. for 30 to 35 minutes per pound is recommended. Rib, leg, loin and shoulder cuts make good roasts.

Veal is mild and therefore may be pointed up with a variety of seasonings. Whatever seasoning is used it should be added with a light hand so that the veal flavor is still discernible. A few grains of nutmeg, celery salt, mace or paprika may be added along with salt and pepper. Herbs such as thyme, parsley, rosemary and savoury go well with veal. Chopped apples, tomatoes and lemon juice or garlic also bring out the flavor when added to steaks or casserole dishes.

You will enjoy veal cooked in the following ways.

Veal Paprika
2 1/2 lbs. of veal shoulder chops cut 1-inch thick; 1 egg; 2 tablespoons salt; 1 tablespoon water; 1/2 cup dry fine bread crumbs; 1/2 cup chopped onion; 1/4 cup fat; 1 cup water; 1 cup sour cream; 2 tablespoons paprika.

Cut shoulder chops into serving pieces. Beat egg slightly with salt and water. Dip pieces in it, then roll in bread crumbs. Cook chopped onion in fat until golden brown, using heavy frying pan. Add meat and cook until lightly brown. Add water, cover and simmer about 1 1/2 hours or until tender. Add sour cream but do not stir. Sprinkle paprika over all, cover and cook about 15 minutes. Yield six servings.

Jellied Veal Loaf
1 1/2 lbs. veal shank; 2 quarts boiling water; 1 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon celery salt; 1 teaspoon chopped parsley; 2 tablespoons gelatin; 1/4 cup cold water; 1 teaspoon chopped onion; 1 hard-boiled egg.

Simmer veal shank with salt, parsley and thyme in water until meat falls from the bone, about 1 1/2 hours. Strain liquid and save (there should be 2 cups). Chop meat (there should be 2 cups). Soak gelatin in cold water. Add to hot strained veal stock. Stir until dissolved. Set aside to chill. When it begins to stiffen, add onion and chopped meat. Slice egg and place slices in bottom of greased mould. Pour meat mixture over egg. Chill until firm. Unmould and serve on lettuce. Yield: eight to ten servings.

Veal Balls With Vegetables
1 lb. ground veal; 1/2 cup rolled oats; 1/2 teaspoon spicy meat sauce; 1/4 teaspoon chopped parsley; 1 teaspoon salt; pepper; 1 egg; 4 tablespoons flour; 2 tablespoons fat; 6 small onions, sliced; 8 medium carrots, sliced; 6 small potatoes, quartered; 3 cups hot water; dash of pepper.

Mix meats, rolled oats, meat sauce, parsley, salt, pepper and well-beaten egg. Form in balls, roll in flour and brown well in hot fat. Place in casserole. Add vegetables. Put remainder of flour in the pan in which meat was browned. Brown flour, add water gradually and stir until gravy is smooth and well-blended. Pour over meat and vegetables. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F. until vegetables are tender, about 40 minutes. Baste vegetables occasionally during cooking. Yield: six servings.

Joan Moffatt Weds Foster Ronco

St. Peter's Cathedral was the setting for a pretty wedding on Thursday morning when Joan Moffatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moffatt became the bride of Foster Leonard Ronco, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ronco. The Rev. P. F. Butler performed the ceremony. Mrs. Robert Aman, organist played "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white satin which fell in a long graceful train. Tiny satin-covered buttons trimmed the sleeves and bodice, and she wore white lace mittens and white ballerina slippers. Her full-length veil was caught to a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried an arm bouquet of American Beauty roses and sweet peas. Miss Marylou King, her only attendant, was frocked in gold corded silk made with an oval neckline and draped skirt. She wore pink mittens and matching half-hat trimmed with forget-me-nots. Her arm bouquet was of pink carnations with blue larkspur.

Mr. Philip Basclano attended the groom.

The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Moffatt received the guests, wearing a black and white printed crepe gown with black accessories and corsage of pink sweet peas. She was assisted by Mrs. Jack McTeague, sister of the groom, who wore printed silk jersey in draped style, brown accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

Later the bridal couple left for Niagara Falls and New York, the bride travelling in a burgundy ballerina suit, white shortie coat and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronco will reside at 186 Hunter St. E.

SMOKING AND THROMBOSIS
Smoking may have something to do with the higher incidence of coronary thrombosis among women, say some health experts. On the average, smokers were found to get coronary thrombosis 10 years earlier than non-smokers.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Errs in Resenting Family of Husband-to-Be

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to be married to a boy who is very fine in every way. I love him dearly and he loves me, but the trouble is that I do not like any member of his family. Do you think I could live a happy life if I refuse to have anything to do with his people?

His father is terribly ugly. On the other hand, my fiancé is handsome and has plenty of common sense. My mother warns me against marrying this boy, and she keeps saying to me: "Suppose you had a child who looked like his Grandfather. Do you think there would be any chance of that?"

Don't you think that my Boy Friend should have a job and be earning a good salary before he expects me to marry him?

PEGGY

ANSWER: Certainly a man should be earning enough money to support a wife before he takes one, but it seems to me that you are being a little choosy in your demands about what you expect in a husband. A marriage contract does not require the bridegroom to give up his family and even have his father beautiful more to the bride's taste.

Doomed To Failure

A marriage entered into under such conditions would have small chance of happiness, because if your husband is anything of the kind of man that he seems to be, there would always be a rift between you and him because you would have nothing to do with his parents.

Every decent man loves his father and mother and brothers and sisters. He has the family feeling of loyalty, which is one of the strongest ties in the world, yet many foolish young women think they can break it with impunity, but they never do. A wife may badger her husband into giving up his own people, but she buys her victory at a high price because he never forgives her for it. So if you are not going to be friendly with your fiancé's people, don't marry him.

As for the chances of a problematic child looking like his grandfather, that is a risk that every woman who has a baby takes. Maybe some of your ancestors never took prizes in a beauty show, either.

DEAR MISS DIX: When I started going out with my husband I lied to him about my age, pretending that I was younger than I am. When I married him, not wishing him to know that I had lied to him, I put the wrong date on my marriage application. I am not a deceitful person by nature and this lie has been on my mind until I am getting slightly wacky.

Now I am willing to tell my husband the truth and suffer the consequences. But does my giving a false date of birth make my marriage illegal? It has become an obsession with me. Please set me right if you can.

UNHAPPY BRIDE

ANSWER: Instead of worrying yourself sick over it, why don't you go down to the Marriage Bureau and let them set your mind at rest? But if giving a false date on a marriage application is illegal, a large percentage of the female population are not "honest" women.

Very few women ever tell the truth about their age. That is a secret between them and their Maker, and if they falsify the number of birthdays they have had, it is such an innocent and harmless lie that no doubt, as in the old legend, the Recording Angel drops a tear on it and blots it out.

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a boy friend who has a habit of coming to see me late at night. Often after midnight, and he stays until 2 A.M. and sometimes after that. My landlord is threatening to put me out because of this. What would you advise me to do.

MISS R. D. B.

ANSWER: I would advise you to refuse to receive the visits of a man who comes at such an unorthodox hour. You will soon have no reputation unless you do. A girl not only has to be good, she has to act good.

THE STARS SAY

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, May 22

The sidereal operations emphasize the rigid need for calmness, self-control, all forms of prudence and circumspect conduct, if losses, miseries, disappointments and frustrations are to be avoided. This applies to all the interest, ties, obligations and activities, as the most ambitious objectives are at stake. Reckless, erratic, passionate tempestuous moves could prove ruinous, devastating to the most cherished desires. Pride egotism could offend superiors.

Those whose birthday it is may be the cause of their own defeat, failure, detriment and unhappiness, since a disposition to erratic, reckless, wayward or wild impulses may find unhappy reactions in all its affairs and contacts. Egotism, overacting, passionate or offensive conduct could alienate all friendly interests, especially displeasing to those in influential places. Much depends upon discreet and tactful behavior.

A child born on this day is probably temperamental, wayward, rash and overzealous to its detriment, forfeiting friendly interests of those disposed to assist unless given early training and discipline.

HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL

Guest speaker, Magistrate W. R. Philip, stressed the lack of interest by parents in what their children are doing as the greatest cause of juvenile delinquency in this district. He was addressing the annual meeting of Home and School Council Wednesday evening in the YWCA. In smaller towns and districts one of the chief causes is lack of recreational facilities he explained. Juvenile delinquents are children from seven to 16 years of age who have broken a law or by-law and are in need of assistance and guidance. There are numerous factors which contribute to delinquency, such as absence of one parent, the parents not living together in harmony, bad housing and the difficulties surrounding overcrowding, poverty, environment, insecurity, lack of emotional outlets, lack of affection, bitterness toward someone and spoiled children.

"Children have to be taught the rules of living and are great imitators," he said. "If parents show no interest in what he is doing, the child loses stability and security." Mr. Philip explained that the family court tries to find the underlying reason for the misdemeanor. All hearings are made in private and probation officers are on hand to follow up the case by advising and helping the parents.

His Worship stressed the very definite need in Peterborough for a mental hospital and a competent psychiatrist. Cases not serious enough to be accepted by existing mental institutions are thrust back on the community he said. Fifty per cent of the patients visiting doctors need psychological treatment rather than medical.

A question period followed the address.

Magistrate Philip was introduced by Mrs. E. Chambers and thanked by Mrs. O. Laderach.

Misses Mary McRae and Margaret Martyn entertained with a piano duet, "Dance of the Ladybirds."

Mrs. H. Parnell addressed the presidents of the Associations in the city schools who were introduced by Mrs. A. W. Nelson. Arrangements have been made to publicize the pre-school medical check-up for all children entering kindergarten next September.

Mrs. V. R. Henry gave the nominations report and Mrs. L. M. Richardson, past president, presided for the installation of officers. Those elected for the coming year were: Mrs. A. W. Nelson; vice presidents, Mrs. J. D. Fanning and Mrs. C. J. English; responding secretary, Mrs. W. T. Panjoy; recording secretary, Mrs. H. C. Pullyblank; executive members, Mrs. W. H. Frise, Mrs. S. ATTRACTIVE CULOTTE COSTUME — The culotte dress, while not quite so popular as in seasons past, is appearing at some of the very smart resorts. Printed rayon beach fabric in a white on blue star-like print is used for this charming culotte-dress and matching bolero. The print straps top a bodice piped in white. The belt accents a narrow waistline above the full divided skirt. A nice topping for the wide skirt is the brief bolero jacket, collared, lapelled and buttoned in white. With the jacket the dress does a double-switch from cabana sunning to dinner dance. A nice choice for the holiday-bound lassie!

Man, 23, Wrecks Car In Accident, Gets Jail, Fine, Costs On Drunk Charges

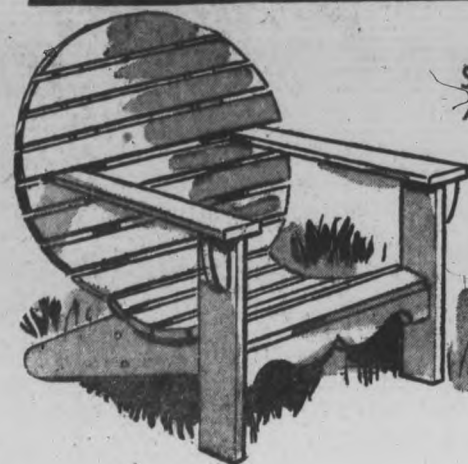

LINDSAY, May 21 —(ENS)—
Ross W. Ferguson, 23, Woodville, was sentenced to 10 days for drunk driving by Magistrate Gee in police court here today. He was granted 'hat time to pay $16 costs, or in default to serve an additional 15 days. Ferguson was convicted on a second charge of having liquor outside his residence, for which he was assessed $10 and $5 costs or in default, another 15 days, making a possible 40 day sentence or a total payment of $31.

Chief Constable Russell Naylor, Omeene testified he arrested the accused Thursday evening. The officer said about 6.30 p.m. a car went west through Omeene on Highway 7, weaving from one side of the road to the other. Chief Naylor chased the car and caught up to it one mile east of Lindsay
"just as it turned over in ditch."

"The car was completely wrecked", the officer said, "and I pulled Ferguson out from behind the wheel. Calvin Stephenson of Peterborough was passing, helped get the other occupants from the wreck."

"I brought Ferguson into the Lindsay police office and called
Dr. White, who was afraid the accused had a dislocation of the knee joint and recommended an X-ray. But he accused is better this morning and says he does not want an X
